

EXTENSION OF TROLLEY LINES TO FARMING LANDS NEAR DULUTH PROPOSED

Power for Electric Roads to Carry Freight is Also Asked.

Idea is to Bring Garden Produce Into the City.

Two Election Contests Occupying the Time of Committees.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative N. F. Hugo of Duluth yesterday received from Duluth a bill which the Duluth delegation will be asked to introduce in the legislature, permitting street railroads to carry freight and to extend their lines into territory not within the corporate limits of cities and villages.

The bill is designed to carry out the plans of those who have determined to stimulate farming, near Duluth, by providing electric lines to bring their freight to the market at Duluth.

They are confronted by the fact that the Duluth Street Railway company is not permitted under its charter, to carry freight, and incidentally by the need of legislation to permit the street railroad to run out into the farming territory.

On its face the bill simply provides that any railway company now or hereafter organized under the laws of the state of Minnesota shall be empowered to construct and operate its lines in territory outside of the corporate limits of cities and villages, and that they shall have power to

INDIAN WOMAN FROZEN TO DEATH

While Walking to Old Agency, Three Miles From Walker.

Walker, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Maggie Smith, an Indian woman, known on the reservation as "Mink Eye," was found frozen to death, near the old agency, about three miles from Walker, early Sunday morning. She was seen in the snow on Saturday, and had received sufficient liquor from men about town to intoxicate her, and the supposition is that she started to walk to her home in the night and succumbed to the extreme cold, as the night was the coldest of the year. She was a young girl and rather prepossessing in appearance.

TO ASSESS RAILROADS

Plan for the Relief of the Minnesota Terminal Cities.

Bill to Compel the Railroads to Pay Special Assessments.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative F. E. Nimocks of Minneapolis has prepared for introduction in the house a bill, that will, if it passes and is upheld by the courts, solve the problem that confronts terminal cities like Duluth, that have a large amount of railroad property, now exempt from taxes and assessments, adjoining streets that must be improved in order that there may be an access to the stations for passengers and freight. Now the expense of such improvements falls upon the communities, and is paid through general taxation.

As The Herald showed in its recent article on railroad taxation, there does not appear to be another state in the union in which railroads are exempt from special assessments for local improvements, and that they are exempt from such assessments now is clearly an oversight and a grievous injustice. Representative Nimocks' bill simply provides that the railroads shall pay them, just the same as other property owners do. It takes the ground that when the law says that railroads shall pay a gross earnings tax of 4 per cent "in lieu of all other taxes and assessments," it does not mean "special assessments," but merely regular taxes. It therefore provides that "whenever

NELSON IS RE-ELECTED

As Senator by Both Branches of the Legislature.

Lone Populist Nominates Governor Johnson as His Choice.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The two branches of the Minnesota legislature, in separate sessions, elected Knute Nelson to the senate of the United States this morning, and at noon tomorrow the election will be ratified in joint session. Incidentally, there was much oratory, and one or two unexpectedly diverging incidents. Senator Oles Sagen of Otter Tail county, the lone Populist, nominated as his choice Governor John A. Johnson. In the best speech of the session, he scored the present methods of selecting senators as a travesty on popular government. He said the history of these methods is shown by their products, by the Foraker

RAIDED BY RECRUITS

Officers Are Investigating Riots in the Chicago Bad Lands.

More Trouble if Soldiers Again Invade Territory.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 22.—A thorough investigation of the riot last night in the "Bad Lands" in which about thirty white recruits from the barracks wrecked saloons run by negroes, is being investigated today by Maj. Glenn, commandant at the barracks. No word had been received up to noon from Washington relative to the affray although Maj. Glenn notified the Washington authorities of the riot and that he is investigating the matter. Excitement among the negroes of the "Bad Lands" or wholesale district, over the riot is still widespread and it is probable that the city authorities will increase the police force in the district tonight. Open threats are being made that there will be trouble if the recruits come into the district tonight.

James Sterns, one of the ringleaders of the riot, made a confession today to Maj. Glenn. He says that a German, named William Van Stuckard, told some of the recruits that a negro had shot a recruit. This added to the resentment of the recruits who were excited over the stabbings of a recruit by a negro last Tuesday night, and a company of about thirty of them met and raided the "Bad Lands." Van Stuckard's story was found to be untrue after the riot. In consequence of some of the recruits that a negro had shot a recruit, they were out in the city on leave last night. Maj. Glenn is having all of them brought before him and compelling them to tell what they were during the riot.

STEAMSHIP HITS ROCKS

English Liner Arcola Goes Ashore at Havana Harbor.

Monster Waves Are Sweeping Over the Entire Ship.

Havana, Jan. 22.—A large steamer, believed to be English, grounded on the rocks close to Morro castle at 12:30 this morning while trying to enter Havana harbor. Assistance has been sent her. The position of the steamer is very dangerous. The ship appears to be the English steamer Arcola of 3,500 tons, although it is impossible to make her out accurately in the darkness. A small life boat in the service of the Havana harbor police endeavored to approach her, but was compelled to desist owing to the heavy sea. A policeman who saw the steamer approaching the harbor says that she was making the entrance successfully when a monster wave apparently lifted her bodily from the channel and swept her toward the treacherous rocks.

Large seas followed one another, forcing the vessel to the shore, and before she could recover herself she struck. Monster waves are now sweeping over the entire ship, and although she can be seen in the darkness by thousands of people from the shore, it appears to be impossible to send out help.

The steamer Arcola, Capt. Wry, left Philadelphia Jan. 12 for Sagua La Grande.

WASHERS ORGANIZE

Laundrymen of Five States Form an Association.

J. T. Armstead Has Narrow Escape From Being Vice President.

St. Paul, Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northwestern Laundrymen's association was organized Monday afternoon in the senate chamber of the old capitol. The meeting was largely attended, there being representatives from five states present. The states represented were: Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and the Dakotas.

Yesterday's meeting was the culmination of a previous meeting held last November at Albert Lea. At that time it was decided that the best interests of the laundrymen demanded the perfecting of an organization to secure cooperation and create a spirit of mutual interest. The first business transacted was the election of officers for the new organization. H. H. Bell of Minneapolis was made temporary chairman. The nominees for president were Mr. Bell and R. R. Lawrence of St. Paul. Mr. Bell was elected with 54 votes to his credit. Mr. Lawrence having 26.

The nominees for vice president were: J. T. Armstead of Duluth, W. B. Webster of St. Paul and C. W. Tisdale of La Crosse. On the first ballot Mr. Armstead received the most votes, having 43 to his credit. Mr. Webster had 35.

CHARGES SERIOUS

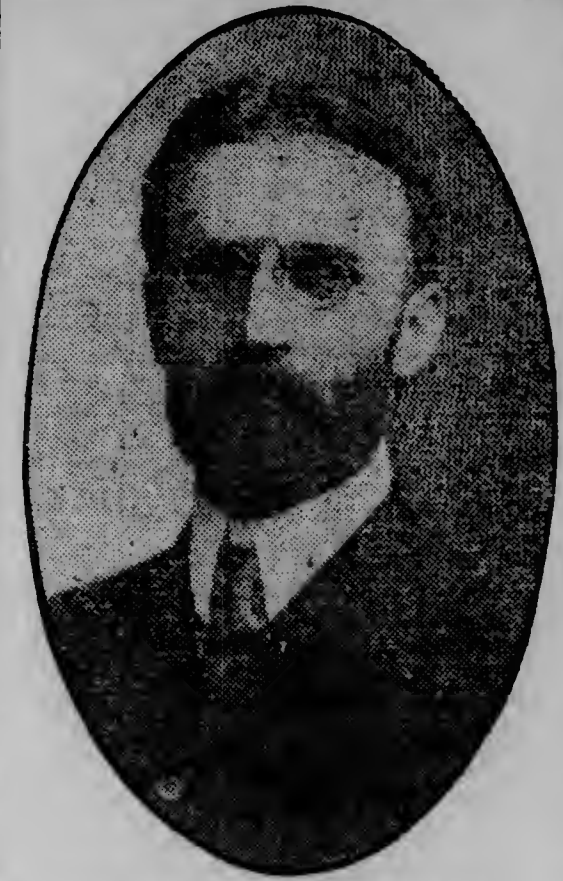

Former Governor of Idaho Arraigns Indian School System.

Places the Blame of Conditions Upon Secretary Hitchcock.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 22.—Former Governor McConnell of Idaho and Indian commissioner, in an interview in the Herald, charges gross mismanagement of the Indian schools and arraigns the system by which young Indian girls are taken away from their parents and sent to the Indian schools. He alleges that the teachers in the schools practice great cruelty upon their charges and that the girl pupils are allowed to be debauched. The blame for this condition he places upon Secretary Hitchcock, whom he says he is acquainted with these conditions during his tenure of office, but who pigeonholed his report. He further says that the officials of the interior department conceal the true state of affairs from the president. The reservation schools are badly overcrowded, he says, as the agents try to secure as large a per capita appropriation as possible. He claims to have seen instances where Indian boys with running tuberculosis sores were compelled to sleep with healthy Indians.

GOVERNOR OF JAMAICA THANKS UNITED STATES FOR QUICK ASSISTANCE

SENATOR SUTHERLAND, Of Utah, Who Speaks in Favor of His Colleague, Senator Smoot.

Sends a Cablegram to the Secretary of State.

Specially Mentions Admiral Davis and Naval Squadron.

London Has Been Unable to Get an Explanation.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The state department made public the following cablegram:

Jamaica, Jan. 20.—The Hon. Ellihu Root, state secretary, Washington: "Jamaica profoundly grateful to your excellency for expression of sympathy, and for the very practical aid so kindly given by Admiral Davis and the entire particular service squadron of the United States navy."

(Signed) "GOVERNOR." The cablegram was received in this city at 9 o'clock last night.

London, Jan. 22.—The British government and nation having shown the strongest reprobation of the attitude of Governor Swettenham of Jamaica in bringing about the withdrawal of the American warships under the command of Rear Admiral Davis from Kingston, the chief interest now centers in the governor's long-deferred reply to the British government's urgent demand for an explanation of his conduct, as this will give the first adequate means of determining the government's final course in repudiation.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Senator Sutherland today came to the defense of his colleague, Senator Smoot of Utah, defending his right to retain his seat in the United States senate. Prefacing his argument with observations on the gravity of the charges against Mr. Smoot, the junior Utah senator said if Smoot was a violator of the law, either as principal or accessory, or recognized any allegiance to any power paramount to the allegiance he owed his flag and country, or if by reason of his conduct he was so morally unfit that his continued presence in the senate would bring reproach or shame upon it, he should not retain his seat otherwise he should.

MEETS DEATH ON LONGYEAR LAKE

Peter Vodevich, a Miner, is Found Frozen to Death.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Vodevich was frozen to death within the town limits on Longyear lake. He was missed on Saturday evening, and a large party started out to search for him. They searched all Sunday without success, but yesterday morning his dead body was found. He was a miner and about 30 years of age.

DIED FROM EXPOSURE.

Drunken Man Had His Face, Hands and Legs Frozen.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Erick Bronst, who was found with his face, hands and legs frozen, near Atlantic yesterday, as a result of attempting to walk home from Atlantic to Hurontown in a drunken condition, died last night in Hancock hospital. He leaves a wife and several children.

CAPTAIN SUSPENDED.

Ran the Transport Sheridan on a Reef at Oahu.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—Capt. Thomas Peabody, who commanded the United States army transport Sheridan when it ran on a reef near Barber's Point, island of Oahu, Aug. 31 of last year, was suspended yesterday as a master and pilot of steamships for a period of six months by the local inspectors of hulls and boilers. Capt. Peabody's defense before the inspectors was that the reef on which Sheridan struck was not on the chart, and that therefore he was not to be blamed for the mishap. Capt. Peabody has been removed from his position by the war department.

RIVERS ARE SUBSIDING

Waters Are Slowly Going Down in the Ohio.

No Cessation in Work of Relief at Any Point.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 22.—The river continued its slow recession during the night and at 8 a. m. had gone down to 64.5, a drop of more than half a foot from the crest which was reached yesterday morning. Guards were on watch all night at all points along the river to give warnings of any threatened damage to buildings, and there was no cessation in the work of relief. It will be several days before the river gets below the danger line and the possibility of property damage will not even then be over, as the weakened condition of structures along the river front will make them particularly liable to collapse.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 22.—The Ohio river at 8:30 o'clock this morning stood at 41.2 feet, and had been stationary for a half hour. The weather bureau thinks the crest has been reached.

Madison, Ind., Jan. 22.—The Ohio river is at a standstill today at 57 feet. The dead body of a man, disfigured as though by fire, was found floating in the river today.

NO PAPERS HAVE YET BEEN FILED

Sheriff Bates is Patiently Awaiting the Ouster Suit.

No papers have yet been filed with the attorney general of Minnesota in the ouster suit that John Brady, the Democratic candidate for sheriff is said to be instituting with a view of stepping into Sheriff Bates' shoes. Sheriff Bates saw Attorney General Young at St. Paul a day or two ago and was told by the latter that no papers had yet been forwarded to him although he, Young, understood that they were being prepared at Duluth by Mr. Brady's attorney.

Mr. Brady says little about the matter, except that the action will be brought by the attorney general against Sheriff Bates in due time. Mr. Brady has expressed confidence that he will be sheriff by May 1, next, losing any sleep over the matter.

Italian Girl Almost Kills Faithless Lover
With a Stiletto.

Marquette, Wis., Jan. 22.—A Cornish miner, whose name is not known, has been brought to a local hospital from Loretta suffering from a severe stab wound. It is said he had promised to marry an Italian girl, but later told her he had changed his mind. The girl seemed satisfied with his decision and invited him to call at her home that night. He did so and she attacked him with a stiletto. His recovery is doubtful.

OWNER HAS APPEALED

Dissatisfied With Award of Wisconsin Central Appraisers.

Both Parties in Deal
Now Want Another Hearing.

The Western Land association, represented by the local real estate firm of Mendenhall & Hoopes, has appealed from the award made by the commissioners appointed by the court to appraise the land sought by the Wisconsin Central Railway company, under condemnation proceedings.

This is the second appeal that has been made from the award of the appraisers, the first appeal being filed recently by the Wisconsin Central Railway company, the appeal covering, in general, the whole award.

The Western Land association appeals from that part of the commissioners' report which awards it $14,000 for taking and appropriating to the use of the railway company, under the exercise of the right of eminent domain, lots 402, 410, 412 and 414, block 42, Duluth proper, second division.

It is alleged by the Western Land association that its four lots are worth at least $20,000, and that it should have been awarded that amount.

The award of the commissioners was filed in the district court Nov. 15, 1906, and the land company was notified of the award Jan. 15, 1907.

Roger S. Powell is the legal representative of the owner, and Crasswell & Crasswell and Francis Sullivan are the local attorneys for the railway company.

This action on the part of the lots sought to be acquired, will make the settlement under the condemnation proceedings, a little more complex than if one party to the proceedings had appealed from the awards. As the matter now stands, the railway company has appealed from all the awards by the commissioners and the Western Land association has appealed from one award.

It is thought likely that the appeal by the Western Land association is the first of several other appeals that will be made by owners of various properties wanted by the railway company.

JOHN JENSWOLD IS REAPPOINTED
Will Serve Third Term
on County Poor Commission.

John Jenschold, Jr., has been re-appointed by the judges of the district court as a member of the county poor commission. Mr. Jenschold has already served two terms of three years each on the board, and was averse to accepting another term. The three judges have expressed gratification concerning the work of the board of poor commissioners and it is at their request that Mr. Jenschold has finally consented to accept another term.

The poor commission is comprised at the present time of John Jenschold, Jr., Ward Ames and J. H. Heurding.

Before the law was passed creating the commission the affairs of the poor department in this county, as well as other counties of the state, were in a bad state of confusion.

Since the county began operating under the law providing for a commission the county poor department has been run to the satisfaction of the court and on an economical and satisfactory basis for the tax payers generally.

M'GILVRAY ON EJECTOR

Duluth Engineer Sends Paper to Minnesota Engineering Society.

Lake Avenue Sewage Costs Forty-Nine Cents
a Day.

While it may seem strange that a Duluth engineer, who, of all the cities in the state has the least to do with flat districts, should be selected for a paper of this title, one of the most interesting papers read at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Engineers and Surveyors society was by City Engineer Thomas F. McGilvray of Duluth on "Sewage Disposal in Flat Districts."

The paper dealt chiefly with Mr. McGilvray's experience with sewage on the Lake Avenue and Minnesota Point districts, which are so low, that unassisted, the sewage would flow back at all. The new ejector, designed in the local engineer's office, and its conspicuous success since its installation, was the chief topic of the paper, and Mr. McGilvray outlined the advantages of the ejector over the other methods very briefly and forcibly. Some extracts from the paper are as follows:

"There have been heretofore two methods of disposing of sewage in such districts, either pumping the sewage direct, or giving impetus to its flow with compressed air. The principal objection to both these methods is their expense, even when the cost of operation is minimized by the use of electric pumps."

Then follows a detailed description of the ejector, with accompanying cuts, and the whole advantage of the Duluth system is set forth in a table, showing the expense of operation. This table is based on the amount of sewage contributed by a population of 10,000, varying to be lifted four feet, the cost being based on Duluth meter rates, 2 cents per hundred cubic feet.

Following is the table:

Water pressure per Sq. feet used per day	Cost per day
30 lbs.	$1.34
40 lbs.	1.02
50 lbs.	1.02
60 lbs.	.97
70 lbs.	.97
80 lbs.	.97
90 lbs.	.97
100 lbs.	.97
110 lbs.	.97
120 lbs.	.97
130 lbs.	.97
140 lbs.	.97
150 lbs.	.97
160 lbs.	.97
170 lbs.	.97
180 lbs.	.97
190 lbs.	.97
200 lbs.	.97

The pressure available at the Lake Avenue ejector now in use, is 100 pounds to the square inch, so the minimum cost in the above table is what Duluth is paying for sewerage on lower Lake Avenue.

NORTH DAKOTA.
Grafton.—Because he and instantly killed Annie Englund, a waitress at a boarding-house at Fairdale, this county, last night, Weber was formerly of Grafton and will be brought here and lodged in jail.

Carrington.—A fire which started from an overheated stove in the waiting room of the Northern Pacific station in this place destroyed that building and also six boxcars, which were loaded with merchandise, mostly canned goods. The total loss is estimated at $10,000. The insurance is insured for $10,000. None of the candidates qualified last year, and hence the state is only one step away from a new election.

SOUTH DAKOTA.
Mitchell.—The examination to choose a representative from South Dakota to go to Oxford, England, to be held by Dr. Nicholson of Dakota, Wesleyan. Four candidates took the examination. None of the candidates qualified last year, and hence the state is only one step away from a new election.

SIoux Falls.—That he has found a gold mine in his farm is the confident belief of Lars P. Olson, a farmer living northeast of Sioux Falls. He has sent samples of the quartz to assayers in New York to be tested. To make sure that no one else has the claim, he has filed a mineral claim on the tract.

While at work in a blacksmith shop which he has on his farm, Joseph Ordal, a farmer, had a miraculous escape from death. He was working on a piece of machinery when a hot iron when sparks from the iron set fire to and exploded four pounds of blasting powder which was in a drawer in a bench immediately beside where he was working. The sparks were blown through two sides of the building, and the bench was filled with pieces of iron, bolts, tools, etc., blown in every direction by the force of the explosion. Ordal's face was powder-burned and he was badly injured, but he was not instantly killed.

MAYOR OF SUNBURY Says Peruna is a Good Medicine.

Hon. C. C. Brooks, Mayor of Sunbury, Ohio, also Attorney for Farmers' Bank and Sunbury Building and Loan Co., writes:

"I have the utmost confidence in the virtue of Peruna. It is a great medicine. I have used it and have known many of my friends who have obtained beneficial results from its use. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."

HON. C. C. BROOKS.

There are a host of petty ailments which are the direct result of the weather.

This is more true of the excessive heat of summer and the intense cold of winter, but is partly true of all seasons of the year.

Whether it be a cold or a cough, catarrh of the head or bowel complaint, whether the liver be affected, or the kidneys, the cause is very liable to be the same.

The weather slightly deranges the mucous membranes of the organs and the result is some functional disease.

Peruna has become a standby in thousands of homes for minor ailments of this sort.

Baltimore, Jan. 22.—Cecilus Calvert, Lord Baltimore, the true father of this city, although a long time dead, is giving the present city fathers great concern. It is all about the way he should wear his hair. Some are in favor of robbing him of his curls by a first class hair cut, with mallet and chisel, and others declare that if this is done it would be just as well to include a shave, shampoo, facial massage, tonic rub and shoe shine and make a complete job of it.

A statue of Lord Baltimore, in the costume of his time, has been presented to the city. The Municipal Art society passes upon all statues to be erected in the city and judges their artistic worth. The sculptor's design was acceptable until it came to the dressing of the hair of the effigy.

Some of the city fathers seemed to have received from the past private information that Lord Baltimore had indulged himself in a hair cut, while others refused to accept this report as authentic. A bitter controversy arose and the whole city is stirred up over the matter.

The Barber's association of Baltimore is frankly in favor of giving the statue a hair cut as a good example, but the hair dealers are urging that a switch and a rat be included by the sculptor to give Lord Baltimore an up-to-date and becoming coiffure.

RAILROADS

REVIVING THE RUMOR

Wisconsin Central Reported Under Control of Illinois Central.

Would Afford Direct Route to Gulf and the East.

Speculation regarding the probable ownership of the Wisconsin Central, and the chances of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg road becoming a part of the system under the same control, is still being freely indulged in, in Duluth. A local man who should be in a position to know what he is talking about, asserts positively that the Wisconsin Central is now, or soon will be, owned by the Illinois Central interests, and that this line and the Rainy Lake road will be operated in conjunction.

Officials of the Wisconsin Central stoutly maintain that their road will remain independent, but the indications are very strong that such will not be the case, and if the Illinois Central does not gain control of it, it is confidently believed that some other big railway corporation will. The Illinois Central story is a plausible one, for this road is known to have had a desire for some time past to gain entry to Duluth. Acquiring the Wisconsin Central would be the easiest way to do this. With the Illinois Central, Wisconsin Central, and Rainy Lake roads working in conjunction, a new direct route from Winnipeg to the Gulf of Mexico, via Duluth, would be established, for the Rainy Lake line already has a working agreement with the Canadian Northern. The connections of the Illinois Central to the East would also offer a new direct route from Duluth to the Atlantic seaboard.

The probable early passing of the Wisconsin Central, which seems surely destined to lose its identity, recalls not only the early-day struggle of the promoters and owners of the property, but also the fact that it will be the last of the railway corporations of the state to pass under control of the larger and more powerful systems which are gradually and surely reaching out and drawing within their powerful arms the smaller fry in the transportation field.

The history of the Central, like that of the former Milwaukee & Northern, and the Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western, both of which were some time ago absorbed by the big fellows which they were paralleling, is a part of the history of the struggles of the Wisconsin railways. What is today known as the Wisconsin Central system, with approximately 1,650 miles of track in operation in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Illinois, came into existence under a charter of congress in 1865, being one of the earliest roads to be organized and operated as a separate system in the state. Some of the time it has paid, and some of the time it has not, but just now it appears to be on the sure road to success, which explains why some of the larger systems really want to own it.

PROSPECT UNPLEASANT.

Difficult to Build Great Northern Cutoff This Winter.

A. Guthrie, who has the contract for the construction of the Great Northern cutoff for shortening the iron ore haul to the Head of the Lakes, was in the city last evening, on his way to the scene of operations.

The cold weather and the deep snow make it exceedingly difficult to start the work in good shape at this particular time, but the fact that it is desired to have the new line completed at the earliest possible moment makes it necessary to start operations at once. Camps are being built along the right of way, and men are being employed.

It will be particularly hard to get sub-contractors, for working on the job under existing conditions does not offer a very pleasant prospect. Despite the difficulties offered, however, the work will be undertaken, and carried on as fast as circumstances will permit.

The deep snow and cold weather are bothering all the railroad contractors doing work in Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin. It is not easy to properly clear the right of way when the ground is covered with four feet of snow, and when the thermometer registers 20 degs. below zero or more the men object to working all day out of doors, many of them quitting to seek more pleasant employment.

New Time Table.

Beginning today, the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg road will put a new passenger train schedule in effect between Rainy Junction and Pelican, seven miles north of Gheen. A mixed train will leave Rainy Junction at 10:35 a. m., arriving at Pelican at 2:20 p. m. Returning it will leave Pelican at 2:30 p. m., arriving at Rainy Junction at 5:30 p. m.

Hill Gets Oregon Road.

Portland, Or., Jan. 22.—A report is circulated here that the Astoria & Columbia River railroad has been sold to James J. Hill. The consideration is asserted to be in the neighborhood of $3,500,000.

F. E. Sawyer Changes.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 22.—F. E. Sawyer, division freight agent of the Pennsylvania railroad at Louisville, has been appointed general freight agent of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus line and also commercial agent of the Pan-Handle road at Columbus, Ohio. He succeeds George W. Davis, who has been appointed general freight agent of the Vandalia road at St. Louis.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

Passenger Train Has Accident But Only One Person Hurt.

Appleton, Minn., Jan. 22.—The rear car of the Milwaukee passenger train, eastbound on the Hastings & Dakota division, due here at 1:55 a. m., left the rails two miles west of Odega, tearing up thirty rods of track and damaging the coach beyond repair. F. O. O'Connell of Rockford, Ill., sustained a broken arm, but otherwise no casualties are reported. The midnight passenger, due here at 1:30 a. m., was eastbound at Correll, went through two hours late and is reported snow-bound near Ortonville.

MORMONS AS SUGAR MAKERS

Beet Cultivation by Alberta Colonists Proves a Success.

Raymond, Alta., Jan. 22.—The last pan of sugar has been passed through the dryers and is in the warehouse, closing the sugar campaign of 1906. The Mormons have proved that sugar beets can be successfully cultivated, and have turned out 467,000 pounds of very high grade white sugar.

It is estimated that 2,600 tons of beets, owing to the storm and protracted cold weather, were left in the ground, which, if harvested, would have brought the product for the year up to 5,360,000 pounds of sugar. The difference means a loss of $30,000.

GETTING COAL FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Portland, Or., Jan. 22.—The fuel situation has so far improved on the Harriman lines in the Northwest that the embargo on freight on the Washington lines of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company was lifted yesterday. Shipments of coal are being received from British Columbia, which, together with daily deliveries at Huntington, are helping out the Oregon Railway & Navigation company and the Southern Pacific to a great extent.

WEST DULUTH

MAY HAVE NEW ROUTE

Michigan Street May be Cut Through to Jenswold.

This Would Give West Duluth Good Highway Into City.

Alderman L. A. Barnes introduced several resolutions at the meeting of the city council last evening, which are of considerable importance to West Duluth and concerns matters which the Commercial club has had under consideration for some time.

One of these was a motion requesting the city engineer to make a plat of the property which would be condemned to open Michigan street into the Jenswold street-subway, making a new direct route from West Duluth into the central part of the city. The motion was passed by the council. As Michigan street is macadamized, and it is proposed to have Onesta and Ramsey streets, West Duluth would then have one very good highway into the city.

The need for this highway has been felt for many months as the only two routes at present are Grand avenue, which is mostly monopolized by the street car company, and the present Ramsey-Onesta route, which is also used by the street car company. Both of these streets are in very poor condition, and in wet weather it has been almost impossible to move a heavy load over them.

Another resolution was passed requesting the city engineer to estimate the cost of paving Ramsey from Central avenue to Onesta street, and Onesta to Ramsey to Forty-sixth avenue west. The cost of widening the street was also asked for in the action.

WILL ENTERTAIN CURLERS.

Social and Reception to be Given by the Ladies.

The ladies of the Western Curling club will give the first of the winter socials and receptions to the curlers at the rink, Thursday evening, and the preparations for the event have about been completed.

The rink will be closed to all outsiders, and only the members of the club and their wives and friends will attend the entertainment. Several games will be curled by the members during the evening, and those who prefer to skate may enjoy themselves at this sport. A program of speeches will be carried out during the evening, and a dainty lunch will be served.

Although the ladies had been planning the affair for some time, the date was set for this week, in order that it would come before the departure of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hanchett, and it will be, in a way, a farewell reception for them. Mr. and Mrs. Hanchett will leave some time next week for Barrow, Saskatchewan, Can., where Mr. Hanchett has accepted a position as assistant general manager for the Red Cliff Lumber company.

Hold Interesting Meeting.

An interesting meeting of the West Duluth lodge, Modern Samaritans, No. 4, was held at Wade's hall last evening.

TEMPERANCE HIS SUBJECT.

Rev. G. O. Johnson of Chicago Will Lecture Wednesday Evening.

Rev. G. O. Johnson of Chicago will be the speaker of the evening at a temperance meeting, to be held tomorrow evening at Victor hall, on Grand avenue, and a large attendance of West Duluthians who are in favor of the temperance movement is expected.

Rev. Johnson is the editor of a Chicago temperance publication which has gained considerable reputation from its articles on this great national question. At present Mr. Johnson is making a tour of the country, and is visiting a number of the temperance societies in Minnesota and the Northwest.

While on his travels during the last few weeks he has delivered many addresses under the auspices of the different societies, and has been well received by those who have heard him. All West Duluthians who are interested in the movement, and all others are invited to attend the meeting tomorrow evening and hear Rev. Johnson.

Curlers Again Busy.

West Duluth curlers are again getting busy at the game at their own rink this week, and an interesting contest was pulled off last evening. Mel Dahl and Sliger were the skips, and the game was warmly contested. Sliger winning by a score of 12 to 6. There was a good attendance of skaters at the rink also. The lineup of the teams was as follows:

McCauley, Burdick, Graham, Deathridge, Sliger, Meldahl.

West Duluth Briefs.
Miss Minnie Doan and William J. Doan, 432 Sixtieth avenue west, will leave tonight for Michigan, where they have been called on account of the serious illness of their mother.

The choir of the Westminster Presbyterian church were very pleasantly entertained last evening at the home of George Shannon, 423 South Seventieth avenue west.
L. A. Barnes left this afternoon for St. Paul where he will attend the meeting of the grand lodge, A. F. & M. Mr. Barnes is the deputy grand master of the order for this district.

It is expected that a large crowd will attend the benefit dance to be given at Gilley's hall this evening by Joseph Allard, a helpless cripple, who was recently taken to the hospital. Many tickets have already been sold.

An entertaining program has been arranged for the card social to be given by the ladies of St. James' church Thursday evening at Gilley's hall. Miss Alice Shannon will sing a solo, and there will be other numbers.

Elmer Hagen, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hagen, 308 North Sixtieth avenue, has been brought home, after having been operated upon at St. Luke's hospital a couple of weeks ago. Franklin Thomas of Madison, Wis., is spending the week in West Duluth, visiting friends.

A short meeting of St. James Court, No. 614, G. O. F., will be held this evening at Gilley's hall. After the meeting the hall will be used for the benefit dance given for Joseph Allard.

W. M. Cook, who has been visiting friends and relatives in West Duluth for a few days, has returned to his home in Virginia.
Misses Agnes and Mary McKellar arrived in West Duluth yesterday from Au Sable, Mich., and will make their home in the future with their sister, Mrs. C. Rossiter, No. 6 North Fifty-first avenue west.

Rev. Guy Davis of Carlton spent yesterday visiting friends in West Duluth.

WALKER IS IN PREDICAMENT

No Electric Light or Kerosene, and Candles Exhausted.

Walker, Minn., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walker has exhausted its coal supply and faces a peculiar predicament. The electric light plant was obliged to shut down Saturday night owing to lack of coal. As a greater part of the residences in the village use electric light, a run was made on the kerosene supply, and by 9 o'clock Saturday every drop of oil in town had been bought, as the merchants were caught unawares. As the demand far exceeded the supply, those who were unfortunate in getting their portion of oil bought candles. Sunday evening there was not a candle for sale in Walker, as the stores had completely exhausted their supply. At this writing kerosene is a luxury in the village, while candles are considered a necessity. Many homes have neither, and unless oil is received today, many of the homes will be in darkness tonight, while the stores will be obliged to close their doors. Freight of every description is moving slowly in Northern Minnesota, and the merchants find it about as difficult to secure shipments of oil as they do coal. Orders have been in for over two weeks.

WILL WEAR A RED WIG

Shorn Student Will Not Forego His Social Engagements.

Aroused Ire of Seniors and Lost His Curly Locks.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22.—"They have cut my curly locks. The class was led by a jealous few, envious at my progress. And they shall not stop me from keeping my many social engagements, dances, opera, dinners. I will get a red wig, even, if I cannot go any other way."

So vowed John P. Furno, freshman at the Detroit College of Medicine, who was shorn for his audacity by upper classmen. Furno is an Italian, he is assistant to Dr. Thomas J. Dowling, and acts as interpreter for the many Italian patients of that physician. Last night the dread hand of the supreme court of the senior class reached out and grabbed John. It was not the Black Hand—it was the Sissors Flat.

And John Furno's pate, once crowned by a magnificent crop of light brown hair, wavy, the envy of his fellows, the delight of the young women, is now only a scraggly dome of stubble. There is no more of audacity, of daring in his callow freshman year to have cards printed thus:

JNO. P. FURNO,
DR. THOS. J. DOWLING.

Furno was ordered to destroy his bold, proud cards. Some of the seniors, high and lofty, have not even as yet risen to the dignity of assistantships.

Early Wednesday a brother freshman asked the youth, "Had the cards been destroyed?"

"No, and they won't be," answered Furno. "They have been destroyed, and I will not be forced to burn them."

That word was taken to the seniors and Furno, summoned in the dusk of early evening, went expecting to run the gauntlet. That is the cruelest torture—barring shaming—known to the college.

Seventy, eighty, more if possible of the upper classmen form a double line, and with wadded clubs of rolled up newspapers, strike and pummel the man who runs between the double line.

On reaching the seniors' room, Furno, minus his eye-glasses, was announced. A student as jury foreman read the added sentence:

"That John Furno be shorn, and while he is being so divested of his locks, let there be silence, darkness and guarded doors, that no faculty man may enter until the end is reached."

"They fell on Furno with a rush. The job was neatly done, and though the freshman fought hard his efforts were vain. Barbored to the semblance of a motivated tramp, he was shot out from the seniors' midst and was gathered up by members of his own class."

"I was sore; I was outraged; I left the college building and came to my room. I silvered. I took morphine to quiet my nerves. I shiver yet though I am not cold. I shall ask the class to let me wear a skull cap."

"I have many theater engagements, many acceptances to dances; I cannot go as I am. I cannot stay away. If necessary I shall get a red-headed wig and tell the people why I wear it. I must have hair."

The discovery that Furno had the obnoxious cards was made at his boarding house, where each student

LATE DOINGS IN UPPER MICHIGAN

John Miller Killed on Copper Range Road at Calumet.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Miller was struck by an engine on the Copper Range track on the blizzard on Sunday. He was picked up by Yardmaster Anderson and died a few minutes later. He probably never knew how he met his death. His body was mangled and torn. Miller was 50 years of age and was an employee of the Centennial Mining company. He leaves a wife and seven children.

At the annual meeting of the Pinckney Mutual fire insurance company here, the annual report showed an excellent state of affairs, and it was decided to declare a dividend of 8 percent to members of five years' standing. The dividend will aggregate $16,000. The company has 1,500 members.

The erection of a hall to cost at least $10,000 is proposed by the Gorman Aid society.

Litigation over right of way west of Ontonagon has been settled for a cash consideration. The Milwaukee road and the Ontonagon Railroad company have acquired 1,000 feet of railroad owned by the Ontonagon & Southwestern, forming a part of the line extending up the way across a tract of land owned by John C. Kelly and D. J. Kelly, in the vicinity of Cranberry river, and other minor concessions.

Marquette-Northern Michigan is in the grip of the influenza wave this season. Trains are from one to four hours late. It was 30 degrees below zero at Marquette yesterday, 27 at Republic, 22 at Ishpeming, 10 at Marquette.

Adair, badly nipped by frost, was rescued from a snowbank here, but will recover.

Hancock—The heavy barn on Main street, owned by Thomas Coughlin, was burned early Sunday morning. There were forty horses and many casks, stables and buggies and several tons of hay in the barn, and all were destroyed. Three men who were sleeping upstairs escaped by jumping through the window in their night clothes. The firemen are given great credit for confining the fire to the barn, which was surrounded by houses.

St. Ignace—News has been received of the accidental death at Oakland, Cal., of Wellington Bell, a St. Ignace young man who was sleeping upstairs at Michigan yesterday. He was run over and killed by a train.

Munising—Measles have become epidemic and in ten days four deaths are directly traceable to the disease. Health Physicist Scholtes says he knows of forty cases.

Norway—Plans for a city hall, submitted by John D. Chubb, architect, have been approved by the Norway town council. The building, exclusive of the site, will cost $20,000.

Pickford—Col. H. D. Van Campen, who has been in charge of the Chippewa County Oil & Gas company, a local corporation, organized to look for oil in Chippewa county, writes from East Akron, Ohio, that he has resumed in the spring.

EX-GOVERNOR IS SLOWLY SINKING

But Frank W. Higgins May Live for a Few Days.

Olean, N. Y., Jan. 22, 11 a. m.—Dr. Hibbard has given the Associated Press the following statement relative to the condition of Former Governor Higgins:

"Noticeable but not marked lowering of vitality. He is gradually sinking. Pulse more uncertain; respiration little more hurried."

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 22.—A dispatch from Olean this morning says that while Former Governor Higgins passed away fairly comfortable night, he is slowly sinking, although he may live for a few days.

"JOSIAH FLYNT" DEAD.

Well Known Author and Tramp Passes Away at Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Josiah Flynt Willard, whose experiences as a tramp, author, and sociologist under the name of "Josiah Flynt" have given him a wide reputation, died here last Sunday night at a hotel.

Mr. Willard had been suffering with pneumonia for several days but it was not until he became utterly helpless Thursday morning that he permitted a nurse or a doctor to enter his room.

Mr. Willard had tramped in every civilized country on the globe, wearing the costume of the working class of each particular nation through which he was a friend of Dostoevsky and Tolstoy.

He was born in Appleton, Wis., Jan. 23, 1859, his father being Oliver Appleton Willard and his mother Mary Hamilton Willard. Francis E. Willard, the noted temperance advocate was his aunt. Willard was a graduate of the University of Berlin which he attended from 1880 to 1886.

CONCERNING WOMEN

There are quite a lot of people married and then there are quite a lot who would like to be, and then there are other people. Every married man knows how to get a marriage license and some unmarried ones do, but there isn't one woman in ten who knows anything about it and events sometimes prove that men don't know all about it.

The proper person from whom to secure a marriage license is the clerk of the court. It doesn't make a bit of difference if you are a special friend of the city controller or the building inspector, you must get the license from the clerk of court or his office, and often the poor man wishes that they could be purchased elsewhere.

They must be secured in the county in which the bride lives, and law is such a queer thing that if you have secured one in a different county, they won't let you use it. The other evening, the benign and unassuming clerk of St. Louis county court had just returned from enjoying a happy evening at church, listening to reports from the married fields, when the telephone rang, and the court clerk was called. A highly indignant, petulant and deeply injured voice began:

"Say, what d'you think? I got a girl."

"Good for you," interjected the county clerk. "I'm glad to hear it, but what in time do you want to call a man?"

"And a marriage license" went on the voice.

"Well, I ain't no preacher," said the C. C., who was getting cross at the interruption.

"And just because I got the license in Crow Wing county, and the girl lives in St. Louis, they won't let us get married here?"

"I should hope not," said the clerk. "You got to see about the license and the girl," he began to repeat.

"I'm not going to waste this license," said the voice in dogged tone. "I'll take her to Crow Wing and marry her there."

"All right, then, I think it's darn poor law, but I'll take one. Try and have Ruth gathering the girls and boys to see about the license and the girl," he began to repeat.

"You'll take one tomorrow morning," said the clerk. "You got to see about the license and the girl," he began to repeat.

"Oh, I say, please wait a minute. I got to see about the license and the girl," he began to repeat.

"Ah, forget it," implored the clerk. "But he is a kind hearted gentleman and so to oblige the person he went back to the courthouse along about 10 o'clock and made that poor man swear that he and she were both of age, that he had never been married before, that they neither of them have been divorced within the last six months, that they were related by no ties of consanguinity and a lot of other foolishness that passed the night of his death, and cost him a dollar, or maybe it was two.

played by Mrs. H. S. Plumer, Mrs. Gerster of New York, and Arthur Bailey. Mrs. Gerster is an especially accomplished musician. Mrs. Richards' vocal solos were sung in a beautiful, contralto, with perfect execution.

Mrs. Richards is expected home next Sunday.

Matinee Musicals. The postponed meeting of the Matinee Musicals was held yesterday afternoon at Steinway hall and a small audience listened to a program of Mozart and Rossini numbers. The program was arranged by Mrs. Clarence B. Miller and Miss Ruth Markell. Owing to illness, Otto Metzger did not appear and Miss Mary Palmer played in place of Miss Bertha Schmidt. The other numbers were presented by Emily Ellis Woodward and Miss Dora Swan and the opening number was a piano selection, Rossini's "Overture to William Tell" being played by Mrs. Percy A. Gough. Mrs. Stephen H. Jones, Mrs. D. H. Day, and Miss Winifred Holmes.

The next meeting of the society will be held next Monday afternoon, Jan. 28, at which music of romantic school will be presented, the numbers to be from Robert Schumann and Robert Franz. The program will be arranged by Mrs. K. A. Oestergren and Emily Ellis Woodward. The members of the board are considering the artists for the third festival of the year, and something very fine is promised.

Hosts at Dinner. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Killorin entertained at dinner last evening at their home on East Second street. Covers were laid for twelve.

Surprise Party. A delightful surprise party was given last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Nichols at their home in Bostwick flats. The affair was in honor of the eleventh wedding anniversary of the hosts, and a beautiful piece of silverware was presented them. Cards were the amusement of the evening, and the favors were won by Mrs. William F. Benter and Mrs. J. A. Carlson, and the men's prizes by H. B. Young and W. N. Colvin. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames—N. Colvin, Charles Esau, J. A. Carlson, J. B. Young, N. U. G. Terry, K. A. Franklin, Messrs. and Mesdames—Harper, Mr. J. Horack, W. J. Nichols.

Hard Times Party. Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hunt entertained last evening at their home, 407 East Sixth street, at a hard times party. The guests were arrayed in costumes befitting the name of the entertainment. An informal musical program was given during the evening by J. H. Copeland. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames—Dorsey, Harkness, C. F. Naughton, Forey, Mr. J. H. Copeland.

Bridge Parties. Mrs. T. F. Cole and Miss Houston were hostesses yesterday afternoon at a large reception at their home, 1701 East First street. American beauty roses were the decoration of the room, and the guests were arrayed in costumes befitting the name of the entertainment. An informal musical program was given during the evening by J. H. Copeland. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames—Dorsey, Harkness, C. F. Naughton, Forey, Mr. J. H. Copeland.

TOMMY AND LOVE

By Harold Hunt.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

I never did think much of girls—never. Either they are lanky and leggy things, and think they can play games just as well as boys, or they are fat and silly, and think one ought to be always making love to them.

Well, I don't mind telling you that last term, when I caught Stewart Mills writing a love letter to his Cousin Grace, I gave him the worst licking he'd had in his life. The cheek of him! You see we would allow him to join our fraternity, our grand, mysterious gang that some claps would give their ears to be allowed to join, only we don't allow it to become too cheap—the Brotherhood of the Gory Hand—and one of the vows we have to take is not to let ourselves be mixed up in any non-sense with women. We are all to be either detectives, or pirates, or discoverers of unknown countries when we grow up, and in any of these noble professions one is sure to come to grief if one doesn't steer clear of the women.

No, never did think much of girls; and after the episode I am about to narrate—don't that sound grand and noble?—after the episode I am about to narrate, you may bet your boots I think less of them than ever.

But it really did seem as if Marjorie Verschoyle was more decent than most of them. She was older, for one thing—quite grown up; and she could talk quite sensibly for a girl—about football, and hockey and golf, and other things that are really worth talking about, and she was the bring a gun into the garden without shrieking back and crying out: "Oh! do take care! Are you sure it isn't loaded?"

So I wasn't quite so stiff and stand-offish on principle—and I explained to her one or two things about sports that she had got a little muddled with, and she tried her very best to understand, and wasn't really so stupid, for a girl.

So I really liked to talk to her, and you may imagine how disgusted I was when I came upon her one evening in the garden with that solemn ass, Leonard Ashwell, and I do believe he was talking poetry about the moonlight!

As I came near, I saw Marjorie's Aunt Henrietta coming down from the house to look for her. Marjorie Verschoyle called out to me quite eagerly to ask what score the football team had made, and she was just about to tell me when I noticed that she was looking at me with a queer expression on her face.

"Oh! it's Tommy Bradton," said Aunt Henrietta. (Meanwhile, Ashwell, who I sneaked on down the shrubbery, "I am shocked at your conduct. I really thought you were short-sighted, but I really thought—")

"Mr. Bradton is giving me a most interesting account of the game," said Marjorie.

We had quite a good talk; she seemed to want to get the taste of Ashwell's poetry and moonlight out of her mouth, but half an hour after, when I strolled down the garden to have a surreptitious cigarette, blessed if he wasn

Omega Oil

For Sprains and Bruises

For Sprains, Bruises, Strains, Swellings and all other bodily aches and pains, Omega Oil will be found invaluable.

It's an unusual liniment. It is antiseptic and healing in its action. It subdues inflammation and soothes and comforts any pain you may apply it to. You don't have to buy bottle after bottle to get relief. Usually a 10c. bottle is all you need. It has time and again proved a blessing to those whose pains are hard to bear.

The principal ingredient in Omega Oil is a pure vegetable oil, which does not evaporate like the turpentine and ammonia so largely used in other liniments.

Omega Oil comes in mighty handy for the many little aches and pains that most people suffer from occasionally.

Three Sizes 10c., 25c., 50c.

BECOMING IMPATIENT

Aldermen Request Water Board to Sell Bonds at Once.

Several Sites Are Offered for the West End Police Station.

"Resolved, that in the opinion of the council, the needs of the several portions of the city, in which it has been determined to make water and gas extensions, demand that such extensions be made during the present season; and, whereas, it is essential that if such extensions be made the present season, that the pipe and other materials be ordered in the immediate future; therefore, be it resolved, that the board of water and light commissioners is hereby requested to take immediate steps to sell the water and light bonds hereinafter authorized on the best terms obtainable, and to immediately proceed with the construction of the Hillside, Lakeside and gas and other water and gas extensions for which said bonds were authorized to be issued."

The above somewhat lengthy resolution was introduced in the city council last evening by Alderman Ribbeck, who almost brought about its defeat by including in it any of the Hillside system. Alderman Wilson protested that it was desirable that the Lakeside gas be included, and this brought Alderman Gatchell from the Eighth ward to his feet, with a protest that the West Duluth extensions should not be omitted. The above form was finally agreed upon as a compromise, with the understanding that the work on the various water and gas extensions throughout the city should be done in the order in which the petitions for the work were received.

In the report of the last meeting of the water and light board was included a report from Manager L. N. Case, saying that on account of the cost of making the Hillside water and gas, and the Lakeside gas extensions, $15,000, or about half his former estimate on each system, and that on account of the increased cost of labor and other materials he would like to increase the estimate $10,000 more.

The call for bids for the West end police station brought forth quite a number of bidders, and some very reasonable propositions were made. But one of these included a building suitable for police purposes, and this was perhaps the most reasonable of the lot. O. H. Swanson offered to the city a brick building, at 214-16 West Michigan street, which has been used in the past as a horseshoe factory, for $4,900. The building could, at very little expense, be converted into an up-to-date, two story, police station. It is 40 by 70 feet, and while it never has been used as a two-story structure, it is high enough so that the installation of the second floor and ceiling would be all that would be necessary.

W. E. Macomber offered a 50x145 foot lot near the corner of Twenty-seventh avenue west and Michigan street for $1,000. N. J. Upham & Co. have a 50x140 foot lot on the lower side of Michigan street between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues west, which they will sell for $2,000, and George Gujer submitted two propositions, one for a 50-foot lot on the upper side of First street, between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues west, for $2,500, and the other, for a 25-foot lot on the corner of Twentieth avenue west and First street, which Mr. Gujer values at $4,500.

The bids on a whole, show a widely varying opinion of the value of the West end real estate at the present time, and the bidders were more numerous than were expected.

At the request of Alderman Barnes, Attorney Bert Fesler made a report to the council regarding the situation as regards the Ramsey street dock in the West end, and while there are some complications in the title, owing to the fact that the West Duluth Land company held the property subject to a trust deed, before the property was properly platted, it is now understood that everything can be arranged satisfactorily after a little time, and the much discussed dock is practically assured.

A motion of Alderman Barnes, requesting the city engineer to make estimates of the cost of paying Ramsey street from Central avenue to Oneota street, and Oneota street from that point to Forty-second avenue west, for the paving of the present width and for one foot wider, was passed.

Alderman Barnes also secured the passage of a motion requesting the city engineer to make a plat of the property which would be condemned to open Michigan street into the Jensen street subway, making a new highway to West Duluth from the city.

The ghost of the bid question stalked into the council meeting last evening and created quite a little disturbance, when Alderman Moore arose, and, after explaining that he had no reference to any particular law, offered the motion, "Resolved that this council is in favor of enforcing the law." After assuring themselves that the motion had no intention of lining up the candidates as "liberals" or "non-liberals" for the coming campaign, but that it was simply a straight proposition, the council voted unanimously in favor of it.

As requested at the last meeting of the council, City Attorney Fesler submitted a bill to be introduced into the state legislature as an amendment to the constitution exempting all municipal, school, and county bonds from taxation.

The request submitted by the joint committee from Duluth, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Superior to the traction companies in regard to the reduced fare proposition, was read to the council, and Alderman Lyle, chairman of the Duluth committee, announced that the directors of the companies were meeting in New York this week, and the answer to this petition would probably be one of the things which would come up before them. The request included six fares for a quarter, good at all hours, and with the present transfer privileges, and half fare tickets to school children during school hours, also including transfer privileges.

Alderman Lyle introduced a resolution requesting the Northern Pacific to live up to its franchise agreements in regard to keeping crossings clear of cars. The people on St. Croix avenue have lately been subjected to a great deal of discomfort in this line, and it was at their request that Mr. Lyle offered the resolution.

The appointment of Rev. J. C. Faries to fill the vacancy on the library board caused by the resignation of Rev. Dr. Cleland, was endorsed.

FAIRBANKS NOT CHILL

Vice President Gives Visitors Warm and Cordial Greeting.

Law to Correct Abuses in Connection With Passports.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Jan. 22.—(Special to The Herald).—About half the newspaper cartoonists, whenever they are short on ideas, draw an icicle or a snow man, label it "Fairbanks," and let it go at that. As a result half the visitors to the capitol when conducted into the room of Vice President Fairbanks expect to run into a sudden fall in temperature—they expect a chilly reception. Under such circumstances it is not surprising that visitors to that same vice presidential room are somewhat dazed as they leave it, for, instead of a freezing, chilly atmosphere, they find a warmth and cordiality surrounding Charles Warren Fairbanks which they had been led to believe had never existed. The truth is that no one ever had cause to complain of the reception given him by Mr. Fairbanks since the first day he entered public life in Washington. It is not within the power of human nature the motive which underlies the actions of public men and it is of course possible that there is nothing sincere in the greeting which Charles W. Fairbanks always extends to those who are presented to him. He must be a consummate actor, indeed, if that is the case, for he has been chosen to make the race with Theodore Roosevelt. If any cause existed for dubbing him an "iceberg" he never has enjoyed the real esteem of his colleagues which he certainly possesses to a marked degree.

The truth is that Charles Warren Fairbanks is an able, safe man, and a popular man among those who know him and it is perhaps because of these qualities that other able and equally ambitious statesmen take pains to create the impression that the blood of the vice president is composed entirely of white corpuscles and that his normal temperature is only a degree or two above 32 fahrenheit.

Ordinarily a bill introduced in either house of congress seven weeks before the date of adjournment would be considered as having no chance whatever of enactment into law. But Representative Perkins of New York has prepared and has introduced a measure of great importance which will probably be placed on the statute books before the end of the session. The bill is in line with the report made to Secretary Root by a commission, appointed by that official, which is designed to prevent many abuses which have grown up in connection with the issuance of passports to foreign born citizens, and especially those growing out of the habits of certain of those citizens who, after naturalization in the United States, return to the country of their birth and claim exemption from local laws and taxes.

Common sense is just as necessary (even more so) in medicine as in business. Every man who is afflicted with piles is getting to know more than they used to, that so long as they do not make all sorts of claims for a medicine, and wind up by asking the doctor to sign a drug store, they will find that they will stand for that kind of thing now. They want proof—tangible proof. They want to try the remedy first, and if they find that what is claimed, they will be glad enough to go and buy.

The first section of the bill authorizes the issuance of passports to persons not citizens of the United States who, the applicant has declared his intention to become a citizen and has resided in the United States for five years, provided that such passport shall not be valid more than six months after it shall be renewed, and that it shall not be valid in the country of which the holder was a citizen prior to making his declaration of intention.

The second section regulates the issuance of passports to native born American citizens. Section three is entirely new and is the most important. Its text is as follows: "When any naturalized citizen shall be deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state, or when he has become domiciled in a foreign state."

"When any naturalized citizen shall have resided for five years in a foreign state it shall be presumed that he has become domiciled therein and that he has ceased to be an American citizen. Provided, however, that such presumption may be overcome on the presentation of satisfactory evidence to the diplomatic or consular officer of the United States, under such rules and regulations as the department of state may prescribe."

Section four relates to the nationality of married American women. It provides that any American woman who marries a foreigner shall take the nationality of her husband. At present, however, a book good for one year, which contains 1,000-mile slips can be had for $20 and this book is available for any number of persons. Mr. Congressman, who wants to take his wife to New York for a month, buys one of the books, takes his better half and starts. When he

The fifth section provides that any foreign woman who acquires American citizenship by marriage shall retain such citizenship after the termination of the marital relation, and she remains a resident of the United States unless she shall formally renounce the naturalization which she acquired abroad she may retain her American citizenship by registering with an American consul within one year after the termination of each marital relation.

The remaining two sections of the bill define the rights of children of aliens born to parents who subsequently become citizens and of children of Americans residing abroad. The principal change proposed is that children of Americans residing outside the United States, if they continue to reside outside the United States must, in order to receive the protection of this government be required upon reaching the age of 18 years to record at an American consulate their intention to become residents and remain citizens of the United States and shall be further required to take the oath of allegiance to the United States upon attaining their majority.

There are ten committees of the house of representatives which are apparently very important bodies. They are the committees on expenditures in the executive department and upon public buildings. About twenty years ago when William M. Springer of Illinois was in the committee on expenditures in the postoffice department he called his committee to order and said: "Gentlemen, we are here to investigate. Some improper expenditures were discovered and Mr. Springer gathered a number of the committee members and then the committee adjourned sine die."

There has been formal action by any like body in the past twenty years it would be difficult to find a comes back he still has 96 miles available, which is enough to take him to Baltimore and back, or well on his way to New York again. Those who have acquired the mileage book habit are fond of telling their friends of the discovery and each has constituted himself a ticket agent for the railroad which sells the books.

The interstate commerce commission has been so busy with the most important clauses of the new "rate law" that up to the present time no opportunity has been found which applied to sleeping cars and express rates. But some of the officials of the commission are gathering data, which will shortly be available. The sleeping car rates have already been discovered to be without any basis of reason whatever. The express rates, especially to "non-competitive points" are known to be excessive and arbitrary. The commission will get after the express and sleeping car companies very shortly now and the general public will probably get a personal knowledge of the scope of the rate bill as a result, because the same authorities would look after the interstate commerce, who is not strictly engaged in commerce has far more intimate connection with sleeping car tickets and express charges than with freight rates.

Washingtonians like to brag of the cleanliness of their city, and the beauties of the existing form of government. The local governing authorities issue frequent orders for the control of the morals and habits of the people. The bill poster is not permitted to display a picture of a chorus girl unless her skirts reach her boot tops and the stranger who splits on the sidewalk is liable to arrest and fine. It would seem that the same authorities would look after the sanitary regulations of the institutions under their control with the aid of the federal authorities. But thus far they have not done so and as a consequence a commission of the department of agriculture has been at work investigating the places in Washington where meats are sold. They have discovered conditions of filth in some of the markets which would give joy to Upton Sinclair. And as for sanitary arrangements there are apparently none—neither toilet rooms nor lavatories. So bad were the conditions discovered that only a private report was made, lest the public should be frightened into starvation.

THRILLING TALE OF BIG STORM

Whole Family Face to Face With Death on Barge.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 22.—A thrilling tale was told last night by the survivors of the great storm that raged off Long Island from Saturday night until yesterday. All of them had faced death so long and suffered so severely that at one time none expected to live. One of the survivors, an infant boy, was tied in a dunnage bag and hurled from a tumbling lifeboat to the deck of a tug. Another, a girl, 13 years old, also bound in a dunnage bag, was dragged through the seas and landed safely by her brother. No person was drowned.

The survivors were brought here by the tug Buccaneer which left Baltimore Tuesday afternoon bound for Providence, towing two immense coal barges, the Annie M. Ashe and the Montana, both of which were lost. Late Saturday night the vessels encountered a heavy storm off the highlands of Navesink and when the tug and her tow reached a point off the lower side of Long Island sound, the Ashe began to settle. The tug cut loose from the Montana and went to the rescue of those on the sinking barge. Capt. Lockhart of the Ashe had a life boat launched, into which he placed his two children, tied in dunnage bags, and Mrs. Lockhart, Engineer Knudson took charge of the boat, and when the tug had approached within ten feet of the little craft, Engineer Knudson dragged out the bag containing the boy and threw it in the arms of a deck hand. He then gasped the bag in which the little girl was imprisoned and after catching a line from the tug tied it to the top of the sack. As the boat rose on the crest of a wave he dropped the bag overboard and the crew of the tug hauled it aboard. Mrs. Lockhart, frantic from fear, dropped back in a hysterical condition. Another line was sent whirling into the life boat and this Knudson fastened under Mrs. Lockhart's arms. The woman was dropped into the sea as her daughter had been, and the rescuers dragged her through the seas. But swiftly as they worked the woman was half drowned when she was seized by kindly hands. Then the men were saved, and the barge sank. Later the Montana was abandoned and she too, went down. Capt. Davis and his three men succeeded after a desperate struggle in rowing their boat under the lee of the tug which picked them up.

GERMAN BANK REDUCES ITS RATE OF DISCOUNT.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—The Imperial Bank of Germany today reduced its discount rate from 7 to 6 per cent. President Koch of the bank, previous to the meeting of the directors today, said that the bank would probably be in a position to make a further reduction in February, as that was usually one of the easiest months for money. The rate had been raised to 7 per cent in December last, the president added, for several reasons: first, to prevent the withdrawal of gold for America; second, to check excessive speculation in commercial and industrial undertakings and finally, to limit the demands of the Imperial treasury on the

BOBCAT SPOILS GAME OF POKER

It Jumps Through a Window and Scatters the Players.

Blackville, N. B., Jan. 22.—Some lumbermen logging in a camp a dozen miles west of here received a shock a few nights ago when a bobcat leaped through a closed window and lighted in the middle of a group intent upon a game of draw poker. The light through the glass attracted the animal. The men, five in number, were seated about a round table engrossed in winning a jackpot containing the unprecedented wealth of 37 cents. A chopper known by his companions as "Seddy Bill" held three tens and just raised Sandy Small, who held three nines, 2 cents, the limit. The other three had dropped out and were watching the game when the glass crashed and in came the cat, just as Sandy was thoughtfully fingering a

GOVERNMENT SCHOOL

For Teaching Men to Set Type by Machines Has Opened.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Public Printer Stillings has issued a general order in which he says the days of hand composition are fast coming to a close. The order was issued to call attention to the government printing office's night school of instruction on type setting machines. The school held its first session last night. The instruction will be free, but no pay given for the work accomplished. In the event of reduction in the force of printers, the public printer says, those who can operate the machines will be given preference. Its wonderful power goes to the seat of your trouble, vitalizes, strengthens every part of your body. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea does. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. Ask your druggist.

TERRITORY WOMEN AT OUTS

Suffrage Question Has Caused Split in the New State.

Muskogee, I. T., Jan. 22.—The women of Indian territory and Oklahoma have crossed hatspins over the woman suffrage question. A memorial has been presented to the constitutional convention by the suffragists which reads: "We, the women of Oklahoma and Indian territory, Indian territory women are asking when Oklahoma woman assumed the right to speak for Indian territory. They say that so far as they know there has been no petition circulated in Indian territory and that they object to having citizens speak for them, whether they are for suffrage or against it. In other words, they reserve the right to do their own talking. While the men of the new state may have willingly or unwillingly, wiped out the territorial line, the women have not, as was evidenced by the refusal of the federated clubs of the two territories to merge. This is largely responsible for the present condition of ruffled plumage. The discussion, of course, is largely among club women. The Indian territory clubs resent any indication of imposition of dictation from the Oklahoma women. The matter is apt to result in an anti-suffrage petition from the club women of Indian territory.

FIRE AT MADISON.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—The frame warehouse occupied by the Union Transfer & Storeroom company, was destroyed by fire yesterday. It is believed that tramps, seeking protection from the cold and snow, accidentally started the fire. The loss is $50,000, partly covered by insurance.

GRATITUDE OF BRITAIN

For Aid to Jamaicans Expressed by the War Office.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Dispatches exchanged yesterday between the British secretary of state for war and the state department wholly ignore the letters which passed between Admiral Davis and Governor Swettenham of Kingston, and have had the effect of relieving the tenacity of feeling which had existed since it became known that Admiral Davis returned to Guantanamo from Kingston with his ships which had gone to the aid of the stricken people of Jamaica.

"Hon. Elihu Root, secretary of state, Washington: I read in the newspapers this morning what purports to be a letter from the governor of Jamaica. Can only say that on material before me I entertain no responsibility for troops in the island, feeling of deep gratitude to American admirals for generous assistance rendered at most critical time.

"Secretary of State for War, London: To this the following reply was sent: 'Haldane, secretary of state for war, London: The president greatly appreciates your cordial telegram and is glad if the proximity of this country has made it possible to be of the slightest assistance to the stricken people of Jamaica in this crisis. If, because of this proximity, and pending the arrival of your own warships and transports, we can render any further aid whatever, the president earnestly hopes you will call on him without hesitation. We know how cheerfully you would render such aid to us were the circumstances reversed.

"Acting Secretary of State," Mr. Esme Howard, charge d'affaires at the British embassy, last night called on Acting Secretary of State Bacon and presented a letter from Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for Great Britain, regarding the Davis-Swettenham incident. In his message Earl Grey says that he is causing an official inquiry to be made to determine the authenticity of the letter purporting to have been written by Governor Swettenham to Rear Admiral Davis.

The British foreign office, he says, is entirely without official advice and that their only information has been through the press dispatches. "If these dispatches prove to be correct," he says, "Great Britain will deeply regret that any British official should have written such a letter to the gallant admiral, who had rendered such valuable assistance to British subjects at such a time of suffering and distress."

FUN IN HOTEL COSTS HER FINE

Magistrate Not Impressed by the Beauty's Rolling Eyes.

New York, Jan. 22.—Laughing merrily, despite her assertion that she had been brutally assaulted, Miss Mae Wood, the red-haired girl who used a hatpin on the house detective of the Hotel Gotham in a fight that disturbed the calm of that exclusive hostelry, was the center of attraction in the Yorkville court. Although she smiled most sweetly at Magistrate Breen and rolled her large, china blue eyes appealingly, her beauty seemed to injure her case, for the magistrate said: "Just because you're a good-looking young woman you mustn't think you can go into one of our best hotels and make a disgraceful scene. I wish there was a charge of assault against you. I want to make a lesson of your case, and I'll fine you the limit for disorderly conduct, $10."

Miss Wood seemed surprised at this and turned appealingly to her counsel, Lawyer Freenthal. "So, that's the best I get?" she said. "Well, I'll call on some of my friends to settle this bill." Charles Fleming, the house detective, was in court with a big piece of court-plaster pasted on the right side of his nose. He touched this gingerly as he said to the magistrate: "She did it, your honor. She struck me with her hatpin. She kept walking in and out of the office last night, and every time she passed the revolving door she sent them swinging like a buzz saw. Then she went into the reception room and sat down. I watched her. She made insulting remarks as guests passed

ACCUSES WIDOW OF NUDGING

Specialist Begins Anti-Flirting Crusade and Gets Into Trouble.

New York, Jan. 22.—Dr. Lazare Wischnowsky, an orthopedic surgeon, who is a graduate of a Russian university, and well known in New York, believes that it is his mission to stop flirting in street cars, and his first venture in this direction got him in trouble. He was on a crowded cross-town car, on which Mrs. Mabel Orton Butte, a striking young Brooklyn widow, was a passenger, when he created a scene by suddenly confronting her and charging her with nudging and allowing herself to be nudged by the young man sitting next to her. "I have been watching you, you miserable woman," shouted the excited specialist. "It is women like you, women of your type, who drive men to the monkey house."

"I have been studying your type, and I have been studying you. It is such women as you who corrupt the morals of the young men and women of our cities; who send them to perdition." Mrs. Butte shrank back in her seat, overcome with astonishment. "Is there no man in this car who will protect me from this man?" she asked. "When two men had come between her and the excited physician, Mrs. Butte demanded that a policeman be summoned and the man arrested, which was done."

DISSATISFACTION

Among the Renegade Utes to be Investigated by Officials.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Capt. Carter P. Johnson of the Tenth cavalry, one of the regiments which last summer helped to round up the renegade Utes of Utah, has been designated by the president to make a thorough inquiry into all the circumstances attending the dissatisfaction among these Indians. Pending his report, the Indians will be kept at Fort Meade, S. D.

TENTH ATTEMPT TO SLAY RICH WIDOW AND SONS.

Thomasville, Ga., Jan. 22.—The tenth attempt to kill Mrs. Alice Futch and her sons, Allen and John, was made last week, when rifle bullets were fired into the sleeping room of the mother and sons. Although the Futch home was guarded at the time by a dozen men, none of the guards saw the would-be assassins, who fired from a clump of bushes.

The Futch family is wealthy and prominent. Mr. Futch having left more than $200,000 at his death three years ago. The apparent absence of motive sticks through the windows of stores, saloons and resorts.

SOLDIER RIOTERS WILL BE PUNISHED.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 22.—Maj. Glenn, commanding at the barracks, says that he will thoroughly investigate the riot in the "bad-lands" participated in by about thirty recruits last night, and the ringleaders will be amply punished. James Stern, one of the ringleaders, has confessed and given the names of a half dozen of the recruits, who are now in the guardhouse. The riot started because a German, William Von Stuckard, told the recruits that a negro in the "bad-lands" had shot a soldier.

It takes a man of very sanguine temperament to persuade himself that he is fortunate because his wife does not read the ads, and is, thus, not a "bargain-hunter."

TRAINED BY WOMAN

Mrs Fay W. Stevens Educates Bloodhounds as Thief Catchers.

She Gains No Little Fame Throughout the Country.

Wichita, Kas., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Fay W. Stevens of this city is gaining no little fame throughout the country as a trainer of bloodhounds as criminal catchers, a feature of police work that her husband, a veteran detective, virtually introduced in the Northern states. At the Stevens home, facing Highland cemetery, she now has a kennel of twenty-two dogs under her care, and several of them are just at the critical training age.

Twenty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Stevens were residents of Nebraska, when he became especially interested in the possibilities of dogs in trailing criminals. He soon became known as a terror to wrongdoers. They gathered a kennel, and as Mr. Stevens was away from home much of the time, Mrs. Stevens cared for them and gradually took up the training.

Just now she has half a dozen puppies which are in training, and which must "be given a lesson" half a dozen times a day. This is mere fun compared with the necessary exercise for the adult hounds.

All that is required for the puppies is for a person to call them around him, have them catch the scent and then make for the tall weeds in a slough north of the house. The ungainly puppies follow, weaving in and out among the weeds, nose to the ground, following the footsteps of the one pursued until they come out again into the open. It is amusing to see the smaller ones trailing behind, but never taking a short cut to join the rest of the pack.

It is a more serious matter when it comes to giving the older ones the exercise required to keep them in training. Two persons are employed. Mrs. Stevens holds the hounds in leash while her companion slips the dogs on the muzzle with a cloth, not to hurt, but to enrage them. After they are fully excited he makes a quick break for the woods and climbs a tree. The last is a necessary movement if he cares to play his part with a whole skin.

After the confederate has made his way to safety, Mrs. Stevens lets loose the dogs and they take up the trail, she following upon her pony. She is an expert rider. Her task is to call off the dogs before they harm the hunted man. Whether the dogs are in training or not, this exercise must be given them three or four times a week that they may not degenerate and also develop their sense of smell.

While the blood hound is born with better faculties for following human footsteps than is the common dog, this faculty is greatly increased by practice. Thus, while the hound is being trained may not be able to follow a trail over half an hour old, by careful training the sense of smell can be so developed that it can follow a three-day-old trail.

That there are no real bloodhounds in this country, or for that matter, anywhere else, Mrs. Stevens decidedly affirms. Any hound, she says, "will trail a human footprint, but his standard can be raised. There are three strains of so-called bloodhounds, the English, the American and the Cuban. The latter is a little fellow that weighs only from 40 to 60 pounds. It is a cross between the fox hound and the Cuban hound, and may be of all colors. The American is the speediest of its kind for criminal work, but is so ambitious that its work is often a failure because of the ignorance of its master or the person with it.

The American bloodhound will rush into his work with his whole soul, and this leads it to the most serious trouble when it turns or doubles. But the dog always comes back. The man who knows his business never follows too closely upon an American pack for this reason. He knows that any moment the dogs may turn back and begin over again. Then, if those following have tramped over the spot where the scent was lost, the dogs may not only lose time in refinding it, but may lose it entirely. Then they are condemned as no good."

Lockjaw Victim

IS NOW CURED

Case Marks a New Era in Treatment of Disease.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22.—After having his jaws tightly sealed from the dread tetanus, 8-year-old David Elfrich, who was ground beneath the wheels of a D. U. R. construction car over ten weeks ago, has been pronounced completely cured. The case is pronounced by leading physicians to be one of the most remarkable in the annals of medicine and marks a new era in the treatment of the practically fatal lockjaw.

When the injured boy was taken to St. Mary's hospital it was found necessary to amputate his left leg. His right leg was also badly crushed.

On the eighth day tetanus set in, and his case was considered hopeless. Even when lockjaw becomes manifest after slight injuries, from 85 to 90 per cent of the cases are fatal. In the case of little David he had suffered injuries that might have proved fatal without complications of any kind. The agony was as though from a knife. Dr. H. O. Walker, who had charge of the case, assisted by Drs. C. M. Stafford and G. B. Chene of the hospital staff, began a course of treatment, the new anti-tetanus serum, with injections of carbolic acid and valium, and also the new anesthetic, hyoscine, catine and morphine compound, to control the spasms. The agony lasted at times by the patient was unusually severe, but this morning he was cheerful and happy at the prospect of once more seeing his brothers and sisters at the little home on Napoleon street.

HE REAPPEARS AFTER BEING FOUR YEARS DEAD.

Pelham, N. H., Jan. 22.—Chester Richardson, a young man who was supposed to have been buried in Chicago four years ago, after his body had been identified, has reappeared here as though from the grave. He is staying at the home of Mrs. Mary Berry, a rich aunt, to whom the corpse was first taken. Neither he nor his aunt will discuss the mystery.

Richardson, who was formerly a student of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, disappeared four years ago while on his way to Chicago. A body found in Chicago was identified as that of Richardson, and as Richardson was buried.

The Chicago authorities will be notified that the body interred in October, 1902, under the name of Chester Richardson, was not Richardson at all.

THE "NO SEAT, NO PAY" LEAGUE IS WINNING.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 22.—Each member of the "strap hangers' league," whose slogan is, "No seat, no pay," wears a red button, and since the movement was begun a few days ago, the badges of courage have become very numerous. Clashes between league members and street car crews are frequent, but the former are so well backed up by sympathizers that they generally emerge victorious.

Many of the conductors of the city last Sunday and made no attempt to collect fares from wearers of the red button, who refused to pay for the privilege of hanging on the outside of the car.

SPORTS OF THE DAY

VICTORIAS ARE COMING

Fast St. Paul Hockey Team Will Play In Duluth.

Northerns Also Plan Trip to the Copper Country.

Duluth will have one of the fastest exhibitions ever seen here when the St. Paul team comes over here next Saturday night when the Northern Hardwax seven is planning to bring the Victoria aggregation of St. Paul to Duluth for a return game. While all arrangements for the contest have not yet been completed it is probable that the game will be played in the curling rink, as that is about the only place available. The St. Paul team was unable to raise the amount of the forfeit demanded by the Duluth team to guarantee their appearance in the Victoria aggregation. The St. Paul team is expected to arrive here Saturday morning about 10 o'clock on their trip to St. Paul last week, and are counting on Saturday's game to recoup their losses. They are planning in every possible way to increase the curling rink possibilities for a hockey exhibition. A wire netting will be put up along one side of the ice, so that the audience can be packed two deep along the walk behind the net with the St. Paul team in the foreground. The waiting room will accommodate a number, and the gallery at the eastern end of the ice will also hold quite an audience. The St. Paul team is confident of victory on its home ice under favorable conditions. They say that before the snow got deep on the St. Paul ice last Saturday they had a 2-0 lead over the Duluth team. They are confident that the game result in a victory for the locals. It is probable that the Victorias will remain over until Monday to play the deciding game for the series. The game will be played here later in the season, or on some neutral ground. A week from Friday, the team is planning an invasion of the Duluth country, and games are scheduled with the Houghton and Calumet amateurs. The St. Paul team is confident that which should keep the seven busy for a week. The team is confident that they will be able to take in one of the big professional matches.

SENIORS WIN AT BASKETBALL

Defeat Sophomores in Close Game in High School League.

	W. L. Pct.
Juniors	1 0 1.000
Freshmen	1 0 1.000
Seniors	1 0 1.000
Sophomores	0 2 .000

In a hard fought game played yesterday at the high school gymnasium, the high school seniors defeated the sophomores, by the score of 20-18.

The game was in the regular schedule of the high school basketball league. Each team had a home game, and both teams were anxious to pull out a victory yesterday and get back into the race.

The teams alternated in the lead throughout the game, but at the end of the first half the seniors were ahead by a score of 10-8. The tieup was as follows:

Seniors	10	Sophomores	8
Burris	1	Peterson	1
Rockwell	1	Rockwell	1
Feldman	1	Feldman	1
Taylor	1	Duncan	1

Sutton Wins at Billiards.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—George Sutton defeated Ora Morningstar at 18-inch balk line pool last night by the score of 50 to 42.

THE SHEA JURY DISAGREES

Arrangements Will at Once be Made for Second Trial.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The trial of President Shea of the Teamsters' union came to an end yesterday, the jury failing to agree. When discharged, the jurors stood 7 for acquittal and 5 for conviction.

The jury went out at 10:30 Saturday morning, and after being locked in the jury room for fifty-five hours, reported to Judge Ball that it was not possible for them to reach an agreement. On the third ballot, 7 voted for acquittal and 4 for conviction. The fourth and all succeeding ballots stood 7 for acquittal and 5 for conviction.

Notwithstanding the fact that the trial just closed has been the longest and most expensive trial in the history of Cook county, the announcement was made by the state's attorney's office that a second trial will be made at once for a second trial.

BRAVE ACT OF CHILD.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 22.—A remarkable act of heroism was performed here yesterday when the residence of J. E. Schrank, a proprietor of a cafe, caught fire. Mr. Schrank's two children, a boy and a girl, were in the cafe when the fire broke out. Unaided, the boy climbed the other from the burning house, and out of the burning house, assistance would have arrived too late to save the children.

They do things differently in "Dear Old London."

A recent issue of a London paper, copies of which have been received in this country, contains an interview with the famous boxer, Billy Nelson.

An American scribe would have started off his story as follows: "The Battler blew into town last night, pushing an 18-karat rock in front of his shirt bosom, and trailing the Parisian Beauties Burelesquers behind him."

"The Battler looked fitter than a bull pup, with the exception of a cauliflower ear, and the fact that his nose seemed to have been put on not and spread."

"The Battler has the fight pictures with him, and he says he is going to prove by them that referees handled him a large, ripe, juicy lime in the Goldfield battle."

Here's the way the London sporting writer handles it: "Last night Battling Nelson, the famous lightweight boxer, arrived in London. He immediately found his way to the Sporting Life office, where a representative of the paper was waiting to interview him. He was accompanied by Cal W. Morton of Kansas City, who has come over with Nelson. His manager, Billy Nolan, is already in England, and is making arrangements for a tour in the British Isles and parts of the continent. Our visitor appeared to be in the best of health, and evidently had not suffered from his voyage."

"When did you leave New York?" "I left last Wednesday in the Majestic at 10 o'clock in the morning, and arrived at Liverpool at 3 o'clock Sunday."

"You had a rather rough voyage?" "We had, rather; it was fine for the first two days, but afterwards very rough."

"Did you feel any ill effects from the voyage?" "Not at all; I actually gained ten pounds in weight."

"I suppose you came on to London at once?" "Yes, we arrived at 8:20, and came on at once to the Sporting Life, which I considered should be our first place to call."

"Have you any special object in visiting England?" "We came here in connection with the exhibition of the Nelson-Gans pictures. I am also going to perform several boxing turns with a sparring partner."

"This finished the interview with our interesting visitor, who, after bidding us a cheery 'Good night,' promised to pay us another visit very shortly."

STANDARD OIL WILL NOT PLEAD TO INDICTMENTS, and Judge Orders One of Not Guilty Entered.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—The trial of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, on charges of receiving concessions upon shipments of oil from Whiting, Ind., as set forth in one of the eight indictments, recently sustained by Judge Landis in the United States district court, was set yesterday by the judge for March 4, 1907, after John S. Miller, attorney for the company, had presented a formal plea of not guilty in behalf of his client to the first count of the indictment. The indictment contains a total of 1,903 counts, and Attorney Miller attempted to have quashed all but the first count of each of the eight indictments against the company, thus reducing from $38,000,000 to $20,000 the possible maximum fine. His motion to have these counts quashed was promptly overruled by Judge Landis, and Attorney Miller then declined to enter any plea upon the counts in question. He was ordered to plead instantly to the suit on the first count, which he did. In the case set for trial, March 4, and when he failed to do so, the court ordered the clerk to enter a plea of not guilty. The judge then ordered the clerk to enter a plea of not guilty. Yankee Mechanic Proves His Title to Big Estate.

London, Jan. 22.—William Settle, an American mechanic, has made good his claim to property in England which brings in a rental of $5,000 a year. The bulk of it consists of several houses in the district of Plaistow, a slum district on the outskirts of the east end of London. And to show his gratitude for his good fortune, he has decided to adopt a slum child. The property belonged to the Settle's paternal uncle, who died intestate some time ago. Settle came to London, and after a long search, he found the property. He then came across the child he wants to adopt, a poor little girl of 4. Her mother and father, poor people who have visions that she may be a duke, are more than willing to relinquish her to him. Settle will soon return to New York and take life easy. He is unmarried and intends to remain single. The child he adopts, therefore, stands a good chance of becoming his heir.

BANKER STILLMAN TO SPEND DAYS IN PARIS.

Paris, Jan. 22.—Enamored of the gay life in the French capital and having fifteen or twenty millions more than enough to enable him to live here in luxury, James Stillman, the banker and railroad manipulator, has bought a Paris mansion. Immediately after his arrival here, the first of the week, he began negotiations for a house and arrangements have been practically completed whereby the American financier becomes the owner of one of the most costly villas on the Paris coast. With the purchase of the mansion it is understood that Mr. Stillman has determined to follow the example of half a dozen of his countrymen, the rest of his days in Paris. It is even probable that one of his last appearances in the land where his millions were made will be to give testimony before the Interstate Commerce commission. His friends here say he will return to America to look after his more active investments and business interests in the United States, will spend his winter in Paris, and will live out his life as a member of the already large colony of Paris-American millionaires.

AFTER THE NATIONAL

Duluth Ski Club Planning to Land a Big Tournament.

Champion Jumpers May Be Brought From Norway Next Year.

Next year Duluth people may have an opportunity of witnessing the national ski tournament and of seeing the champion ski jumpers of Norway competing with their Americanized fellow countrymen for the world's records.

A meeting of the directors of the Duluth Ski club has been called for this evening and at that time plans will be discussed for landing the national meet for next year.

Duluth was after the meet last winter, but lost out to Ashland, after apparently having the support of a majority of delegates. This year a stronger bid will be made for Duluth. The Duluth club has probably the finest hill in the Northwest, and many improvements can be made before next winter.

The slide can be lengthened, giving the riders a better start. With this addition, some world's records should be broken, as the riders had no trouble breaking the American records last Sunday.

The directors are also hoping that arrangements can be made for bringing two or three of the best riders in Norway to this country to compete in the tournament.

At present time everything hinges on Duluth's ability to land the national tournament next month. A big delegation will go down from this city, and no efforts will be spared to induce the delegates to select Duluth as the site for the next tournament. Duluth is the most centrally located city, and with the new hill, is an ideal location for such an event.

TRACK TEAM IS HARD HIT

Captain Clayton R. Bedford Will Leave the Gopher Squad.

Minneapolis, Jan. 22.—The Minnesota university track team has been hard hit. Capt. Clayton R. Bedford of the team will be ineligible for the team this spring on account of conditions. He will probably leave for his home at the end of examination week and enter the banking business. Jesse B. Hawley, the sprinter, will be ineligible on account of conditions. Capt. Bedford was expected to win the charge of receiving concessions upon shipments of oil from Whiting, Ind., as set forth in one of the eight indictments, recently sustained by Judge Landis in the United States district court, was set yesterday by the judge for March 4, 1907, after John S. Miller, attorney for the company, had presented a formal plea of not guilty in behalf of his client to the first count of the indictment. The indictment contains a total of 1,903 counts, and Attorney Miller attempted to have quashed all but the first count of each of the eight indictments against the company, thus reducing from $38,000,000 to $20,000 the possible maximum fine. His motion to have these counts quashed was promptly overruled by Judge Landis, and Attorney Miller then declined to enter any plea upon the counts in question. He was ordered to plead instantly to the suit on the first count, which he did. In the case set for trial, March 4, and when he failed to do so, the court ordered the clerk to enter a plea of not guilty. The judge then ordered the clerk to enter a plea of not guilty.

GETS BRITISH RICHES.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Few features of the spectacular were missing from the proceedings of the senate yesterday. The Brownsville affair was the subject of controversy, and the day began with the announcement of a compromise resolution which brought Republican and Democratic senators on the basis of ordering an investigation of the facts of the affair without bringing into question the authority of the president to dismiss the negro troops. The resolution was submitted to and approved by the president at a conference Sunday. When the "harmony" testimonials were all in Senator Tillman took the floor and delivered a speech in reply to the recent criticism of himself by Senator Spooner. This speech began with a satirical picture of the senate as a minstrel show, which Mr. Tillman later said was his first and last attempt to be "funny." An attempt to bring the constitution brought a stinging denunciation from Senator Carmack in recedent of allusions to him.

BAN ON OVERCOATS.

Kokomo, Ind., Man Believes Men Should Wear Shawls.

Kokomo, Ind., Jan. 22.—John Steward, aged 34 years, a resident of Kokomo, has been greatly interested in the proposed return of the old-time custom of wearing shawls instead of overcoats. "My shawl," he said to a friend, "cost me but $15. I would like to see that record for economy beaten if possible. Then an overcoat does not bear the faintest comparison to the comfort afforded by a shawl, which I believe we would wear long yet if civil war times had not changed the fashion of the people from the fact that the officers wore their great, long overcoats."

Vermilion, Ohio, Jan. 22.—"It has become fashionable for some of our men to beat their wives. In the South this would be treated with an application of strap and should this fail to effect a remedy, the hemp necktie would be resorted to. These remarks were made by a certain man of this town if they do not stop beating their wives."

Senators Part Apparently Good Friends After Personal Debate.

Tillman Says He Will Not be Funny Any More.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Few features of the spectacular were missing from the proceedings of the senate yesterday. The Brownsville affair was the subject of controversy, and the day began with the announcement of a compromise resolution which brought Republican and Democratic senators on the basis of ordering an investigation of the facts of the affair without bringing into question the authority of the president to dismiss the negro troops. The resolution was submitted to and approved by the president at a conference Sunday. When the "harmony" testimonials were all in Senator Tillman took the floor and delivered a speech in reply to the recent criticism of himself by Senator Spooner. This speech began with a satirical picture of the senate as a minstrel show, which Mr. Tillman later said was his first and last attempt to be "funny." An attempt to bring the constitution brought a stinging denunciation from Senator Carmack in recedent of allusions to him.

This was preceded by a serious reply from Senator Spooner on the attitude taken by Mr. Tillman on the race problem, all finally resulting in a session of nearly two hours behind closed doors.

The secret session was followed by a brief open one in which Mr. Tillman made a profuse apology to Spooner, to all senators whom he had brought into his "first essay in the line of humor," and finally to the entire senate. "I very much regret that I ever undertook to be funny, and I will never do so any more," Mr. Tillman then withdrew all he had said in his "funny essay" and said it would not appear in the record.

This apology was at once accepted by Mr. Carmack, who regretted he had questioned the motives of his friend, and he too withdrew words he had uttered in protest.

Mr. Foraker made a final attempt to get a vote on his resolution, but the motion was made and the matter will be taken up later. Mr. Carmack remarked jokingly that there were not more than fifteen or twenty senators desiring to talk, and Mr. Foraker, feeling seriousness, retorted, "holly Democratic side of the chamber could monopolize the talking." Mr. Carmack explained that he was only trying to be funny, that it was his first attempt and he would never make another. As senators were laughing heartily over this parting all, adjournment was taken at 6:15 o'clock.

During the entire day the galleries of the senate were crowded to their capacity, and the debate was also listened to by seemingly a majority of the members of the house of representatives who occupied all available seats and standing room in the chamber.

SENATE APPOINTS THREE GENERAL COMMITTEES TO MAKE INVESTIGATIONS

The House Lays the Matter Over Until Thursday.

A Bill is Introduced For Recount of Disputed Votes.

Anti-Cigarette Bill Again Bobs Up in the House.

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate this morning passed the Peterson resolution combining all pending investigations into three general committees, after it had been amended by striking out the provisions that those who first moved the investigations should go upon the committees, which would have resulted in having a majority of each committee composed of members anxious to fit something. President Elmerhart appointed the committees at once, as follows: Committee on restraint of trade, Senators Peterson, Thorpe, A. L. Hanson, Calhoun, Seward and Pugh; Committee on state mineral and timber lands, Senators A. E. Hanson, Clague, Nelson and Moonan; Committee on mining taxation, Senators Cooke, Laybourn, V. L. Johnson and Smith.

In the meantime the house had taken up the resolution, which must pass both bodies, and, after some discussion, had laid it over to tomorrow. On motion of Representative Jefferson of Bligham Lake, the committee on mining taxes was increased from four senators to six and from five house members to nine.

Representative Case of Clouet this morning introduced a bill providing for a recount of the vote on the tax and the good roads amendments to the constitution, by county boards. It requires town clerks to return the ballot.

SINGER'S KNEE OUT OF JOINT

Madame Eames Dislocates Her Kneecap in Peculiar Manner.

New York, Jan. 23.—Mrs. Emma Eames, the prima donna, dislocated a cartilage of her right knee cap, Monday night, just before she was to appear in a performance, and will probably be prevented from appearing before the public again for some time.

Mrs. Eames was killed to sing in Verdi's "Aida" and was ready to leave her apartments at the Hotel Astor, with her husband, for the opera house, when she heard a pet dachshund dog whining. She stooped to pick the dog up, when the cartilage suddenly became displaced and she sank to the floor in great pain. Dr. George Jacoby, her physician, was summoned and he found that the hurt was a severe one. He called Dr. Robert Abbe into consultation, and operated upon the injured leg.

At the Metropolitan opera house, before the curtain went up for the performance, Manager Goetz told a large audience that Mrs. Eames had not with an accident and could not appear. Mrs. Eames' place was taken by Mrs. Bonissegna.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The rivers and harbors bill, which is nearly completed by the committee, makes generous provision for Minnesota. The six-foot channel projected for the Upper Mississippi will not be included in the bill, unless the committee changes its mind hurriedly, but an appropriation for maintenance and improvement under the four-and-a-half-foot project is increased to about $200,000. The present annual appropriation is $300,000, which does not permit of much new work, about $200,000 being expended each year in maintenance and improvement.

It is expected that this increase will enable the engineers to complete the four-and-a-half-foot project in a comparatively short time, after which the six-foot project will be taken up.

The bill will carry an appropriation of $100,000 for rebuilding Sandy Lake and $500,000 for constructing the Gull Lake reservoir. These projects are a part of the plan for preventing floods in the Upper Mississippi and involve the diversion of Willow River from the Mississippi river, above Al-

GREAT NORTHERN ENJOINED FROM ISSUING $60,000,000 OF NEW STOCK

Court Says Railroad Must First Secure Permission of Railroad and Warehouse Commission.

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the Ramsey county district today Judge Oscar Hallam signed an order enjoining the officials of the Great Northern Railway company from making the proposed increase of $60,000,000 worth of additional stock of that company or issuing the same or a part thereof during the pending litigation without first making an application in writing therefor to the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission and securing its approval thereof as provided by Section 2872 of the revised laws of 1905 of the state of Minnesota.

This is a complete victory for the state of Minnesota in the action brought last month by Attorney General Young and his assistant, R. A. Stone, to compel the railroad to recognize the state railroad and warehouse commission before issuing the stock, as the laws provide that before a railroad can issue an increase of its capital stock it must make application to the state railroad and warehouse commission and make a showing of the necessity for such an issue. The Great Northern Railway company claimed under its original charter it could issue stock at will, and that the law granting this power to the railroad and warehouse commission was unconstitutional. The court holds that is not the case.

Judge Hallam in his memorandum accompanying the injunction says: The Great Northern Railroad company proposes an increase of $60,000,000 to its capital stock. The resolution authorizing such an increase of stock provides that it shall be created and issued for the following general purposes: First, to provide funds for further and additional equipment; second, to provide funds for additional terminals and facilities on existing lines including second main track and for the reduction of grades and improvements of lines; third, to acquire the bonds and stocks of eight different railroad companies which are named; and fourth, to acquire such other securities as the board of directors may from time to time authorize to be acquired. The capital stock of the defendant is now $150,000,000. The state contends that under the general laws of the

"LID" PARTY OF DULUTH PLAN TO CONTROL COUNCIL AFTER COMING ELECTION

GOVERNOR SWETTENHAM Of Jamaica, Who Has Acquired Such Unenviable Notoriety in the Past Few Days.

To gain control of the council, elect their own chairman, secure the appointment of their own committees, pass a resolution ordering the mayor to enforce the liquor laws, and if possible impeach the mayor for his failure to do so in the past, is said to be the plan of campaign of the "lid" party, and it is not at all unlikely that it will be carried out, in part at least, at the coming election.

The eight aldermen who will hold over are: Aldermen Wilson, Staples, Jordan, Burgess, McEwen, Mark, Haven and Foubister.

Just how far these aldermen would go on a vote to impeach the mayor is doubtful, but their attitude on the lid question is fairly well known. Aldermen Wilson, Haven and Foubister have in the past stood with the lidists, and they could be counted on again. If it came to a straight vote to put on the lid or not to put on the lid, Alderman McEwen has always claimed he could be counted upon to vote in the affirmative, but hitherto he has been the active leader of the opposing side. On a showdown Aldermen Mark and Staples would probably be found with the lidists.

Of the men who are running for reelection, Aldermen Moore and Gordon can be counted upon as consistent lid advocates. They are certain of reelection, and this would give the lid party five sure votes, with a possible seven. A. G. Macaulay, who is opposing M. J. Philpott, is a firm lid man, and stands an excellent show of election. He is pledged to the closing of the saloons. In the sixth ward both candidates are believed to be in favor of the lid, although neither is London, Jan. 23.—The government here has heard from Governor Swettenham of Jamaica, concerning the incident involving the withdrawal of the American warships from Kingston. These, it is understood, confirm the main features of the affair as already known. It is not the present intention of the colonial office to make the telegrams public, the official view being that it is a personal affair between a government department and an official, which is properly adjustable between them, and the authorities incline to the view that general interests will best be served by having the replies appear in a blue book at some distant period, in the meantime being dealt with through the usual diplomatic channels for intercourse between power and power.

The Bon Ami will continue running between Two Harbors and north shore points until the ice prevents. PROCEEDINGS BEGUN IN THE SUPREME COURT Papers in Famous Bates-Brady Controversy Reach Duluth.

Attorney General Attempts to Oust Sheriff From Office.

The long delayed papers in the much talked of ouster proceedings against Sheriff W. J. Bates of this county were received in Duluth this morning and were to have been served on Mr. Bates this afternoon. As he was in the city, service will doubtless be obtained.

The proceedings have been brought by Attorney General Young in the state supreme court, so that there is no chance of the litigation being dragged through the lower courts and delays secured through appeals by either party.

Sheriff Bates returned from St. Paul a few days ago and the papers which John Brady, the Democratic candidate, has been preparing through his attorney, were probably delivered to Attorney General Young since that time, as he had seen nothing of them when Sheriff Bates saw him.

The action against Sheriff Bates is necessarily brought in the name of the state, although Mr. Brady is the person to be benefited from any decision adverse to Sheriff Bates. The ouster proceedings are based on Mr. Brady's claim that Mr. Bates has violated the corrupt practices act of the state by expending for his election more than the maximum amount allowed under the act. The main point of the contention will be the expenditure of $500, alleged to have been made by Sheriff Bates to Jack Miles to aid Mr. Bates in securing the Republican nomination. Over the construction of the law there has been quite a difference of opinion among the legal fraternity. Opinions have been rendered by prominent attorneys claiming that Sheriff Bates violated the law, and other opinions have been rendered on the opposite side by equally prominent lawyers. It is likely that a strong attempt will be made to have the corrupt practices act declared unconstitutional, if this should be done and the supreme court should hold the act void, the ouster suit would fail. Sheriff Bates' legal interests will be looked after by H. E. Freyberger of this city.

DEPARTMENT IN NEED OF TELEPHONE OPERATORS

Chief Black Says Blunder is Liable to be Expensive.

Peavey Elevator Fire Swelled the Losses for the Year.

"One of these days there is going to be a bad haul made that will cost the city thousands of dollars in fire losses," said Chief Black this morning, in speaking of one of the recommendations which will be made in his annual report to the council, in which he will ask for three telephone operators at headquarters.

"We are constantly getting new men in the department who have to take their turns at the telephone switchboard. They are not familiar with the work, and the statistics show that out of 238 alarms last year, 134 came in by telephone. Some day one of these green men is going to make a mistake and send the apparatus to the wrong address. People are always excited when they give the alarm over the telephone, and it is a very difficult matter to get the address right."

"The department needs some men who can be broken into this work, and trained to it properly."

According to the statistics of the fire

FEW VOTERS REGISTERED

Even Voters in Contested Wards Show Mild Interest.

Last Chance to Register for Coming Election, Saturday.

Registration yesterday was woefully light. Even in those wards where the contest for aldermanic honors is sharpest a very small proportion of the voters turned out to the polls, and in the First and Eighth, one of the slowest days on record is reported. Only twenty-seven voters in the entire First ward showed up during the day, and in the Eighth, in all but two precincts which, up to noon today had not been received, only thirty had signed.

The Fourth and Fifth wards showed a general interest in the coming night, and the Shattell-Lyle, and Ribbeck-Ringler contest, these divisions promise to be interesting, for 233 voters registered in each ward yesterday while 226 were registered in the Fourth on the primary election day and 135 in the Fifth.

In the Seventh ward, either stirred by the activities of the lid agitators, or in their support of Angus Macaulay or excited by the late dispute between A. T. Park and George M. Jensen, a total registration of 323 was received, the highest of the wards, and 231 voters got out on primary registration day making a fair total entitled to vote Feb. 5.

The First and Sixth made a good showing on the first day, registering 30 in the First and 40 in the Sixth on that day.

A concerted effort will be made by department, fire losses in Duluth during 1906 amounted to $1,134,417.13, with an average of $4,466.29 as a total loss, on buildings and contents, for each of the 258 alarms. There is a total fire loss of more than ten times the average loss in this city for the past ten years, and the average loss per fire is also much greater, as last year it was estimated at but $355.32 per fire.

Of this total however, the big Peavey elevator fire, the most sensational blaze in the history of the city, caused a loss of over $1,000,000, and with this amount subtracted, the remaining $134,417.13 is just about the average loss a year.

Duluth's biggest fire loss before this year was barely a third of the grand total of 1906, for in 1894, the largest and busiest year for the fire department up to this time, the year of the big Hinckley fire, and the big Lower Lake avenue fire in Duluth, the fire losses totalled only $356,023.

Duluth property during the past year was well covered by insurance, the total insurance on buildings burned, including their contents, being $2,125,684, or nearly $1,000,000 in excess of the fire loss.

The loss in the districts where city water could be supplied by insurance, did not include the Peavey blaze, was only $130,625.

Sattler Bros' fire on Michigan street contributed $14,900 to the total, and the Constantine fire on West First street caused a loss of about $21,000.

St. Germain Bros. lost about $20,000 in their big fire, and the Zenith Paper Co. on Michigan street suffered a loss of $16,745.

During the year only fifty-eight box alarms were received by the department, while 134, a vast majority of all the alarms received, came in by telephone.

The various candidates in the wards where the fight is close, to get as many of the voters out as possible next Saturday, which is the last chance to register.

In the Fourth precinct of the Fifth ward, the returns are unofficial as Dan Blanchard lost the registration book the day before the last chance to register. It was reported to have been found at Remarkable Clothes For Those Looking For Snaps!

The last buying opportunity of this sort for the season is now yours. The chance to buy splendid wearing apparel at mere shadows of former prices. We are letting the most beautiful and richest things that we have had in the house this winter go to the trade at a mere song, so to speak.

We need every inch of the room that we can get for our new spring stocks that have been coming in for the past several weeks, and we want to devote our entire attention to them—we want every vestage of winter stocks out of the way.

Novelty Mixture Coats For a Song!

$7.50 for Mixture Coats, in plaids and stripes, some come with velvet collars and cuffs, others trimmed with fancy broadcloth—former prices were $15.00, $16.50, $17.50.

$10.75 for Novelty Coats—some are made with cape effect, others are strapped back and front—former prices—$25.00, $27.50, $32.50.

$15.00 for fine Novelty Coats of English and Scotch materials, beautifully trimmed with velvet and broadcloth—Former prices $35.00 and $37.50.

Black Kersey Coats, 50-Inches Long, $12.50.

Trimmed at neck and sleeves with velvet and tailored straps of self-cloth—wide tailored straps at back—body and sleeves satin lined—sizes 32 to 46 bust measure—AT HALF—formerly selling at $25.00—$12.50.

Beautifully Tailored Suits at Less Than Half Price.

We have put these Suits into four lots—and from these four prices you can get a wide selection of high-class garments. These are all made up in our usual high-class manner, full of style and jauntiness. Many of these suits can be worn for spring and many people are buying them for spring wear.

$11.75 for Suits that formerly sold for $25.00, $27.50, $29.50.

$14.75 for Suits that formerly sold for $35.00, $37.50, $39.50.

$19.75 for Suits that formerly sold for $42.50, $47.50, $49.50.

$24.75 for Suits that formerly sold for $65.00, $50.50, $55.00.

Also Final Riddance of Persian Lamb, Chinchilla and Ermine Neck Scarfs and Muffs at greatly reduced prices.

Silk Petticoats at Less Than Cost of Material.

$15.00 and $12.50 Petticoats at $7.50.

These come in baby blue, navy, tan, brown and green. Some are tucked at the bottom; others are pleated, accordion pleated, tucked or shirred.

$7.50 and $6.50 Silk Petticoats at $3.75.

This lot consists of old rose, lavender, brown and other beautiful pastel shades, which we are closing out during this sale.

RESENTED THE NAME

Election Judge Wants a Warrant for Bert N. Wheeler.

Says Lid Agitator Called Him and Mayor Anarchists.

he claims called him an anarchist yesterday. According to Davis' story, Wheeler was trying to get the voters who came to register to sign as members of the Civic League, the lid party, and when he attempted to get the judges to sign, Davis refused.

"Then he called me an anarchist, and he said Mayor Cullum was an anarchist, and I am not going to stand for it," said Davis.

The dictionary definition of an anarchist is "one who advocates anarchy, or aims at the overthrow of the civil government," and Mr. Davis claims that neither he nor the mayor belong to that particular class of citizens, even though they may or may not be in favor of enforcing lid legislation.

It is considered very doubtful whether a warrant could be issued on such a complaint.

MRS. MAGINNIS DIES.

Prominent Young Duluth Woman Succumbs to Consumption in Arizona.

Word has been received of the death at Phoenix, Ariz., last night of Margarette Maginnis, wife of Charles H. Maginnis of this city. She had been at Phoenix for the past two years, in an effort to regain her lost health.

Death was due to consumption. Prior to her departure for Phoenix, Mrs. Maginnis resided in Duluth. She had a large circle of friends, who will be greatly grieved to learn of her death. She has been very ill for some time and her death was hardly unexpected. Her husband was with her when she died.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Maginnis leaves two daughters, Ruth, aged 13 years, and Margaret, aged 10 years, who are with the family of their grandfather, C. P. Maginnis, in Portland, Or. C. P. Maginnis, who formerly lived here and is well known, is in Duluth today.

FLASHED GUN

ON EMPLOYER

Thomas W. Dunlop Made

Threats to Shoot M.

A. Thomson.

Only the quick action of M. A. Thomson, of Thomson & Dunlop saved his life yesterday afternoon, when Thomas W. Dunlop, brother of the junior member of the firm, pulled a revolver from his desk drawer, and attempted to shoot Mr. Thomson. The latter seized young Dunlop by the wrist and wrenched the gun away from him before he could do any damage with it.

The trouble began when Mr. Thomson told Dunlop, who is employed as a shipping clerk in the establishment, to do something which Dunlop did not want to do, and the young man is claimed to have told his employer to go to a country where 25 degrees below zero is an unheard of thing. Mr. Thomson informed him that he could not stand for such language, and after some warm words, Dunlop flashed the gun.

Young Dunlop did not return to work in the afternoon, and it is not known whether he left town or not.

DECLARE WAR ON POSTERS.

Seven Thousand Ohioans Determined to Drive Out Offensive Sheets.

Cincinnati, Jan. 23.—Open warfare has been declared by the Federation of Catholic societies in Hamilton county, representing a membership of more than 7,000, against immoral and vicious posters. It was decided that the authorities failed to curb the growing evil offensive advertisements, and members of the federation will boycott all theaters and business houses that persist in this system of advertising.

A resolution was adopted calling upon the city authorities to suppress the nuisance and upon every member of the society to make show managers discontinue posters depicting almost every crime on the calendar.

MEET FEAST

Good Time for Score of Banquet.

Outsiders Report Great Interest in G. A. M. B.
A. Y. C. Meeting.

A taste of the fun in store for those who attend the annual meeting of the G. A. M. B. A. Y. C. in Duluth next July was enjoyed by eighteen members of the organization last evening, at a banquet held in the Spalding hotel. Part of this number was from Minneapolis and St. Paul, and the others held positions in local railroad and steamship offices.

The event was a purely social one, with no business mixed in. The Twin City men who were present at an informal supper held here about two weeks ago had such good time then, and were so impressed with the famous hospitality of the Duluth railroad banquet, that they seized on the earliest opportunity to visit the Head of the Lakes again, and last night gave them no reason to regret such action. In the first place the menu was an attractive one, the feature being planked whitefish secured especially for the occasion through the friendly supplies of a Booth street restaurant. The president of the company in Duluth, occupied the position of honor at the head of the table, but when it was suggested that he act as toastmaster he withdrew in favor of W. E. Witherspoon of St. Paul, whose reputation for handling out flowery language in large and highly-colored harangues, precedes him wherever he goes.

It is as easy for Mr. Witherspoon to hunt out a "good" bunch of "dopes" as it is for a fish to swim. He has the average railroad man beaten many degrees in this line, which is saying a good deal, for railroad agents are paid to put people in good spirits and keep them there. The St. Paul man last night flared with wit and personality, and each word was a scintillating gem all by itself.

F. D. Lyon, who was the first man to be honored with the presidency of the association, reported that more interest is manifested in the affairs of the organization this year than ever before, and predicted that the members will meet in Duluth next summer. Others told of new members clamoring for admission. The club has been slow, a remarkable success, and has accomplished so much in its brief career that it is expected of it, that those eligible to membership whose names are not already down upon the rolls are going to get into the fold.

An invitation was extended by the Twin City men to Duluth followers of the rail and those engaged in the steamship business, to attend the first annual dinner of the Transportation club of St. Paul, which is to be held at the Ryan hotel Feb. 2. Several Duluthians have accepted the invitation. The club is a social organization, and has 200 members, and is the first club of its kind in the West. Its chief object is the promotion of goodwill and fellowship. It has baseball and bowling leagues, and the club has been slow, a remarkable success, and has accomplished so much in its brief career that it is expected of it, that those eligible to membership whose names are not already down upon the rolls are going to get into the fold.

Scrofula

Is very often acquired, though generally inherited. Bad hygiene, foul air, impure water, are among its causes. It is called "the soil for tubercles," and where it is allowed to remain tuberculous or consumption is pretty sure to take root.

SENATE PASSES

The Compromise Foraker Resolution to Investigate Brownsville Affray.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The senate yesterday passed the compromise Foraker resolution authorizing the committee on military affairs to investigate the facts of the affray at Brownsville on the nights of Aug. 13 and 14 last, "without question the legality or justice of any act of the president in relation to or connected with that affray."

This action came after the subject had been under consideration almost daily since the first day of the present session of congress, and every phase of the question had been discussed on all sides. Before the adoption of the resolution several substitute measures were voted down. One by Senator Mallory declaring that the president had authority for his course and need justify, was tabled by a vote of 48 to 22. Another by Senator McCumber simply providing for an investigation without reference to the president in any manner, was tabled by a viva voce vote. A third, by Senator Culberson, simply endorsing the president's action and providing for no investigation, was tabled by a roll call vote of 46 to 19. There was no record vote on the resolution adopted.

FOUR WORKMEN ARE KILLED IN COLLISION.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 23.—Four men were killed and at least twelve injured late yesterday afternoon on the New York Central, Mohawk division, about half a mile west of this city, when the collision of a light engine with a coal engine filled with railroad laborers. The workmen, about twenty-five in all, had been at work at Karkers, between here and West Albany, and were on their way back to this city. The coal engine was being pushed by an engine and the colliding locomotive going west crashed into the rear of the coal engine. All the men killed and injured were residents of this city or Rensselaer, and most of them were Italians.

MARRIED SQUAW IN REVENGE

Enoch Broker, Who Once Caused a Sensation, Is Dead.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 23.—Enoch Broker, a former St. Cloud man, died at White Earth reservation. Broker was raised in this city, received his education at St. John's college, and was the son of a wealthy, influential father. When the young man became of age, he fell in love with a young girl of the reservation. His father disapproved of the match, and a quarrel followed. For revenge, the young man went out to the band of Chippewa Indians, where he was near to him, and married a full-blooded Indian squaw. The news of this marriage created a sensation. His friends were unable to believe that this promising young man could take up his abode with a ignorant, untutored redskin, who tramped through the forest in the aboriginal style.

He abandoned all culture and civilization, and wore the feathered headdress, several of whom are students in St. John's college.

Catarrh of the Stomach

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effective Cure for It.

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a "full or bloating sensation," indigestion, and sometimes with sour watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the chest and lungs, and difficult breathing; headache, lack of appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanston, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Distas, Ascorbic, Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine, can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the inflamed membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found fresh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most cost-effective for any form of indigestion, Catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating.

THE COLUMN FOR KICKERS.

"Good morning said the real estate man as the chronic kicker stepped into the front vestibule of the car, and stamped the snow off his feet."

"Good morning," said the C. K. "Beautiful winter weather," remarked the real estate man.

"Yes, fine," said the chronic kicker. "I was up at 6 o'clock this morning, and I've been bucking snow banks ever since, with the furnace scoop."

"Say, I don't mind shoveling snow once in a while for recreation and exercise, but this daily turn at the snow-drifts is getting on my nerves."

"We have a front gate at my house that catches about all the snow that falls in our block, and I've been burrowing through that drift since the first of November. No sooner do I get to the end of it than I have to start all over again, and now the banks are getting so high that if we have another snow storm I'll have to get a step ladder and carry each shovelful to the top of it before I can throw it away."

"The wind cleans my walk for me," chimed in the insurance man from behind his morning cigar.

"No, it doesn't," said the C. K. "All your snow is piled up beside my walks. The wind just carries it over onto my lot. I've got snow belonging to half the people in my neighborhood piled up around my gate post."

"That's certainly hard luck," said the insurance man, and he handed the chronic kicker a nickel and passed out, while the C. K. pulled his pipe in silence.

Mothers who give their children Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup invariably find it. Contains Honey and Tar, Confectionery, and is pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by all druggists.

HAPPENINGS IN THE DAKOTAS

Mysterious Case of Suicide or Murder On a Ranch.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Dickinson—A report comes from Hettinger county, fifteen miles southwest of New England, near Sam Pullins' ranch, that a sheepherder, whose name cannot be ascertained, committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver. When the sheep came in without the herder, Martin Sem, in whose employ the man had been for three years, started out and found the body lying in the snow, with a bullet hole in the forehead and a revolver tightly gripped in his hand. The position of the body, lying face downward, lends many people to believe that suicide was imprudent, and foul play had been suggested.

Aberdeen—C. R. Baugh, 22 years of age, who has been employed in a general store at Aberdeen, has been arrested and brought here by an agency detective on suspicion of having murdered a Mrs. Anderson at her home in Cambridge, Ill., where he had lived. The woman was murdered while in bed with her husband and babe and the husband has since been indicted for the crime. Baugh strenuously denies having committed the murder.

John Walsh was shot and killed last night by a negro named Jack Elliott, who escaped. The crime was cold blooded and created much excitement. A posse is pursuing the negro and threats of lynching have been made.

Stout Falls—There were no unusual features to the preliminary hearing in the case of W. T. La Follette, editor of the Mitchell Gazette, who is charged with the murder of Joe Kirby, a Sioux Falls attorney.

C. E. Fates, attorney, filed a demurrer to the information but was overruled by the court. A plea of not guilty was then entered by Mr. Bates in behalf of his client, and the case was continued to the April term.

Shaw Buttefield of Windsor, Ont., has arrived for the purpose of acting as judge of the annual exhibition of the Queen City Polity association, which commences here this evening and will continue the remainder of the week.

Sturgis—Joseph Hale, residing near Voltaire, recently lost his residence and all its contents by fire. Mr. Hale was away and his wife was engaged in laundry work. Mrs. Hale heard a crackling noise and upon entering an adjoining room was horrified at finding the fire blazing. The fire had started from a pipe of a heating stove.

One of their children was in a cradle near the stove and another in a bed room. The frantic mother snatched the child but to reach it she had to pass through the room where the fire was raging. She rushed the rescue, but her dress was on fire when she emerged from the building.

LOST LOOT ON THE RACES.

Confessed Embezzler Says $15,000 He Stole Was Bet on Horses.

New York, Jan. 23.—Charles Zimmerman, who for the last seven years has been cashier of the Wells-Fargo bank in Lower Broadway, is a prisoner in the Tombs police court, charged with the embezzlement of $15,000. Two weeks ago Zimmerman failed to come back. Examination of his books, it is alleged, disclosed a discrepancy of $15,000 for the day. When expert accountants went over the books they found, it is alleged, that Zimmerman had been taking money for the last two years. The $15,000 thus stolen, Zimmerman said after his arrest, was lost in speculation at the race track.

SILVER WEDDING

Of Mr. and Mrs. Olof Gulbrandson of Midway Celebrated.

Midway, Minn., Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. Olof Gulbrandson of Midway gave a pleasant party last Sunday, it being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, or silver wedding. Dinner was served at 2 p. m., the table being spread for fourteen at a time. The afternoon and evening were spent in playing games and singing.

Mr. Gulbrandson is one of the first settlers of this section, having lived here over thirty years and is well known in Duluth. He is as hale and hearty as any young man you see.

A number of pretty presents were received. Those present were nearly all relatives, as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gulbrandson, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gulbrandson and son, Albin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stark, John Stark, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Stark, Nicholas Bengtson, Ida and Agnes Gulbrandson, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Helmer, Mr. and Mrs. Vitalis Helmer and several others.

SENATOR BAILEY'S RE-ELECTION.

Of course, the friends of Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas will hold that his reelection by the legislature of his state to another term has been a vindication of his good name against the vicious attacks of his implacable foes.

Equally, of course, the investigating committee may be expected to present a report that will cover up all of the stains of the recent combat of mudslinging and unbridled vituperation, for, otherwise, they will have to brand themselves and their fellow legislators as knaves or doits.

But, just the same, the entire controversy has been most injurious, not only to the good name and future usefulness of Senator Bailey himself, but to the fair fame of the whole state of Texas. And it will, inevitably and unfortunately, be continued, with all the viciousness of a deadly political feud, until either the senator's implacable foes are driven from public life or he and his friends are shown, beyond all defense, to be unworthy to associate with honest men.

Before these vicious attacks were made on him, Senator Bailey was regarded among all familiar with public affairs, as one of the brightest characters in either house of congress and as by no means the least available man for the presidential nomination. Now, however, his luster is tarnished and his usefulness impaired and he cannot rehabilitate himself except by the most complete self-defense.

Mr. Bailey may have been perfectly innocent in his transactions with H. C. Pierce of the Standard Oil company; he may have been the victim of unfortunate friendship; but, nevertheless, he has been put in such a position that his future public life must be one unceasing struggle to live down the evil reputation fastened on him and no ordinary "whitewashing" will restore his lost luster.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS.

As a step toward solving the problem that confronts terminal cities like Duluth in regard to the exemption of railroad property from special assessments for local improvements, a Minneapolis member of the legislature has prepared a bill, the contents of which were stated in The Herald's legislative correspondence last evening. In brief, it is provided that the railroads shall pay these assessments just as other property owners do, and that the collection of these assessments shall not interfere in any manner with the gross earnings system of taxing railroads. The author of the bill takes the ground that when the law says that railroads shall pay a gross earnings tax of 4 per cent "in lieu of all other taxes and assessments," it does not mean "special assessments," but merely regular taxes. Of course, this is a legal question that the courts would be called upon to decide if the bill were passed, as the railroads would undoubtedly appeal from such assessments. There can hardly be any objection raised by members of the legislature to the passage of the bill, in order that the question may be tested.

But the bill, as at present drawn, does not go far enough. It should include, in addition to the railroads, all other corporations now paying taxes on their gross earnings, such as the telephone and telegraph companies. These companies stand now in the same position as the railroads in regard to special assessments, and they should be included in any measure that is designed to change the present unjust system.

OPTIMISM UNEQUALED.

For glowing optimism in the midst of gloom, for finding and pointing out the silver lining of the lowering cloud, for a regular Mark Tapley character of cheerfulness when things seem about as bad as they can well be, commend us to the Evansville, Ind., Courier and its sunny-natured editor.

At the very time when the great Ohio river flood was nearing its maximum, was covering the low parts of its city and miles on miles of bottom lands, was working vast damage in cities and towns above and below, and was threatening to put Evansville itself miles from the stream that first brought it life, the Courier published an editorial that for simon pure, unadulterated optimism has never had an equal.

"While the flood," says the editorial in question, "will cause a great deal of damage, it has its bountiful compensation. Every acre of land over which the rising waters spread will be enriched by deposits of sediment. Let the farmers be grateful this flood did not come in the late spring after the corn had been planted. Those whose wheat is ruined should be thankful they can still plant corn, and with the prospect of an unusually rich crop. A flood at this season of the year is a godsend and the farmers benefited should be grateful to Providence."

Such rarely perfect optimism can be compared only to that of the Kansas farmer, who, sitting perched precariously on the roof of his house that was bobbing along in the midst of the last great Western flood, shouted to those on shore: "Thank God, I saved my boots."

Certainly such heroic fortitude as the Courier's editor is displaying in the midst of disaster entitles him to a Carnegie gold medal at the very least.

ROOT'S NEW DIPLOMACY.

Secretary Root's twentieth century diplomatic methods may seem in shocking bad taste and deplorably lacking in dignity to gentlemen of the ancient school of statecraft, but no one can doubt their thorough effectiveness nor question the fact that they brought results in South America and are bringing results in Canada.

As a sequence of what has been called Mr. Root's "flocking chair and cigar diplomacy," the relations between the United States and the Latin-American nations were never so frank and cordial as they are today. Everywhere, during his summer's trip, he voiced the good will of this country toward all of the people of this hemisphere, and the newspapers of those peoples have not yet ceased their commendatory expressions. Further than this, he made mightily for better relations between those republics and the nations of Europe. And the effects all around bid fair to be enduring.

During his present Canadian trip which already is producing a pleasing impression among our neighbors. Mr. Root is meeting people of his own tongue and of modes of thought much akin to those of his own people. He is familiar with all questions that remain unsettled between the Dominion and this country. With all seated at ease in rocking chairs and under the soothing influence of good cigars, there is excellent reason for the prediction that these questions will be settled easily and all difficulties be smoothed away.

Europe first made sport of, and then adopted, most of the ideas of what it called Mr. Hay's "shirt sleeves diplomacy," especially after the diplomats of the Old World had awakened to the fact that the blunt and natural methods of conducting negotiations brought speedy and satisfactory results. Now that Secretary Root has improved still further on the Hay method, we may soon be seeing diplomats of Europe settling international problems in easy chairs with boxes of good cigars at their elbows.

THE SWETTENHAM INCIDENT.

Altogether too much of a mountain is being made by the British and German nations out of the minute molehill incident of the insolently ungracious act of Governor Swettenham of Jamaica in practically ordering from the earthquake-stricken island the American naval forces that had been landed in the cause of pure disinterested humanity.

No one in this country, not even the most rabid Anglophobe, believed, from the very moment that the childishly unfortunate incident was chronicled, that the British government would give even tacit assent to or approval of such wretched boorishness and the great bulk of the newspaper readers, if they thought of it at all, regarded it as the pitiful attempt of a man with a mind of atomic caliber to show himself to the world as a sorry apology for a ruler.

Charity would excuse the governor's action as that of a man puffed up with his own conceit, a martinet of a magistrate of a wee character who imagined that the whole world revolved about his peevish person. Possibly finding that he could not order Americans about as he had been in the habit of doing his Jamaica blacks, he conceived the idea that the only way to preserve his own petty autocracy was to get rid of these Americans. And the perille trial followed. No explanation that he can give will add one iota to his credit.

Governor Swettenham has found himself for the nonce, as the result of his childish spitefulness, a far more notorious blunderer than any of his predecessors in that or any similar office. But, all things considered, the sooner the ill-smelling incident is consigned to the diplomatic garbage heap, the better it will be for Great Britain and the lesser America will think of it.

THE PASSING SHOW.

Minnesota must be a pretty solid, rock-ribbed state. No one in this state has ever been troubled with earthquakes.

The so-called revolts in Iowa and South Dakota against Senators Dolliver and Gamble petered out when it came to the test.

British apologies for Governor Swettenham of Jamaica are really unnecessary. Americans are perfectly willing to consider the pin-head source of the affront to Admiral Davis.

The Duluth Y. W. C. A. wants a home of its very own. The generous business men of Duluth owe it to themselves and the ladies alike to see that this want is not long unfulfilled.

Now let the policemen push out their chests and hold their heads a little higher. President Eliot of Harvard says guardians of the peace have much higher callings than soldiers.

Boxing gloves for two in the senatorial ring, instead of the antiquated and obsolete "pistols and coffee for two," have been rendered unnecessary by Senator Tillman's latest apology.

The Eastern newspapers have begun giving fresh advice to Mrs. Russell Sage. It is to be noted, however, that she holds fast to all that was left her—even what the tax collector is after.

The Philadelphia judge who ordered a woman witness to put on her coat because she wore elbow sleeves must be well we will leave to the women the finding of the proper designation for him.

It seems as if there must always be a Jerry in the public eye. Jerry Simpson of Kansas "sockless" fame has departed, but Jerry Anderson of Michigan is rapidly climbing up to the Jerry pedestal.

The czar is said to be in favor of disarmament. So long, however, as the Terrorists keep up their mortal work with deadly regularity, he will not consent to the complete disarmament of his troops.

There will be a Smith and a Brown in the next United States senate, but neither a Jones nor a Johnson. Won't some legislature that has not yet elected its new senator correct this awful omission?

The fact that the sporting writers have begun sizing up the baseball teams in the various leagues is a strong and cheering reminder in the midst of zero weather that spring is on its way and is bound to come some day.

With another term of six years before him and with so many new colleagues from various states, Senator Nelson is in a position to do even more for Minnesota than he has yet done. And the people believe that he will not disappoint them.

The laundrymen of five Northwestern states have organized an association. If this shall result in better work and less ruination to collars, cuffs and button-holes and shall not bring about a rise in rates, no one will find fault with the combination.

The Starbuck Times has already nailed La Follette for president and Jacobson for governor to its masthead for 1908. Editor F. B. Linsley evidently believes in being forehanded or does he expect to claim to be the original La Follette-Jacobson man?

HOTEL GOSSIP.

Billy Vail, who holds forth at the St. Louis hotel, is something of a practical joker. George May, who travels for a large Eastern manufacturing concern, is the latest victim. Mr. May is pretty well known in Duluth, and generally manages to get up here often, but his absence this last time was an unusually long one.

When he did land in town, after having remained away six or eight months, it was noticed that he had a decided limp in walking across the lobby of the hotel to his room.

Several of his friends were standing around, and they mutually became curious regarding the cause of his misfortune. He explained that it resulted from a sprained ankle, but that the effects would wear away entirely in a short time. The hills of Duluth are slippery just now, however, and a man with a "flat wheel" is very much at a disadvantage in going up and down them.

Europe first made sport of, and then adopted, most of the ideas of what it called Mr. Hay's "shirt sleeves diplomacy," especially after the diplomats of the Old World had awakened to the fact that the blunt and natural methods of conducting negotiations brought speedy and satisfactory results. Now that Secretary Root has improved still further on the Hay method, we may soon be seeing diplomats of Europe settling international problems in easy chairs with boxes of good cigars at their elbows.

THE WEATHER.

Although it was hardly warm enough for the trees to begin budding, as is reported from Tennessee and Georgia, the weather in Duluth was quite perceptibly less strenuous this morning than it had been the past three days and shoppers were able to take advantage of the mid-winter sales without positive discomfort. The snow that had been half promised failed to materialize as did also the easterly winds.

However, clouds gathered during the morning and snow seemed very near, but there was an almost total absence of wind of any kind. The predicted departure of the cold wave was delayed for twenty-four hours, but it seems to have departed at last and morning and afternoon of today was a consequence, right comfortable. Last night's lowest temperature was 14 degs. below zero and yesterday's highest was 4 degs. below zero.

The sun set at 4:51 o'clock this afternoon and will rise at 7:40 o'clock tomorrow morning, the beginning of a steady and long continued lengthening of the day from each end of the year.

A year ago today, a sharp wind with alternate gusts of snow and sleet and sunshine and a temperature about zero made things decidedly unpleasant outside. Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: The Red River valley high pressure and cold wave has now moved eastward to Lake Huron, its easterly movement being aided by 29 degs. below zero temperature last night at Port Arthur and the Soo and colder weather in Michigan, the lower lake region, Ohio and Mississippi valleys and North Atlantic states. A disturbance over Alberta has caused milder temperature in Western Canada, the Dakotas, Minnesota and Western Wisconsin. Light snow showers in the Michigan and portions of the Northwest. Snow now also fell Tuesday night in New England states. Indian conditions are very favorable for rather mild weather in this locality tonight and Thursday.

Following were last night's lowest temperatures, as recorded by the weather bureau:

PASSING PLEASANTRIES.

Baltimore American: "A saloonkeeper ought to be sure of making a good thing of his business."

Washington Star: "My husband has never ceased talking about his mother's cooking," said the sensitive woman.

"Never mind," answered the wise one, "your father told me the same thing when they are married."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "I could marry Miss Tarleton if I had a mind, don't you like to get one?"

Detroit Free Press: Groom—You don't seem to like it because the best man looked happy.

Bride—Of course not. I throw him over board.

Philadelphia Press: "Really, Mrs. Subbubs," began Mrs. Gaussp, with an air of pleasurable excitement, "I think you ought to know this. Your husband kissed your cook."

"Kissed?" replied Mrs. Subbubs. "I told him to do it. In that way, you see, the cook thinks she is getting ahead of me and so she never thinks of leaving."

Philadelphia Inquirer: A theological student supposed to be deficient in judgment was asked by a professor in the class to read the following passage from the Bible: "Pray, Mr. E., how would you discover a fool?"

Pray the questions he would ask," was the rather stunning reply.

Cleveland Leader: Willie—Pa, is the Sphinx a woman?

Pa—Impossible, my son. Think of the secret it keeps and the way it holds its tongue.

Mamma—That's awfully odd, Jacob. They kick at the storm or the summer-temps, at least. That's what makes it so wonderful.

Philadelphia Record: Blobs—What a disagreeable old fellow Grouch is.

Blobs—But you must remember he suffers from dyspepsia.

Blobs—Suffer? Why, I believe he actually enjoys it.

Washington Herald: "Extry! Extry!" yelled the newshy.

Why, I don't see anything unusual in this," said the customer. "There's Extry!" said the boy. "There's an unusual scarcity of news."

Cleveland Leader: "That Scroggys girl is very fond of animals."

"Does she own many?"

"Yes, she owns many. She has a canary bird, a stuffed crane and a Teddy bear."

Chicago Tribune: "I know a man," averred Uncle Allen Sparks, "who belongs to six secret societies, and attends the meetings of all of them. In fact, I presume I know him, a great deal better than his wife does."

Philadelphia Public Ledger: Clitman—What's the matter with all you Swamphurst fellows? You don't seem to like my friend Blockatz.

Subbs—No, he's selfish.

Clitman—Oh, come now.

Subbs—That's what he is. A barn near him caught fire and he put it out without waiting for the rest of us members of the Swamphurst fire hose to reach the scene.

The Farmer's Pride.

Fargo City: The farmers of this state cannot afford, and do not want to see, Agricultural college survey. They are more closely interested in this institution than any other.

Calls It "New Wrinkle."

Philadelphia Telegraph: Minnesota has a new wrinkle. She has ordered all her railroads to run their trains on schedule time.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1886.

Last evening, M. B. Harrison received a telegram from Governor Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia, requesting Mr. Harrison to meet him in St. Paul today. Governor Lee is accompanied by a large and distinguished party of friends, among whom are United States Senator John W. Daniel and Hon. George D. Wise of Virginia and several capitalists from Birmingham, Ala., Virginia and Maryland. Mr. Harrison says they have come West as much to visit Duluth as to attend the St. Paul carnival. It is probable that the whole party will take a trip to Tower to examine the mines there and also go to the Gogebic, as several of the visitors are largely interested in the iron mines of the South.

Ex-Governor Austin, Gen. Backer, Hon. John L. Gibbs and Secretary Warner of the railroad and warehouse commission, attended the morning session of the board of trade today. This is the first time that Mr. Gibbs has visited Duluth. The commissioners were desirous of finding out who the people favored as chief grain inspector. Mr. James, the present incumbent, seemed very difficult to please. Mr. Gibbs, on the other hand, was very much to the liking of most of the people, and Mr. Shelley, the deputy, has given entire satisfaction, and both will probably be retained.

An employee of the Duluth Gas & Water company was sent to Gas out some gas pipes at the Sunday Sun office. A can of naphtha was part of the hauling out equipment. Erickson, the thawer-out, left the thimble off the nose of the can, and placed the can close to a lighted gas jet. The result was an explosion, which seriously injured the business office of the Sun, and set fire to and destroyed much valuable stock, the loss being about $300. Erickson's clothing caught fire and he ran into the street, where Ed Toomey, the blacksmith, knocked him into the deep snow and extinguished the flames.

Pat Killen has gone to Chicago to arrange for a fight with Glover.

Frank B. Loefer, the popular vesselman, has returned to Duluth from the home of his childhood.

H. H. Grace of Wausau, Wis., a relative by marriage of N. B. Thayer, is in town visiting Mr. Thayer, and may locate here permanently.

The Pioneer Press says that Freeman, Comstock, Whitman, Matteson, Compton and Knox are all congressional possibilities in the Fifth district, to be determined when Knute Nelson vacates his claim.

Fred W. Huntress has returned from a trip to Michigan.

Miss Annie Leveson has gone to St. Paul to enjoy the carnival.

Clarence Moore of the real estate firm of Knute Nelson & Co. returned from the East, where he has been visiting his relatives.

Capt. Ed Vaseburg won the match game of billiards for $50 a side at Burnham's last night, from William Ross.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

St. Hilare Spectator: Thirty-six legislators and congress are busy at present grinding out new laws. Surely we are well governed.

Eveleth News: Engineers, cruisers, loggers and farmers all unite in declaring that the snow is the cause of more difficulty this winter than usual. Not only is it deep, but it has been coming so continuously as to be soft and yielding all winter.

Cass Lake Times: The Times favors an increase of salary for all district judges to at least $5,000.

Worthington Herald: By cutting out free transportation the railroads unconsciously did a good turn for the editors of the country. They will travel less and in this their lives will not be in danger of being crushed out by some careless railroad. Score one for the editors.

Eveleth Star: The business men's club of Eveleth, did a great stroke of business at their last meeting. Eveleth does things when it starts. But an Alameda Six wisely put it. Eveleth has always got to take the lead of the other range towns in the way of advanced thought and new reforms.

Mesaba Ore: When the time comes to divide St. Louis county, as it will when division machinery is made ready, the men to lead the Mesaba and Vashon million iron ranges: Snow and warmer weather tonight and tomorrow, with easterly winds. Lowest temperature tonight about 10 degs. above zero.

H. V. McCLAREN, Local Forecaster.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Forecasts until 7 p. m. Thursday: Wisconsin: Snow and warmer tonight. Thursday probably fair and warmer.

Minnesota: Snow and warmer tonight. Thursday probably snow and warmer.

Dakota and South Dakota: Snow and warmer tonight and Thursday.

Minnesota: Snow and warmer tonight. Thursday probably snow and warmer.

Minnesota: Snow and warmer tonight. Thursday probably snow and warmer.

A completely furnished one, too—and a sight well worth seeing. The coziest little flat in Duluth.

We invite you to call and see it.

DINING CHAIRS 69c

We haven't a cut to exactly represent these splendid Dining Chairs, but they are a decidedly attractive design—plain, medium high backs—solid hardwood—Royal quarter-sawn finish—wood seats—braced arms—a regular $1.25 value, 69c.

Limit 1/2 dozen to a customer. Haven't got an overabundance of them, so come early.

Sewing Rockers 98c

They're similar in design to cut—all thoroughly seasoned hardwood—golden oak finish—medium high, carved backs—solid, well made and well finished, and very comfortable.

Sanitary Steel Couches Of All Descriptions.

The cut at the right represents the "slat fabric" Steel Couch—the Davenport style. We also have them in the Couch style. These are the very best Sanitary Steel Couches on the market. If you would have the best buy the "slat fabric." We are exclusive representatives for Duluth.

For $3.65 We Offer

THE "WISHBONE" COUCH.

They're the kind that make a bed at night and an excellent, comfortable couch by day. They have the wishbone spring—are all steel—each side lifts up, one side forming a 3/4 bed. With both up full size. Other stores price steel couches at $5.00 and $5.50. We offer them at $3.65.

FOR VICTOR TALKING MACHINES AND RECORDS We Are Headquarters

We carry every Record and all Machines. If you have never heard these most marvelous machines we cordially invite you to come in and hear them at any time.

Come in and hear Homer, Melba, Gadsby, Sousa's Band, Male and String Quartets—in fact, any music that might interest you—and tell us after hearing what you think of this most marvelous entertainer. Hear the music that you love produced by the Victor as it can be produced by no other instrument. Remember that America's greatest musical critics and judges at three great international expositions—Buffalo, 1901; St. Louis, 1904; Portland, 1905—awarded the Victor the first prize as musical instrument above all competitors.

Then take the Victor home with you and enjoy it tomorrow.

THREE DEAD IN ONE FAMILY

Mrs. Ingalls of Elmore Follows Husband and Son in Death.

Elmore, Minn., Jan. 23.—Three deaths have occurred in one family here in less than two months. Yesterday Mrs. Lucinda Ingalls died, after being confined to a chair for months.

Mrs. Ingalls was about 89 years old, and her husband, who was 92, died the first of this month. Her son, Edward, also died in the insane hospital at St. Peter, Dec. 2. All were over 50 years of age and pioneers of Minnesota, coming here in 1850.

GAUDY GARB FOR DANDIES.

Flashy Raiment to be Worn by Men, Is Tailors' Decree.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Men also will wear bloomers. The 1907 styles for the chislo masculine will not be at great variance from those of the gentler sex, it has been edited by members of the Custom Tailors' association, now holding their twenty-seventh annual convention here.

Somber, funeral garments affected by the dandy of 1905-06 are destined to oblivion and his sportship must wear waistcoats, trousers and other things of the hue of the rainbow. Joseph, of biblical renown, and his coat of flashy materials will be in the also class, compared to the loud raiment which will be man's in all his glory, at Easter time.

"Frog tops" are things of ancient history. No more will man have the "ducky" appearance as of old. He is to be up-to-date and resemble the airship or dirigible balloon.

Coats—Man will be spared the inconvenience of daintily holding them up when crossing a muddy street—will be of medium length.

Vests—They are to dazzle as the rays of the noonday sun. To have in their texture as many colors as are known to the contemporary poster painter, will be the height of style.

NITRIC ACID FROM AIR.

Process of Moment to Commerce Discovered in Britain.

London, Jan. 23.—The discovery of a process to extract nitric acid from the atmosphere in quantities to make it available for commercial, industrial and agricultural purposes is announced by the Daily Chronicle.

This achievement is the result primarily of original research by Sir William Crookes, the eminent physicist.

TOWN BANISHES TOBACCO.

Following Revival All Men and Boys of Hamlet "Swear Off."

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 23.—Following a spirited revival in Port Republic, a thriving hamlet on the mainland, every man and boy in the place has sworn off the use of tobacco. Miss Amanda Blake, proprietress of the general store in the village, made a bonfire of her entire stock of pipes, tobacco, cigars and cigarettes and John H. Johnson, a 70-year-old war veteran, is lying sick at his home after eschewing his life-long pipe habit, declaring that he will die rather than again award victory to his narcotic enemy.

Port Republic citizens have always borne a name for general rectitude and morality, but like other country residents looked on their tobacco as a harmless evil. They were awakened to the error of their ways by a visiting evangelist, who declared that "Hell was full of smokers and chewers."

GIRL FALLS BACKWARD

Through a Window But Escaped Without Bones Being Broken.

Colebrook, Minn., Jan. 23.—Mary Matson, an 18-year-old girl, the daughter of Jens Matson, was seriously injured here by falling backward out of a window. The window had been opened to air the room, and Miss Matson was standing near it with her back toward it when her younger brother, Harry, came tripping through the room and ran into her. She was thrown backward, tripping on a loose piece of carpet and fell. The sill of the window was too low to catch her, and she went through, striking her head and shoulders on the ground a few feet below. No bones were broken, but her back was seriously wrenched.

BAN ON NURSES' KISSES.

Scranton Health Board Superintendent Orders Typhoid Patients Exempt.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 23.—Nurses must not kiss the typhoid fever patients who may be under their care. Dr. Keller, superintendent of the bureau of health in his last proclamation to the nurses has made this decree.

Dr. Keller when seen regarding the matter would not say whether or not any of the nurses had been guilty of such an act. He simply declared that they should not do so and to be on the safe side he has warned them. Five new cases of typhoid and three deaths have been reported. The total number of cases is now 1,091, while the number of deaths is ninety-three.

How to Cure Chills. "To enjoy freedom from chills," writes John Kemp, East Otsefield, Me., "I apply Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Have also used it for salt rheum with excellent results." Guaranteed to cure fever, colds, influenza, pneumonia, pleurisy, wounds, frost bites and skin diseases. 25c at all druggists.

DETECTIVE IN JAIL.

Tables Turned on De Pass for Alleged Swindling by Checks.

Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 23.—Stanley De Pass, for fourteen years one of the most trusted detectives in the Pinkerton agency employ, is in jail here on the charge of passing worthless checks. He lost heavily in speculation and while here passed checks on a hotelkeeper. He was caught near Bloomfield, Neb., where he had gone to visit his wife and children. He was known in that vicinity as Charles Dixon.

NEW ICE TRUST FORMING.

Thomas Interests of New York Buy Out An Armour Plant.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23.—The Armour ice plant at Pewaukee was purchased yesterday by the Thomas interests of New York, who are forming a new Western ice trust. Milwaukee companies refused to sell. It is said Thomas got Knickerbocker of Chicago and other companies, which want to sell out. It will be a war to a finish. Thirty-five millions are involved.

PRESCRIPTION FOR "CYCLONE" CATARRH CURE.

The name "Cyclone" is given to the following prescription, it is supposed, because of its promptness in driving from the blood and system every vestige of catarrhal poison. To prepare the mixture: Get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This is a harmless, inexpensive mixture, which has a peculiar action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, assisting them to filter and strain from the blood and system the catarrhal poisons, which, if not eradicated, are absorbed by the mucous membrane, and an open sore or catarrh is the result.

Prepare some and try it, anyway, as it is the prescription of an eminent catarrh and throat specialist of national reputation.

ECHO OF THE LAST ELECTION

John Kiske Asks Damages for a Fractured Nose.

An echo of the recent county political campaign was heard in Judge Enslin's room today in the damages action brought by John Kiske of Greenen against John A. Bauers of this city.

According to the evidence, the partnership displayed by the two men brought them into a personal encounter at Greenen Nov. 3 last, when Bauers struck and knocked down Kiske. Bauers was arrested, charged with assault. He pleaded guilty in the municipal court and paid a fine of $5 and costs.

Mr. Kiske, feeling that he had not had full satisfaction through the proceedings in the municipal court, instituted a civil action for damages against Bauers, claiming that his nose was fractured by reason of its contact with Bauers' fist, and that he was otherwise badly used. He demanded $2,000 damages for injury to his person and his feelings, that amount to cover his alleged doctor bill, loss of time, etc.

Mr. Bauers, in his answer, admits the assault but claims to have no information sufficient to form belief that Kiske was so badly injured as to need medical care or that he was laid up from work for a week or for any other period of time.

Kiske is represented by C. E. Adams and Bauers is represented by Bert Fessler.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON

Invited to Address Students of University of Pennsylvania.

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson today received an invitation from the regents of the University of Pennsylvania to address the students of that university at the spring commencement exercises. Governor Johnson has not indicated whether he would accept the invitation.

CHILD ALMOST A SOLID SORE

From Skin Disease from Birth Until Six Years Old—Father Spent Fortune on Her Without Benefit—Old Doctor Suggested Cuticura, which Cured Her in Two Months, Leaving

SKIN SOFT AS A BABY'S AND WITHOUT A SCAR

"I have a cousin in Rockingham Co. who once had a skin disease from her birth until she was six years of age. Her father had spent a fortune on her to get her cured and none of the treatments did her any good. Old Dr. G. suggested that he try the Cuticura Remedies which he did. When he commenced to use it the child was almost in a solid scab. He had used it about two months and the child was well. I was there when they commenced to use your Cuticura Remedies. I stayed that week and then returned home and stayed two weeks and then went back and stayed with them two weeks longer and when I went home I could hardly believe she was the same child. Her skin was as soft as a baby's without a scar on it. I have not seen her in seventeen years but I have heard from her and the last time I heard from her she was well. That is where I became acquainted with Cuticura. I hope this may be of some service to you in the future. Mrs. W. E. Ingles, Burlington, N. C., June 16, 1905."

SHARES FOR THE HOLDERS

Black Mountain Directors Decide to Issue More From Treasury.

Copper Stocks Are Firm With Denn and Globe Features.

Directors of the Black Mountain Mining company have authorized the sale from its treasury stock of 100,000 shares, to the stockholders whose names are on the records of the company Feb. 23, 1907. This according to dispatches received from Boston this morning.

The right to subscribe, according to the dispatch, entitles each shareholder to 25 per cent of his holdings, at the rate of $5 per share. The first $3 is to be paid by March 1 and the second $2 by the first of July, 1907.

This will make the amount of stock issued 600,000 shares, with a par value of $100,000. It is said that all stock not subscribed for by the shareholders will be taken up by T. C. Collier, Chester A. Conner and associates at the rate of $5 per share.

Copper stocks had a good tone in the market again today, with Denn and Globe leading the market. Consolidated sold at $17 bid and $18 asked. Denn mining stock sold at $12.50 and closed at $13. Reports of further strikes at the Denn caused the bulge. Globe Consolidated advanced from $12 to $12.50 and closed at $13.25 asked. North Butte opened at $14.50, declined to $14.25, rallied to $15 and closed at $15.50. Annapolis opened at $13.50, declined to $13.25, rallied to $13.75 and closed at $13.75. Greene-Canaan sold at $22.50 and $23.

GOOD CLOTHES

A dispatch from the Boston News Bureau to Paine, Webber & Co., this noon, said: "A director of the Copper Range Consolidated says: 'In 1907 Copper Range should easily show an increase in output of 6,000,000 pounds. The Globe property will in my opinion add $1,000,000 to the value of the Copper Range. Production from the Globe company, however, is not expected for some time as much drifting and sinking will be necessary.'"

Escapes from Chain Gang.
Martin Geraghty, under a sentence of sixty days for hindering justice, broke away from the chain gang at work on the snow-drifts at Third avenue west and Superior street yesterday, and after a wild dash down Third street and some active dodging among the freight cars on the tracks on Railroad street made a get-away. He was apprehended by one of the sheriff's deputies before three hours were up, however, and at work again today on the drifts. He said he was tired of the snow shoveling business and wanted a vacation.

direction of the legislature, a certain amount to be spent in each county. The house rules committee has introduced a bill to that effect. The committee consisting of three members from Republican districts, including Representative Hicks, Minneapolis, offered a bill providing that the state should be divided into four districts, of eight members to nine by appointing one to nine by each district. REPRESENTATIVES OF THE PEOPLE SHOULD SETTLE LOCAL OPTION QUESTION

Says Governor Johnson in Special Message to House.

Would be Indelicate for Him to Express an Opinion

As the Senate Has the Question Now Before It.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Johnson today sent the following special message to the house in response to the Gates resolution:

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of this day of a copy of a resolution adopted by the house of representatives Jan. 16, 1907, requesting a special message for my views on local option or county option in respect to licensing the sale of intoxicating liquors.

The fact that there is any doubt in the minds of the house of representatives, or hesitancy to proceed to any action along this line, is, it seems to me, an added argument for the adoption of the initiative and referendum, which should obtain under a purely Democratic form of government.

County option in the regulation of the liquor traffic is not as yet a political question in this state, none of the political parties having ever de-

HERO'S WIDOW IS A SAD CASE

Got $1,000 From Carnegie Fund and Eloped.

Pittsburg, Jan. 24.—The Carnegie hero fund commission finds itself in a position somewhat embarrassing. Telegrams from the mountain districts of Western Pennsylvania tell of the elopement of a Mrs. Nettie Stutzel, a widow, aged 35, with a married man, who is a Mrs. Nettie Stutzel, in charge of the former notorious old still of Hill Pitts, the moonshine king. The elopers were caught late yesterday and the husband was taken back to his family.

Mrs. Stutzel is a beneficiary of the hero fund commission. Her husband lost his life almost three years ago, while trying to save two young men from drowning and the commission voted the widow $1,000 in cash and a bronze medal.

Mrs. Stutzel has collected the $1,000 and is thought to have paid the elopement expenses out of it. The medal, however, has just reached the offices of the commission here and would have been mailed her this week.

Just what will be done now with the medal is the question. The commission may decide to give it to the child of the hero, now 2 years old.

HIGGINS IS BETTER.

Former Governor of New York Passes Comfortable Night.

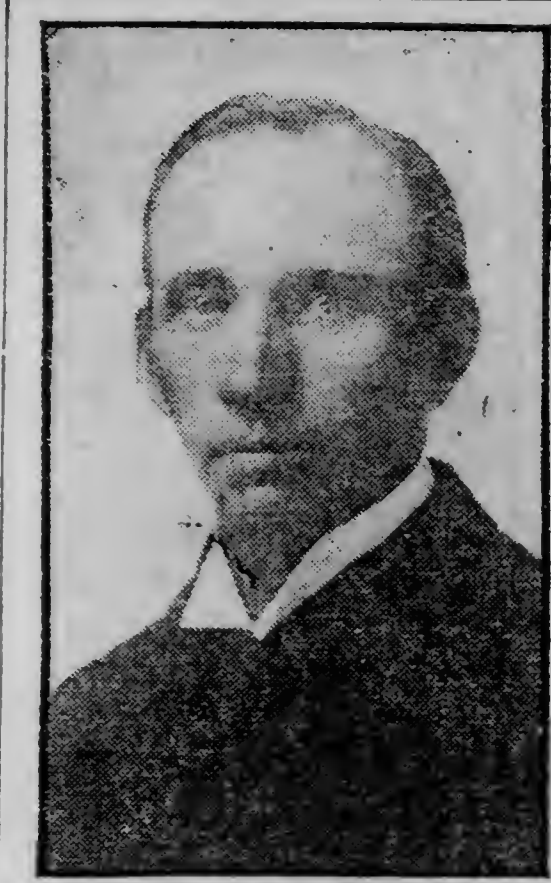

Olean, N. Y., Jan. 24.—Dr. Hibbard at 8:40 a. m., after his first visit of the day to former Governor Higgins, says Mr. Higgins had passed a fairly comfortable night, that the improvement noted in last night's bulletin had been maintained and that the general indications were more favorable. He took nourishment during the night.

While the general condition of the patient is more favorable there is apparently but slight hope for his ultimate recovery.

LIKELY TO BE PASSED

House Committee Favors Bill to Abolish Private Banks.

Elmer Adams to Introduce an Anti-Treating Measure.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house committee on banks and banking yesterday afternoon agreed to report out the bill abolishing private banks, with the recommendation that it pass.

The bill is very likely to go through this year. Two years ago it had a stormy time, and though it passed the house it was defeated in the senate. Since then a large number of the private bankers have incorporated and have placed themselves under the federal or state authorities, so the volume of influence against the bill will be very much smaller than it was two years ago.

The measure does not specifically abolish private banks, but that is its intent, and that will be its effect if it passes. It prohibits any person, firm or corporation from doing a banking business, unless they comply with the state banking laws and submit to federal or state supervision.

SIX YAQUIS ARE KILLED

Cowboy Puts Six Indians Out of Business Alone.

Claims the Wholesale Slaughter Was in Self Defense.

Denver, Jan. 24.—A special to the News from Douglas, Ariz., says: At Beatty camp, on the new Southern Pacific line from Moctezuma to Guaymas, eight miles from Moctezuma, Sonora, Mexico, yesterday, Bert Sealey, a noted Arizona cowboy, single handed, shot and killed six Yaqui laborers.

Sealey, it is said, made his wholesale slaughter in self defense. He had had words with one of the gang of Indians with whom he was working on the grade, and they made for him with their shovels and picks. Before they reached him Sealey fired five shots at the Indians from his revolver. He picked the five foremost advancing Indians in one, two, three order, stopping their onslaught. Each shot he fired proved fatal. Running down a grade, a sixth Indian tried to intercept him, and Sealey also shot this one dead. Sealey escaped. He bears an excellent reputation in Arizona.

WEATHER IS SEVERE

Coldest Temperature in the East for Many Years.

New York and New England Suffering From Extreme Cold.

New York, Jan. 24.—With the temperature at 1 deg. below zero at 8 a. m., this was the coldest day of the winter and one of the coldest days in several years in this city. The cold was all the more felt because of the sudden change from the warm, damp weather which has prevailed for several weeks. Vapor rose in clouds from the harbor and bay and vessels arriving at this port had their bows and decks sheathed in ice.

Reports from upstate districts say that all cold weather records were broken by a drop at some places to as low as 40 degs. below zero.

New England also experienced extreme cold. At Boston the temperature was 7 degs. below zero, the lowest in four years. Points in Vermont reported 20 to 24 below. At New Haven 7 below was recorded while in the interior of Connecticut and in the Western towns of the state 24 was the reading on thermometers. At Providence, R. I., the mercury was 18 below zero.

CITY OF POLOTSK IS DEVASTATED

Ancient Russian City is Practically Destroyed by Fire.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—The central part of the city of Polotsk, in the province of Vitebsk, one of the most ancient cities of the empire, has been destroyed by fire. The damage done is very heavy.

Polotsk is situated sixty miles west-northwest of Vitebsk on the river Dvina. It was the seat of a mediaeval principality which was swallowed up by Lithuania and under the Polish kings was a flourishing center of trade. It contained many ecclesiastical structures and an old Kremlin, memorials of its former importance. Polotsk was a Jewish center in the latter part of the eighteenth century and suffered severely as a result of the French invasion in 1812. The population of the city in 1879 was 20,000, about half of whom were Jews.

ELOPERS MARRIED.
La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 24.—Disguised as a nun and wrapped in heavy furs to escape her parents, Miss Ora Dunn of Ju-neau county, Wis., and Alex Skeede, a traveling salesman, were hurriedly married at La Crosse, Minn., last across the river, and fled on an eastbound train.

U. S. SENATOR RUSSELL A. ALGER DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS WASHINGTON HOME

RUSSELL A. ALGER,
United States Senator from Michigan, Who Died Suddenly at Washington.

Succumbs to Attack of His Old Trouble, Heart Disease.

Arose as Usual But Was Soon Attacked by Malady.

Head of the Alger-Smith Company of This City.

Washington, Jan. 24.—United States Senator Russell A. Alger of Michigan died suddenly at his home, in this city, at 8:45 o'clock this morning. There were practically no premonitory symptoms that the end was near. At 8:30 o'clock the senator had a pleasant chat with Mrs. Alger in her room, and then went down stairs. A few minutes later the senator suffered a recurrence of the heart trouble, from which he had suffered for a long time, and death came quickly.

The senator had not been feeling well for several days. Tuesday night (Continued on page 7, third column.)

PROMOTION OF STEVENS

To be Chairman of the Canal Commission Announced.

Offices of Chief Engineer and Chairman to be Combined.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Announcement was made at the war department today that the offices of the chairman and chief engineer of the isthmian canal commission would be combined and that Mr. Stevens, the present chief engineer, would be given the appointment, the understanding being that he will maintain a residence on the isthmus.

The resignation of Chairman Shonts, it also was stated, will be accompanied by his resignation as president of the Panama Railroad company to take effect upon the same date that he will sever his connection with the isthmian canal commission.

NO JURORS OBTAINED AT THE MORNING SESSION OF TRIAL OF HARRY K. THAW

MISS MAY MCKENZIE,
Actress Chum of Mrs. Harry K. Thaw, Who Has Been Subpoenaed to Testify in the Thaw Case.

But Two Men Thus Far Occupy the Jury Box.

Second Day Opens Without the Confusion of First.

Strain of Trial Proves Too Much for Thaw's Mother.

New York, Jan. 24.—The morning session of the Thaw trial ended at 1 p. m., without the selection of an additional juror. The two jurors sworn in yesterday were the only occupants of the box.

New York, Jan. 24.—None of the confusion which was so apparent yesterday marked the opening of the second day of the Thaw trial. Today the police had the situation well in hand and those who had no immediate business in the court room had already learned the futility of trying to break through the cordon of bluecoats.

When the morning session began today there were two jurors in the box, Denning B. Smith, No. 1, and Charles H. Feck, No. 2.

Nearly half an hour before the session was opened Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw made her way into the court room through the main doorway. She wore the same blue dress. Her features were again obscured by the heavy white tulle veil. May McKenzie followed close behind the prisoner's wife, and then came Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie. Mrs. Carnegie was muffled in furs.

Thaw's imposing array of counsel, numbering six altogether, reached the court room shortly before 10:30 o'clock, at which time Thaw was in the prison.

MISSISSIPPI IS RISING FAST

Phenomenal Increase of Waters Near the River's Mouth.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 24.—A phenomenal rise has occurred in the Mississippi river seventy-five miles below here, where for three days the levees have been breaking. The river stands within about one-tenth of a foot of the highest rise on record in that district. Notwithstanding this unusual stage near its mouth, the river at New Orleans and for hundreds of miles northward is three feet and more under previous high records. It is thought that changes in the bed of the stream may account for the anomaly.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 24.—The Ohio river fell almost 8 feet during the night and from now on is expected to recede rapidly. The minimum temperature last night was 15, causing suffering among the refugees who will not be able to return to their homes for two or three weeks.

KNIFE TO SHIELD WOMEN.

Bill Passed by Delaware House Provides Surgical Operation for Assaultants.

Dover, Del., Jan. 24.—By a vote of 26 to 8, the house has passed the Holcomb bill, providing that a surgical operation shall be performed on men convicted of attempting to assault women in Delaware. It must be performed within twenty days after conviction and will be in addition to the existing imprisonment sentence of twenty years.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

In Washington, D. C., is Completely Gutted By Fire.

Two Engine Horses Killed While Responding to Alarm.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The Academy of Music, at Ninth and D streets, Northwest, was almost completely gutted by fire of unknown origin, which broke out about 5 o'clock this morning. A number of offices were located in the building, as was also the Spencertown Business college. None of these were damaged by fire, but were flooded by water, the fire being confined to the stage and auditorium of the theater. So far as can be learned the loss is estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000. The building was insured for $75,000.

Two horses, drawing engine No. 20, were killed in a collision with a street car while on the way to the fire.

MILWAUKEE MAN OFFERS $500 TO TAKE HIS WIFE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 24.—Frank Teolier regrets that he is married, and offers a bonus of $500 to any man who will take his wife of three months off his hands. Teolier made the offer yesterday in district court, where he was charged with assault and battery made by the woman.

"That I was," cried Teolier, "I was warned in time, but I did it, and now she runs me and the house. Teolier asserted his wife stole his watch and hid it. Then she strikes me," he yelled, "and compels me to hit her on the nose." The husband had to give bail of $100 to insure his telling his story in court on Jan. 30.

MERCHANT MURDERED

Founder of First Department Store in London Killed.

Murderer Attempts to Commit Suicide After the Deed.

London, Jan. 24.—William Whitely, founder of the first big department store in London, was shot and killed this afternoon by a young man, who afterwards attempted to commit suicide.

Mr. Whitely was upon the point of leaving his store when his assailant rushed up to him with a revolver in his hand, fired several shots and the merchant fell dead where he stood. The assassin then emptied the revolver into his own body, inflicting what are believed to be mortal wounds. No reason has yet been assigned for the murder.

The store was crowded with shoppers at the time and a semi-panic followed the tragedy.

BIBLE READING CONVICT.
Columbus Dispatch: Perhaps the queerest character at the penitentiary is a man who is continually walking and reading a bible. The convict circles around the enclosure with rapid strides in a circle which he himself has worn.

The bible lies open in one hand and the other he rests behind his back. He has never been known to turn a page nor has he ever been seen to open his lips as though he was reading. He is very jealous of his little bible however which has become worn with age. He is a life man.

WANTS CITY TO DO WORK

City Engineer McGilvray Would Have City Contractor Build Walks.

Would Cheaper Cost and Increase the Quality Materially.

A recommendation which City Engineer McGilvray will make in his annual report to the council this year will be that some ordinance be passed whereby the city will have the exclusive right to construct all sidewalks within the city limits.

In the first place, the city has to maintain all walks, however constructed, and it is only fair that under these conditions the city should be permitted to assure itself that the construction is of the best. According to the engineer the only practical way to do this is to have the city contractor do the work.

The second reason is, that if this were done cheaper bids could be secured by the city for contractors for the work. Under present conditions the city contractor is often called upon to lay perhaps twenty-five feet of walk at Woodland and another twenty-five feet at West Duluth, and the cost of hauling the material between the two points is almost as great as the cost of construction. The private contractor, however, gets all his work in one locality, owners often clubbing together to get cheaper rates on long strips, and so the private contractor can afford to underbid the city men by several cents per foot.

Were all the work in the city to be done by one man, he could plan his work so as to do all the sidewalk work in one ward at a certain time, and by assuring himself that he would have all the work in the city, he would be enabled to underbid the best present bid materially.

In addition to getting the work done cheaper, the city would, as stated at the beginning, be able to insure itself against having to maintain cheaply constructed walks, and the general expense would be much decreased.

SETTLEMENTS ARE EFFECTED

Damage Cases Dropped by Payment of the Claims.

Stipulations for the settlement of four damage cases on the January calendar of the district court, were filed this morning.

Three of the cases were started against the Oliver Mining company, represented by C. O. Baldwin. The claimants were represented by Theodore Houtter and John R. Heino.

In the cases against the mining company Mike Perela received $1,500 in full settlement of his claim; John Tsalia, administrator, received $2,500; and W. G. Bonham, administrator, settled for $1,200.

The fourth case was that of Fred

Olson against the Scott-Graff Lumber company. The settlement was made for $1,500, payment in full of Olson's claim. Olson was represented by John Jenswold, Jr., and the lumber company by H. T. Abbott.

FOURTH WARD FIGHT.

Democrats Developing Strength and Sharrett's Prospects Look Good.

Developments of the last few days in the Fourth ward have put a much different face on the political situation in that section of the city and the old line Democrats are getting into line behind Sharrett's standard.

Mr. Sharrett is quite widely known in the ward and since beginning his campaign has developed a popularity quite unlooked for in many quarters. "I am with the administration on the saloon question," said Mr. Sharrett today.

ATTEND LAUNCHING.

Duluth People Will Watch New Steamer Slide Into Water.

Mrs. T. F. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McLean and George A. Tomlinson, will leave tonight for Detroit, where they will attend the launching of the new steamer of the Pittsburgh fleet, which has been named the Thomas F. Cole. Mr. Cole, who is now in New York, will also be present.

The new steamer is one of the largest and best of the steamship company's fleet and will be engaged in the ore carrying trade next season.

Splendid Invention.

O. L. Raymond of Marinette, Wis., is in the city today. Mr. Raymond is the inventor and manufacturer of the Raymond log loader and loader, both of which are fully protected by patents, and claimed by experts to be the best devices of their kind in the country.

So sure is Mr. Raymond that his machine will do the work at one-third the expense of the old way that he will install one on approval until it is thoroughly tested. The price of the sleigh loader complete is $300, and the decker $275. F. O. B. Marinette, Wis. When several machines are taken a reduction is made. Mr. Raymond sends his men to set them up and operate them.

POWERS TRIAL MAY BE CONTINUED.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 24.—The fourth trial of Caleb Powers, charged with the assassination of Senator William Goebel, in 1900, which is scheduled to begin at Georgetown, Scott county, on Feb. 6, will probably be continued as no preparation has been made by either side. Powers was convicted three times, securing a new trial each time.

LITTLE PROGRESS IS MADE BY MINERS' RESCUE PARTY.

Trinidad, Colo., Jan. 24.—At the local office of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, it was announced this morning that a rescue party had worked all night in short relief shifts at the Primero mine, where an explosion occurred yesterday, but that little progress was made, owing to the large quantity of wreckage in the way. Four bodies, all those of foreigners, have been recovered so far. Twelve others are missing.

TRAIN IS LOST IN THE STORM

Terrific Snowstorm is Raging in the Upper Peninsula.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A terrific snowstorm is raging in the upper peninsula and train service is badly crippled, all trains being from five to ten hours late. The Chicago & Northwestern train No. 20, due here from the north at 10:25 last night, has not arrived yet and officials have lost track of the train. No freight trains are arriving. The officials are making every effort to keep the mail and passenger service open the best they can under the circumstances.

R. R. SERVICE GROWS WORSE

Time Consumed in Transit of Cattle Greatly Increased.

Denver Colo., Jan. 24.—Freight rates on stock shipments from the West to the Missouri river and Chicago markets were the subject of a hearing in this city before Charles A. Prouty of the interstate commerce commission. The hearing was a continuation of the one ordered in Chicago a few weeks ago in the case of the Texas Cattle Growers' association, against various railroads.

A. E. Derickson, general manager of the American Live Stock company of Denver testified that the time consumed in the transit of cattle from the Northwest had increased from twenty-four to thirty-six hours. He considered the service of the railroads worse now than ever before. He declared that the stock growers were always prompt in loading and unloading and that the railroads were wholly responsible for delays.

PENSION AGENCIES

May Be Abolished in All Cities Except Washington.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The house committee of the whole today on the pension bill adopted the amendment proposed by Mr. Gardner of Michigan, abolishing all pension agencies in the United States, save one and fixing that one at Washington.

By a vote of 53 to 114, the committee of the whole defeated Mr. Drazell's amendment fixing the number of pension agencies at eighteen; as now exists. The amendment was made to the section of the appropriation bill which provided for the agencies. The Gardner substitute amendment was agreed to by a practically unanimous vote.

PETITION FILED.

Three Duluth Firms Want Cloquet Company Adjudged Bankrupt.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Farmers' Mercantile association of Cloquet. The petition was filed by three Duluth corporations, who have large bills against the company. They are the Wright-Clarkson company, F. A. Patrick & Co., and the Kelley-Hovey-Thompson company. The Farmers' Mercantile company has been doing a general merchandise business at Cloquet and has debts amounting to over $1,000 against it. The company has fifteen days in which to file an answer, either admitting bankruptcy or denying it. J. O. Lenning has been appointed receiver by Judge Morris.

SOLDIERS HAVE SOCIAL MEETING

Company C Members Enjoy Smoker After Their Drill.

The members of Company C assembled in their club room, following their weekly drill last evening, and held an enjoyable smoker and program, arranged by the entertainment committee.

First Sergeant Fred H. Wood presided as toastmaster and with his ready wit and pleasant smiles kept the soldiers in excellent humor.

A number of pleasing musical selections were rendered by Nelson's Military orchestra, an organization comprised of musicians from among the company members.

Lieut. W. O. Flodin gave an interesting talk on "The High Private," pointing out the demand for well trained privates as well as skilled non-commissioned officers.

Company C's quartet, comprised of Corporal Schultz, Lieut. Hanson, Private Winter and Sergeant Swan, added to the pleasure of the occasion by singing several selections.

The musical part of the program was followed by a lively debate over the question "Resolved—That the long hikes are more beneficial to a regiment than ten days spent in camp." The affirmative side was represented by Sergeant Swan and Corporal Foster and the negative by Corporal Clark and Private Loyer. The judges were Lieut. Flodin, Corporal Sherwin and Private Anderson.

The judges decided unanimously in favor of the affirmative side of the question. The musical and literary side of the entertainment was followed by an interesting 3-round glove contest, between Sergeant Swan and Corporal Howard. Referee Pfizenmaier decided the contest a draw.

The company will hold the next of its popular dance parties Feb. 6. The parties are invitation affairs and are being largely attended by the soldiers and their friends.

Company C is in a prosperous condition and is securing a number of new recruits.

WAY OF PAVING OFF.
A number of years ago, at a small town in Maine, an important local election was to take place, and there was strong rivalry between the Republicans and Democrats. Old Hiram Morse, the blacksmith, was a strong Democrat, but many of the farmers were Republicans, says the Boston Herald.

On the morning of the election a farmer came in to have his horse shod. The blacksmith said to him: "We're both busy. You're a Republican and I'm a Democrat. Let's pair off. We'll neither vote nor shod and it will amount to the same as if we both went to the polls."

This was agreed upon. After election it was found out that Morse had paired off with five Republican farmers.

Someone is making his or her debut as a Herald want advertiser today. And the ad. may be worth finding and answering.

MADE HIS OWN PRISON.

Rome, Cor. New York Sun: A wealthy land owner of the name of Raimondo Pace was sentenced in default in 1898, at Foggia, to ten years' imprisonment for murdering his servant. Pace could not be traced, and it was supposed that he had emigrated.

The police, a few days ago, heard a rumor that he was hiding in his own house at Foggia. They raided the place and found Pace safely locked up in a cell he had built in the basement of his home, where a servant had served him with bread and water once daily.

The prisoner declared, and the servant confirmed the statement, that he had not left the cell for eight years. He intended to complete the ten years' imprisonment imposed on him in this cell, and then to petition the king to pardon him. Unfortunately the law does not recognize self-punishment, and Pace must serve ten years in a state jail.

TALL CHIMNEYS.

The highest chimney in England is that at Barlow & Dobson's mill at Bolton. It is 368 feet in height and the material used in its construction was 800,000 bricks and 122 tons of stone. This big smokestack is excelled by at least two in Scotland—the St. Rollox chimney in Glasgow is 445 feet and the Townhead chimney in the same city is 463 feet high. But the steeple-jacks make no more of climbing such shafts than one a third of their height though the vibration is much greater and more serious at times.

All chimneys vibrate, says Harper's Weekly, especially in a gale; it is a condition of their safety, but the oscillation at the top is a serious matter for any one at work there during a high wind and the job is postponed to a calmer day.

Lancashire also boasts one of the crookedest chimneys in the world—a shaft at Brook Mill, Heywood—which is nearly 200 feet high and more than six feet out of plumb. It has been belted with iron bands and is considered safe.

HUMBACK SALMON.

Castle Rock Advocate: Sam Cornelius caught a genuine humback salmon in his net Monday morning. This species is rare here, but few having been taken in the past. On the Alaska coast they are caught and canned the million, but they seldom venture this far south.

The specimen, which was on exhibition in the market, is a very unattractive one and we would hesitate about eating any of it. The hump starts just back of the head and extends beyond the dorsal fin, making a hump much like a camel's. The head is long and pointed, with a mouth and teeth like a wolf's, the whole makeup constituting a very repulsive-looking fish.

PROMINENT HOSPITALS SAY

PE-RU-NA IS EFFICIENT

IN RELIEVING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES.

SISTERS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD, MONTREAL.

HOSPITALS ALL OVER THE CONTINENT FIND PE-RU-NA VALUABLE IN TREATING ALL CATARRHAL DISEASES

CATARRH of the respiratory organs is a common ailment in Canada for at least two-thirds of the year.

This condition is no doubt caused by the long, severe winters experienced in this part of the continent. Therefore, when Peruna was discovered by Canadian people to be a reliable remedy for these catarrhal diseases, it at once became a popular medicine, not only among individuals and in families, but in the great hospitals, where it was used as a preventive and relief in hundreds of cases.

These institutions do not hesitate to give their endorsement of the remedy which has been so helpful in the treatment of their poor and sick.

Among these institutions is that of the Sisters of Good Shepherd, who gave the following endorsement:

The Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Having used Peruna for the past few months, for our sick and poor, we are happy to say that it has given us great satisfaction.

The Sisters of the Good Shepherd, August 20, 1905.

After a continued use of the remedy, this institution has found no reason to change its good opinion of the remedy and expresses its satisfaction in the following terms:

Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Almanac for 1907.

Montreal, Nov. 7, 1903.

We found Peruna a relief in several cases.

We can say it is a good tonic and we are very thankful.

Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

When catarrh once fastens itself upon the system it becomes an obstinate disease to eradicate. A systematic remedy—one that reaches every internal organ of the body—is an absolute necessity.

Peruna is just such a remedy. It searches out the cause of the disease, healing and strengthening the mucous membranes, and thus giving Nature an opportunity to perform her part of the restorative process.

One of the many hospitals which have found Peruna of value in treating old and obstinate cases of catarrh is the Hospital St. John, who write, as follows:

"We are happy to tell you that your Peruna has given us satisfaction. Three patients have tried it, one 68 years old, Renou Dupuis, afflicted with catarrh, is much relieved, more than he has been for a number of years.

"A young girl, 15 years old, had an obstinate cough, which half a bottle of Peruna caused to disappear.

"As to myself, two bottles have convinced me that Peruna is magnificent as a tonic.

"Before the treatment, I could not walk for a quarter of an hour after a continued use of the remedy, this institution has found no reason to change its good opinion of the remedy and expresses its satisfaction in the following terms:

neither they nor their listeners can understand. In addition, Rev. J. W. Ellison has acquired a strange power which drives him to sing songs without words, but in an entrancing, harmonious rhythm that his hearers declare is more beautiful than any earthly music can possibly be.

This mysterious gift of tongues is a visitation for which the women have been praying, basing their supplications upon the second chapter of the book of Acts, which reads in the fourth verse: "They were all filled with the Holy Ghost and began to speak with other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance."

It is the theory that the strange language is that of a foreign nation to which the recipient is supposed to go as a missionary. At first, church members were inclined to scoff, but Mrs. Scott M. Ladd, whose husband is one of the judges of the Iowa supreme court, became convinced that the gift is genuine and has come out strongly for its truth. Since then church members and curiosity seekers have been thronging the mission every night.

MAKES LEGS WITH KNIFE.

Painter Who Lost Limbs Under Train Makes New Ones.

Bayonne, N. J., Jan. 24.—Henry Blare lost both his legs under a train some months ago. He did not have the money to spend for artificial legs, so he sharpened his pocketknife, cut a couple of sticks of smooth-grained wood and went to work. During his convalescence he whittled himself out a pair of legs good enough for anybody. He fitted them with straps, and has gone back to work wearing the home-made pins. As he is a housepainter he had to climb a ladder; he went up the rounds just as briskly as any man on the job. He was coming down when the little danger came running to tell him there was a new ten-pound baby at his house.

LATE DOINGS IN UPPER MICHIGAN

Harry N. Ferris of Marquette Met Death in Philippines.

Marquette.—Harry N. Ferris, aged 23, of Marquette, met death by drowning in the Philippines. The war department so advised relatives here today. Ferris was employed as a normal school instructor under contract with the government.

Aaron Magnusson died at St. Mary's hospital Tuesday morning at about 8.5, after a lingering illness, which first afflicted him two or three years ago. At that time he contracted a cold, which, being neglected, led to consumption, which caused death. A year ago he resigned his position with the Michigan Telephone company, on account of ill health. For about eight months he remained at home, growing constantly weaker. About four months ago his wife also became ill, and both were removed to St. Mary's. The case is a particularly sad one, on account of the fact that Mrs. Magnusson is reported to be in a serious condition.

Happening.—Andra Anderson, a resident of Ishpeming for the past thirty-five years or more, died Sunday after a short illness. Heart trouble was the cause of his demise. His age was 78 years and he is survived by his widow, three sons, August and Joseph, and a daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Anderson, employed as draughtsman at the Lake Shore Engine works, Marquette, and one daughter, Miss Anna K. Anderson.

Negata.—Fred Pearce, son of F. L. Pearce of this city, who recently resigned his position in the smelters of the Lake Superior Smelter company, Dollar Bay, and who has been in the city a short time visiting his folks, has accepted an important position with an English copper company, operating smelters in the Argentine Republic, and will leave for there about the first of the coming month. He will be accompanied on the trip by F. K. Houston of Pennsylvania, who has also been employed in the Lake Superior smelters. Both are to be foremen of the works.

broken, ruined, stolen, sold or given away. The deprecation was committed at different times by a band of young boys. A man by the name of Paul Hendry, believed to be their leader, is in jail and will be examined before Justice Reagin this week. County Agent A. Reagin, aided by Attorney Fleming, is investigating to ascertain the names of the boys implicated in the affair.

Crystal Falls.—Thomas G. Brooks will leave shortly for Aurora on the Mesaba range, where he has been promoted to the position of chief accountant for the big mine which the Corrigan-McKinney company is opening up there.

Iron Mountain.—E. A. Crill, acting in behalf of the Iron Mountain Elks, has secured an option on two lots opposite the city hall. It is the intention of the lodge, if the deal is closed, as is expected, to erect an Elks temple on the property. The building would contain a handsome ground floor opera house with lodge rooms above. It is proposed to organize a stock company, and it is believed that ample capital can be enlisted to ensure the success of the enterprise.

HAPPENINGS IN THE DAKOTAS

Ninth Fire in City of Fargo in One Week.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo.—The Metropole hotel in this city was threatened with destruction when fire broke out in an adjoining tailor shop. The flames started from a gasoline stove. The halls filled rapidly with smoke and the guests, panic-stricken, rushed downstairs, many of them in their night clothes. Several women who were partly dressed ran out into the street, where they stood in the snow in their stocking feet and in a below-zero temperature for several minutes before they could be persuaded that it would be safe to return. Meanwhile the fire department had arrived and by prompt use of chemicals extinguished the flames before much damage had been done. This was the ninth fire in Fargo in a week.

The great snow blockade which followed Saturday's terrible blizzard, is now broken. Six passenger trains from the coast passed through Fargo Tuesday over the Northern Pacific following the forty-eight hours' tieup, and freight trains are also being rushed west and nearly all are made up of cars loaded with wood and coal to relieve the threatened fuel famine. The first train from the coast over the Great Northern in several days passed through Fargo early yesterday morning, but the line is still badly blocked west of Minot according to telegraphic reports received here.

though strenuous efforts are being put forth to clear it.

Bismarck.—The only fun going on at the capital yesterday was furnished by the dome and that consisted solely in turning down the Buttz resolution thanking the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Soo lines for trying to open their lines of road after the storm. This was not only turned down, but was not allowed to appear on the Journal, all of which indicates the friendly relations existing between the house and the railroads.

Clifford.—Charles O. Swanson died at his home in this place. He had been sick for eight months. A wife and four children survive him.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Platte.—Judge Smith, sentenced John Han to a three and a half years' term in the penitentiary for cattle rustling. Han's partner, Ben Bennett, was sentenced to two years and six months.

James—Otto Huff, the negro, who murdered John Wells, in Aberdeen, was captured here yesterday morning by John Lehman. He had walked here from Aberdeen and slept in a hay stack. To keep warm he set fire to loose straw, which spread to the enclosure and led to his arrest. He denies any knowledge of the crime, but the officials say he is the right man. He is under guard till the sheriff arrives. An effort will be made to prevent his lynching.

Elk Point.—A little above Sioux City, in the Missouri river is a "pocket" which at present is attached to Union county for judicial purposes. Several families are "squinting" there, awaiting the time when title can be obtained to this at present nondescript land. Most of them are poor and some are in destitute circumstances. Seven children, ranging in age from 7 to 14 years and belonging to two families, have been removed to the county seat by the authorities. The parents are unable to provide proper food and clothing for them, and were giving them no school privileges. They will have a hearing on the 25th, when, in all probability, they will be sent to the home in Sioux Falls.

Scotland.—J. H. Dickson, the leading business man of Scotland, died at his home here yesterday. He had been in business here for twenty-five years, and aside from his large mercantile interests owned and operated elevators in neighboring towns.

WILL MAKE WHEAT CHEAP.

Crookes' Discovery Will Increase the Yield of All Cereals.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—A tumble in the prices of cereal foods all over the world and a vast increase in the crops of farmers in all lands—such is the result foreseen by Chicago experts in agricultural chemistry as the sequel of Prof. Sir William Crookes' discovery in London of a method by which to extract nitric acid from the atmosphere.

Local authorities declare that if the method is sufficiently perfect to be of value commercially, a most important effect would be had on the raising of cereals. It is prophesied that farmers will be enabled to get a far greater yield from their land than has been the case in the past, if nitrates are cheapened so that they can be used to a larger extent for fertilizing.

WILL TAKE 100 YEARS.

Few Now Living Will See Completion of Episcopal Cathedral.

New York, Jan. 24.—At a meeting of the trustees of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, a gift of $50,000 from H. C. Fahnestock of the First National bank, was announced. This is to be applied to building the west arch of what is called the "crossing" of the cathedral.

At the present rate of progress it will take about one hundred years to complete the cathedral, which, however, would be a short time, considering the history of the really great cathedrals of Europe.

PANTS MAKERS' STRIKE.

Fifteen Thousand to Walk Out, Demanding Higher Wages.

New York, Jan. 24.—Before the end of the week 15,000 men and women employed in making trousers and knee pants will, it is stated, be involved in the East side strike. At present there are 6,000 out. President Lickerman, in charge of the strike, said:

"The men were forced to strike because they cannot make a living under present conditions. They earn only $12 a week."

NOT ROLLER SKATERS.

Thompson and Lyle Will Race on Ice Tonight.

O. C. Thompson of the Soo, and A. B. Lyle of Duluth, are not roller skaters, as big column this morning, and the central ice rink will be the location of their race this evening, instead of the Central roller skating rink, wherever that may be.

O. C. Thompson has cleaned up everything in the neighborhood of the Soo, and he has been trying for some time to arrange a match with Lyle. In tonight's program, a half mile, a two-mile, and a mile heat will be run, the winner of two out of three to get the big end of the safe receipts. Both men have been trained to a fine point and should be at their best this evening.

More Cars Demanded
When Power Company
Finishes Work.

General Manager Warren of the Duluth Street Railway company this morning had a long consultation with Mayor Cullum in the latter's sanctum, in regard to bettering the service on the company's lines throughout the city.

The congested condition of the cars in the morning and evening rush hours, and the lack of facilities for handling big crowds such as that which was in attendance at the ski tournament last Sunday, has been growing more and more noticeable of late, and the object of the mayor in requesting the interview with the company officials was to give them due warning, that as soon as the Great Northern Power company was in position to furnish them with the necessary power, they were to secure and have on hand a sufficient number of new cars and other equipment necessary for the handling of crowds during the rush hours.

At present the street car company's engines and dynamos are not of sufficient size to furnish power for more or larger cars than those now in use. With the power furnished by the Great Northern Power company, however, the street car company will have no such excuse as this for failing to furnish adequate service, and the city

It is understood that the company will endeavor to comply as far as possible with the demands of the city.

LOUBET'S AMBITION.

Ex-President of France Desires Seat in the Senate.

Paris, Jan. 24.—Former President Loubet, according to reports among senators, intends to be a candidate for the senate.

M. Loubet, in reply to the questioning of a friend, said that as he had nothing to do he would like the occupation. The conditions prevailing at the next election, he added, would decide whether he should accept a nomination.

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 24.—Edward P. Mason was placed on trial in the United States court here yesterday for the alleged murder of Riley Huff of Chicago at Fort Assiniboine, last August. The evidence is all circumstantial. Huff was preparing to start for home, and was struck from behind with a bullet while writing a letter. He was possessed of a large sum of money, which is supposed to have been the object of the crime. Mason was arrested at Havre and no considerable amount was found on his person.

Woodsman Duplicates Song Hit in the Municipal Court.

"Let me go back, let me go back, to the dear old Chicago town," was the burden of Chris Johnson's song in police court this morning, when he was hauled before Judge Windom for drunkenness. He "had a wife and children six" even as did the hero of the popular ballad from the Royal Chef, but Pasha Windom was more lenient than the monarch of the opera, and upon Johnson's promise to get out of town on the Omaha this afternoon he dismissed him.

MUST PAY DAMAGES

City of Ely Responsible for Death of John Hegfors.

Zenith Furnace Company
Sued for Death of Workman.

The city of Ely has been found liable for the death of John Hegfors, who was electrocuted in his own home last summer through coming in contact with an electric fixture heavily charged by reason of a crossing of primary and secondary wires of the city's lighting system.

A sealed verdict opened in the district court this morning, assessed the damages for Hegfors' death at $4,500, and that amount is payable to the estate, represented by Axel Hegfors, administrator, and brother of the deceased.

The administrator sued the city for $5,000. Theodore Hollister and John R. Helno represented the administrator and C. O. Pajunen and J. W. Osborne represented the city of Ely.

According to the testimony introduced by the administrator, John Hegfors went to the bathroom of his residence, between 9 and 10 o'clock one evening in July last, and attempted to turn on an incandescent light. He was found dead shortly afterward on the floor, with a burn on one hand and another on the foot. At the inquest it was found that he had been killed by an electric current of high voltage. An examination of the bathroom showed that the wires in the light cord burned out, while the insulation was scorched on the other wire.

It was claimed by the administrator that the city, through its lighting department, had been negligent in permitting the primary and secondary wires leading from a pole not far from the Hegfors' residence to come in contact, with the result that a current of 1,000 volts passed from the primary wires through the secondary wires into the house and caused death as soon as a "ground" was made by Mr. Hegfors taking hold of the fixture.

It was alleged that the wires had been in that condition for some time, and that other people in the neighborhood had been severely shocked by touching the electric fixtures in their houses.

Expert testimony was introduced, tending to show that it is an unsafe condition to have primary and secondary wires any closer to each other than a foot, to eighteen inches, the jury being asked to show that the wires causing the trouble at Ely were only a few inches apart, and either through a leaning of the pole, or some other cause, they finally came together, the insulation was worn, or burnt, and a death dealing current to Hegfors' house resulted.

A 30-day stay of judgment was directed by the court, following the reading of the verdict.

Because he struck John Kisko in the face and fractured his nose, during an anti-election set-to last November, John H. Bauers must pay $122 damages.

The case was tried in Judge Ensign's room yesterday, and the sealed verdict was opened this morning. Bauers admitted the assault charged, but claimed no information sufficient to form a belief that he was badly beaten, that he required the services of a physician, or was laid up from his work for any period of time. In his defense Mr. Bauers practically admitted that he was liable for damages to a certain extent, but asked the jury to make that amount as small as possible. Kisko sued for $200.

Mr. Kisko was represented by C. E. Adams and Mr. Bauers by City Attorney Bert Peslor.

In Judge Cant's room the defense has begun in the damage case of estate of Bernard Balder, deceased, against the Zenith Furnace company. The plaintiff is suing for $5,000 for the death of her husband, who was accidentally killed by a caven of coal in one of the furnace company's large bins a year ago.

It is claimed by the widow that the bin was dark and that when Balder entered it to loosen the coal so that it could pass out a chute in the bottom, the whole mass gave way and crushed him to death. It was claimed that Balder knew nothing of the work in the bin and that the company was negligent in not warning him and not taking the proper precautions to prevent an accident.

On the other hand the company claims that Balder had been sent into the bin to perform the same work as before; that on the night in question he had a lighted lantern nailed to the side of the bin while he was punching the coal with an iron bar. It is further claimed that Balder was doing the work under the direction of one of the men in charge of the plant who is claimed to have warned him not to step on the coal as it was liable to give way any moment. Balder is said to have disregarded the warning and stepped from the ladder on top of the coal which gave way in the middle and he dropped down, the coal closing over him.

John Jenswold, Jr., represents Mrs. Balder and H. T. Abbott represents the furnace company.

WHAT THE BOER INTENDED.

Til-Bits: A detachment of soldiers was engaged in clearing a certain district in the Orange River colony of supplies, and during the operations Col. Shovelong's staff officer came up to a Boer farmer sitting at the door of his cottage latest a large stack of straw in the background.

"I have orders either to buy or destroy all forage and food in this district," said the officer. "I therefore give you notice that I am about to set fire to that pile of old straw."

"Good I tell you," began the stolid Boer, as he removed his pipe from his mouth.

"Oh, you may as well know straight off," interrupted the officer, "that resistance and objection are alike futile."

"Good would you please—once more began the farmer.

"I can listen to no excuses; I have neither time nor inclination," was the impatient rejoinder of the officer as he hurried away.

"Well, may dear," said the Boer to his wife, as the stack of straw burst into flame and the officer went on his way rejoicing. "Jose Khakis are strange peoples. I wanted to tell him that his was do not straw I half sold to do colonial an hour ago."

Thus saying, he meditatively jingled the British sovereigns in his pocket.

You are an exceptional person if you have "nothing to sell," and an eccentric person if you think to sell to good advantage without using Herald want ads.

CLOCK ALL OF GLASS.

A somewhat futile feat of painstaking ingenuity has been accomplished after six years continuous work in the construction of a working clock every part of which excepting the springs is made of glass. The maker is Joseph Beyer, who lives in Theresienstadt and who is now 71 years old, says the New York Sun.

The plates and pillars which form the framework are of glass and are bolted together with glass screws. The dial plate, hands, shafts and cogwheels are of glass, and glass wedges and pins are used for fastening the various parts of the running gear together.

All these parts are ground to the average proportions of the metal parts of other clocks of the same size. The teeth of the cogwheels are cut with minute exactness. Only the balance wheel is heavier and thicker than it would be in an ordinary clock, but it is fashioned so as to properly control the movement of the machine.

Like the clock itself, the key with which it is wound is of glass. The

SAY TARIFFS ARE DISCRIMINATING

Railroad Commission Hears Complaints From the Northwest.

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—Railroad rates were raised yesterday at a hearing held in the office of the railroad and warehouse commission. Some of the merchants in Northern Minnesota claim that recently published tariffs are discriminating in their character, and the evidence brought out was to determine the truth of this claim. Duluth, the Twin Cities, Sauk Centre, St. Cloud, Brainerd and other towns had representatives present. Carl Rowe, traffic manager for the Marshall-Wellis Hardware company, was in attendance. J. C. Cotton of St. Cloud aimed to show that his territory was not properly balanced as compared to the rates in effect between Duluth and St. Cloud. From Duluth to St. Cloud, 140 miles, he quoted first class per 100 pounds $2.42; second, $2.12; third, $1.82; fourth, $1.52. Between Duluth and Minneapolis, 161 miles, a greater distance, he quoted rates less than for the longer haul. The following rates were quoted: second, $2.12; third, $1.82; fourth, $1.52. J. D. Baird, general freight agent, and H. E. Still, assistant general freight agent of the Northern Pacific, were present, accompanied by the company's attorney, Emerson Hadley. Hadley contended that the relative difference in the tariffs are now about the same as they were and that they have not changed for the benefit of any particular industry. He asked the commission not to change them with any such view. Chairman Mills said would not be done. Mr. Baird admitted that the rates quoted by Mr. Cotton were correct and that the railroad had been computing its charges on that basis. He expected to the fact that only certain kind of freight was transported by Mr. Cotton. "That's just where the difference is that we want corrected," said Mr. Cotton, "railroads charge that it is cheaper for them to haul carloads than less than carloads, and we want them to do it."

MARRIED AT BEMIDJI

And Started for Duluth on a Brief Wedding Trip.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew Grover Adamson and Annie Klenen were married at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Anthony's chapel. Rev. Father Lewis performed the ceremony. The sponsors at the ceremony were Peter Behm and Miss Leta Behm. The groom is a well-to-do resident of St. Peter, and owns a valuable farm at that place. The bride has also a farm at St. Peter. It is the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Adamson to take a brief wedding trip to Duluth, and upon their return will take up their residence in Bemidji.

New Cure For Rupture

New Scientific Appliance, Always a Perfect Fit—Adjustable to Any Size. Pains—Eases, Cures, Prevents, Never Slips, No Obnoxious Springs or Pads—Costs Less Than Many Common Treatments. Men, Women or Children.

I send it on Approval—You Wear It—If You Are Not Satisfied, I Refund Your Money.

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say, by thirty years experience in this business, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip and yet is cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting.

Jan. Britton, Cured of Rupture by C. E. Brooks.

and costs less than many ordinary trusses. I have put the price so low that any person, rich or poor, can buy, and I absolutely guarantee it. I make it to you, and I will refund your money. That is the fairest proposition ever made by a rupture specialist. The banks or any responsible citizen in Marshall will tell you that is the way I do business—always and solely on the square.

Here is what Mr. James Britton, a prominent manufacturer of Bethlehem, Pa., writes: "C. E. Brooks, Esq.: Dear Sir—I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it. I have tried every remedy, and it is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact, I have not time, day or night, to tell you how much I like it. I had it on, it just adapted itself to the shape of the body and clung to the spot no matter what position I was in. It was a wonderful God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture. It will not only procure the rupture, but it will cure it. My rupture is now healed up and nothing else did it but your appliance. James Britton."

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my great success. Write me today and I will send you my book on Rupture and its Cure, showing my appliances and giving you prices. I have cured people who have tried it and been cured. Remember I use no salt when all others fail. No less. Just a straight business deal at a reasonable price. C. E. BROOKS, 2190 Brooks Building, Marshall, Mich.

Lutherans Denounce the General Desecration of the Sabbath.

Also Pass Resolution Endorsing the Campaign Against Saloons.

Sunday observance and the ill question were taken up yesterday at the meeting of the Lake Superior district of the Swedish Lutheran Minnesota conference, which is in session at the present time.

Resolutions were passed at the meeting yesterday afternoon endorsing the ill movement, and also advocating a closer observance of the Sunday laws.

Following are copies of the resolutions: "Resolved, that the district views with deep sorrow and regret the general desecration of the Lord's day through secular labor and the pursuit of worldly pleasures in picnics, excursions and other forms of amusement."

"Resolved, that the district most earnestly reminds members of all our churches of that commandment, 'Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy,' and asks both corporations and individuals to remember that an observance of this commandment is a reproach to any people."

"Resolved, that the district most earnestly reminds members of all our churches of that commandment, 'Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy,' and asks both corporations and individuals to remember that an observance of this commandment is a reproach to any people."

"The second resolution in regard to the ill question was as follows: 'The Lake Superior district most heartily endorses the work of the Anti-Saloon league, and earnestly requests the representatives in the legislature from this district to use all fair means within their power to secure county local option law at this session of the legislature.'

FORECASTS FOR A WHOLE YEAR

Weather Observer Believes Such Prophecies Will be Possible.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Prof. Frank H. Bigelow, who is taking Prof. Cox's place in the Chicago station of the United States weather bureau, has been working for thirty-three years in an effort to make long range predictions and he believes the time is near at hand when a yearly forecast will be made an assured fact.

His investigations in part were disclosed at the University of Chicago, in a letter on "the circulation of the sun's atmosphere as the first cause of the seasonal changes in weather." He declared it was the first time he had stated his theory in public.

Prof. Bigelow's theory is based on the action of the sun and its effects on the weather. It has largely to do with the number and size of the sun spots. He has kept a scientific record of the sun spots for just thirty years and has studied it with reference to the changes in temperature and weather during the same period.

Comparing the weather "curve," which he has made from the conditions of the last thirty years with the sun spots, he has found a remarkable similarity and it is upon this similarity that he is working to make his predictions a year in advance. He believes that the weather changes are due to the sun's action.

Prof. Bigelow is considered the leading meteorologist of the country and is the head of the division of records at the United States weather bureau at Washington.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

The residence and other property of J. R. Clements of La Crosse, who is now in the Stillwater, Minn. state prison serving a long term for wrecking the Preston, Minn., bank was sold Wednesday to pay claims of creditors. The residence sold for $6,000. A bad freight wreck occurred on the Ohio division of the R. & O. railroad near Letart, W. Va., Wednesday night. Four people are reported to have been killed and many others injured. A relief train with physicians has just been sent out.

Nothing definite has yet been learned as to the fate of the five men who are believed to have been blown out upon the Chesapeake bay in a rowboat Sunday evening. Though special search is to be continued, little hope is entertained that they have escaped drowning.

Fire which for a time threatened to destroy the plant of the John Gundry Bros. company at La Crosse, Wednesday night, caused $20,000 damage. Day night caused $20,000 damage.

Aid for Dietz Asked. The Herald has received a letter from George E. Hamilton of Albion, N. Y., in which he appeals to the public for aid for John Dietz, the Wisconsin farmer, whose fight with the Chipewagon Lumber & Boom company over the Thompson river dam has aroused much interest. Mr. Hamilton says that employees of the company are trying to starve Dietz out and that he and his family need clothing, flour, groceries and some money. Winters, Wis., is the postoffice address of Dietz.

SHERIFFS PREFER A SALARY BASIS

Claim That the Fee Plan Is Not Satisfactory.

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—At the annual meeting of the State Sheriff's Association here yesterday it was unanimously decided to try to secure legislation which will put the office of sheriff upon a salary basis.

At present the sheriffs receive a fee for each case they handle. The following officers were elected: President, E. H. Vine, B. C. Schuler and John Palmer, was appointed to have the salary law framed.

It was also decided to try to secure an amendment to the free transportation law which will allow free transportation for prisoners secured an justice court warrants. At present the sheriffs are obliged to pay the fare of prisoners secured by their warrants. The following officers were elected: President, E. H. Vine, B. C. Schuler and John Palmer, was appointed to have the salary law framed.

COUPLE HAD NO TIME TO LOSE

Procured License and Got Married in Four Minutes.

George Ives and Miss Marie Gullip of Illinois, Wis., broke all records for quick marriages at the courthouse yesterday, by securing a license and getting the nuptial knot tied in a little less than four minutes.

The young people wished to catch an afternoon train out of the city and had a limited period of time in which to get married and reach the train, before it left Duluth. They were accompanied to the courthouse by Rev. C. M. Babcock, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, who explained the situation to V. A. Dash, deputy clerk of the district court, where the licenses are issued.

Mr. Dash rendered all the assistance in his power and the formality was gone through with lightning speed. Before the ink was dry on the certificate the minister had united the young people and they hurried out of the building to get a street car that would take them to the depot.

Two other marriages were performed at the courthouse yesterday by Probate Judge Middlecott. The contracting parties were Marjorie Christensen and Marie Nelson, James V. Johnson and Clara Stal. The former couple reside in Superior and the latter couple came from Eau Claire, Wis.

THREE SMALLPOX CASES. Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Blakeslee, county health officer, returned yesterday from the logging camps of Charles Heyden, three miles north of Blackduck, where he found two men afflicted with smallpox.

He arranged for the transportation of the men to the county pesthouse and quarantined the camp. There is another case near Northwood, and the patient is being brought to the pesthouse.

INCIDENT IS DISMISSED

President Replies to Note From the British Embassy.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The president has finally dismissed the incident connected with the refusal by Gen. Swettenham of Jamaica of aid from Admiral Davis as shown in the following letter made public at the state department, addressed by Acting Secretary Bacon to Charge Howard.

"State department, Washington, Jan. 24, 1907.
"Mr. Esme Howard, charge d'affaires, ad interim.
"The British Embassy, Washington.
"Sir—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of yesterday's date, by which you communicate the substance of the instructions received by you from Sir Edward Grey, in reference to the Jamaica incident.

"I hasten to assure you on behalf of the president, that this government will pay no heed whatever to the matter, and very much appreciates the frank and ready courtesy and consideration shown in this dispatch by Sir Edward Grey.

"I can only say that I said to you personally last evening, assuring you of the president's sincere appreciation of the cordial spirit shown by your government. It is especially gratifying to the president to feel that it has been possible for this country to show in any practical way, however small, its friendship to a community of your people in a time of such suffering.

"The latest report of conditions in Jamaica was the following cablegram from the American vice consul:
"Jamaica, Jan. 21. (Received Jan. 22.) "Secretary of State, Washington. "Woodville, Jamaica. American pier saved. Also Royal Mail. Already reported on situation by cable Jan. 19th, 21st. Estimated loss of life over 2,000. Fire loss $3,000,000; loss by earthquake insupportable to say no building in city of surrounding district escaped. Admiral Davis' squadron yesterday. Publicly thanked by mayor for services rendered. Health of city still good. Frains running on time. Agricultural interests not suffered. Stocks still continue.

"The American consul at Edinburgh, Scotland, has cabled that a public meeting decided over by the lord provost has adopted resolutions thanking the American people for prompt and generous aid to Kingston.

revision, and it prohibits the use of the words "bank," "banker," or similar terms, upon signs or letterheads except by regularly incorporated national or state banks.

The county option bill will not be the only measure before the legislature designed to curb the use of intoxicating liquors.

An anti-treating bill is being prepared, and it will probably be introduced by Representative Elmer E. Adams of Piquette Falls. The theory of this measure, of course, is that the American habit of treating tends to promote intemperance, and that thousands of men would save very much less liquor than they habitually do if they were not able to treat or be treated.

"If it could be enforced," said a member who favors it yesterday, "it would make about as effective a temperance move as anybody could get up. Prohibition has been tried, and usually it does not prohibit. It merely takes away the license fees, and deprives the quality of the liquor sold.

"But any man who gets around understands how treating works. A man goes into a bar room, intending to socialize his inner being with a modest draught of something to drink. He finds a friend there, and buys for him. The friend feels that it is incumbent upon him to treat in return, and when a couple of other fellows drop in they have to be treated and to treat in their turns. And so it goes, until that first individual, who hadn't the slightest intention of sinning from the straight and narrow path, winds up by accumulating a jaw and his friends provide themselves with one apiece, also.

"If this practice could be stopped by law, the cause of temperance, health and sobriety would be advanced materially. The trouble would be, probably, that it would be a very difficult law to enforce, and that treating would flourish under it about as industriously as it does now."

Another bill that is being discussed, and which somebody is certain to introduce shortly, is one against lobbyists. Two years ago W. P. Roberts of Minneapolis, introduced one in the house, but it did not get very far. It was the fact that the theatrical managers loaned up with free show tickets to such an extent that everybody seemed to acquire a more lenient attitude toward the bill board evil. But lobbyists are particularly ornamental or picturesque, and there is a noticeable sentiment, especially in the cities, that they are more or less of a nuisance and an eyesore, so it may be

TOBACCO KILLS

An Absolute "Stopper" for the Brain-Killing, Nerve Destroying Tobacco Habit Has Been Found.

You Can Try It Absolutely Free.

The tobacco habit is a curse, and every man knows it. Some "smart kids" don't know it. Now, if you could get it "easy" without causing them discomfort.

"Easy-To-Quit" is a positive, absolute "stopper" for any tobacco habit. It is a vegetable remedy, and any lady can give it secretly, free of any harm. It is harmless; leaves no reaction or bad after effects; and it stops the habit to stay stopped.

Mothers, save the young smoker's brain, cannot do it himself. With slaters and sweethearts, help save the mind, body and future of some one who is near and dear to you. Without your help it may not be done.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

(INCORPORATED BY THE STATE OF NEW YORK. STOCK COMPANY)

JOHN R. HEGEMAN, PRESIDENT

OVER TWO MILLION DOLLARS

Additional Voluntary Contribution to Industrial Policy-holders over and above all obligations expressed or implied in their Policies. A Cash Dividend of $1,000,000 for Whole Life Policies Over Five Years Old. A Mortuary Dividend of $1,000,000 on all 1907 Claims Under Policies Over Five Years Old. Benefits During Second Six Months Increased 100 per cent. Whole Life Policies Over 15 years in force when the Insured is 80 years of age paid as Endowments.

CASH DIVIDEND

Repeating its generous action of the last eight years, and doubling the amount of the annual bonus, there has been declared by the Company this year a cash dividend estimated at one million dollars. This dividend has been declared on all Industrial Whole Life policies issued prior to January 1, 1903. As has been the Company's practice heretofore, there will be included in these benefits the Whole Life Industrial policies of all those companies whose business has been assumed by the Metropolitan.

A MORTUARY DIVIDEND

Has been declared in the Industrial Department, applicable to all death claims incurred during the current year, where policies on the day of death had been in force over five years. The scale of dividends is as follows: Where death occurs after policy has been in force Over 5 years, a Dividend of 5 per cent. Over 15 years, a Dividend of 15 per cent. Over 20 years, a Dividend of 20 per cent. Over 25 years, a Dividend of 25 per cent.

For example: A policy for $260, issued on January 11, 1897, matures by death during 1907 on or after January 12th. The policy was in force over ten years, and the Company will pay a Mortuary Dividend of 10 per cent, or $26, the heirs receiving $286, instead of $260, as named in the policy. Or a policy for $300, issued February 7, 1880; death occurs in 1907 on or after February 8th; the policy was in force over twenty-five years, the Company will pay the beneficiary a Mortuary Dividend of 25 per cent. of $300, or $75, making a total of $375.

LIFE POLICIES PAID AS ENDOWMENTS

During the year 1907 any person insured in the Industrial Department of the Metropolitan, who is eighty years of age or over, and who has paid premiums for fifteen years or more on any policy, may receive the face value of his or her policy in cash; or if a full paid-up policy is preferred, in order that the amount of insurance may be available as a burial fund at time of death, the Company will issue a paid-up policy for the face of the policy.

This voluntary conversion of Whole Life policies into Endowments or into fully paid-up insurance is one of the most liberal concessions ever made by any Industrial Insurance Company.

THIS MAKES $12,000,000 DISTRIBUTED VOLUNTARILY AMONG HOLDERS OF INDUSTRIAL POLICIES DURING THE PAST TWELVE YEARS IN EXCESS OF AMOUNTS CALLED FOR BY THE POLICY CONTRACTS.

INCREASE IN BENEFITS

New Tables with large increases of benefits in Industrial policies have been adopted. The payment on premiums on all new Industrial policies will cease at age 75. Reductions have been made in the premiums charged for Ordinary policies.

The Company Wrote More Insurance Than Any Other Company in the World
The Company Gained More Insurance in Force Than Any Other Company in the World
1906 In Its Ordinary Department the Company Wrote More Paid-for Business Than Any Other Company Save One
It Gained More Ordinary Business Than Any Other Company Save One

Its Expense Ratio Was Largely Reduced and Was the Lowest in the Company's History.

MORAL:---INSURE IN THE METROPOLITAN

that the bill will have a better show than it has in the past. It is going to be introduced, and it will become one of the figures on the legislative stage.

Governor Johnson has drawn many honors upon himself by his abilities, but the invitation to address the students of the University of Pennsylvania at commencement, which he received yesterday, is a high honor. The University of Pennsylvania is one of the most notable institutions of learning in the country, and its commencement addresses have usually been made by famous scholars or public figures. Never before has a Western governor been called upon, and that Governor Johnson should be chosen is a splendid compliment to him and to the state.

One vexatious institution that will not bother the legislature this year is the omnibus road and bridge bill. In past sessions that measure has been a sort of grab bag, from which members have had sufficient influence to get what they wanted, regardless of whether the bill was for the benefit of the state or for the benefit of some individual. It is now being introduced, and the commission will meet Jan. 30 to get ready for the distribution which will be made on the first Tuesday in March.

Whether the fund will be about $20,000, or more than $25,000 depends upon whether or not the good roads amendment to the constitution is rescued from the position into which it has fallen through the famous mistake in the ballot. If it is, and is declared to be carried, the tax rate will be a quarter of a mill, and the amount raised will be about $20,000. If it is not rescued, the old rate of one-twentieth of a mill will apply, and the amount will be only $5,000.

The highway commission will ask the legislature for some road legislation, including a law providing that county road money shall be disbursed under expert supervision. It is not proposed that a county surveyor be made the expert superintendent if it is found advisable by the county commissioners.

The St. Louis county delegation had a full meeting yesterday afternoon, and took up some of the local measures that are pending. No action was taken on any of them except upon the bill submitted by the city council, providing for the issue of bonds for the purpose of acquiring an electric light plant. The bill is drafted places no limit whatever upon the amount of bonds to be issued, and it was the sense of the delegation that the limit of $400,000. This year the delegation will ask that it be fixed at $500,000, and for that purpose the bill was laid over until the council can have a chance to remedy the defect.

Copies of the bills relating to St. Louis county matters, prepared by Wilson G. Crosby while he was associate county attorney, were received, but no action was taken upon them. The bills have already been described by The Herald, but slight changes have been made since in one or two of them.

The bill for a county public examiner, to look into the accounts of townships, villages, cities and school districts, provides for the appointment of an examiner by the judges of the district court for that purpose. While general in form because it applies to all counties in the state, it is especially in the nature of a bill to reform the school districts in the county with reference to the method of keeping books, the failure of auditing and paying bills, with reference to their legality, with reference to the character and amount of securities held by the officers, with reference to the character and amount of any commissions, percentages, or charges for services exacted by such officers without lawful warrant, with reference to bonded indebtedness, or to anything else that concerns the honor and safe conduct of the affairs of the communities coming under his supervision.

Officers are required to give the examiner full and free access to their books and accounts, and to give up what he wants they are to be guilty of a felony and liable to a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for a year. He is to report to the county board in January and July of each year, calling his attention to any errors, irregularities or criminal acts or omissions he may have discovered. It is also to be his duty to report criminal acts to the grand jury for its action.

To facilitate the erection of the new courthouse, another bill provides that whenever the funds available for courthouse buildings are insufficient, the county board may borrow money and to issue interest-bearing certificates of indebtedness, to bear 4 per cent interest and to run not more than ten years.

The board is authorized to levy a sinking fund tax to meet such certificates at their maturity.

Governor Johnson has received the Gates resolution calling upon him for a special message on the county option question. He will disregard any informality there may have been in the method of its passage and transmission, and the whole proceeding was an informal hitherto unheard of—and he will give his answer promptly. It will not come for a day or two, but it will be interesting, and it will not be of such a nature as to give the movers of the resolution the satisfaction of thinking they have "put the governor in a hole."

Now that the furs and feathers, and caucuses, elections and joint conventions connected with the re-election of Senator Nelson are out of the way, everybody around the legislature will breathe a sigh of relief, and take up their work with greater hope and confidence, secure in the knowledge that there are to be no more "barbed-wood" speeches to be endured.

Among the Duluth people in town yesterday were Messrs. McKnight, Wilberg, Barnes and Cronwell, who were here to attend the annual grand lodge and County Auditor's Hall.

At the close of business yesterday the senate had received 120 bills and the house 119. "Senators" are in use nearly every day of the session. The house has exactly one bill for each member, and the senate has not yet passed two bills. The house has not yet warmed up, and before many days its retiring will equalize the circulation, withdraw the blood from the brain and bring restful and refreshing sleep.

he has promised to appear before the Minnesota lawmakers and express his gratitude for their votes.

Representative William Brown of St. Paul yesterday offered a bill providing for a state gas inspector, who is to visit all cities using gas lights, and to see that the gas is up to the proper standard. The governor is to appoint him.

A. J. Rockne's bill extending the primary election system to state officers also provides for a June primary election, which is what most of the country people want. The September election generally finds the farmers busy with their harvesting, and in June they would find more leisure to attend the primaries. The only objection to the plan is that it would make too much of a campaign, and might therefore be too expensive. However, city voters would probably join as soon have it in June as in September.

The senate yesterday passed under suspension of the rules Senator Gunn's bill permitting the governor to name a fifth county commissioner for Itasca county, in order that the deadlock among the present four members may be broken and some business accomplished. The board has approved the bill, which it would not do at first, but has got little farther than that.

The senate also passed the Knox house resolution memorializing congress to provide money for the Alaska county cutoff on the Mississippi, which it is claimed will relieve from annual floods 10,000 acres of land.

H. P. Hall, the veteran newspaper man, was yesterday appointed to a senate clerkship.

Representative Rines of Mora yesterday introduced a bill repealing the sections of the code providing for the issuance of exploration permits by the state auditor, under which iron may be located for STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

Plans for Their Betterment Are Being Developed Satisfactorily.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Plans of cooperation in the improvement of roads recently authorized by Postmaster General Cortelyou and Secretary Wilson are being developed satisfactorily. Reports received by the postoffice department from many states indicate favorably the immediate need for systematic working of their roads. In some states country roads are almost impassable, and the rural mail delivery is impeded seriously.

Increased interest in the matter of working roads, with a view to their betterment generally, is evinced throughout the country by county and district officials. The postoffice department is in daily receipt of requests for advice in regard to methods of building and improvement of roads. Some recent requests have come from Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas. They are referred to the public roads division of the department of agriculture.

The particular object of the postoffice in co-operating with the department of agriculture and various state and county officials to secure improvement of country roads is to facilitate delivery of mail on the rural route—an object which the department believes commends itself to every community, rural or urban in the country.

FORGER IN TOILS.

Farmer Arrested for Endorsing Check With Another's Name.

Accused of endorsing a check with another man's name and securing money on it at the Columbia Clothing company, John Anderson, a young farmer living about ten miles out on the Clouquet road, was arrested yesterday afternoon.

Anderson is said to have opened a letter belonging to Charles Anderson, taking from it a check for $175, and after endorsing it with Charles Anderson's name, to have passed it at the clothing company's store.

While the officers were bringing the culprit in yesterday afternoon, the horses ran away, the sleigh was upset, pitching the occupants into the snow, and the horses continued their wild career down Michigan street. None of those in the sleigh were hurt, but the sleigh was badly battered before the frightened team came to a stop.

NEW TROLLEY ORDINANCES

Presented to Virginia Council and Action is Postponed.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The draft of franchise ordinances prepared by the Mesaba Traction company and Northern Traction company respectively, were given their first reading by the city council Tuesday evening, and it now appears that a franchise will soon be granted either to one concern or the other.

The draft presented by the Mesaba Traction company was again slightly altered. A franchise was put in regarding the moving of buildings and the cost of cutting the wires was fixed at $5. But there was a proviso that whatever to the matter of paving of streets along the line, the cash forfeit proposition was changed to a bond forfeit.

The Northern Traction company's ordinance, as amended, provides that a practical compliance with all the provisions of the franchise originally prepared by the Mesaba Traction company, even more so, as it provides that the company shall connect Virginia with Duluth, Chisholm and Hibbing within three years. It provides that the line will be in operation within two years. It also provides that if a franchise cannot be secured in Eveleth then the deal is to be declared off.

When the Shea franchise was originally discussed Mr. Berdie designated several things which he said his company could not accept, but the franchise presented accepted practically all these things, including the regulation of fares inside and outside the city limits.

It was the general opinion that the Berdie franchise was by far the best for the city. Attorney Ross of Superior, who represented Mr. Myers, said it would be impossible for the Northern Traction company to live up to the provisions of its proposed franchise to put up a $100,000 bond. Mr. Eaton insisted on cash instead of a bond and it was finally agreed by the representatives of both companies to put up the cash.

The committee of the Eveleth Business Men's association, Messrs. Dowling, Dawson and Perry, were present, and they desired the Virginia council to take some action so that the Eveleth council could not be swayed by the concern selected by Virginia and at the same time.

The council on advice of Mayor Eaton and City Attorney Shea finally decided to give both ordinances their first reading and after this was done the promoters were called upon in turn to back their claim. Mr. Berdie stated that his company would receive the franchise to take the bonds when the franchise was secured. He said it all depended upon the franchise. Which ever company receives the franchise, said, would get the money without any trouble.

Mr. Myers submitted letters to show that E. C. Goodrich, vice-president of the Two City Road & Traction company, was assisting in securing the franchise, build the line, and had given the project his endorsement, while he also showed letters from financial concerns which were arranging to take the bonds. It was finally decided that the city attorney should write to the different men who had been named to verify their claims. The result will be in large measure to determine the action of the council. The ordinance will come up for their second reading next Tuesday evening, when one of the two franchises will be eliminated from the contest. There are two vital considerations—the terms of the franchise themselves and the financial backing of the different companies. If it is found that the financial backing of one is practically equal to the other then the question will hinge upon the differences in the terms of the proposed franchises.

The committee on city property reported adversely to the sale of the old city hall property, and the report was accepted. The mayor and city attorney were appointed a committee to wait upon the Great Northern officials in St. Paul and see if some satisfactory arrangement could be made for the land desired for a new steel bridge across the neck connecting Virginia and Silver lakes.

The city clerk was instructed to write to Architect E. S. Radcliffe of Duluth and request him to meet the council for the purpose of preparing plans and specifications.

Omega Oil

For Weak Backs

If you happen to be one of those unfortunate people with a weak, lame, tired, aching back, it is time you tried Omega Oil. Once in awhile Omega Oil fails to cure a very bad case of long standing, but there never was a case where it failed to give relief. You don't have to buy bottle after bottle. Usually one or two rubbings stop the pain. It has time and again proved a blessing to those whose suffering is hard to bear. Omega Oil is entirely different from other liniments. In stubborn cases like Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica and Neuralgia it has often effected results that can be called wonderful. You may not believe in external treatment, but you will change your mind after using Omega Oil. It has been tried so often that there is no longer any doubt about it.

LIBERAL POLICIES FOR PRESENT YEAR.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company Distributed Big Dividend.

A $2,000,000 dividend in cash has been declared by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company for the year 1906. This company, which has always been noted for the liberal policy in which it is managed, has already distributed in dividends to its policyholders about $10,000,000 in the last eight years, and the new dividend of $2,000,000 will bring its voluntary disbursements to up to the immense sum of $12,000,000.

On all Industrial Whole Life policies distributed prior to Jan. 1, 1907, a dividend equivalent to four weeks' premiums for the year has been declared. This dividend will amount to $1,000,000, and in the distribution of life policies in these companies which have been consolidated with the Metropolitan.

A further mortuary dividend of another million has been declared in the Industrial department. This applies to all death claims incurred during the year ending Dec. 31, 1906, where the policy has been in force over five years. In the case of death claims, the beneficiary will be entitled to a dividend of 5 per cent, where it has been in force ten years the dividend is 10 per cent, and in the case of twenty-five years, when the dividend will equal 25 per cent of the claim.

Other benefits which the officers of the company have brought about for the policyholders are the increase in the value of all Industrial policies six months from their date, and the liberty which is given to all policyholders over 50 years of age who have paid premiums for fifteen years or more to receive the face value of the policy in cash or a full paid-up policy. In financial circles this company is regarded as the most liberal concession ever made by any industrial insurance company.

EVELETH IS INTERESTED

In Building of Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg Road to Duluth.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Within the last twenty-four hours the announcement that the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg road will build from Virginia to Duluth has assumed unusual local interest, as it is reported that survivors for the company have been running lines both east and west of this city, not more than a mile distant on either side.

It is stated here that another line to connect Duluth and Virginia would mean as much to this city as to Virginia, and that the extension is being hailed with glad acclaim. If the new road should pass on the east side of this city, it would mean a more direct route to Virginia, and as the new road is now looking for ore business it is reasonable to suppose that the company might try to build a line which would be as profitable as many independent mines as possible, which lends probability to the supposition that they will build a line to connect Virginia and Duluth.

Persons in this city are concerned that effort should be made to get the company to build as near the city as possible. Connection with the farming country north of Virginia would be lower than prices of produce would be lower, and many feel that a competing line to Duluth would break about values and reduce in freight rates which is much desired by business men.

The people of this city are wide awake to whatever is for their advantage and are determined to make every effort to secure the new line.

NO JURORS OBTAINED

oner's pen waiting to make his entrance. The newspaper writers and jury talemans again filled every available seat in the room and the public was barred.

Justice Fitzgerald was on the bench promptly at 10:30 o'clock as the call of the roll of the special panel was begun by the clerk.

District Attorney Jerome and his assistant, Mr. Garvan, had preceded their places at a table inside the court room. The defendant's lawyers have a table just outside the rail.

Edward Thaw entered the court alone and this gave rise to the report that Mrs. William Thaw, mother of the accused, and the countess of Yarmouth, his sister, might not attend the morning session today.

Thaw was called the bar at 10:45 o'clock. As he walked briskly by the judge, the countess of Yarmouth, who had preceded him, was seen to be weeping.

Thaw greeted each of his counsel in turn and then sat facing the first talemans called. His eyelids seemed to move heavily as he looked at the first talemans called.

The first talemans were George P. Langenhach and John C. Thaw, another brother of the accused, was in the court for the first time.

Isaac Kendall, who said he was in the banking business, was drawn as talemans No. 2, and was examined by District Attorney Jerome.

He had formed an opinion in this case, said Kendall, and he thought he could read the mind of the jury. He had no previous conclusions, which were drawn entirely from the newspaper accounts. He was conscientious and scrupulous against capital punishment.

The district attorney followed in detail the line of his questions, and the jury was not swayed by sentiment or emotion which would be guided by the law of the state as interpreted by the presiding judge.

Mr. Kendall answered all these questions satisfactorily, but it came to a question as to his acquaintance with the family of the accused, he said he had known Mrs. Thaw for many years. He was then promptly excused by common consent.

Thaw's mother from New York City was examined by the court room today was explained by one of the attorneys for the defense. He said that the strain of yesterday proved too much for her and that she was on the verge of collapse when she returned to her hotel after the day's proceedings.

Mr. Thaw attended every session of the court during her son's trial. The countess of Yarmouth is said to be suffering from a slight cold.

William C. Storey, No. 22, was excused when he said he had a sick wife and child.

William C. Wilson gave his occupation as bookkeeper. During the examination of William C. Wilson, who was called to the witness stand, he was asked to appear that Thaw's counsel would again rest upon the shoulders of the district attorney.

If the talemans said he had an opinion Mr. Jerome had to delve into the depths of the jury and in nearly every case to overcome the talemans' bias. His opinion in favor of the legal evidence.

Mr. Wilson said he had a very decided opinion upon and was not at all sure he could give an opinion. He would like to have every possible doubt as to the defendant's guilt removed.

"Your opinion is based upon the idle gossip of the newspapers, or rather what they have printed."

Mr. Wilson replied Mr. Wilson. Thaw needed to have little interest in the examination of the talemans. When the district attorney asked him to appear that Thaw's counsel would again rest upon the shoulders of the district attorney.

When Mr. Hartbridge of his own counsel asked the examination Thaw appeared more animated and whispered several times to the attorneys nearest him. He said he had a very decided opinion upon and was not at all sure he could give an opinion.

David Harry, the twenty-fourth talemans, said he had a very decided opinion upon and was not at all sure he could give an opinion. He would like to have every possible doubt as to the defendant's guilt removed.

Senator Alger was in the senate chamber Tuesday afternoon, where he stayed throughout most of the entire session listening to the discussion of the Brownsville affair. About 4 o'clock he retired to the cloak room, where he sat with Col. Randall, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, and Senator Warner of Missouri, telling war stories.

The news of the death was at once communicated to President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks. The latter being the first to call at the Alger residence to express his sympathy. He was shortly afterwards followed by Senator-elect William Alden Smith and ex-Truman Newberry, assistant secretary of the navy, and his life long friend.

The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the family residence in this city. The body will be taken to Detroit, Mich., for burial.

Senator Alger is survived by his widow and five children, as follows: Mrs. Charles B. Pike of Chicago, Mrs. H. B. Sheldon of Detroit, Mrs. William E. Bailey of Harrisburg, Pa., Russell A. Alger, Jr. of Duluth, and now in Florida, and Capt. H. M. Alger.

Russell Alexander Alger was born in Lafayette, Ohio, Feb. 27, 1836. He was left an orphan at 11 years of age, worked on a farm until he was 18, attending schools in the winters, and then, after teaching, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1858. He began to practice in Cleveland, but was forced by ill health to remove to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he engaged in the lumber business. He became a captain in the Second Michigan cavalry at the beginning of the Civil war, and at Boonsville, Miss., July 1,

TATTLERS STIR UP TROUBLE

Repeat to Senators What the President Thinks of Them.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Again the wonderful discipline of the Republican party has been demonstrated. Three or four days ago, some of the most conservative leaders admitted privately that the Brownsville incident threatened to disrupt the party. The president made a statement that he would insist upon the passage of Blackburn's Democratic amendment to the Foraker resolution, and Senator Foraker was reported to have said that he would not vote for any amendment.

But the peace-makers in the party got busy. There were several conferences between the president and senate leaders. The president did another unthought-of thing by meeting senators at Senator Lodge's private residence, and there some very frank discussion was indulged in by Mr. Roosevelt and the Republican leaders. Some very powerful influences were also brought to bear upon Senator Foraker.

The net result of these efforts is the passage of a resolution by the senate which is satisfactory to both the president and Senator Foraker. But it is manifest to all who have followed the fight from start to finish, that Mr. Roosevelt scored another victory. If the original Foraker resolution meant anything, it meant exactly the contrary. And with a provision in the resolution to leave action of the president out, that is there to investigate any way.

The course of the Brownsville discussion in the senate is only a repetition of the history of the railway rate legislation of the last session. For months the Hepburn bill threatened to bring about a dangerous feud in the Republican party, but the Republican leaders finally came to an agreement by which the bill passed as a Republican measure.

It is neither the president's recent messages nor senatorial speeches in the open chamber that are responsible for the friction between the president and the senate, so much as it is some very ugly gossip which is floating about the capitol. The multi-armed hand which has been said in private conversation to have said in private conversation is most irritating to senators than his official utterances. The same is true with the president.

On several occasions, in private conversation, it is reported that the president has been sending out some very severe criticisms of Republican leaders in the senate. Busy congressmen have hastened to carry these alleged confidential conversations to the capitol, and the senators have boiled over.

The same parties who have carried tales to the senators have made like reports to the president.

That Mr. Roosevelt, in his impatience, has given utterance to some very intemperate remarks is generally believed. But many of his confidential talks have been enlarged upon and the president has been placed in a totally different attitude from that which he intended to occupy. In this gossip the president is reported to have criticized even Senators Lodge and Knox, who are recognized as his best friends in the senate. During the railway rate debate, the president is reported to have criticized the attitude of Senator Knox, who is known to have written the compromise amendment of the Hepburn bill. What the president said, according to the gossips, about Senator Foraker was very irritating to the senator from Ohio, and it is thought did much to influence him in his uncompromising position.

Mrs. Cora B. Miller Makes a Fortune

Started a Few Years Ago with No Capital, and Now Employs Nearly One Hundred Clerks and Stenographers.

Until a few years ago Mrs. Cora B. Miller was one of the poorest of women. Thousands of other very poor women of the average small town and village. She now resides in her own palace, and is considered one of the most successful business women in the United States.

When Mr. Hartbridge of his own counsel asked the examination Thaw appeared more animated and whispered several times to the attorneys nearest him. He said he had a very decided opinion upon and was not at all sure he could give an opinion.

David Harry, the twenty-fourth talemans, said he had a very decided opinion upon and was not at all sure he could give an opinion. He would like to have every possible doubt as to the defendant's guilt removed.

Senator Alger was in the senate chamber Tuesday afternoon, where he stayed throughout most of the entire session listening to the discussion of the Brownsville affair. About 4 o'clock he retired to the cloak room, where he sat with Col. Randall, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, and Senator Warner of Missouri, telling war stories.

The news of the death was at once communicated to President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks. The latter being the first to call at the Alger residence to express his sympathy. He was shortly afterwards followed by Senator-elect William Alden Smith and ex-Truman Newberry, assistant secretary of the navy, and his life long friend.

The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the family residence in this city. The body will be taken to Detroit, Mich., for burial.

Senator Alger is survived by his widow and five children, as follows: Mrs. Charles B. Pike of Chicago, Mrs. H. B. Sheldon of Detroit, Mrs. William E. Bailey of Harrisburg, Pa., Russell A. Alger, Jr. of Duluth, and now in Florida, and Capt. H. M. Alger.

Russell Alexander Alger was born in Lafayette, Ohio, Feb. 27, 1836. He was left an orphan at 11 years of age, worked on a farm until he was 18, attending schools in the winters, and then, after teaching, studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1858. He began to practice in Cleveland, but was forced by ill health to remove to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he engaged in the lumber business. He became a captain in the Second Michigan cavalry at the beginning of the Civil war, and at Boonsville, Miss., July 1, 1862, was sent by Philip H. Sheridan, then colonel of the 5th regiment, to attack the enemy's camp with ninety picked men. The Confederates were routed, but Capt. Alger was taken prisoner. He escaped on the same day and on Oct. 16 was made lieutenant colonel of the Fifth Michigan cavalry, and on June 28, his command was the first to enter the town of Gettysburg. He was especially mentioned in Gen. Custer's report of the cavalry operations there, and in pursuit of the enemy he was severely wounded at Boonsborough, Md., on July 18. He was killed in 1864 and on July 11, 1865 at Trellott station, by a brilliant charge, he captured a large force of Confederates. On June 11, 1865, he was given the brevet of brigadier general and major general of volunteers. He then resumed the lumber business at Detroit, Mich., and acquired a fortune, serving as president of the board of directors of the Michigan Lumber company. In 1884 he was the successful Republican candidate for governor of the state, serving from 1885 to 1887. Senator Alger was a leading candidate for president at the Republican national convention in 1888. He served one term as commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. He was secretary of war of the United States from 1897 to 1899, and was appointed United States senator to succeed James McMillan, deceased, and elected in February, 1903, for a term expiring in 1907. Senator Alger was the head of the Alger-Smith company, another large lumber manufacturing concern.

Every woman suffering with pains in the back and bowels, bearing-down feelings, nervousness, creeping sensations up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, and other symptoms, any cause, should sit right down and send Miller, Box 370, Kokomo, Ind., and receive a mail (free of charge) in plain wrapper) a 6-cent box of our marvelous medicine, also her valuable book, which every woman should read.

Remember, this offer will not last long, who are suffering and thousands of women who are suffering will take advantage of this generous means of getting cured. So if you are afflicted with any of the above, but send your name and address to before the $10,000.00 worth is all gone.

Then the fun started. Unable to

TAX NOTICE PUBLISHED

County Auditor Halden Issues Tax Sheet for 1906.

The Average Rate Last Year Was 20.43
Mills.

The annual tax notice, showing the valuation, rate of taxation and taxes in St. Louis county for 1906, compiled by County Auditor Olin Halden, has just been received from the printer. Although many of the prominent features of the annual notice have already been covered from the auditor's reports, there are a number of things of general interest to taxpayers throughout the county to which no particular attention has yet been paid.

It has already been made public that the tax levy and assessments for 1906 total $2,558,335.90 of which $2,525,023.90 represents the tax levy and $33,312.00 represents the special street assessments, etc., in the cities of Duluth, Virginia, Ely, Tower, villages of Mountain Iron and Duluth and towns of Hahma, Calver, Chisholm and Industrial. The largest of the assessments is against the city of Duluth, and totals $2,463,000. The smallest special assessment is $11.57, against the town of Hahma.

The tax notice shows an average tax rate for the county of 20.43 mills as compared with an average tax rate of 22.36 mills in 1905, and 22.36 mills in 1904. The rate of taxation on the taxes for the cities, villages and towns in St. Louis county, for 1906, are as follows:

RESIGNATION OF T. P. SHONTS

Made to Accept Better Position With New York Company.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The resignation of Theodore P. Shonts as chairman of the Isthmian canal commission, was announced at the White House yesterday, having been tendered to the president and accepted by him Tuesday, according to correspondence made public. It will take effect not later than March 4. Mr. Shonts yesterday was elected president of the Interborough-Metropolitan company, which controls the rapid transit and many surface lines in New York. No announcement was made as to who will succeed Mr. Shonts as chairman of the commission, but it was learned authoritatively that headquarters will be removed from Washington to the Isthmian and that a high salaried chairman to serve in that capacity alone will not be named. This being admitted, it follows that John F. Stevens, the engineer in charge of construction, would not be made subordinate to another official on the Isthmian. Without definite announcement, therefore, it is regarded as a certainty that Mr. Stevens will be named as chairman of the commission in connection with the post as chief engineer.

New York, Jan. 24.—August Belmont,

ODD DIARY OF A WIDOW

Kept Account of Everything She Did in Her Life.

Noted Every Time She Washed Her Face or Feet.

London, Jan. 24.—So great a task is the keeping of a consecutive diary that few of the millions of people who record each year to keep a complete record of their doings from day to day carry out their purpose. As it is about this season that one is likely to let his new year resolutions slide and blank pages begin to appear in his journal, the remarkable story which has just come to light of the record kept by an old woman in England should prove some stimulant to the careless diarist. King possesses a detailed record of everything she has done since she learned to write in the ninety-two years she has lived. So accurately has the record been kept that the old woman can tell to a penny how much money she has spent, how much she has eaten, how many times she has washed her hands and face and bathed her feet and various other things that ordinary people never keep track of. For the historian of a thousand years hence, who will doubtless regard our much vaunted civilization as barbaric, this amazing record will constitute a veritable bonanza of statistical information.

Widow Roffey has just passed her ninety-second birthday. On the anniversary she was entertained at dinner by a friend and then announced some of the totals of her figures to date. The cost of maintenance from birth to her ninety-second birthday she figures to be $6,656—an average expenditure of about $2 a week.

Songs which were sung at her birthday dinner—"A-hunting We Will Go" and "My Old Gray Mare"—she records as having sung 1,106 times since her father taught them to her when a little girl.

The inventory of clothing she has worn would make an interesting comparison with a like record from some woman of extravagant class. She has had only forty-seven petticoats during her life—forty-one dresses, eighty pairs of shoes and 274 pairs of stockings—only three new pairs a year. In bonnets she has kept down to the modest number of 165, or less than two a year. Of aprons she wore fifty-three, shawls and wraps thirty-four; gloves and mittens thirty; corsets, sixty-three; hair nets, sixteen, and hairpins, just 1,000. Many of these articles were made by her own nimble fingers.

Mrs. Roffey says she has eaten 4,784 fishes and but little meat, which would indicate that a piscatorial diet is conducive both to longevity and firm adhesion to good resolutions. Her daily bread amounted to 11,980 loaves, and she has eaten 50,730 potatoes and 19,136 cabbages. In tea drinking the widow did not come up to what is probably the normal figure among the gentle sex, but she credits herself with having drunk 134,320 cups of the beverage, besides 67,150 glasses of milk and only 3,580 glasses of water.

The old woman was married, but once—and in that instance she walked to London and back to have the knot tied—adding fifty-four miles to the 221,428 she figures out she has walked during her lifetime.

The now wrinkled face she has washed 67,000 times; her hands 132,424 and her feet 3,208 times. She has slept 302,220 hours of her life away, drawn 35,584 buckets of water from the well in her garden, cut her finger nails 1,586 times and her toe nails 750 times. Dressing, undressing and arranging her simple toilet accounted for 67,160 hours of her 92 years. She has done up and taken down her hair 53,480 times. She has wrung the necks of 4,500 chickens, fattened 138 pigs and written 1,104 letters. Her cottage floor she has scrubbed 3,988 times, dug up her little garden 140 times and trimmed the hedge surrounding it 138 times.

Only one night has she been away from the humble cottage in which she lives. That was the night following her flight to London to get married. She passed it in her husband's arms beside a haystack. She is a wonderfully hale old woman, and in her neat round hand she still continues to set down daily the story of her simple life. She has accomplished something absolutely unique. Never, surely, since Adam delved and Eve span, has there been produced such a minute record of a human life.

Ask your doctor to name some of the results of constipation. His long list will begin with sick headache, biliousness, dyspepsia, thin blood, bad skin. Then ask him if he would recommend your using Ayer's Pills for constipation. Just one pill at bedtime, a few times, that's all.

THE HOUSE GETS QUICK ACTION ON BILL TO STOP LEASING OF ORE LANDS

Passes Rines Measure With But One Negative Vote.

The Bill Was Introduced But Two Days Ago.

Senate and House Take Adjournment Until Next Tuesday.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house this morning passed the Rines bill, putting a stop to further leasing of iron mines on state lands by repealing the sections of the statutes providing for them. The bill, which was only introduced a couple of days ago, was reported out for passage by the house committee on mines and mining, and on motion of Chairman Jefferson, the rules were suspended and the bill passed, 106 to 1. Representative Hicks of Minneapolis voted against it because it was too important a measure to be hurried through without more information. The chairman of the committee explained that

OPPOSED TO SOCIALISM
Labor Conference in Ireland Comes Out Against It.

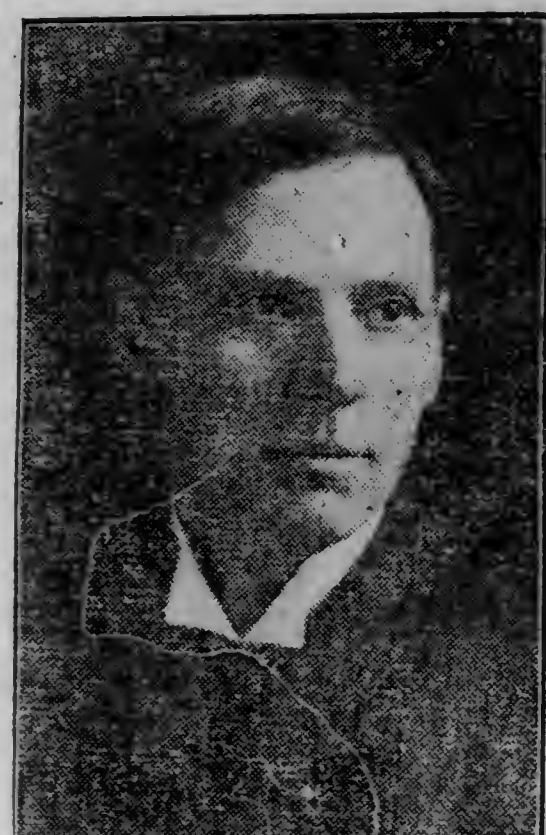

Dublin, Ireland, Jan. 25.—By the overwhelming majority of 855,000 votes against 50,000 as represented by the delegates, the labor conference this morning rejected a proposed amendment to the constitution of the party, the effect of which would have been to transform it into an avowedly Socialist organization. The proposed amendment was contained in a resolution suggesting the adoption of the following new "object" into the constitution: "This annual conference hereby declares that its ultimate object shall be the obtaining for the workers the full results of their labors by the overthrow of the present competitive system of capitalism and the institution of public ownership and control of all means of life."

The opponents of the proposed amendment declared that it would create irreconcilable divisions in the party, as the trades unionists were opposed to pledging themselves to Socialism.

GOVERNOR TO RETIRE
Believed That Swettenham Has Sent in His Resignation.

Would be Quite Impossible for Him to Retain Office.

London, Jan. 25.—There is good reason to believe that Governor Swettenham of Jamaica has forwarded his resignation to the colonial office. The officials there say they are not prepared to confirm or deny the report, but they admit having received telegrams of a confidential character from the governor. It has been fully expected here that a solution of the difficulty would be found in Swettenham's resignation, and the reply to inquiries received at the colonial office tended to confirm the report that the governor had intimated his willingness to retire from his post. It has been freely stated in the colonial and other government offices that it was quite impossible for Swettenham to continue in office, not only because of the incident involving the withdrawal of the American warships from Kingston, but also on account of the protests against his conduct received from the inhabitants of Kingston.

JOKE IS ON THE HOUSE

Special Message on County Option Was Warmly Applauded.

Expenses of Junketing Trips to be Paid by State.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Those who believed that the governor would be able to take care of himself in a contest of repartee between the house and the chief executive were not disappointed. The governor's message, in reply to the Gates resolution calling for a special message on the question of county option, came straight from the shoulder, and the verdict of the house members is that they got at least as good as they sent. While the joke is on them, they seem to enjoy it, and the fact that at heart most of them disapproved of the proceeding from start to finish, probably adds zest to this enjoyment. The members applauded the message promptly and laughed appreciatively at the neatness of the manner in which the governor returned a Roland

ELECTIONS IN GERMANY

France Expresses Desire to See Anti-Government Majority.

Berlin, Jan. 25.—The voting in the reichstag elections began at 10 o'clock this morning, in clear, freezing weather. The bourse was closed and all business was late in beginning today, as many of the merchants and their employees did not come down town after they had voted. No disorder was reported.

Emperor William called on Chancellor Von Buelow during the morning, after which the chancellor drove to a polling place. His secretary, who had gone ahead, handed him a ballot as he left the carriage. The prince thrust the ticket into an envelope himself, as required by law, gave his name to the election commissioner, and the latter took the envelope and placed it in a ballot box. Von Buelow appeared to be in good health.

There was not a policeman in sight when the chancellor voted, and this was true also of all the other election districts, no policemen being on duty at any of the polling places.

Paris, Jan. 25.—France is manifesting intense interest in the German elections. The newspapers are filled with columns of dispatches giving prognostications. The editorial comment here openly expresses the hope for an anti-government majority, as likely to curb the ambition of Emperor William, which are always interpreted as being a menace to the peace of France.

NOT WELLS THE NOVELIST.

London, Jan. 25.—The man named Wells, who was knocked down and seriously injured by a motor car while crossing the Strand at Charing Cross at 1 o'clock this morning, was not H. G. Wells, the novelist, as at first reported, but W. J. Wells, a commercial traveler.

INJUSTICE IS SHOWN

By Commission's Report on the Great Coal Monopolies.

Some Strong Recommendations Are Made to Congress.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The interstate commerce commission today submitted to congress its first report on disbursements and monopolies authorized under the Tillman-Gillespie resolution of last March. The report deals with bituminous coal carried east of the Ohio, the roads involved being the Norfolk & Western, Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, Beech Creek division of the New York Central & Hudson river, Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern, Buffalo & Susquehanna, and West Virginia Central & Pittsburgh (now the Western Maryland railroad).

MURDERER IS IDENTIFIED

Man Who Killed Merchant Whitely Was Horace Rayner.

London, Jan. 25.—The police have identified the murderer of William Whitely as Horace Rayner. He is supposed to have been a school master, but recently was unemployed and lived in a cheap hotel at Bloomsbury. He told the proprietor of the hotel that he was the son of a "wealthy London business man, sailing from London" from which part of the country the late Mr. Whitely came. Passports and letters found on Rayner showed that he had traveled much in Russia and elsewhere on the continent.

The murderer was operated upon this morning. His injured eye was removed and the bullet which he fired into his forehead was extracted. The doctors believe that Rayner will recover. The motive for the crime is still a mystery.

SMALL FAVORS THANKFULLY RECEIVED.

Will Soon Relieve Fuel Shortage in Washington Cities.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 25.—Within the next thirty days several cargoes of coal will be received on Puget Sound to relieve the fuel shortage now existing at Tacoma and Seattle. According to advices received today, the steamer Lyra sailed from Moll Monday with 1,000 tons of coal. The steamer Quito is to bring 5,000 tons here Feb. 1, and has 1,000 tons of coal.

Never before in the history of this port has coal had to be imported from the Orient to meet the local demands. Owing to the coal shortage many trips are prevented from going outside to pick up vessels, and as a result only sixteen have entered the straits in four weeks.

Young Asks That Charter of Manitoba Road be Forfeited.

Used by Great Northern to Evade Regular Tax Rate.

St. Paul, Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney General Young began mandamus proceedings in the supreme court this morning to compel the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railroad company to show cause why its charter should not be forfeited. This company, formerly known in the state as the Minnesota & Pacific company, is really the parent company of the Great Northern Railway company, which is the owner of the Manitoba road. Young has given the Associated Press eighty typewritten pages and goes into all the transactions of the Great Northern Railroad company with its constituent companies forming the "merger" known as the Great Northern Railway company.

Amazing Increase in Commerce During the Past Year.

Freight Tonnage Was 28 Per Cent More Than in 1905.

Local Government Engineers Complete Some Interesting Statistics.

All previous records for the growth of commerce of the Duluth-Superior harbor were broken during the year of 1906.

It was a banner year for business through this port and the government engineer's report, just issued by Maj. Graham D. Fitch, United States engineer in charge of the Lake Superior district, contains some astounding figures tending to show the tremendous importance of this harbor. The total receipts and shipments of the Duluth-Superior harbor for 1906 were 29,171,221 tons, as compared with a total of 22,676,145 tons in 1905 and 16,817,017 tons in 1904.

The increase in freight tonnage over 1905 was 28.64 per cent, while the increase in freight tonnage of 1906 over 1904 was 72.4 per cent.

The rate of increase was greater in 1906 over 1905 than in 1905 over the tonnage of 1904.

The total freight tonnage of Duluth for 1906 was 16,518,200 tons while that of Superior, Wis., was 12,653,021 tons.

The total valuation of the freight tonnage of the Duluth-Superior harbor in 1906 was $251,899,844, not including a log traffic valued at $402,500, which was an increase of $35,148,261 in the valuation over previous years.

JOKE IS ON THE HOUSE

for the Oliver that the house sent him. The incident is probably closed now, with the honors resting with the governor.

While the governor did not declare himself for or against county option, he gave good reasons for not doing so, when he said that the senate had not concurred in the resolution, and that as that body has pending before it a bill covering the point at issue, it would be inadvisable in him to attempt to influence pending legislation by giving an opinion upon it. As to the merits of the proposition, he shows that it is a matter in which the wishes of the people should be considered, and that so long as there is no initiative and referendum plan in operation in this state, the members should reflect in their resolution the sentiments of their several constituencies as nearly as they can arrive at them.

The house has a characteristic mix-up yesterday over the proposition to have the state pay the expenses of running trials. The resolution to this effect had passed the senate and came to the house for its consideration. It was passed with only four negative votes, and then W. A. Nolan of Grand Marais moved to reconsider the vote, in order that the matter to the rules committee, to have some limit on the amount to be expended put upon it. The members claimed that the railroad had paid the expenses of junketing in previous sessions, and that it was humiliating to have such a condition as this exist. Other members said that the expenses had always been borne by the board of control, and by the citizens of the towns in which the institutions visited were located. J. C. Lennon of Minneapolis said that most of the members had passed which they used on such trips, and that there would be no expense for the legislature to assume, unless members charged up railroad fares while riding on passes. He said he had passes, and intended to use them until the legislature voted them out of existence, but he did not propose to put in expense accounts while using them.

The motion to reconsider was lost, 40 to 90, and the resolution was allowed to stand.

There was a test of sentiment in the house yesterday afternoon on the question of whether the members shall vote themselves $250 for incidental expenses or not.

When the judiciary committee reported the bill back with the recommendation that the attorney general be asked to give an opinion on whether or not this would amount to an increase of compensation, which is prohibited by the constitution, Chairman Hicks of the committee accompanied the report by a personal statement that, in his opinion, the proposal was unconstitutional.

J. G. Lennon of Minneapolis moved to refer the bill to the committee on a parliamentary wrangle as to methods of getting at this after the report had been adopted and the resolution in effect referred to the governor. It was decided that it would be necessary to reconsider the action of the house in so referring it. Mr. Lennon made such a motion, and it was voted down overwhelmingly. The speaker professed doubt about the vote, however, and called for a rising vote. Only six members, Messrs. Spooner, Carl, Harleton, Lennon and Hicks, voted in favor of the resolution. Mr. Hicks voted for recalling the resolution, and all the rest of the house voted to let it go to the attorney general.

H. R. Jefferson of Bingham Lake, thinking to strike the iron while hot, moved that the resolution be adopted without awaiting for an opinion as to its constitutionality, but this motion was ruled out of order.

It was clear from the attitude of the house that if it is declared constitutional, it will go through with a whoop, and the senate, which appears to be waiting to see what the house is going to do, will pass it with a whoop.

It is said that there is a precedent for this resolution, as a legislature some years ago voted its members $10 each for postage expenses.

The new house members, or some of them, met at the Metropolitan hotel last night to form an organization. Some of the older members, and one or two newspapers, have shown a disposition to make game of this plan, but the members are taking it very seriously. They say that they are not trying to run the house, but that they want to organize for mutual protection and enlightenment, and in order that they may have a chance to get together and talk matters over once in a while. They believe that they can act more intelligently if they do this, than they can if they confine all their proceedings to the floor of the house, where they observe that the old members have things pretty much their own way.

Some of the new members, by the way, do some funny things in the first few days of the session, before they get into the running of it and learn the way the wheels go round. One new member, who had watched with much admiration the manner in which a notice of debate is used to put off acting on resolutions, thought he had learned a lesson from the glib way in which older members put a resolution on a shelf, and gave notice of debate, under the rules, a notice of debate puts a resolution over in that way, the theory being that the man who gives the notice wants to talk about it, and needs time for study and consideration.

The other day a bill came in which this new member did not like the looks of, and he promptly rose in his seat and gave notice of debate, thereby bringing down the house.

The new members are not the only ones that make slips, however. The other day an old member, who had a few minutes later that anybody realized that the bill was on the table, he got up and, and then moved to lay it on the table, a parliamentary expression equivalent to the ordinary "skiddoo."

In a few days House county's deadlocked board of county commissioners will break away and get busy, because the bill has been introduced, and the governor to appoint a fifth commissioner has passed. They even voted that way on a motion to approve the bond of the new county attorney, Alfred L. Thwing, and were only induced to take action on his bond by a proposal to have the governor remove all of them and put in an entirely new lot.

Representative C. M. Bendixen of Morgan yesterday offered a bill requiring that all grains, corn, grass seeds, clover seeds and flax seeds, butter, cream, eggs, live stock of all kinds sold for meat, dressed meats, poultry and vegetables, except such vegetables as are now sold by the dozen or bunch, shall be bought and sold by the pound. If the bill goes through, people will be buying wheat, cream and eggs by the pound.

On the other hand, Senator Thorpe offered in the senate a bill making the bushel the sole legal standard for grains.

The last section of every bill introduced for years has been to the effect: "This act shall take effect on and after its passage." Every bill but one that has come in so far this session has had the same section, but it is no longer necessary. Formerly, unless this provision was made, laws did not become effective until they had been published officially, after they came of force. The new code, however, includes a provision that all bills shall become effective, unless it is otherwise stated, as soon as they are passed and approved by the governor. This means that laws will become effective until they had been published officially, after they came of force. The new code, however, includes a provision that all bills shall become effective, unless it is otherwise stated, as soon as they are passed and approved by the governor.

Two new inheritance tax laws came into the senate yesterday. Senator Canastota offered one which provides that on inheritances of $50,000 to $100,000 the tax shall be 1 1/2 per cent for the first $50,000 and 3 per cent on all over that. Senator Roosevelt last night received a cablegram from the Most Rev. Dr. Enos Nuttall, lord archbishop of the West Indies, and chairman of the Kingston relief committee, tendering his thanks for the prompt visit of the American warships under Rear Admiral Davis. The message is as follows:

"We all appreciate deeply American sympathy in our distress and the prompt visit of your men-of-war for our succor. Happily the supply of food available for the relief committee is sufficient. After meeting the cost of this, our next great want will be the means for making small houses habitable. All our people are behaving splendidly."

The receipt in this city yesterday of the official full text of the correspondence between Rear Admiral Davis and Governor Swettenham of Jamaica, which did not differ from the communications transmitted by the Associated Press last Sunday night caused the naval officials to again study the situation to see if Admiral Davis had in any way transgressed the bounds of propriety on his visit to Kingston. They not only found a precedent for his landing on their ships to preserve order, strangely enough in another British island, Trinidad, in the West Indies, but also saw nothing in the whole affair to warrant the letter addressed to him by Governor Swettenham.

Secretary Metcalf gave out the following statement bearing on the subject: "The department has received the full text of the correspondence between Rear Admiral Davis, commanding the squadron of naval vessels which visited Kingston, Jamaica, after the earthquake, and Sir Alexander Swettenham, governor of Jamaica. The correspondence it appears that Admiral Davis landed a party of six men for the purpose of guarding the warships and the archives of the American consulate and another party of ten men for the purpose of clearing away the wreckage. In view of the request of the colonial secretary and the inspector of police, who spoke for the governor (the governor being absent from the city and at King's house, some three miles distant), fifty men were landed on the island from the Indian to overcome an alleged mutiny at the penitentiary, containing 600 or 650 prisoners. Admiral Davis then proceeded by cable to the acting governor at the King's house and found him living with his family in tents and was accompanied to the city by the governor. That afternoon, upon the request of the governor the men were withdrawn from shore and returned to their ships."

"The action of Admiral Davis in landing his men on the island, is not without precedent, there being numerous cases to justify it. The presence of the vessels of the Atlantic fleet at the time of the earthquake, placed the admiral in a position to give quick relief aid to the sufferers, and our own experience in the San Francisco earthquake of April shows the need of sufficient police protection and the great benefits which result from the use of naval vessels in such an emergency. The command-in-chief acted promptly under the circumstances and sent immediately vessels to the aid of the sufferers, and men and supplies to the aid of the sufferers."

Catarrh of the Stomach
A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effective Cure for It.

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual remedy is a purgative, or a bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour watery risings, a constant feeling of uneasiness, pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, flocks of mucus, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, a sore tongue, and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes no food to be readily absorbed, and the stomach contents, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harrison, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aspicin, Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine, can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed, and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribe for this for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but I have found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found fresh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the simplest and most convenient remedy for any case of Catarrh of the stomach, indigestion, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

CASE HAS A PRECEDENT

United States Navy Gave Aid to Island of Trinidad.

Archbishop of West Indies Sends Thanks to President.

Washington, Jan. 25.—President Roosevelt last night received a cablegram from the Most Rev. COMMISSION RESTRAINED
From Enforcing New and Lower Railroad Rates.

St. Paul, Jan. 24.—Judge Lochren in the United States circuit court yesterday granted a restraining order on the railroad and warehouse commission to keep the commission from enforcing the new and lower railroad freight rates which it had stipulated to be effective today. The court's action was taken at the instance of the following roads, who asked for the injunction on the plea that the rates were practically confiscatory: Northern Pacific, Great Northern, C. M. & St. P., M. & E. P. & S. S. P. The injunction will be in force until the hearing Feb. 13.

The hearing on carrying out the new rates distributing points was on again yesterday before the commission. Crookston jobbers asked for a reduction on the rate from 7 cents on salt to 23 on nuts, from Duluth and the Twin Cities. St. Cloud in an elevator on 100 pounds, from 9 1/2 to 6 cents on fruits, canned vegetables, pickles, soap, sugar, molasses and syrup, minimum 30,000 pounds.

RAID AT PELICAN RAPIDS.
Three Arrested for Selling Liquor in Temperance Town.

Pelican Rapids is a temperance village and the sale of liquor is prohibited there. Mr. Johnson is accused of keeping a house where intoxicants were sold, while his wife is charged with aiding and abetting him. He was worked by a detective named Goebel, who has been working in the village for two weeks.

JOHN D. SITS WITH TWO NEGROES IN A CHURCH.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 25.—John D. Rockefeller created a ripple of excitement here last Sunday by attending morning service at the Central Baptist church. The multi-millionaire is stopping at the Hotel Bonair in Summerville, and this morning, attended by his secretary, he drove into town.

They proceeded to the Tabernacle Baptist church, which is under the charge of Rev. C. T. Walker, the well known negro preacher, often called the "Black Spurgeon."

Mr. Rockefeller occupied a pew along with two negroes and stayed until the end of the service.

It had been stated that Mr. Rockefeller would attend divine services at the First Baptist church, and a number of people were on the street to see him. Mr. Rockefeller astonished the congregation by emptying his pockets of change into the collection basket, contributing about $20.

"I had tried everything for my baby, until Dr. Lyle recommended Cascasweet. I can truthfully say it is the best medicine I ever used for babies."—Nannie L. Taylor, Bedford, Va. Cascasweet is sold by all druggists.

Refers, and offered such help, in the way of medical attention and food, as lay in his power, which action was further helped by the department despatching two store ships laden with large quantities of food supplies intended for the fleet, and which were diverted from this duty and despatched to Kingston.

"After the men were withdrawn from shore and returned to their ships a telegram was received from the brigadier general, commanding the army of pacification in Cuba."

Secretary Metcalf here quotes Governor Masoon's statements that tents have been sent from Cuba to Kingston upon the request of the acting British minister and continues:

"At the time of the above mentioned request by the acting British minister at Havana for tents for the sufferers at Kingston, Admiral Davis had on board the vessels under his command then in Kingston harbor, and for several days prior thereto, many of the tents asked for and which were available for use, had the governor desired them, and had the remaining ships at Guantanamo with more than 200 tents of the kind asked for, many more than actually needed to supply the wants, all of which could have been obtained by Admiral Davis from Admiral Evans upon request by wireless within a few hours."

On a change of venue granted by Judge Ensign, the appeal case of F. A. Watkins from the action of the state canvassing board in declaring the good roads amendment to the state constitution to have been lost and the tax amendment carried, has been transferred from the district court of Carlton county to the district court of this county.

Mr. Watkins grounds for appeal are very similar to those of Mr. McGonaghy of this city, who filed the first appeal to the state canvassing board. Both claim gross errors, mistakes, misconceptions, wrongs and omissions in the count and canvassing of the votes.

SAGINAW WOMAN PLAYS COPPERS
And Almost Swamps Herself in Her First Plunge.

Saginaw, Mich., Jan. 25.—Saginaw has the copper fever. Scores of persons are putting spare money into such stocks. Many are bona fide investors, some of the largest holdings of copper stocks in Michigan being owned here, but others are gambling on margins.

Recently a well-known society woman here got the idea she would like to go against the game and test her ability at fortune making. She got into a gambling house and there she met a man who submitted quotations to her daily and her correspondence led him to believe that she was in the market for a big investment. One day a member of the concern called her up by phone and told her he had a good block of a certain leading copper for sale, which he believed would go up in value rapidly within a short time and advised purchase. The price he quoted was "One mine," and the woman replied that she would take 200 shares. The next day a local bank received 200 shares of this stock from the Detroit firm with a slight draft for $10,000 drawn on "Mrs. X."

A few minutes later the woman in question called and asked if the stock had arrived. Upon being informed that it had she requested a loan of $25.

"I think my husband's account with you is sufficient security," she said, and just lack that amount of money enough to take up the stock. Her innocent smile and, "I presume that will be all right," took the cashier unaware, who was about to grant her request at the bank's draft out for her inspection and approval.

A smothered scream from the woman recalled him to his senses, she gasped.

"I did not order all that stock. I only asked for 200 shares."

That's what we have for you, madam. Two hundred shares at $50 each, total $10,000, do you not?"

"Yes," she replied in a husky voice as the truth dawned on her, "but I thought when he said 'one mine' it meant a dollar mine."

She had something like this with her to pay for the stock. The bank immediately informed the broker, and the next morning the stock and declined $7. The loss to the Detroiters, unless they compel the woman to take the stock, was just $1,000 on the transaction. How the matter was adjusted has not been disclosed.

STOKES QUIT WORK IN SLUMS
Wife Says That People Are Blinded to Real Issue.

New York, Jan. 25.—After an experiment extending over many months, James G. Phelps Stokes and his wife, Rose Pastor Stokes, this week announced that they would give up settlement work on the East side, as they were disappointed in the results achieved.

Every effort made by them toward the betterment of the lot of the poor was met with indifference, they say, by counter influences in the interests of the rich.

"The truth is that the people appear to be blinded to the real issues at stake," says Mr. Stokes. "The rich are blind to the fact that a donation to charity or philanthropy can serve no really major function so long as the unjust social system remains."

"As for the oppressed, they are blind to the fact that the settlements and churches can do little or no effective work so long as there remains this inherent injustice in the misaligned industrial system which first makes people poor and then keeps them poor."

"It shall be our purpose from this time on to send our efforts to the direction of an awakening of earnest men and women everywhere to a recognition of the real facts and real issues of the social system."

WHITE BREAD
Makes Trouble for People With Weak Intestinal Digestion.

A lady in a Wisconsin town employed a physician, who instructed her not to eat white bread for two years. She tells the details of her sickness and she certainly was a sick woman.

"In the year 1887 I gave out from over work, and until 1901 I remained an invalid in bed a great part of the time. Had different doctors, but nothing seemed to help. I suffered from cerebral-spinal congestion, female trouble and serious stomach and bowel trouble. My husband called a new doctor and after having gone without any food for ten days the doctor ordered Grape-Nuts for me. I could eat the new food from the very first mouthful. The doctor kept me on Grape-Nuts, and the only medicine was a little glycerine to heal the alimentary canal.

"When I was up again doctor told me to eat Grape-Nuts twice a day and no white bread for two years. I got well in good time and have gained in strength, so I can do my own work again.

"My brain has been helped so much, and I know that the Grape-Nuts food did this, too. I found I had been made ill because I was not fed right, that is, I did not properly digest white bread and some other food I tried to live on.

"I have never been without Grape-Nuts food since and eat it every day. You may publish this letter if you like, so it will help some one else." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Get the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pigs.

Dwight E. Woodbridge is back after an absence of several weeks, which he spent in the East and in Mexico. At Cananea, he looked over the workings of the different mines there and, like others who have gone into things at the Mexican camp, he would not be surprised to see Cananea become the greatest copper camp in all the world.

They are down fifty feet more in Cananea Central and things look just as good as they did higher up. All the properties look good. The Globe-Cannan people have opened a shaft a few feet north of the Calumet and Sonora line and they have encountered much the same ore that has been found at Calumet and Sonora.

Col. N. B. Wharton of Ashland is in Duluth, making arrangements for the placing on the market of a large block of the treasury stock of the Pittsburgh-Idaho Mining & Milling company. Further announcements of the placing of the stock will be made in The Herald.

The Pittsburgh-Idaho is a copper mine, producing about 100,000 tons of ore a year. It is owned by the Pittsburgh-Idaho Mining & Milling company, which is controlled by the Wharton family.

Col. Wharton, while in the city, will be the guest of his son, James A. Wharton, of the private court.

Telegrams received this morning from Boston, the office of the office of Martin Patterson & Co. are to the effect that a good strike of ore has been located at the Shattuck-Arizona mine. The ore was encountered in the main drift, on the 900-foot level. Details of the strike are lacking and no work is being done.

Charge Customers

CITY BRIEFS

Want Ad Talk.

These days there's comfort in "The Herald Want Ad Way." It's a cold-weather convenience and saves many a step to those who prefer to sit in their home or steam-heated flat; it conducts a swift, still hunt for the thing you want, and its search is seldom without success. You can save time and tramping by telephoning No. 224, either "phone, and giving your "Want Ad." There is no extra charge made for "Want Ads" taken over the "phone. The Herald collector will call at your home or office for the pay.

May Ship to Philippines.

A circular letter has been received by Lieut. C. H. Dockery, C. of the army recruiting station in Duluth from the army authorities stating that all recruiting officers of the army may now ship men direct to the Philippines. Herebefore the recruits could not sail a man definitely where he would be sent, but those who wish to go to the Orient may now be assured of the fact before they enlist. Frank B. Merrill was the first man to be enlisted since the order was received.

Lumber Company Starts Suit.

An action to recover $23,228 alleged to have been paid for the benefit of D. Shovel, of Virginia, has been started in the district court by the W. T. Bailey Lumber company of that city. The company alleges that it made certain payments and expended money at the request of Mr. Shovel, in April, 1906, and that the latter has refused settlement, although requested several times to liquidate his alleged indebtedness.

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

New York Jan. 25.—Arrived: Ethiopia from Glasgow.

REVIVAL OF HARP.

The advertisement said "new and second hand harps"; and if you could now buy harps second hand, that would seem to indicate that there must be more harps in use and that more people must be buying new harps, and the musical instrument man said that that deduction was quite correct, that there had been a revival of the harp, and that now there are more harps sold than ever, says the New York Sun.

This greater demand for harps, he said, began some twelve or fifteen years ago, and has continued increasing ever since, with its greatest increase within the last three years. The new favor into which the harp has now come is due in some measure to the general prosperity, but more, perhaps, to the great improvement brought about in its construction.

While the harp is associated in the mind with ancient times and with Eastern and European countries and with history and romance generally, it seems that the best harps made in the present day are those produced in new and practical America.

The modern harp is in every way superior to the old time instrument; but in its later development the greatest improvements in the harp, contributing to its musical effectiveness and to its utility and endurance as an instrument, have been made in this country; with the result that American harps are now sold here but in Europe and wherever lovers of the harp are to be found.

The harp is now frequently heard in churches, and its music is to be heard at weddings, and now it is coming to be used in more and more homes.

It is itself a beautiful object for the eye to rest upon—many of the harps now made are very beautiful—and it is highly decorative in its effect; and the music of the harp appeals to many, and more people than ever before are learning to play upon it.

With the increase in the use of harps there are now more harp teachers. One musical concern in New York has issued its books the names of fifty-four harp teachers, men and women, in New York and Brooklyn, and there are thirty-seven teachers of the harp in the musical union. All told there are now in New York a hundred or more teachers whose pupils include children as well as adults, some of these teachers supplementing their teaching with playing in orchestras or at weddings.

Harps are rather expensive. There are low priced American harps suitable for beginners, but the best American instruments cost from $50 to $100, and first-class harps in perfect condition cost at second hand from $30 to $50 or $60. But despite these prices harps go not into the homes of the wealthy alone, but as well into the homes of people of more moderate means.

And harps are sold on instalments and rented, like other musical instruments.

HOW LONG OSTRICHES LIVE.

Nothing is positively known as to how long an ostrich will live, says the National Geographic Magazine. Some writers claim that it will live 100 years. Ostriches which are known to have been in captivity for forty years are still breeding and producing feathers.

It is the experience of Arizona farmers that among birds having good nutritious green feed deaths seldom occur, except as the result of accident. A dog or other small animal will sometimes frighten ostriches and cause them to run into the fence, which may result in a broken leg. When this happens, the bird may as well be killed as a few ever recover from such an injury.

AFRICAN ARROW POISON.

Dr. Charles Bolton has investigated the toxic properties of an arrow poison which was obtained by Dr. D. Alexander from a medicine house at Ghaat, a pagan town in Northern Nigeria, says the London Lancet. According to Dr. Alexander, the poison when fresh forms a semifluid, sticky, black substance. It is smeared on sticks and is scraped off and heated when required for redipping the arrows.

It appears to contain the juice of a variety of fig, the placenta of which is used in the manufacture of the poison. Dr. Alexander states that he saw a native shot in the abdomen with a poisoned arrow, and that death resulted, apparently from failure of the heart, in about twenty-five minutes.

ORIGIN OF NURSERY RHYMES.

Slang phrases, in course of time, become absorbed into the vernacular, but in the same way that nonsense rhymes become institutions, says the London Chronicle. Take the following examples. The famous lines:

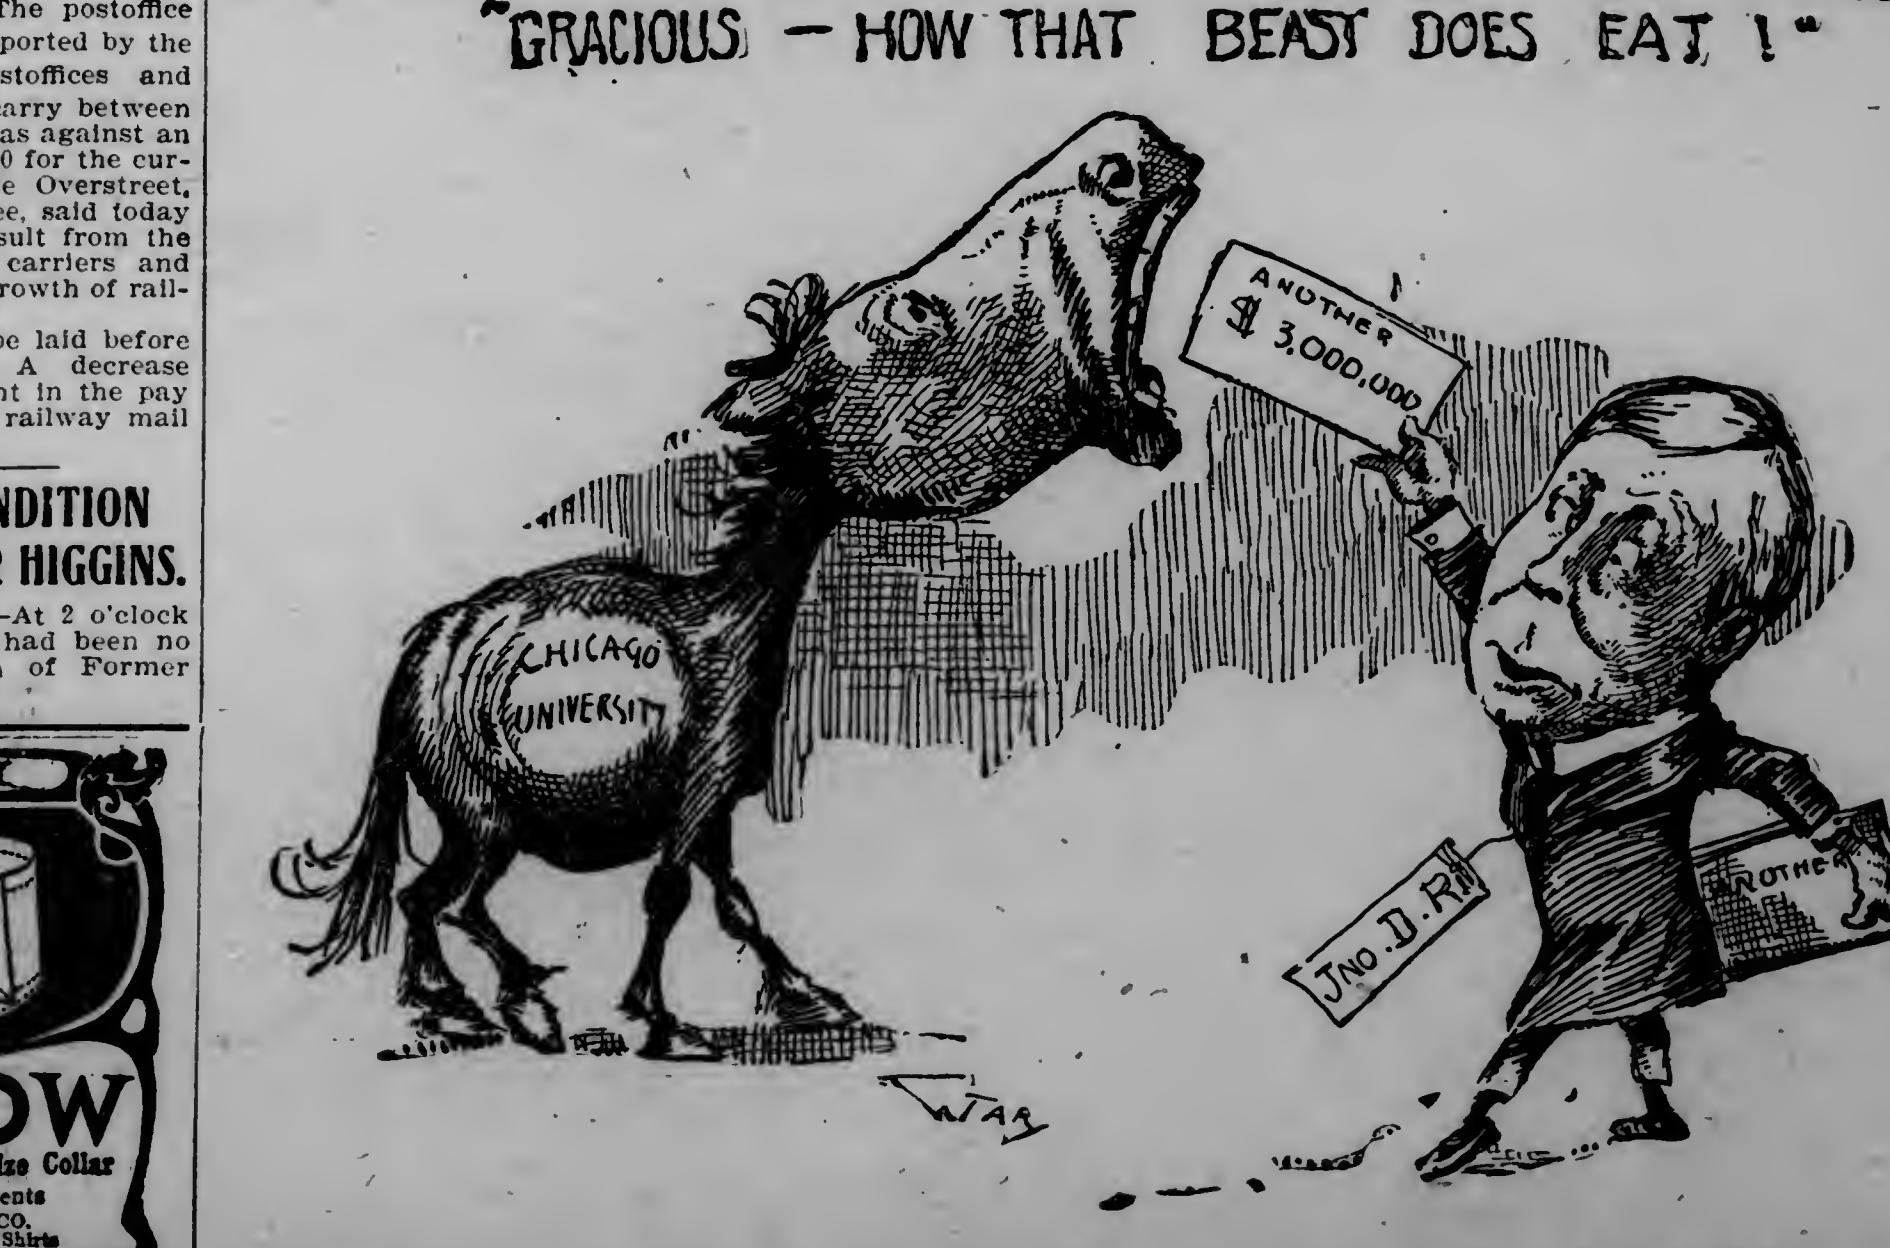

"Mother may go out to swim? Yes, my darling daughter. Hang your clothes on a hickory limb, And don't go near the water."

are at least 1,300 years old, being found in a book of jests of the sixteenth century, compiled by Hierocles.

"Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall," etc., has come down to us from the days of King John. "The Babes in the Wood," dates from the fifteenth century, being founded upon facts, an old house near Wayland Wood, Norfolk, having the whole story in carvings on a mantelpiece. "Little Jack Horner," "Little Miss Muffet," "Old Mother Hubbard," "Mother Goose," and "Goosey, Goosey, Gander" are each traceable to the sixteenth century.

"Pussy Cat, Pussy Cat, where have you been?" belongs to the reign of Queen Elizabeth of the three Blind Mice, first appeared in a music book dated 1600. "A Froggie Would a-Wooling Go" was licensed to be sung as far back as 1550. "Boys and Girls, Come Out to Play" and "Lucy Locket Lost Her Pocket" both had their origin in the period of Charles II. And last of all, "Chatterbox," "Jack the Giant Killer," "Bluebeard" and "Tom Thumb" were published by their author, Charles Perrault, in the year 1697.

WEST END CONFERENCE CONCLUDED

Swedish Lutherans Hold Successful Meetings in West End.

The Old Officers of Lake Superior District Are Re-Elected.

The annual meeting of the Lake Superior district of the Minnesota conference of the Swedish Lutheran church came to a close Wednesday evening at Bethany Lutheran church in the West end, where all of the sessions were held.

The meetings lasted two days, and much work was accomplished. Resolutions were adopted protesting against a desecration of the Sabbath, and members of the church were urged to take an active part in temperance work.

The meetings were most successful in every way, said Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of Bethany church, this morning. "Our field is large, and we feel that we have a great work. Many plans for the next year were talked over and some valuable suggestions brought out."

It is estimated that this district has a field in which there are about 100 Swedish people. They come to this country from different parts of Sweden and settle everywhere, in logging camps, at the mines, in the country and in the city, and many of them become established members of the church. So our work is a missionary work in a great many ways, and must bring these men back into the church again."

At the closing session of the meeting Wednesday night, communion services were held, and the new officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Rev. J. D. Nelson, of Two Harbors; secretary, Rev. J. B. Ekstrom, of Superior; and Rev. J. A. Krantz, of West Duluth.

LIVE STOCK CREMATED.

Two Horses, Two Cows and Fifty Chickens Perish in Burning Barn.

Two horses, two cows and about fifty chickens were cremated in a fierce blaze which destroyed Swanstrom Brothers' blacksmith shop and the barn in the rear, at 222 E. Michigan street, Thursday morning.

The livestock was in the barn, which belonged to Mr. Karan. The loss on the blacksmith shop was $500, upon which there was no insurance.

Strident efforts were made to save the horses and the cows but the fire burned so fiercely and the buildings were enveloped so quickly that it was impossible.

FUNERAL SUNDAY.

Services for August Peterson Will be Held at Bethany Church.

The funeral of August Peterson, who died Monday, will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:45 at Bethany Swedish Lutheran church and will be under the auspices of the Swedish Sick Benefit society. Members of the society will meet at 1:15 at Peterson's undertaking rooms and proceed to the church in a body.

The funeral service will be conducted by Rev. Carl G. Olson, pastor of Bethany church. The pall bearers are Jacob Stahre, Carl Bergman, Nils Bergman, L. T. Peterson, Gust Lundgren and Jacob Jacobson.

West End Shortfalls.

Rev. A. Edstrom, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church, is recovering from an attack of la grippe and is expected to occupy his pulpit Sunday.

Mrs. E. A. Smith has returned from Ann Arbor, Mich., where she has been visiting.

Elmer H. Scott of Lake Nebagamon was transacting business in the West end yesterday.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Norwegian Lutheran church did not meet yesterday afternoon, owing to the sudden illness of Mrs. H. Nehro, of Twentieth avenue west and Fourth street at where home the session was to have been held.

Charles Albright of 1907 West Superior street is suffering from an attack of la grippe.

Edward Miller has gone to Minneapolis to visit his parents.

J. P. Morrison and Scott McDonald leave this week for Hot Springs, Ark.

E. H. Smith, who has been clerking in Smith & Anderson's drug store, has gone to Minneapolis, where she will enter the same university.

Miss Marie Larson and Andrew F. Anderson will be married Thursday, Feb. 14, at the Swedish Salvation Army headquarters in the West end. Mal. Christenson of Chicago, will be present to perform the ceremony.

"For week lunas or luncheon, enough nothing equals the Norwegian Cod Liver Oil sold at the Lion Drug store."

Fisker Lindberg, of the Swedish corps of the Salvation Army, who has made many friends during his stay in the West end, has been transferred to Chicago. He will conduct his farewell service here Feb. 17.

Miss Kathryn Johnson of 321 North Nineteenth avenue west, was painfully injured at the West end roller rink Tuesday evening. She was visiting the Ellis Smith and both young women fell. One of Miss Johnson's eyes was dangerously injured.

The revival services which have been held during the past week in several of the churches of the West end, have been very well attended. The First Swedish M. E. church and the First Norwegian Lutheran church have been holding joint services.

Your presence here will be properly filled at the Lion Drug store.

Miss Lillie Larson of Milwaukee, is visiting relatives in the West end.

At a meeting held last evening at the home of J. J. Schuler, the Ellis Smith club was organized and the following officers elected: President, Charles Combs;

NEW BUILDING IS PLANNED

Frerker Brothers Will Erect Wholesale House
This Year.

Frerker Bros. & Co., one of the city's wholesale liquor firms, will erect a large wholesale house on Lake avenue this coming season. The building will be erected on the north half of block 17, Transfer division, which is situated about the center of the south approach of the viaduct.

According to the plans, the structure will be four stories high, of brick and concrete, and will cost about $50,000. It will have ground dimensions 50 by 140 feet and will have both dock and railroad facilities.

The annual meeting of the Lake Superior district of the Minnesota conference of the Swedish Lutheran church came to a close Wednesday evening at Bethany Lutheran church in the West end, where all of the sessions were held.

FIERCE BLIZZARD IN NORTH DAKOTA

Railroad Traffic is Again Practically Demoralized.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 25.—With the wind blowing and sweeping huge quantities of snow across wide stretches of open prairie, North Dakota was again in the grip of a terrific blizzard yesterday.

No snow has fallen, but the wind has piled snow in great drifts in all cuts and other low places.

The wind here attained a velocity of thirty miles an hour during the day, at Devils Lake it was blowing thirty-six miles per hour, at Williston fifty miles and at Bismarck forty-two miles.

Railroad traffic which had been partially restored after last Saturday's blizzard is again badly demoralized.

On the Dakota division of the Northern Pacific, traffic is practically at a standstill. Three eastbound coast trains are stuck in the snow near Dawson and a snow plow ahead of them has been unable to force its way through the big drifts in the face of the terrible blizzard which is raging on the prairies.

Two westbound trains arriving in Fargo yesterday from the Twin Cities are held here to await the subsidence of the storm. Every branch line of the Northern Pacific in North Dakota is completely blocked. The train which left Fargo for Aneta on the Aneta branch of the Great Northern is stalled at Aneta with a snow plow and freight train ahead of it.

SINGING AS WHITE DIED

Harry Short on Stage of Madison Square Roof Garden.

Comedian of "The Yankee Consul" Saw Thaw Fire Shots.

Harry Short, the lanky comedian who romped about the Lyceum theater's stage last evening as "The Yankee Consul," was singing "I Could Love a Million Girls" on the stage of the Madison Square Roof Garden, New York, when Stanford White was killed so dramatically last summer by Harry K. Thaw, whose trial has just begun in New York.

It was the first night of "Mamzelle Champagne," of which summer musical show Short was the principal comedian. "I Could Love a Million Girls" was his principal song in the rendition of which he had the assistance of half a dozen of the handsomest show girls in the company.

Being the first public performance of the piece, the members of the organization, principals and chorus, were nervous. As the performance progressed, there was a with the enterprise that it was not an overwhelming success. Judging from the attitude of the people in the audience.

Then came the "I Could Love a Million Girls" song and the shot which was heard around the world and which laid low one of the nation's foremost architects and actors in that seemingly endless drama of fire and bright lights, "New York After Dark."

Harry Short and the show girls were in the midst of the song when the tawdry actor in that seemingly endless drama of fire and bright lights, "New York After Dark," was killed.

Forgetting for the drama of real life which was being brought to such a dramatic climax, in the parquette.

"There was the wildest kind of confusion just after those shots rang out above the music on the stage," said Mr. Short, last evening. "Chorus girls screamed and ran to the wings; the audience manager and myself shouted to the audience to be calm and keep in their seats and everywhere there was a crying of necks and crowding."

"The audience was very large as it was the first night of the piece and many hundreds of New Yorkers had been drawn to the Madison Square roof by the coolness and entertainment which might be found there."

The shots fired by Thaw struck every one with fear and a panic seemed immediately to follow. There was no time to think of anything but to get out of the building.

It was impossible to tell what had happened then, except that someone had been shot. People in the extreme end of the auditorium did not know what really had occurred and they sat there as if dazed thinking, perhaps, the shots and the started cries were in a new wrinkle in musical comedy.

Women fainted in all parts of the house and men surged forward, with no fear of more bullets which a frenzied man might shoot at them, to see what had happened and to be of assistance. There were cries of "sit down," "keep your seats," "don't crowd," and "don't run," which were added to the entreaties to be calm which were yelled from the stage.

Those on the stage did not know just what had occurred and they sat there as if dazed thinking, perhaps, the shots and the started cries were in a new wrinkle in musical comedy.

Seldom has a dramatic production had such a sensational premiere and what came the first performance during the same rage with New York. "Mamzelle Champagne" career was lengthened and hundreds of persons witnessed the piece just because of the notoriety it had received.

The owners of the production had on the notoriety of the thing as much as they could. When the summer run at Madison Square Roof Garden was ended, an effort was made to send the piece on the road, with a one-act dramatic sketch based on the killing of Stanford White, as a curtain-raiser. This new stunt was tried in New York but even the bizarre play-actors of that town held up their hands and staid away, and the production was withdrawn.

Harry Short did not remain with the company during all of its run at Madison Square Garden.

Seaton-Day Electric Co.

Will blot out your troubles. If you have them do your electrical work—Try them.

TO CLOSE THE GATES.

Great Reservoir in Montana Will be Filled With Water.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 25.—The gates will be closed in the Hauser lake dam today. It will be three weeks before the power is turned on, as it will take this time for the lake to fill. The water will back up eighteen miles in the river and through the Prickly Pear canyon, six miles in the valley below Helena. The dam is 640 feet long and 70 feet wide and is made of steel throughout. The dam is the largest of its kind in the world.

Fifteen thousand horse power will be generated and this, with the canyon ferry plant, will make Helena the largest producer of electricity in any place in the country with the exception of Niagara. The power will run the Washoe Reduction works, the Anaconda railway, light the city and operate many of the Butte mines.

IRELAND'S BIG EXHIBITION

Will Have Great Display of Manufactures and Industries.

Dublin, Jan. 25.—That Irishmen will succeed in the efforts to make the forthcoming international exhibition the greatest achievement in this country's history is becoming more apparent as the date of opening approaches. Reports received from all parts of Ireland indicate that the display of Irish manufactures and industries will be on a scale never before attempted in an Irish exhibition. Everywhere Irishmen are awakening to the fact that the exhibition will mark an epoch in the progress of Ireland.

NEW TROPHY IS DONATED

Curlers Will Begin Play in Event With Novel Rules.

Fancy Dress Carnival Is Planned for Washington's Birthday.

The Duluth Curling club will have the midwinter supper at the rink on Saturday evening at 6:30 and games have been scheduled for the afternoon and evening.

It has been the intention of the games committee to get as many as possible of the rinks who did not play during the bonspiel to play on Saturday. The novelty event called the "Talk With Meader Trophy" has been started and most of the games for Saturday will be in this event. Each player in the rink skips three ends. The leader skips the first three, the second player the next three, the third player the next three, and the skips of each rink will skip the last three ends. Several games have been played already and the idea is very popular.

Afternoon games for Saturday at 4 o'clock will be as follows:
D. O. Anderson vs. A. W. Frick.
G. P. Smith vs. E. G. Gridley.
S. H. Jones vs. T. W. Dunlop.
C. A. Duncan vs. A. E. McManus.
W. A. Dinham vs. C. F. West.
Evening games at 6 o'clock:
H. W. Nichols vs. R. S. Anneke.
C. B. Woodruff vs. W. B. Dunlop.
Alex. Macrae vs. J. M. Oldham.
Elmer Whyte vs. John Treslie.
G. P. Stillman vs. Bradley.
All games but the Stillman-Bradley match are in the Meader event.

The band for the skaters will begin playing at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock and at 8:30 the hockey games will be played.

A fancy dress carnival will be given at the rink by the skaters on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, and committees of the young people will be named to look after the affair. If proper interest is taken the event will be made an annual one.

It is possible that prizes will be offered for the best costumes on the ice.

ANOTHER JUROR SECURED

In on every day of the trial. Today she had discarded her white veil for one of blue chiffon. The effect was to bring out more distinctly the features of her face, which appeared unusually pale. The elder Mrs. Thaw was in conventional black. The countess of Yarmouth did not attend the trial today, owing to a slight cold she had contracted. Edward and Josiah Thaw were early in their seats.

The five jurors selected during the first two days of the trial appear to be men above the average in intellect. All seem to be in prosperous circumstances. Two of the five are seemingly just above 50 years of age. George Pfaff, a hardware dealer, is the youngest, probably not more than 34 years old. Charles H. Ficke, the shipping agent, is possibly 40, and Arthur S. Campbell, a superintendent of telephone construction, is not more than two years older. The other three are Denning B. Smith, a retired manufacturer, the foreman, and Henry C. Harney, manager of a piano concern.

William Rand, the former assistant district attorney, who prosecuted Nan Patterson at both of her trials, was in court today. His presence, had nothing to do with the Thaw case, however. He represented a client who was called to the bar to answer to three indictments of perjury. This ceremony was brief, and the work of selecting the remaining seven jurors to try the slayer of Stanford White was taken up.

The first talsman proved to be Walter M. Jackson, a real estate broker, who was excused on a challenge by the people, when he declared that he entertained certain prejudices which might make him a partial juror. Counsel for Thaw were informed to-day that Henry C. Harney, the fifth juror accepted, had been excused as a juror in the case in which Edward Perkoz was convicted of murder in the first degree. Perkoz's plea was insanity, and several alienists testified that he was mentally unbalanced when he murdered a woman from whom he rented rooms. The verdict was guilty and Perkoz was sentenced to death. Subsequently the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. It is believed that Thaw's counsel were unaware of these facts when they accepted Mr. Harney as a juror yesterday.

Ashley C. Jennings, who followed Jackson on the stand, was examined in detail both by the prosecution and defense, and it seemed he might be accepted as the sixth juror, but at the last moment he spoke privately with Justice Fitzgerald. The attorneys were called into conference and the talsman eventually was excused by consent.

During the Jennings' examination, Mr. Hartridge asked the talsman what was regarded as a significant question. The talsman had already stated that so long as the defense offered by the prisoner was a legal one he had no objection to what line it might take, when he was asked: "Would it make any difference to you if there were half a dozen different defenses?"

"It would not," replied the talsman. Thaw's counsel seemed reluctant to lose Mr. Jennings.

Charles M. Levy was excused by the court without examination. Charles A. Fuller, Charles D. Halsey and Horace P. Smith had such decided opinions they believed they could not be moved by the evidence. They were excused by consent.

When the elder Mrs. Thaw came into court she seemed oblivious of the presence of the prisoner's wife in the next seat to her own. The latter assisted her mother-in-law, however, in removing her fur-lined coat.

Mrs. William Thaw, just before the trial was opened, was handed a telegram by her son, Josiah. She opened and read the typewritten message, which apparently had to do with the business affairs, probably in Pittsburgh.

The family's attention was distracted by the assignment of Mr. Rand's client, when Harry K. Thaw entered

SEVEN MEET DEATH.

Wander From Stalled Train and Are Frozen.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 25.—The police of St. Boniface, across the river from Winnipeg, were notified yesterday that five men, a woman and a baby, all Galicians, had wandered out on the prairie from a stalled train near Starbuck, and undoubtedly had been frozen to death.

One man, the woman and her babe have been found, the adults dead and the infant in a dying condition.

Although searching parties are out, there is little hope of finding the others alive.

The night the Galicians left the train was one of the coldest of the winter. The thermometer fell to 40 degs. below in some places.

CEMENT PLANTS MERGING.

Eastern Men Buy Concern at Davenport as Part of Scheme.

Davenport, Iowa, Jan. 25.—A deal of national scope, for the merger of cement making companies of the country, resulted in the purchase here of the Iowa Portland Cement company of Davenport, drafts for a large sum coming due.

The purchase was made by the St. Louis, Cleveland and Youngstown, Ohio, capitalists are reported to be the principals in the deal. The new concern yesterday elected S. H. Bassett president, J. A. Lewis, vice president, and J. W. Perry, secretary and treasurer. All live in St. Louis.

ONE CHANCE REMAINING

Saturday is Last Registration Day for City Election.

Very Small Percentage of Voters Have Turned Out.

"Last chance tomorrow" is now the slogan of the various aspirants for aldermanic honors who are working hard to get their friends in line to register for the coming election. Tomorrow will be the last opportunity for the voters to register, and up to the present time a comparatively small proportion of them have appeared at the polls.

The total registration of the city for the election up to the present time is but $74, only about two-fifths of the number of voters who turn out for a presidential election, and even the hotly contested wards are making but a poor showing.

In the First ward, with no contest, the hot scrap at the primaries brought out a good registration and $45 are signed in that section, as compared to 1211 votes which were cast last fall in the state contest.

The Seventh ward is next with a total registration of 260 voters, though this is a relatively small proportion as compared to the 1,400 who voted for governor.

The Sixth ward, with the contest between Hunt and Kennedy waning but, has mustered 562 of its 885 voters to the polls, and it is an even number ahead of the Fourth where Lyle and Shattell are stirring things up.

In the Second ward, Alderman Mueller and C. E. Hunt have together mustered 480 of their friends to the registration places and are making strenuous efforts to double the number. The showing in this ward is very poor as 1333 voters took part in the election last fall from this division.

The Fifth, Third, and Eighth have also registered but a small portion of their voters, barely a third being on hand, and in the Eighth only 216 have signed as compared to 347 who voted for governor.

TIME EXTENDED

For Persons to Make Homestead Entry on Public Lands.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Persons who have made homestead entry on land in the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, Washington and Wyoming, within the period in which they were required by law to establish residence expired after Dec. 1, 1906, are granted, under a joint resolution passed by the house today, until May 15, 1907, in which to make such settlement. The provision applies to soldiers' declaratory applicants.

THE SIZE OF HIS FAMILY

Subject of Dispute Which Brought Bartender Into Court.

Shoemaker is Fined for Stealing and Pawning a Coat.

Because he refused to believe that Ole Jansen had seven sisters and four brothers, one of whom was dead, and because Ole Jansen contended that he must have been a member of a family of just that size, Samuel Olson, a bartender in the saloon at 225 West Michigan street, got into a scrap with Jansen yesterday afternoon and as a result was fined $5 and costs before Judge Windom this morning.

Jansen, it seems, had an unbeatable scheme whereby, if Olson would tell him certain facts about his family Jansen could tell him how many brothers and sisters he had, and how large a portion of them had passed away. Olson told him something about his family, and Jansen announced that Olson had seven sisters and four brothers. And I only had three sisters and two brothers, and there ain't none of them dead," said Olson before the court this morning.

"Then I was going home and went out and got my coat, and when he came back he wanted to lick me, and I licked him."

Judge Windom said that he didn't know which of the participants was the most to blame for the riot, as Olson certainly wasn't responsible because he didn't meet Jansen's expectations, but he decided to fine the bartender because it was the drink-mixer's duty to keep his fights instead of precipitating them.

Ole B. Kelsen, an Iowa shoemaker, looking for work in this city, yesterday went into trouble for which a Superior street restaurant, Kelsen, succeeded in pawning the garment for a dollar but was spotted, and brought to the station yesterday afternoon.

He pleaded guilty this morning, and in spite of the fact that he said he was drunk and didn't know what he was doing, he was given a thirty-day sentence.

WIFE MAKES STRONG CHARGES

Mrs. Annie Paule Accuses Husband of Numerous Offenses.

Mrs. Annie Paule, a resident of Hibbing, has started an action for a divorce from Louis Paule, whom she accuses of nearly every offense known in the category of actions for which a wife is entitled to a legal separation. In her complaint Mrs. Paule states that they were married at Mountain Iron, Feb. 14, 1896, and that there are three children as a result of the union. She alleges habitual drunkenness, excessive cruelty and inhuman treatment, frequenting of houses of ill fame, adultery and non-support. Mrs. Paule says her husband has kicked, struck, beat and called her vile names and on occasions threw her out of the house and threatened to kill her. Her attorney, Victor L. Power, of Hibbing, is Mrs. Paule's attorney.

TWO DECISIONS FILED.

Judge Ensign Orders Judgment for Plaintiffs in Two Suits.

In the action to enforce a lien, brought by John Kankaanpaa, an Eveleth carpenter, against Walter Lahde camp, No. 80, Finnish National Brotherhood of America, and Max P. Shapiro, Judge Ensign has rendered a decision in favor of Mr. Kankaanpaa.

The court orders judgment against the defendants, with a lien on the premises involved, for the sum of $236.40, with interest, and the costs and disbursements of the action. It is also ordered that the property be sold and that the proceeds be used to pay the Kankaanpaa claim. Mr. Shapiro is made a party to the action by reason of a mortgage that he holds on the property involved.

Judge Ensign, in the case of Robert Matson, against Hermann Matson, has ordered judgment for $208.10 in favor of Marcuse against Matson, with interest on $63.50 from March 2, 1904, and interest on the balance from Jan. 24, 1904, together with the costs and disbursements of the action.

BERTILLON MAN NEEDED

Police Need Expert to Take Charge of Identification.

Douglas, Given Light Sentence, Found to be Peter Yegg.

That the Duluth police force need a more complete Bertillon department, and an expert man to take care of the identification department of the business, was strikingly illustrated by a letter received this week by Chief Troyer from James C. Murnane of St. Paul, the Bertillon expert there, in regard to the postoffice robber, John Douglas, sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary Jan. 11 last.

Douglas was arrested at Bethel, Minn., Nov. 27, 1906, for a safe blowing escapade at the postoffice at New Brunswick, Minn., Nov. 24. He was taken to Minneapolis, but as the United States court was in session at Duluth at the time, he was brought to Duluth before his picture was snapped.

He pleaded guilty here, and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, a very light penalty. He objected strongly to having his picture taken at the time, but it was done.

Some time ago the local department sent to the St. Paul police a number of pictures, accompanied by Bertillon measurements, among which was one of Douglas, Murnane, the Bertillon expert notified the chief, noting that Douglas is the famous Peter Yegg, alias James Rose, who working with a pal known in police circles as "Jack, the Swede," alias W. W. Williams, is believed to have been responsible for a good big share of the numerous safe blowing attempts throughout the country during the past year.

Had this been known here, Douglas would doubtless have received a much heavier sentence than the one imposed, and would have served a term much more in keeping with his crimes.

An expert Bertillon man located here would have spotted the safe cracker at once, as his picture was published in criminal magazines during last year, and the likeness would have been noticed at once. It was in this manner that the St. Paul man discovered his identity.

At present this portion of the work is done by such of the officers as have time to give to it, and the result is that much of it is necessarily neglected. In his recommendations to the council in his annual report to that body Chief Troyer will probably advise some provision along this line for extra help.

AUTO HURLED INTO THE AIR

Marriott Meets With Bad Accident at Ormond Beach.

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 25.—Perfect weather and beach conditions favored the last day of racing in the Ormond-Daytona automobile tournament.

There were five events on the card today, including Marriott's attempt to reduce the present record of twenty-eight and one-fifth seconds for the mile. The other events are a five mile club championship for amateur drivers only, and special match races at one, six and twelve miles.

The six mile special match between two thirty-horse power runabouts was won by Loughlin in seven minutes and thirty-five and three-fifths seconds.

In the third attempt to break the one-mile record, Marriott's steam car running nearly 25 miles an hour, struck a bump in the beach and was shattered to fragments when it fell and was hurled along the track. Marriott was seriously, but probably not fatally, injured.

BACK FROM ST. PAUL.

Duluth Masons Return From Meeting of Grand Lodge.

The Duluth delegation from the local lodges of A. F. and A. M. which attended the meeting of the Grand lodge at St. Paul this week, returned this morning well pleased with their success at the big meeting.

Sheldon L. Frazer of this city was elected junior grand warden, fourth highest position of the order, and W. B. Patton was chosen chairman of the board of custody of the records.

liquors in states where the sale of liquor is forbidden by the state laws. This bill is not as broad as the Littlefield bill which the committee reported a few days ago and it is believed by Representative Brantley to be a measure which will not be found unconstitutional.

DEDICATED TO LABOR.
There took place at Chicago on Sept. 22, a ceremony unique in the annals of organized labor. The life of a child was consecrated to the cause of organized labor by a second baptism, says the Mechanic.

Lee, Glessner Creed, the nineteen-months-old son of H. H. Creed, is the labor baby whose life was dedicated to the cause of organized labor. The ceremony was performed in St. James' Methodist church under the auspices of the Allied Printing Trades Council.

The dedication was performed by the Rev. Dr. Milner, representing the department of church and labor of the Presbyterian church, and labor's future champion was accepted in the name of organized labor by L. F. Straube, secretary of the Allied Printing Trades Council.

PROHIBITION STATES

May be Protected From C. O. D. Shipments of Liquor.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The house committee on the judiciary decided today to make a favorable report on the Brantley bill making intoxicating liquors a special class in interstate commerce and forbidding the collection of money on C. O. D. shipments of such liquors in states where the sale of liquor is forbidden by the state laws.

There were five events on the card today, including Marriott's attempt to reduce the present record of twenty-eight and one-fifth seconds for the mile.

This bill is not as broad as the Littlefield bill which the committee reported a few days ago and it is believed by Representative Brantley to be a measure which will not be found unconstitutional.

DEDICATED TO LABOR.

There took place at Chicago on Sept. 22, a ceremony unique in the annals of organized labor. The life of a child was consecrated to the cause of organized labor by a second baptism, says the Mechanic.

Lee, Glessner Creed, the nineteen-months-old son of H. H. Creed, is the labor baby whose life was dedicated to the cause of organized labor.

The ceremony was performed in St. James' Methodist church under the auspices of the Allied Printing Trades Council.

The dedication was performed by the Rev. Dr. Milner, representing the department of church and labor of the Presbyterian church, and labor's future champion was accepted in the name of organized labor by L. F. Straube, secretary of the Allied Printing Trades Council.

REGISTER SATURDAY!

Don't fail to register before 9 o'clock Saturday night! The registration for the coming municipal election has so far been deplorably small. This is not right nor can the fact that there are no contests for the two city offices and few for the aldermanic places be made an excuse for indifference or neglect.

It is the plain duty of every good American citizen, of Duluth equally with New York or the smallest village, never to neglect the exercise of his franchise right. And this no matter whether great issues are at stake or the election has nothing of even moderate moment.

A city is judged, more often than most people suppose, by the size of its voting population and good or bad opinions are formed in regard to a place according to the fulfillment or non-fulfillment of their elective duties by its citizens. If the registration be meager, the vote will be still more so and no explanations, that there was nothing to stir the citizens to the little activity necessary to go to the place of registration and later to the polls, will convince those who are ever alert for evidences of retrogression, that all is well in the place that shows a pitifully small total vote on election day.

There may be no marked issues at present in the municipal campaign, but no one can tell what may develop before the polls open. In the event that a citizen fails to register and thus robs himself of the right to vote, he may have reason for bitter regret before the election. Even if there should be no other incentive, the interests of Duluth itself should spur to the little needed activity.

No citizen who fails to perform his plain duty can justify himself on the basis of the really good citizens. He enrolls himself, by his neglect, in the class of the careless or indifferent and this characterization is certainly not a pleasant one.

The registration books will close at 9 o'clock Saturday night. You who have been remiss have therefore one more full day in which to make reparation to Duluth and duty. Let all, who have failed so far in this matter of simple right, see to it that the books shall not be closed finally without a full registration.

GENERAL RUSSELL A. ALGER.

The death of Gen. Russell A. Alger came as a decided shock to the country, especially to his own state and to this section where his name, if not his person, was widely known. It had been recognized for some months that he was in far from good health, but it had been hoped that, with his intended early retirement from public life, he would have been enabled to enjoy some years of quiet repose, even though he had passed the Psalmist's three score and ten allotment.

About no man of recent years has there raged such bitter controversy as beset General Alger while he was secretary of war during the Spanish-American conflict. He was attacked with such vituperative force by the political foes of the McKinley administration and by the critics of that war, especially in connection with his awards of canned beef contracts, that he was practically forced to resign from the cabinet.

The general always claimed that in this beef matter, as well as other criticized points in connection with the conduct of the war department, he was more sinned against than sinning and his statement given out after his death, would seem to bear this out. He always claimed also that he would receive full vindication. This came in part when he was appointed, and later elected, to the United States senate from Michigan. Who knows but that dispassionate history will complete that vindication?

An entirely self-made man whose boyhood was one of hardship, General Alger achieved a high reputation as an officer in the Civil war, though his frail slight physique would not have impressed one as that of a dashing cavalry leader. He won fortune and high standing as a business man of keen perspicacity. He was of only mediocre mark as governor and later as senator. But, though prominently before the public for many years, with the sole exception noted above, he was never made the subject of severe animadversion. If history shall clear away his Spanish war record, his career will be detailed in future biographies as that of a self-made American who rose to the heights by virtue of his own innate ability.

THE TRUSTS AND THE WOMEN.

Have the trusts, that have to do with articles that are in the peculiar province of women, maliciously united to make the lives of members of the fair sex more and more arduous? Or has it been merely accidental that, one after another, sweetmeats, brooms, kid gloves and, finally, fancy and fine writing papers have been marked for material advances on their current prices?

The first blow at the peculiarly feminine, the announced purpose to increase the prices of certain grades of sweetmeats because of the alleged effects of the pure-food law, was received in silence.

The second step, that of the broom trust in raising the figures on brooms, the implement of household cleanliness and woman's most trusted weapon of offense and defense, provoked a murmur that was still only by a plausible explanation of stern necessity.

The third move, the announced proposed increase in the cost of kid gloves about 25 per cent, necessitating stringent economy and the greatly enlarged use of benzine and stale bread, hit one of the most delightful luxuries of the fair sex and provoked a storm that has not yet attained full momentum.

Now, the ordered raising of the purchase prices of stationery to 10 per cent to wholesalers—which means possibly 25 per cent when it reaches the consumer—strikes at one of the dearest pleasures of women—writing. This is sure to call forth an ever-swellingly ume of protests as the local dealers run out of their present supplies and are forced to buy at the new figures and sell at an added per cent of profit to themselves.

Perhaps, the trusts that control these various articles, so peculiarly feminine, think that, because the women, except in three or four western states, have no voice in public affairs, they are safe targets for a bombardment of higher prices. But, if so, they are reckoning with masculine shortsightedness for, if they press the women of America too far in their gouging processes, they will find one of these days that they have stirred up a hornet's nest of such warmth that even Death Valley will seem cool by comparison.

RETIRE ICE-BOX CARS.

The action of Mayor Cullum in notifying General Manager Warren of the Duluth Street Railway company that the people had grown heartily tired of the present totally inadequate and icy service given to them will meet with the heartiest unanimous approval of all who have been compelled to submit to that service or walk.

The cars furnished to the East end during the hours of the day have been of such a sardine box size that the patrons have not been even wretchedly accommodated while the interior of these dinky coaches have been more like ice boxes for cold storage articles than vehicles for the accommodation of human beings. The straphanging hundreds have not had even straps enough for their need. In a word, the cars have been such as a company in a veritable backwoods village would hardly dare to use.

The excuse of the company that heretofore it has been unable to secure sufficient power to give the people an up-to-date service with comfortable, well-heated cars has been the only thing that has prevented indignation mass-meetings and demand for radical action by the authorities.

Now that the Great Northern Power company promises soon to supply greatly increased electric service, the people will expect the consignment of the sardine box, cold storage vehicles to the junk heap where they belong. Otherwise they will take whatever steps they can to bring the company to a proper realization of its plain duty.

OHIO'S GRIMLY LUDICROUS LAW.

The law of Ohio under which a poor man, who opened an unlocked door of a porch and stole five pounds of corned beef for his own personal use, was sentenced to the penitentiary for life is so grossly severe as to seem incredible. Were it not that the court records of Greenview substantiate it and that a petition is even now being prepared for presentation to the governor for mitigation of the fearfully unjust sentence, one would be inclined to credit the story to some over-enterprising press correspondent.

That such a sentence could be imposed in a state where a banker, who robbed thousands of trusting people of hundreds of thousands of dollars, was sent to prison for only five years, where men who slay their fellow men or women receive little punishment, where those responsible for such terrible train wrecks as that of the Twentieth Century Limited near Cleveland were not even punished, is a severe shock to the sense of justice of the people of America.

It is just such gross injustices as are to be found, not in Ohio alone, but in practically all states of the Union, such fearful libels on right and wrong, that have tended to make the people of America, more than other people in the civilized world, have lax respect for the laws that are supposed to govern but only too often, as in this instance, misgovern by their grimly ludicrous excessiveness.

If Ohio were not a state of this Union and if the life sentence had not been imposed in the second week of the year 1907, we would be inclined to believe that the statute was part of some ancient Draconian code. The sooner the legislature of Ohio shall correct such a horrible ridiculous law, the better it will be for the enforcement of such statutes as are more nearly based on reason.

THE PASSING SHOW.

Don't fail to register for the spring election. It is your plain duty and, if you neglect it, you can hardly call yourself a good citizen of Duluth.

The czar must have soured at last on Admiral Alexieff who was responsible for the ignoble war with Japan. He has decided to give Alexieff a cabinet position—a virtual death warrant.

And now they are saying that Fairbanks is not at all of the glacial character cartoonists have ascribed to him. Perhaps, as the weather has grown colder, the contrariwise, has grown warmer.

There is no question which is the wider—the mouth of the Amazon in South America or the mouth of Foraker in North America. One is twenty miles wide; the other stretches clear across the continent.

Washington correspondents are writing to their papers that "President Roosevelt has lost his grip on congress." Perhaps, however, he has only let go for a moment to take a fresh hold in a new and more tender spot.

Peach trees in full bloom in Tennessee and Georgia; strawberries a drug on the Texas market at $3 a crate; people in North Dakota nearly frozen to death for lack of fuel—a truly a widely diversified country this even in mid-winter?

Philadelphians have organized a "Help Yourself" society. Strange as it may seem neither Harriman nor the Pennsylvania railroad officials, who have made millions of themselves on small salaries, are considered eligible to membership.

With that rare modesty that marks the true hero, the editor of the Evansville Courier, that paragon of optimism and heroism, asks only for Carnegie medals for the life-savers of the great Ohio river flood. And yet he deserves a gold medal if any one does.

Old-fashioned shawls may be all right in the climate of Indiana, but in Duluth and throughout the Northwest on both sides of the line, fur-lined or solid fur coats will continue to be strictly in style long after Dress Reformer Stewart has gone elsewhere.

Dame Rumor says congressmen have been paying their railroad fares since Jan. 1. Dame Rumor, however, has not secured search warrants to examine congressional pockets for the old-time pass books and her assertion must not be taken too literally or too sweepingly.

HOTEL-GOSSIP.

"Memories of happy boyhood days were recalled by a rabbit hunt I had upon the range one day last week," said L. M. Barber of Milwaukee, Wis., at the McKay. "It was the first hunt of the kind I had had for five or six years, and I enjoyed it more than I thought I would. Getting out in the cold winter air and tramping around half a day does not appeal to me so strongly as it once did. I can remember the time when I thought nothing of starting out with the thermometer registering below zero, and hunting all day with only a couple of slices of bread for a lunch."

"The boys had a hard time of it getting the started last week, but after the sport was well under way, I was glad that I had been able to go. We had a good rabbit hunt, and he was onto of the kind I had had for five or six years, and I enjoyed it more than I thought I would. THE WEATHER.

Once more has the weather man been vindicated, and more than vindicated, as a prophet of honor in his own country. The cold wave predicted for last night, and today descended on Duluth exactly on time, and made it unpleasant for all who were out during the evening. This morning a biting, searching, marrow-chilling northwest wind made those who were compelled to be on the street feel as if the temperature had tumbled to the low point of the early part of the week. They were slightly mistaken, however, for the official thermometer, that did not feel the key wind as did the people on the streets, showed that it was 10 degrees less frigid than Monday or Tuesday. But it was cold enough, nevertheless, in all conscience, and even a polar bear would not have complained. The sky was clear, but the sun gave out little heat. Last night's lowest temperature was 14 degrees, below zero and yesterday's highest was 10 degrees above the dead line. The weather man above the lake was broken up.

FOR VACANCY AT TWO HARBORS

Examination Will be Held for Customs Office Position.

At the opening of navigation this spring there will be a vacancy in the position of deputy customs collector and inspector at the port of Two Harbors, and an examination will be held at the federal building in this city on Feb. 13 to secure eligibles for the position. The position pays a salary of $2,500 a year. There is an age limit of 20 years or over.

The civil service commission announces that other examinations which will be held during February. One of those will be held for the purpose of securing eligibles to the position of manual training teacher to fill a vacancy in the Haskell Institute in Kansas. The position pays a salary of $900 a year. There has been considerable trouble in getting eligibles for this position.

Another examination will be held on Feb. 15 to secure eligibles for the position of assistant engineer on the steamer McDowell, stationed at San Francisco. The job pays at the rate of $1,000 a year. Upon applying for this examination, each applicant must submit either his marine engineer's license or a certificate of the proper steamboat inspectors showing that such license has been issued to him. No educational test will be given and it will not be necessary for the applicant to appear at any place for the examination. The ANTI-TIPPING BILL PASSED By Missouri House, But Senate May Not Pass It.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 25.—The house of representatives passed the anti-tipping bill by a large majority.

The bill makes it an offense for the guest to give a tip to a waiter or a porter, or for them to receive a tip, or the employer of the waiter or porter to allow the tip to be received.

After passing the anti-tipping bill, Dr. Tubbs did not go to his boarding house for luncheon. He bought some oranges and ate them in the hall. He denied that he was afraid to face the boarding house waitress.

The penalty for violation of the anti-tipping law is a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50 for each offense. Each or all of the offenders may be punished. The bill applies to waiters and porters of hotels, restaurants, sleeping cars, etc. Its passage by the senate is very doubtful, although it will have some votes in that body.

Governor Folk has not given the measure any consideration. As a rule he has been rather liberal with tips himself, and unless it should appear that the legislature considered the tipping custom a great evil he might not give the bill his sanction. Thus far he has had more trouble with grafters of greater size. He might sign the bill on the theory that it was in line with the general policy of suppressing graft, but until the house passed the measure he, in common with nearly every one, had treated it as a joke.

POINT IN BRIDGE IS NOW SETTLED

Portland Club's Decision Shows It is Still Leading Authority.

London, Jan. 25.—The committee of the Portland club have had their annual meeting at a point connected with the rules of bridge, the result being a decision that if, through inadvertence, one of the four players in a game says his cards on the table wrong side up, but with only the bottom card exposed, his opponents shall not be entitled to see any of the values except that actually visible.

It appears that a few weeks ago a gentleman, having sorted his hand, turned to make a remark to a looker-on, and in a moment of forgetfulness placed his cards on the table so that the looker-on was exposed, whereupon his right-hand neighbor demanded to have the whole thirteen cards exposed—a proceeding which, as the stakes were heavy, might have been fraught with very serious consequences.

Inasmuch as the ruling of the Portland committee has been accepted by the Baldwin, the St. James and the Turf—the other leading whist clubs—it has a two-fold importance, for it not only settles once and for all a controversy which has raged for many years, but it proves that notwithstanding such modern developments as "solo" whist and bridge, the body which has since the reign of George III been recognized as the authority par excellence on the parent game retains all its old prestige.

When, in 1865, the late Lordine Baldwin procured the appointment of a committee of the Arlington (now Turf) club to frame a code of rules for short whist, it was to the Portland that their report was sent, and it was the imprimatur of the Portland club which led to the general adoption of these new rules, which are still sworn by among experts.

WOLVES HOVER NEAR TOWNS

Wild Animals Are Driven From Wilds by Bad Weather.

Winnipeg, Jan. 25.—Owing to the intense cold and deep snow, wild animals are closing in on the towns and cities of the Northwest. At Saskatoon, the dreaded gray wolves, starved by the severity of the winter, have come down from the region of Batoche in great numbers and are a terror to the people. The invasion of wolves which is more common in the west than in the east, is caused by the great scarcity of rabbits and deer, the small game upon which they prey. Though the wolf hounds pursue them, the wolves are still as numerous. A large number of lynxes also are coming down from the north.

CLERK OBEYED ORDER To Letter, Though It Was Only Fifty Years Old.

London, Jan. 25.—The Aldershot News narrates a curious occurrence at Worth Camp, Aldershot, due to the recent removal of the war office from Pall Mall to the new building at Whitehall.

The officer in command of a battalion quartered on the Marlborough lines was amazed one morning to find on his parade ground a traction engine and several trucks. Stones, gravel and material were deposited on the ground and in due course of time the engine and trucks returned with more.

Going to headquarters for an explanation, the commanding officer was informed that the instructions had come from the war office to send the material there. Not satisfied with this explanation, the officer pursued the matter further, with the result that the original requisition for the material was produced and was found to be dated 1856.

In moving out of the old offices in Pall Mall a clerk had found the requisition in a pigeonhole and seeing that it was for a hundred tons of road material he had the order executed and the material dumped on the only available spot at North Camp.

NOT READY TO BE BURIED.

Sick Man Rallies and Scores the Funeral Arrangements.

Manitowoc, Wis., Jan. 25.—Told by physicians that the patient could live less than two hours, relatives of Joseph Sadowsky, a man of this city, prepared for the burial, summoned friends and relatives from abroad and even employed an undertaker. Sadowsky, however, refused to fulfill the predictions of the physician, and five hours later, he knew the meaning of the proceedings he saw in progress. When informed that his funeral was being prepared, he raised a storm and declared that he would not be a party to any such premature arrangements. He immediately began to improve in health, and it is expected now that he will recover.

ISHPEMING ROLLERS KICK

Michigan Jumpers Say That Duluth Judges Were Unfair.

Probably a Move to Kill Duluth's Chances for National.

A howl about the management of the Duluth ski tournament is being made by the three Ishpeming ski riders who were in the contest and failed to win a place on the prize list. It is claimed by some of these gentlemen that Ole Fierling did not make jumps of over 100 feet in reality, instead of the 108, 110 and 112-foot jumps accorded to him. They do not make the case very clear, however, as they are quoted in the Ishpeming Iron Ore, as saying that the tape was "stretched" when the measurement was made, which would rather have a tendency to shorten the measurement of the jump instead of lengthening it.

While none of them got anywhere near the prize winning class, the longest jump of the Copper country skier, being eighty-nine feet, they are also howling about a decision in which Gustave Bovey of Duluth, was given fourth place, while Melgaard of Bovey, according to the Ishpeming men's story, really jumped several feet farther than the Duluth man.

Local skiing enthusiasts believe that this move was a pure fake on the part of the Ishpeming club, and that it is simply a very skillfully designed knock on Duluth's prospects for holding the national tournament here in 1908. A more effective, or better-timed stroke than this could hardly have been planned by the Ishpeming club, because it is of holding the national event there next year, as it will be possible to convince the little clubs belonging to the association that they will not receive fair treatment from the Duluth judges, they will, of course, flock to the standard of the Michigan town at the big association meeting at Ashland next month.

WILL BEGIN TRAINING SOON

Ball Teams Will Leave for South in Few Weeks.

Only a little over a month now and the ball players will be on their way to the various training camps selected for them.

The Giants and the Chicago White Sox are to make the longest journey—the former going to Southern California and the Sox to Mexico.

The other teams of the two big leagues will train nearer home in the South and Southwest.

The American association teams will train at home in most instances. St. Paul will move to Leavenworth, where the training was done last year.

The spring training trips are awaited with much anticipation, but with feelings of dread. There is nothing more punishing, physically, than the first week of training. The first day, of course, is all the more trying, as the players, especially the younger ones, are as fit as a fiddle, and at times some of the oldest forget themselves at times and cavort under the inspiration of getting out into the open again after a time in six months. But the old timers are, as a general thing, shrewd enough to go slow and start and get their muscles and sinews in shape as deliberately as their managers will allow.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 25.—Pittsburg took her second game from Calumet here last evening, 6 to 3. In line of the fiercest games in the history of the International league. Several men on both sides were knocked senseless and had to be removed from the contest and sticks were smashed in the melee repeatedly. Gardiner, for Pittsburg, and Morrison, for Calumet, distinguished themselves. The ice was in fine shape.

ICE TRACK ABANDONED

Too Much Snow Discourages Horsemen and Game is Dropped.

Too much snow has caused the abandonment of the ice track laid out on the bay last December. About four feet of the beautiful has fallen since the track was cleared, and with what has drifted in huge heaps in the track, it is an almost impossible task to open it again. With no good match races in sight as an inducement to get the track open, expense which will be entailed by getting enough men on the track to put it in shape again, it is very doubtful whether any attempt will be made to open the track again during the present season.

CORNERS IN SPORTS

That Duluth is entitled to be the headquarters of the Northern and Copper Country league, cannot be questioned.

Duluth is now one of the mainstays of the organization, and it is, moreover, the central city of the league. Situated midway between the Copper country and the towns on the western end of the circuit, it is convenient to both districts, and can be readily reached from the cities at either end.

The league offices should be located in Duluth, and the secretary and the president should be Duluth men. The plan of choosing the secretary from one end of the league, and the president from the other end, is an absurd idea, and it means a constant drain for telegraph tolls and railroad fares, for the president and secretary to keep in communication with each other. It nearly resulted in a disruption of the league last year, as President Price and Secretary Glass were far from being on the best of terms during the latter part of the season.

The only businesslike plan is to locate the offices here, and make the president and secretary Duluth men.

The Chicago Journal man has the following to say of the Nevada fight situation:

Those fool Nevada purses have swelled the skulls of the fighters till a gimlet wouldn't start anything more than a load pop.

As it is now, even a prelin boxer, who ought to be out persuading a dray, will calmly announce that he can get $37,000 in Nevada, and that he must therefore scotch at a proposition to go six rounds for $37,500.

Young Corbett certainly does not lack nerve and self-assurance. When the Nevada promoters hooted at his proposed match with Murphy, he quickly hopped a train and lied him to the West, that he might see them and personally convince them that no better card could be obtained. He arrived in this city yesterday, and had the cheek to declare that the Nevada people turned the match down because they didn't know Murphy, while he, Corbett, was just what they really desired! Willie Rothwell is a great card. If he wasn't, he would have been fighting second prelims a year ago.

Mr. Riley of Tonopah is now said to be after Aitel and Herman and Abe wants him to hang up $15,000. Oh, Sacramento! When Herman and Abe met over on the West side, they may have received as much as $227 apiece, and each of them thought he was getting a fortune.

SKI RECORD IS BROKEN AGAIN

Ole Mangseth Adds Two Feet to Mark of Ole Feiring.

Red Wing, Minn., Jan. 25.—The twenty-first annual medal race of the Aurora Ski club of this city was held yesterday and there were some remarkable performances. The new hill was used the first time and in spite of unfavorable conditions, it was dedicated to a blaze of glory. A strong south wind was blowing directly in the face of the runners as they went down the hill, and this fact, no doubt, cut down their performance very materially.

Ole Mangseth, wearing the hoodoo No. 13, smashed the American record for the standing jump, going through space 114 feet and landing gracefully. This jump is two feet further than the record jump made by Ole Feiring last Sunday at Duluth. Mangseth made two other jumps of 110 and 112 feet, so that his record for the day has not been excelled by ski jumpers in this country, at least.

Ole Jonnum of Bovey, Minn., the only outside ski jumper entered, equaled Mangseth's jump of 114 feet, but he fell, and the performance will not stand as a record.

Mangseth won first honors and the gold medal, scoring an aggregate of 370 points. Jonnum was second with a score of 357 points. A. Grandahl was third with 344 points and was fifth with 331. The other members of the club jumped from 90 to 100 feet.

The Aurora club decided yesterday to send its representation of jumpers, numbering thirty, to St. Paul next Sunday to take part in the tournament, which will be held there. A delegation of between 200 and 300 citizens of the city will accompany the jumpers.

SPLIT CAUSED IN A CHURCH

Over Dark Tenor Who Denies That He is a Negro.

New York, Jan. 25.—Following the enforced resignation of Clarence B. Hayes, tenor soloist of the Church of St. John the Divine, at Waverly place and West Eleventh street, nine members of the choir have resigned and the entire congregation is split up into factions. Many of those who are standing by Mr. Hayes say that his resignation was asked because he has a very dark complexion and the report was started that he was a negro. Mr. Hayes, who is a native of New York, and who is a member of the choir, has been with his grandparents at No. 11 Domine street, where the family has lived since 1840. He is dark, with hair that waves slightly, and in general appearance looks like a native of the West Indies. He asserts, however, that his ancestry antedates the landing of Columbus. He declares that his mother was a Mohawk Indian, a daughter of one of the chiefs of the tribe. His engagement to Miss Bertha Himer of No. 31 West Thirtieth street, a soprano soloist of the choir, was announced a short time ago, and from that time Mr. Hayes' race became a matter of discussion among the women of the church. Nothing was said to him, however, and the first intimation that anything was wrong was when he received a letter a little more than a week ago demanding his resignation.

Miss Himer is standing loyally by Mr. Hayes, and she is one of the nine persons who have resigned. She has lived all her life within five blocks of the church, and her popularity was shown when at a recent church fair she received the prize for being the most popular young woman in the church.

NOT AFRAID OF WORK.

Pastor Adds to Income by Working for Electric Company.

Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 25.—Rev. Earl C. Davis, pastor of Unity church, has asked for and received permission from the society to accept a position with the Stanley Electric company, in order to add to his income. His salary as pastor is $1,100, much of it being raised by church suppers given by the women.

Feeling that this was somewhat of a hardship, Pastor Davis determined to seek employment that would not interfere with his preaching, and found a position at $15 per week in the production department of the Stanley company.

He has been pastor of the Pittsfield church for two years. He has a strong and vigorous personality, and is no stranger to manual labor, having worked in a shoe factory before entering college. He has a wife and one child.

Rev. Mr. Davis is a son of Charles A. Davis of Auburn, Me. He was born in Poland, Me., June 5, 1875, and graduated from the Auburn, Edward Little high school in 1893. He entered Bowdoin college class of '97, and after graduating, was appointed principal of the Howe school in Berwick, where he taught for two years. He was graduated from Harvard divinity school in 1904 and was one of the commencement orators.

GOOD BLVD MEDICINE

This Splendid Prescription Should be Kept in Household.

Makes the Kidneys Filter the Impurities From the Blood.

A leading journal in answering the question, "What is the best prescription to purify the blood?" prints in a recent issue, the following: "Fluid Extract of Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargol, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces; Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses, after each meal and at bedtime."

A well known local druggist, who is familiar with this prescription, states that it is harmless, being composed of vegetable ingredients which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy.

It cleanses the blood of all impurities and nourishes the blood. In just a few days the skin begins to clear of sores, boils and pimples. It puts vigor and energy into run-down, debilitated men and women. For many years Sarsaparilla alone has been considered a good blood medicine. But while it built up and made new blood, the impurities remained within and the good accomplished was only temporary. Sarsaparilla, however, when used in combination with Compound Kargol and Extract Dandelion works wonders. This combination puts the kidneys to work to filter and sift out the waste matter, uric acid and other impurities that cause disease. It makes new blood and relieves rheumatism and lame back and bladder troubles.

This prescription is better than the usual patent medicines, which are in the most part alcoholic concoctions. The ingredients cost but little. They may be procured from any good pharmacist and mixed at home by men and women here should make some up and try it if they feel their system requires a good blood medicine and tonic.

The Kargol to clean the kidneys and vitalize them so they can clean the blood. Sarsaparilla to make new, rich blood and Dandelion to tone the stomach, clean the liver and make it active and mixed at home by men and women here should make some up and try it if they feel their system requires a good blood medicine and tonic.

TOO CARELESS WITH HIS FIST Richard Mansfield's Leading Woman Objected to His Blows.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 25.—Miss Emma Dunn, leading woman for Richard Mansfield, so greatly objected to the spot on her back that the actor selected to implant the blow which is part of his role as Peter Gynn, that she refused to go to the position and has been succeeded by Miss Clara Osmond.

At last, that is one version of the trouble that led to Miss Dunn's sudden departure from the stage. Mansfield, another has it that Mr. Mansfield objected to the prize given his leading woman and J. C. Ryan, his stage carpenter, and caused the dismissal of both, informing them that they were both too ill to work.

Peter Gynn, to hush the seedlings of Ase, picks her up, throws her to one side, and administers a sounding whack. Miss Dunn insisted on a change in the place on her spinal column where Mansfield landed. She even consulted a physician, who told her that her illness was due to the shock to her nervous system by the blow which she received nightly. Mansfield replied that the spot chosen by him was one that would not shock her nervous system and that the manner in which he picked her up and threw her about was precisely the way modern stage thespians or nurses handle their patients.

TOWN BOARDS WASTEFUL IN BUILDING OF ROADS

Good Roads Association in Favor of the Contract System.

Much Enthusiasm Shown at Organization's Annual Meeting.

A law providing for the building of county roads by the contract system, instead of under the direction of county commissioners and town boards, will be passed by the Minnesota legislature if the St. Louis County Good Roads Association can bring such legislation about.

At the annual meeting of the organization, held yesterday in the Commercial club rooms, President Culkin was authorized to appoint a committee to devise ways and means for bringing about the passage of a measure of this kind, and every effort will be made to get it through the legislature. Other good roads associations through the state, particularly in Northern Minnesota, will assist in its passage.

The expected happened when, on motion of A. E. McManus, a resolution was passed approving the effort to be made to secure a record of the vote on the tax and good roads amendment, and promising the help of the association in this movement. The vote on the tax and good roads amendment, if it is not done, the work will be carried on at the expense of the state. If it is not done, the work will be carried on at the expense of the state. If it is not done, the work will be carried on at the expense of the state.

Another resolution was adopted favoring the plan of F. B. McLaren of Wrenshall for the construction of a road from Duluth to Wrenshall through Northern Wisconsin, and providing for the appointment of a committee of men from the cities and villages interested to see what can be done toward the construction of the proposed highway. In all the good roads talk that has been going on the rounds, the idea of this particular highway has not been mentioned before. The fact was pointed out that it would provide an ideal trip for automobilists. The plan is to have the route extend from Duluth, south through Superior to Saunders, a station on the Great Northern, twelve miles almost directly south of Duluth, then on to Boylston, three miles farther south, then west to Dewey, probably eight miles from Boylston, on the Northern branch of the Great Northern, and then to Wrenshall, where it would connect with the main highway. The distance to Wrenshall would be twenty-five miles. There is already a good city street all the way to Saunders, and from there a good country road running to Boylston and Dewey. Enough of the remainder of the road is constructed to mean that the carrying out of the project would mean the actual construction of only eight miles of road. When finished, the route would be an unexcelled ride for automobilists, as well as opening up a good farming section.

The automobile ride from Duluth to Wrenshall and back over the St. Louis county road would be about forty-five miles, and it would not be necessary to pass over the same piece of road more than once. It would be an ideal trip for the visitor, Mr. McLaren explained, for it would show him everything the Head of the Lakes has to offer in an agricultural and industrial way, from the farms, unoccupied land and forests. The idea met with great favor, and it is considered very likely that it will be carried out along the lines suggested by the Wrenshall man.

Officers Are Chosen.
The annual meeting of the association for the ensuing year: W. E. Culkin, president; H. R. Patterson, vice president; Edward Hagen, secretary and treasurer; executive committee, H. R. Arnold, E. M. Patterson, David Sang, W. G. Crosby, Neil McInnes, John Owens, and Dr. C. D. of Hibbing. Several members of the Carlton County Good Roads association were in attendance, and unstinted enthusiasm in the good roads movement was manifested. The defects of the present system of building roads, and the pointed out by different speakers, and it was explained that a large percentage of the money expended for the construction of these highways was wasted under the present system.

The system, the town boards are now working under is deplorable," said T. M. Ferguson of Wrenshall, Minn. "It is not the fault of the members of these boards. They, on the contrary, are doing the best anyone could, but the system is the fault."

The speaker mentioned that not a few men at the meeting, and spoke of the average Duluth citizen when it comes to questions of such great importance. THE DULUTH EVENING HERALD: FRIDAY, JANUARY 25, 1907.

self of modern methods, and avoid in the future the errors of the bygone days.

St. Louis county should study the question. This county will spend this year $50,000 on roads exclusive of the large sum spent by towns. This sum would build eighteen miles of permanent road at $5,000 a mile. In ten years we would have 180 miles of good road. Suppose we double the expenditure. In ten years we would have 360 miles of good highway, something worth something, a real asset, an interest-bearing instrument in many ways. This good roads agitation has such an end in view.

It is proposed that the state government take a hand in this work. It can do nothing more beneficial, nothing more to the public advantage. It can find examples to follow. Practically all the Eastern states have gone into the road-building business.

If the cause is a good one it must prevail. Our end, our wish as a local organization, is to see this county at no great distance of time grid-ironed with permanent ways, making our travel more comfortable, and increasing the comfort of the common people. And this is everybody's work. There is no monopoly of the labor and no exclusion anywhere.

AFTER THE G. N. AGAIN

name of the state against the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway company to forfeit its charter, for the reason that ever since it obtained its charter, with all its equipment and appliances, to the Great Northern Railway company on Feb. 1, 1891, it has ceased to perform the functions for which it was created and has therefore forfeited its right to exist under our laws as a railway company. We have joined the Great Northern Railway company as a party to this action because it is the only one of the stockholders of the Manitoba company, and for the further reason that in the alleged purchase of the property the assets of the Manitoba company by the Great Northern company were a large amount of watered stock issued by the latter company, which we claim is void under the laws of this state, upon which the public are now, and ever since it was issued, paying large dividends. We ask that this stock be declared void and the payment of further dividends thereon be prohibited.

We have proceeded with deliberation and with the most accurate knowledge of the great importance of the questions both as to the state and the community affected. It will assist in understanding the position of the state and the community affected. It will assist in understanding the position of the state and the community affected. It will assist in understanding the position of the state and the community affected.

"The public are doubtless aware that the great earnings tax on railroads was raised from 3 to 4 per cent in 1905, the Great Northern company refused to pay the same, and the state of Minnesota in this state which was originally made by the Minnesota & Pacific company. The latter company had a charter from the territory, in which it was provided that the company never should be called upon to pay more than 3 per cent on its earnings. The company became bankrupt, and in 1902 the Manitoba company purchased the stock and franchises, with the approval of the legislature, and ever since the purchase of the stock, which was made at a price of $100,000, the company has claimed that it acquired by the purchase, the same immunity from any raise in its rate of taxation that the Minnesota & Pacific had."

"Last March, when the taxes for 1905 became due on this road, the Great Northern company refused to pay the same, and the state of Minnesota, in 1905, paid only 3 per cent, and soon after showed the roads, which were then owned by the state, an action against it for $120,000, being the unpaid 1 per cent on the earnings of the road. In that suit the claim to immunity from any increase above 3 per cent in its taxes was denied, and the state won the suit. The railroad taxes for the year 1906 will be in a few days due, and there will be an additional amount greater than that above mentioned in dispute for that year."

required to make public the system of car distribution in effect upon its railway, and to show the equipment for service is divided between the several divisions of its road.

That where the capacity of the mines is the basis for the distribution of equipment, a fair, just and equitable ruling of the mines be required.

"That after reasonable time carriers engaged in interstate commerce be prohibited from using individual or private cars for the handling of coal traffic."

Some of the stock in coal concerns required by the railroad man is legitimate, says the report, but in any event its holding is unwise under the circumstances. In other instances stock is given to obtain favorable consideration from railroad officers and employees. The most flagrant offender in this respect, concludes the commission, is the Pennsylvania, although on the Baltimore & Ohio the condition prevails to a certain extent.

The report tells of railway and freight associations in the territory involved, and of the general object of the report, to be maintained of certain coal and freight rates on all the roads involved.

The result of this agreement between the roads, declares the report, has been practically to abolish competition between the carriers in coal for the territory in question.

This condition is regarded as having brought about "discriminations, injustices and inequalities to independent shippers, and has kept persons who wish to engage in mining from doing so."

Most of the conditions about which shippers complain, says the report, grows out of the want of publicity of the dealings between the roads and shippers. If the business is conducted openly, much favoritism would be averted, and "wherever unjust suspicions were aroused, the fact they were incorrect would have readily appeared."

It is declared by the commission that many inequalities and unjust methods are used in arriving at each mine's capacity.

TELEPHONE MOUTHPIECE

No Disease Spreader—A Scientific Test Shows Convincing Results.

The recent loud clamor in England about the mouthpiece of the telephone being a lodging place for consumption and diphtheria germs has been decided in New York to be a causeless alarm. The receivers of more than one hundred phones were removed from a variety of locations and submitted to Dr. Klein for bacteriological examination. After exhaustive cultures had been created, the product thus secured was inoculated into a number of guinea pigs, there was not the slightest indication of any kind of disease resulting in these very sensitive little animals and the fact substantiated that consumption, a very case comes from weak lungs which are sometimes inherited, but more often result from a neglected cough or cold.

Lungs weakened by nature or inflammation afford a lodging place for the tubercle germ and consumption follows. This is the whole thing in brief as stated by the great specialist. He gives a formula which has proven wonderfully effective in the speedy cure of all throat and lung troubles and it is said will frequently cure a bad cold in twenty-four hours. The formula is the following: "Glycerine, two ounces. Concentrated oil of pine, one-half ounce; whiskey, half pint; mix and shake thoroughly; use in tablespoon doses every four hours." The ingredients are obtainable from any good prescription druggist and can easily be mixed at home.

The concentrated oil of pine is a comparatively new product, but was welcomed by physicians on account of its being soluble, a quality long sought.

Care should be taken to make sure to get the "Concentrated," which always comes put up in half-ounce bottles, enclosed in round, air-tight cases, intended to protect the oil from heat and light, and retain its full strength of ozone.

Patent medicines of similar names and bulk oils should be avoided. If a person keeps their physical organs in a healthy condition they need fear no disease, and a cough or cold should be checked at once or it will surely lead to serious complications.

GIRL PAVES HERSELF.

Sells Body After Death to Aid a Sick Friend.

Des Moines, Jan. 25.—To aid a girl friend in Council Bluffs, who is dying of consumption, Dottie Morgan, a beautiful young girl of this city, has voluntarily paved herself. She agreed that her body should be delivered to a medical school for the purpose of being used as a model for the study of anatomy. The body was taken to the morgue and placed in a coffin. Dottie Morgan is a well-known Des Moines woman.

Milton Meets Watson Tonight. George Milton, who has been an amazing quiet a wrestling reputation in these parts, will make an effort to throw Charles Watson of Eau Claire, Wis., at the Metropolitan, this evening. Watson is said to be a first-rater, and according to talk, many scalps are hanging at his belt and many a wrestler has been sent to the rest cure, via his route. However, the friends of Milton, judging from his work in the past, are confident that he will put Watson to the Ostermoor.

WEST DULUTH MAY TAKE INITIATIVE

"No Seat, No Fare" Club May be Organized Here.

Curlers Are Entertained by Ladies at Western Rink.

West Duluth and the West end people may take the initiative in the agitation for better street car service, with less of the strap-hanging variety, and a "no seat, no fare" club is being projected out here.

A car full of West Duluthians and residents of the West end were on their way home last evening, just after the 6 o'clock rush began, and the usual number were compelled to stand and attach themselves to the straps. Someone shouted the "no seat, no fare" cry, and it passed from one to another until nearly all of those standing had taken it up. Considerable discussion followed, and it was suggested that a club agreeing to pay no street car fares unless they were furnished a seat. This has been done in other cities effectively, and the people here think that it could be done here as well. While on the car the citizens did not decide upon anything definite, but a meeting may be called later on and an organization perfected.

In regard to the matter of the street car company being unfair in running its snow plow over its lines in West Duluth, the company maintains that it should get a good deal of praise for its work rather than censure. The company claims that it has been working in conjunction with the board of public works in clearing the streets, and that there has been no complaint from that board as to its methods.

RECEPTION FOR CURLERS.

Pleasant Affair at Western Rink is Attended by Many.

A pleasant reception and social was given last evening at the Western curling rink by the wives and lady friends of the members of the club. The affair was attended by nearly all of the curlers of this end of the city.

Skating and curling formed the entertainment during the early part of the evening, special music being furnished for the occasion. After the skating a supper was served, and more than 150 people partook of the feast. A program of toasts followed, with Henry Hewitt, president of the Curling club, as toastmaster. The reception had been arranged this week as a sort of farewell event in honor of Sidney Hanchett, who will leave for Western Canada next week. He has taken a prominent part in the curling game at West Duluth, and it was his wish which won the only honors at the bonspiel last week.

Among the members who spoke last evening were: Emil Zauft, J. A. Scott, G. J. Mallory, Rev. A. J. Hoag and Rev. W. J. Lowrie, all of whom included complimentary remarks regarding Mr. Hanchett. Mr. Hanchett responded, and expressed his thanks to the members for the reception, stating that he regretted that he must leave the city.

The games played during the evening were as follows: Forcussion—MacDonald, Method, Hanchett, Meldrum, Macaulay, —skip, 14. Jennings, —skip, 8. Cushman, —skip, 10. Burdick, —skip, 13. Zauft, —skip, 10.

PLEASANT PROGRAM.

Young Ladies of St. James Church Give Card Social.

The card social given at Gilley's hall last evening by the young ladies of the St. James Catholic church, was a very pleasant affair and was well attended. During the early part of the evening an entertaining program was given. The first number was a solo by Ray Abbott, which was well received, and the World is Mine. Mr. Abbott responded to an encore. Recitations by Harry Hayden and Misses Jones and Miss Brotherton were well received. Mrs. Crammer sang a pretty solo and was followed by Miss Alice Shannon who sang "Ashore." Miss Emilie Brett sang a neat little solo also.

After the program had been completed the company enjoyed themselves in playing progressive pedro. Eight games were played and several prizes were awarded to the winners.

Death of Mrs. Merriam.

The death of Mrs. Victoria Merriam, wife of Philip Merriam, occurred at the Duluth hospital last evening after a sickness of about two weeks. She was 32 years old and had lived in West Duluth for about nine years. Her husband and four children survive her. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made but the final ceremony will probably be held either tomorrow or Sunday at the residence, 6103 Wadena street.

Quietly Married.

Miss Martha Judith Blakrud was married Wednesday evening to Charles E. K. by a ceremony being performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Knudson, 1913 East Seventh street. Rev. H. K. Madison of the Norwegian-Danish church officiating. The young couple will make their home on Fifty-second avenue west. Mr. K. is a well known and popular young man of West Duluth having lived here for several years.

West Duluth Briefs.

Sydney Brackett, returned yesterday from Cohasset, Minn., where he has been employed in a lumber camp. Emil Zauft returned from Red Cliff, Wis., yesterday, to visit his family for a few days.

Harry Cruickshanks, who formerly lived in West Duluth, passed through here yesterday on his way to Butte, Mont., and stopped off to visit relatives.

The main belt and shafting at the Virginia & Rainy Lake mill was broken yesterday and the mill will not run for several days.

The Store That Does Things.

WIDOW GETS A VERDICT

Zenith Furnace Company
Must Pay Mrs. Balder
$5,000.

Victor Kukkola Settles
His Case Against Mining Company.

The jury in the damage case of Maymo Balder against the Zenith Furnace company this morning, returned a verdict of $5,000, the full amount of damages claimed, after remaining in the jury room about thirty minutes. It is understood that the verdict was reached after the first ballot and that it could have been returned somewhat sooner had it been necessary.

Mrs. Balder, who is the administratrix of the estate of her deceased husband, Bernard Balder, who was accidentally killed at the furnace company's plant a year ago, claimed that the company was negligent in sending her husband into a dangerous place to work, and should be held for his death.

Balder, it is claimed was loosening coal that had been lodged in a bin at the company's coke oven, when the coal gave way suddenly beneath him and he was crushed in the bottom of the bin under tons of coal.

The furnace company maintained that Balder was accustomed to the work that he knew the danger and had been warned just previous to the accident not to step on the coal. The company claimed that, in spite of the warning, he left the ladder and walked on top of the coal to the middle of the bin, when the mass suddenly opened at his feet and he dropped down toward the chute, the coal closing in on all sides, and burying him.

The fact that the jury was out such a short time is regarded as something unusual for the reason that where damages are involved it generally happens that there is much difference of opinion among twelve men as to how much should be paid, even if they should agree to pay anything.

Mrs. Balder was represented by John Jensen, Jr., and the Zenith company by Judge Cant ordered a thirty day stay of judgment.

The jury in the civil action of John Mesberg against A. Thayer returned

MASONIC NOTICE
All members of Palestine and Ionic Lodges, A. F. and A. M. and sojourning Master Masons are requested to meet at Masonic Hall, Saturday, Jan. 26, 1907, at 1 p. m. for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late brother, James E. Potter, H. NEBLITT, Secretary. JAMES A. CRAWFORD, M. M.

a verdict of 12.51 in favor of Mr. Mesberg, this morning. The verdict was reached late yesterday but was not opened until this morning.

The personal injury case of Victor Kukkola against the Oliver Iron Mining company will not be tried, a settlement and stipulation for a dismissal having been reached by the parties to the action. John R. Heino and Theodore Hollister represented the claimant.

The personal injury case of Peter Van Vooren against the Duluth Brewing & Malting company is being tried in Judge Dibell's room today. The action is one in which Mr. Van Vooren, formerly a teamster in the employ of the brewing company, claims damages for injuries claimed to have been received through the carelessness or negligence of another of the brewery employees. Van Vooren claims that one of the employees threw a sack of sprouts on top of a pile of the same material, but the sack struck, bounded back, dropped over the edge of the platform and struck Van Vooren, who was sitting in his wagon below. It is claimed that the weight and momentum of the sack when it struck Van Vooren were sufficient to cause him serious injuries which laid him up from work for some time.

The company is said to admit the manner that the accident happened, but denies that Van Vooren was hurt to the extent claimed by him.

John Jensen, Jr., represents Van Vooren and H. T. Abbott represents the brewing company.

WAR ON THE WINEROOMS.

New Ordinance at Butte Causes a Decided Stir.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 25.—At a meeting of the city council an ordinance was introduced providing for the closing of winerooms. Butte probably has more winerooms for its size than any other city in the United States. The ordinance of its 25 saloons being without "boxes." The proposed ordinance started an extended discussion and its fate is very uncertain at this time. The council increased the pay of the firemen $15 a month, making their wages $115 a month.

CARING FOR SUFFERERS

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 25.—The flood situation has resolved itself into caring for the flood sufferers, arranging for clearing up and resuming business in the flooded districts and an inspection of flooded property for possible weakening of the foundations that may result in later damage. At 9 o'clock this morning the river stage was 57.7 feet and steadily falling, so that the danger line of fifty feet will probably be passed within a day or two.

DULUTH IS FORTUNATE

In Regard to Paving Facilities According to Engineer's Report.

City Paying But Half
Usual Price for Tar Macadam.

Duluth, according to the city engineer's annual report, which will be submitted to the council at its next meeting, is unusually fortunate in her situation in regard to paving, and especially in regard to tar macadam work. The paper outlines a few of the reasons for Duluth's success with the new paving.

The presence of a first class tar plant in the city, producing the highest grade of tar possible, and pronounced by the state authorities as being as nearly perfect as any they had ever analyzed was helped materially, not only because of the high grade of the tar, but because it is so situated that it can be quarried at no great distance from the scene of operations, or at least easily transported to its destination. This has helped materially to keep the price down.

The engineering department gives itself a little credit for one item in the success that the city has had with the new pavement. By diligent study, the voids, or spaces in the new pavement have been reduced to 10 per cent of the entire volume, giving a more solid surface than Warren Bros. have attained with their celebrated Duluth pavement.

The average price which Duluth paid for tar macadam during 1906 was $1.23 per yard. This is but little more than half of the average price which has been paid by other cities for similar pavements, and had Duluth been forced to pay the prices which other cities are paying for this quality of pavement, the expense of paving during 1906 would have been $2.50 greater than it was.

Engineer McGilvray is urgent in his recommendation that concrete bases be placed under the new pavement, pointing out that the heavy circus wagons passing along West Superior street last summer did not cause any damage to the pavement upon which the macadam was laid, while on one occasion in another part of the city, the pavement was being laid upon concrete and a heavy storm washed away the concrete and the macadam was left for several days before the hole was observed.

The recommendations forecasted in The Herald last evening are brought out strongly in the report, and the recommendation to allow the Duluth-Superior traction company to carry freight for street repair purposes, and the plan whereby the city was to construct all sidewalks within its limits.

Work done during 1906 by the office is tabulated as follows:
Buildings $1,644 50
Streets 178,000 99
Waterworks 48,754 51
Sewers 39,940 55
Sidewalks 43,291 75

Paving during 1906 vastly exceeded any year in the history of the city with the exception of 1891 and 1892 when a great deal of cedar block paving was laid. Altogether 15,470 square yards of paving went in during the year, 2,666 miles of sidewalks were laid, and 2,666 miles of concrete and stone sidewalks were laid. The report states that the city's waterworks prevented the flow of the river into the joints as freely as might be desired, the permanent work is a few years off.

Recommendations for the ferry bridge are that a telephone be installed on the bridge for the benefit of the operator, so that when the bridge is to be closed in the middle of the canal at night, some means of communication might be had with the foreman on shore. Also some sort of shelter near the bridge for the duplicate parts, lately ordered by the council, is advised.

The report shows that the reservoir at Washburn is practically completed, and that work has again been commenced on repairs to the Park Point water adit. The council also decided to purchase the following average prices to contractors for the year 1907:
Telford macadam, per sq. yd. $1.95
Eight-inch crushed rock 0.79
Sandstone blocks 2.30
Tar macadam 1.23
Cement walks 0.175
Frank walks, per thousand feet 0.75.

A VICTORY FOR THE CLERICALS

King Alfonso Will Recall
Senor Maura to Form Cabinet.

Madrid, Jan. 25.—With five Liberal ministries wrecked in eighteen months, owing to the irreconcilable differences between the leaders, King Alfonso today decided that he had no alternative but to recall Senor Maura, ex-premier and leader of the Conservatives, and ascertain what a strong Conservative cabinet can accomplish. The religious issue has been the root of all dissensions, ex-Prime Ministers Rios, Moset and Dominguez, believing that Spain is not ready for a radical campaign against the religious orders and the church generally, upon which Senor Canejales, ex-president of the chamber of deputies and head of the new party, known as the Extreme Liberals, insisted. The accession of Senor Maura to power is regarded as a sweeping victory for the Clericals, and is likely to arouse a revolutionary spirit.

PASSED 300 PENSION BILLS.
Washington, Jan. 25.—The senate today passed 339 pension bills in one hour and fifteen minutes.

DEFICIENCY BILL PASSED.
Washington, Jan. 25.—The senate today passed an urgent deficiency appropriation bill containing among other provisions a loan of $1,000,000 by authorizing a loan of $1,000,000 by the United States government.

HIGH WIND WITH COLD

Duluth and Upper Lake Region Gets Worst of Gale.

Cold Temperatures Prevail Over All the Northwestern States.

With a temperature of 14 below zero and a northwest wind coming down over the hills at the rate of forty-six miles an hour, this morning, Duluth people generally are ready to admit that this is the worst day of the winter.

Although it is not the coldest day, the wind has made it the most uncomfortable, and there has been more suffering on account of it than at any previous time this year.

The blizzard extends over all of the Northwest, and zero temperatures prevail as far south as Northern Nebraska and Iowa. The coldest point in the country was at Havre, Mont., where the official thermometer registered 32 below this morning. The territory included in the Red River Valley district and Western and Northern Minnesota had a temperature averaging from 20 to 30 below.

GOOD WORD FOR E. M. FERGUSON

McClure's Tells His Part in Private Car Line Fight.

Ray Stannard Baker, well-known writer on important questions of the day, has a comprehensive article in the current number of McClure's magazine on "Private Cars and the Fruit Industry." In it he speaks in the most complimentary terms of the good work accomplished by E. M. Ferguson of Duluth in the fight against the private car lines. The Duluth man's photograph is run in connection with the article.

"E. M. Ferguson of Duluth," says Mr. Baker, "has been one of the most vigorous and uncompromising of the fighters. No witness in the numerous hearings testified with more real effectiveness than he. Mr. Ferguson asked a question which struck at the heart of the matter: 'Does the size of a man's business indicate the degree of justice he is entitled to?'"

STOCKYARDS

At Kansas City Are Being Investigated
by Legislators.

Kansas City, Jan. 25.—Committees from the Kansas and Missouri legislatures, which yesterday began an investigation here of the stock yards, continued their hearing today. The investigation is based on charges made by a former foreman at the yards, who alleged that false weights were given to customers. The stock yards plant is situated on the Kansas-Missouri line and is in both states, hence the interest of both Kansas and Missouri in the matter.

est velocity and was blowing at the rate of forty-six miles an hour from the northwest.

After 9 o'clock it commenced to warm up a little, and at 10 o'clock the thermometer registered 11 degs. below.

At 11 o'clock the temperature was 9 degs. below, and at 1 o'clock the mercury got up to the 6 below mark.

At noon the wind was greater in velocity and was blowing at a thirty-six-mile an hour clip. The thermometer registered 11 degs. below.

Out in Montana warmer weather is in sight, and at Havre, this noon the temperatures had taken quite a rise. This warm spell will reach Duluth and Northern Minnesota probably tomorrow, in the opinion of Observer Richardson. The weather man does not expect it will last long.

MOURNING*How a Convict Fooled
Lawyers With a Forged Will.*After His Release From Prison, Clever Englishman Disappeared.New York, Jan. 25.—Lawyers are generally supposed to receive money from their clients, but now the case has been reversed and several law firms both in this city, in the northern part of the state and also in London are mourning the fact that they were so credulous. They have been swindled by a variation of an ancient Spanish prisoner trick, which has cost many persons large sums.
The man who did the swindling was known in several prisons as Frank Jordan, but when he sent a letter to thelawyers and told of the money he had always used the name of Mark Seymour Brooks. His most valuable asset was a little black strong box, which he had left in the care of the British consul general in this city. It was supposed to contain many thousands of dollars worth of stocks and other securities, but when opened it held only several pieces of London trash. The man also used a fictitious will which "bequeathed" him wealth.
There never was a person of the name of Mark Seymour Brooks, so far as close investigation has been able to ascertain. The name was assumed for fraudulent, eminent lawyers whom the user of it called to his assistance after becoming involved in the meshes of the criminal law. He did so well that when he was in prison at Dannemora he obtained $20 from a firm in Plattsburgh. A lawyer came with him from Dannemora to this city upon his release and felt confident that he would receive the amount that he had advanced, with generous bonus, from persons who were to meet him in a restaurant here.
Brooks, as the lawyer called him, or Jordan, as his name appeared on the prison records, expressed great surprise that his friends and financial backers were not in the restaurant to meet him, and he went into a telephone booth to see if he could communicate with them. That was the last that the lawyer saw of him.
When Brooks, or Jordan, next came into contact with an attorney he was again in jail. He was then nearly through a term in the penitentiary on one of the shrewdest men who has appeared before a jury in the criminal courts in New York, saying he wished to see him.
His lawyers then for want of being $20 in addition to being imprisoned for a year, and to lose the money was paid he would have to remain in the penitentiary one day for each dollar. This lawyer sent a representative toNo Meal Is Complete

TRY OUR Dainty LUNCHEONSthe penitentiary to learn what Jordan wished, and the representative was convinced that there was an opportunity for him to obtain an unusually large fee.
The result was that Jordan was set at liberty a few days after the expiration of his sentence, the fine having been remitted through the efforts of the famous man to whom he had appealed.
One member of the law firm bearing credentia from Jordan, a careful investigation showed that Brooks was a myth, that the estate had been created solely through his imagination and that he had been able to deceive persons through one of the most elaborate plots ever devised.
Jordan's method was unlike that of any of the ordinary swindlers who came into the hands of the police. The men whom he started to defraud were men of the highest intelligence and not apt to be deceived by any ordinary criminal.
To play his game he had to produce a will, purporting to have been made by his mother, to have solicitors in London in the employ of his accomplices, and to have persons in many parts of the globe ready to answer any communications about him.
This will was a masterpiece of fiction.
The firm of Scottish attorneys mentioned had no existence in fact; the client of the solicitors in London disappeared when the time came to produce money, and the entire story upon which Jordan had obtained his release was a pure fabrication.
The will under which Jordan claimed a modest fortune was presumably made by his mother, Anna Rhosomyl Brooks of London.FALLS FROM WINDOW*Woman Picked Up in Chicago in a Dying Condition.Chicago, Jan. 25.—Following a protracted quarrel with her husband,
Mrs. Anna O'Donnell, 25 years of age, was found in a dying condition today in a passage-way at the side of her house, where she had fallen from a window in the third story.
The husband informed the police that his wife was walking in her sleep and climbed through the window before he could stop her. Neighbors declared that the couple had been quarreling the greater part of the night, and that O'Donnell declined to allow his wife to be brought back to the house.
The police were ordered to find
O'Donnell and bring him to the station. He has not been found.SHIP SINKS, MANY DROWNED.

Prices eased off on selling by country stores. The close was quiet with May 46½c at 45½c.

The wheat oats pit was quiet; all prices were steady. Receipts were large and heavy, but no change in price was influenced considerably by the strength of wheat. Many oats opened late at 50½c higher than last week's close and sold at 51½c. Local receipts were all cars, mostly from the west, and the market dull, but prices held firm because of the need to advance in the price of live stock and hog products.

Lard opened 7½c higher at $5.50. Ribs 6c at $3.15.

foreign news. Chicago millers report that the Argentine wheat crop is good yesterday. What ever the wheat supplies in first hands Northwest are, the Argentine crop is good. The latest messages predict that a freeze will mean clear injury to the tender pig crop in Argentina.

Corn—The fact remains that Chicago prices are small, that shipments are good, and that the Argentine wheat clearances are improving and with the Argentine wheat crop, Argentina should be much heavier in exports abroad. Feel free to buy in solid.

Oats—Traders had a quiet day. Points do not increase materially. In the market, the Argentine wheat is small, concentrated bull holding in the market and the prospect good for a rise.

Provisions—Big packing concern hold of provisions and boosted prices. The Argentine wheat is of a grade of hogs forced shorts to cover a large amount of business in all products the day.

Logan & Brady to Go. Webster & Co.: Liquidation and professional services marked the opening. There was a slight decline in the market, but it gradually throughout the session. Hill securities were the leaders in the market. Selling was in evidence all day in Union Pacific, Amalgamated, St. Paul and Northern Pacific. There was to be much bear pressure in the market and those in control apparently are not in a hurry to get out of the market.
Market may work lower, but the shorts and issues should do to buy on price and volume.

Boston to Gay & Sturgis: The real market changed its complexion entirely as it went up. The only reason obtainable was that Secretary Taft had announced that he would have $100 of government money he had deposited must be returned. That money again, when the situation is aggravated by the fact that the Treasury will soon have a rally again, a dull market with small swings set in. The market was inclined to sag. The impetus of the deal is off. The liquidation of the deal has been completed. A small way was apparent all day, particularly so after the close. It was to be absorbed as fast as it came into the market, and it is now being absorbed. The deal was not occurred when a deal was run. Everything was heavy excepting the bulling was evident.

LOST HEIRESS HAS BEEN FOUND

Homeless and Friendless Orphan Now Comes Into a Fortune.

Pueblo, Colo., Jan. 25.—The finding of Miss Lucile Swigart, a 17-year-old girl of this city, who is now visiting in Arizona, means the settling of the George W. Swigart estate, valued at $300,000. Trace of the girl, who has now fled proceedings against the estate in the courts of Porter county, Ind., was lost because of the death of her father, William Swigart, in Los Angeles, Cal., nine years ago.

Miss Swigart was found at Canon City, Colo., by Judge M. J. Galligan of Pueblo. He obtained all of the facts of her early life, and those details, when put together, make a story which reads like a romance.

Her father, a son of the late George W. Swigart, left South Bend, Ind., when a young man and went West. He was of a roving disposition, and soon all trace of him was lost. Now and then the family would hear, in a roundabout way, where he was, or what he was doing, but seldom did he communicate directly with any of his relatives in St. Joseph county.

After the death of his father it was learned that, while living in Colorado, the son was married to a woman of New Mexico, and that on Oct. 31, 1889, a daughter, Lucile Swigart, was born. All efforts to find her were without result, until Judge Galligan found a clue, and since then the "whole twisted story" has been unraveled.

Miss Swigart never knew either of her parents. Her mother died shortly after the birth of the daughter, and her father died when the daughter was a mere child.

A distant relative named Gratton, who went to Canon City to attend the funeral of William Swigart, took the baby girl back to his home in New Mexico. The child remained with her adopted father until a few years ago, when he died and she was left without a home. She then went to Pueblo and lived with the brother of her foster-father. This man's name is George Gratton, and it was at his home that Judge Galligan found Miss Swigart.

On the death of George W. Swigart, in South Bend, an unsuccessful attempt was made to settle the estate. The attorneys who had the matter in hand—the firm of which Congressman Brick is a member—were unable to accomplish anything because of the missing daughter of William Swigart.

The search, which has extended all over the West, then began. Even after the girl was found, considerable trouble was experienced on account of so little being known of her early history. It was necessary to establish her identity during the first three years of her life. This has now been accomplished. With the filing of the proceedings in the St. Joseph circuit court, the final chapter in the story of the Swigart estate has been written.

It seems that George W. Swigart knew of Lucile Swigart and her mother, although it appears that he was not aware of the death of the latter, for in his will he left them $1 apiece. This will was broken by other relatives, the case being first taken up in the La Porte circuit court and later removed to the Porter circuit court on a change of venue. A jury there decided that the will was invalid, and that Swigart was of unsound mind when he executed it. Thus Miss Swigart will get a large share of the $300,000 left by her grandfather.

DIAMONDS SAVE LIFE

Of a Detroit Woman in the Terra Cotta Wreck.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Crushed between two cars in a wrecked car on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Terra Cotta on Dec. 29, Mrs. Charles A. Proctor of Detroit, Mich., was saved from death by the glint of light falling from a lantern in her hand. Mrs. Proctor and her husband were the only persons in the car who escaped death. Proctor, who is an asphalt expert, received severe injuries that will leave him a cripple for life, while his wife sustained less severe internal injuries. Both are in the hospital here. "I probably owe my life to those diamond rings," said Mrs. Proctor. "A searcher came down the tracks with a lantern. The rays from which shone against my jewels and by this method I was released. I am extremely conscious of my first thoughts were of Mr. Proctor."

"When at last I found him he was lying in a ditch by the roadside, almost submerged by water and literally covered with wreckage. I tried so hard to drag him out, but it was an unequal task. Then I took off my coat and fur. Then I forced beneath him in an effort to free him from the water. It was three hours before he was extricated. It was a great mass. Then, and then only, did I realize that I had been injured."

GIRL'S SMILE IS TITLE TO OFFICE

How Miss Stubbs Became Head of Important
State Bureau.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 25.—Charlaine Miss Mary Stubbs, 23, is now chief of the state bureau of statistics, appointed by Governor Hanly to the first elective office of a woman in Indiana. Although she had not been elected to it, she might as well have been, for to her was due the first election of her father to the office. In last November, on the day upon which he was re-elected, he contracted a cold which put him in the hospital a week ago. That is how the office became vacant.

The appointment of a woman to this $2,000 office, to fill out the unexpired term, is one of the unique things Governor Hanly has done, and it has no precedent. It is said that Miss Stubbs had a great personal acquaintance among the politicians of the state than any woman in Indiana. Two years ago she got down on the floor of the state Republican convention and worked for her father, who was a popular traveling man. Support was pretty evenly divided for and against him on the first ballot. Miss Stubbs rounded up the Wabash county delegation and secured their votes.

"Well, if Joe Stubbs has a daughter as pretty as you are, we will vote for him," said the leader of the delegation. Last fall he was re-nominated without opposition.

Miss Stubbs is a stenographer. She had quarters and her cordiality and smiling courtesy to party workers who had business there unexpectedly made her father a possibility for the nomination.

NEWSMEN TO GIVE TALK PIG SAVED FIVE LIVES

Literary Professor at Squealing of Porker
Ames Will Address Leads Sailors to Place
Men's Meeting. of Safety.

of Ralph Connor's Just Before It Was "Sky Pilot." Crushed.

Prof. Adrian M. Newsen of Ames, Iowa will be the principal speaker, Sunday afternoon, at the big Y. M. C. A. men's meeting at the Lyceum theater. Mr. Newsen is the professor and head of the department of oratory and literature of Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa, and the subject of his address Sunday afternoon will be "The Sky Pilot."

Prof. Newsen has been at Ames college for a number of years, but has not devoted his entire time to the work there, and at every opportunity has gone out on lecturing tours in different sections of the country. He had just returned from one of these trips last week, on which he had visited many of the Eastern states. In New York he spoke to several big Y. M. C. A. meetings, and was very well received.

His specialty seems to be addressing men's meetings, and it is expected that the meeting in this city will be well attended and a great success. Mr. Newsen is not only an orator, but is also a great elocutionist and a good literary student. He has covered practically all of the Western states on his travels, and his name is well known in the majority of the Western cities.

His address Sunday will not be an ordinary lecture, nor will it be a mere presentation of the "Sky Pilot." It will rather be Mr. Newsen's original interpretation of the book, in which he will show the lessons which can be taken from it in connection with every day life.

Rev. John W. Powell will preside at the meeting, and will introduce Prof. Newsen. Tickets may be secured at the Lyceum theater, or at the Y. M. C. A. building, at the drug stores, or at the Lyceum box office.

The concert by the orchestra "will this Sunday commence at 3:10 instead of at 8:15, and will continue until 3:30. All are welcome to attend the meeting, and it is free, but admission is by ticket only. Tickets may be secured at the association building, at the drug stores, or at the Lyceum box office.

The following Sunday Rev. Parker Powell of New York city will be the speaker at the men's meeting.

MILLIONAIRES TO FIGHT NEW YORK AUTHORITIES.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 25.—The millionaires who have a legal taxed domicile here and have this week been taxed on personal property in New York, are today fighting the New York authorities.

A number of these persons sent here for certificates of their citizenship in this state and these it appears, are to be presented to the taxing authorities. New York as the best evidence that the tax imposed in New York is not only unjust, but that it cannot be collected.

Most of these persons, notably Mrs. William Astor, Mrs. Robert Goelet, Robert Goelet, Robert Walton Goelet, Henry Goelet, and Mrs. John Goelet, and James J. Van Alen, were, till a few years ago, taxed in New York. Then they changed their legal residence to Newport to take advantage of a lower rate of tax. This meant a great loss to New York and a great gain for Newport.

Since then the tax authorities of New York have been trying in various ways to get these persons on their list again, and they have now succeeded, by having a law passed by which they claim that all persons who have homes, but not a legal residence, in New York, are taxable in that state on personal property.

This law will now be brought to the test through appeals to the various higher courts, including even the supreme court of the United States. In a nut shell, the claim is that no person can be taxed for the same thing in two places.

It is probable that ex-Commodore Gerry, the millionaire yachtsman, Henry A. Taylor and the Messrs. Goelet will be the contesting parties in the test case.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 25.—Five lives saved by a pig.

It was a dramatic situation that transformed an ordinary German porker into a hero. Perhaps, however, the heroism of the pig was not the saving of five lives, but the saving of the ship itself. It took a hurricane, when mountainous seas rolled and tossed the great steamship like a cork, to push this porker into the limelight. The ship was the Grand Banks. On the 14th the liner was en route from New York to London, and it was on this day that the storm came from the north, shifted to west, and went around to the southwest, blowing eight to ninety miles an hour.

A tremendous sea caused the ship to roll and plunge in a frightful manner. Oil was poured over the bow, but with little effect. The mercury dropped to 20 degrees above zero and every wave sent tons of water over the decks. Spray went even over the masts, the water froze as it struck, covering the steamship with tons of ice.

On the 14th the steamship logged but 100 knots. The storm grew worse. On the 15th Capt. E. Groomer turned the vessel's bow into the teeth of the wind and kept his engines running at full speed to wear out the gale. It was impossible to keep on his course against the fury of the elements. The crew had not been able to cross the deck forward of the mainmast, and the ship had remained in temporary quarters amidships.

It was coming on the night of the 15th, and the storm had not moderated, when a huge derelict boom over the stern broke adrift. It was plunging from side to side with every roll of the ship. It threatened to wreck the after house. Chief Officer Wagner and his men jumped from the after house, which they had just gained, to rescue the pig. They had just cleared the house when the 2-ton boom came crashing across the top of the house. A second later and the men would have been horribly crushed and swept into the sea by the unmanageable boom.

With the pig secured from danger of being swept overboard, the men were able to get at their perilous position on the deckhouse. That the escape of the pig was no doubt, the superstitious of the sailor men from the jaws of death could not be doubted. Superstition of the sailor men from the jaws of death could not be doubted. Superstition of the sailor men from the jaws of death could not be doubted.

After this thrilling incident the boom was secured by ropes thrown from the after deck. The storm abated during the night, and the ship was able to resume her journey. The pig was found on the after deck, and the steam pipes badly bent by the tremendous seas.

DASHING RIDING WINS A BRIDE

Miss Scheu Secretly Weds Nephew of Mutual Life's President.

New York, Jan. 25.—A romance, that happened at midnight, last New Year's eve, was disclosed a few days ago. It was the secret wedding of Miss Myra Scheu, granddaughter of the late Selman Scheu, once mayor of Buffalo, and Griswold Haven Peabody, former Naval Academy football star and youngest son of Stephen Peabody, the millionaire coal and gas operator of No. 17 Battery place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Henry Marsh Warren, the noted hotel chaplain. Mr. and Mrs. Peabody are now on their honeymoon trip in Tennessee.

The romance began when Peabody was a rough rider in Pawnee Bill's Wild West at Brighton Beach last summer. His reckless and dashing horseman's play won the admiration of Miss Scheu, the daughter of one of the college men in "Brown of Harvard."

They decided to be married with the outgoing of the old year.

Miss Salome Scheu, the younger sister of Mrs. Peabody, at her home at No. 219 West One Hundred and Ninth street, told the story.

"My sister fell in love with her husband at first sight and he fell in love with her as soon as he was presented. The pair were married just before midnight on New Year's eve. They started housekeeping at No. 225 West One Hundred and Ninth street. After their honeymoon is over they will probably return here and make this city their home."

Young Peabody is a graduate of St. Paul's school and has spent two years at Annapolis. He was a crack half back on the Naval eleven and was popular among his comrades. Peabody had been married before and divorced. His present wife is also a divorcee. Although only 22 years old, according to her marriage affidavits made before the Rev. Dr. Warren, her sister yesterday expressed complete surprise that Mr. Peabody had ever been married before.

Peabody is 24 years old, tall, good looking and has the reputation of being one of the best dressed men in the city. He is the grandson of George C. Haven, president of the Metropolitan Real Estate company and a director in several railroads. His uncle, Charles Peabody, is the new president of the Mutual Life.

At the home of Stephen Peabody, father of young Peabody, at No. 30 East Fifty-fourth street, it was stated that no member of the family was home who could discuss the marriage. It is known that Mr. Peabody is cognizant of his son's second marriage, but his feelings in the matter have not been revealed.

Until recently Griswold Peabody was a member of the American Shirt Board Advertising company. His chum and old time school friend, Hugh McEwen, was also a member of the firm.

Mrs. Peabody was extremely popular in the upper West side social set and had many admirers. She is tall and has a wealth of dark hair.

SCROFULA

A FAMILY BLOOD TAIN

Scrofula is not a disease that is acquired, under ordinary circumstances. It is a deep-seated family blood taint, handed down from generation to generation, blighting the lives and sapping the vital forces of innocent persons who have inherited this legacy of disease. Parents who are blood relations or who have a consumptive tendency, or blood disease of any character, are sure to transmit it to their offspring, and it usually takes the form of Scrofula. Swollen glands, brittle bones, weak eyes, sores and eruptions on the body, Catarrh, and often deformities with hip disease, are the principal ways in which the trouble is manifested. In some cases the blood is so filled with scrofulous germs and poisons that from birth the sufferer is an object of pity because of suffering and a total lack of health, while in other instances favorable surroundings and prudent living hold the disease in check until later in life. A deep-seated blood disease like Scrofula can only be reached by the very best constitutional treatment. A remedy is required that can renovate the entire blood supply and drive out the scrofulous and tuberculous deposits. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers; it goes to the very bottom of all blood disorders and removes every taint and poison from the circulation, makes rich, healthy blood and cures Scrofula permanently. S. S. S. supplies the weak, diseased blood with the rich, health-sustaining properties it is in need of, and makes this life stream fit to supply every part of the system with strength and vitality. Scrofula yields to S. S. S. because it is a natural blood purifier. Write for book on the blood and any medical advice desired. No charge for either.

ACTION BY DULUTH AND ST. LOUIS COUNTY NEEDED TO BACK UP DELEGATION

Radical Legislation Affecting This County May be Passed.

Average Legislator Knows Little About the Iron Country.

Steps Should be Taken to Supply Needed Information.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—In view of the fact that matters of legislation vitally affecting St. Louis county are pending before the legislature, there is an ominous lack of activity on the part of Duluth and St. Louis county.

The situation is something like this: The state, outside of Duluth, has various ideas about the iron mines and the iron mining communities, chief among which is the idea that it is not getting enough benefit out of them.

This sentiment is so pronounced in the legislature that it is pretty certain that something will be done. Certainly, if St. Louis county does not do something to back up its legislative delegation, something will be done, and that something may possibly prove disastrous.

St. Louis county has a large interest of her own in this matter to look out for.

DETECTIVE IS REDUCED

Chief at St. Louis Now a Lieutenant of Police.

St. Louis, Jan. 26.—After an all night session of the board of police commissioners, announcement was made by the secretary that Chief of Detectives William Desmond had been reduced to a lieutenant of police and J. H. Smith, recently appointed to the police force as a captain, had been made chief of detectives. Desmond had been head of the detective bureau for sixteen years. Desmond's reduction was the result of a general shake up in the department, and no specific charges of any kind were preferred.

VERY COLD AT ST. PAUL

The Official Thermometer Registers Twenty-Two Below Zero.

Southern Wisconsin is Getting a Taste of Severe Weather.

St. Paul, Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—St. Paul was the coldest spot on the weather map today, according to the weather bureau officials. It was 22 degs. below zero. Street thermometers showed a much colder temperature, by six to eight degrees. The sun was partly obscured by frost particles in the air.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 26.—The Northwest is suffering from prolonged cold weather, the temperature not having been above zero for thirty-six hours. Today 16 below zero was registered, the coldest of the winter, and the thermometers are still falling with a prospect of going to 20 below by tomorrow. The extreme cold is interfering with train schedules all the passenger trains running behind today.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 26.—Eight inches of snow fell in Central and Eastern Kentucky last night. All railway traffic is delayed. Live stock is suffering.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 26.—The government thermometer registered 12 below zero today. This is the coldest weather in two years.

Kansas City, Jan. 26.—Eight degs. above zero, the coldest weather of the winter, prevailed today at Kansas City and Topeka, with but little snow. In Southern Missouri, Southern Kansas and in the territories, the weather is moderating.

GOODBYE TO HOPES

Legislators Will Not be Able to Get Expense Fund.

Understood the Resolution Will be Withdrawn Next Week.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the legislature are preparing themselves to say goodbye to their pleasant vision of that $250 expense fund. There will be no oration on it from the attorney general, to whom it was sent for that purpose, as he will not embarrass them by presenting one. It is being quietly circulated, however that the only way the plan could be made constitutional would be for the members to itemize their accounts of expenses, or to appropriate money for specific purposes, and that to make a flat payment of $250 would be an increase of compensation, which the constitution prohibits. It is understood that the resolution will be withdrawn next week.

The Butler-Hackney contest case has been decided by the senate committee on elections in favor of Hackney, the Republican, who was seated, but the result was reached by a strictly party vote, and the end is not yet. The Democrats who favor seating Pierce Butler will present a minority report. It is said that some of the Republican members of the committee are wavering.

Dr. F. C. Bowman and W. H. Hoyt, representing the 200 Duluth graduates of the Minnesota university, visited Governor Johnson this morning in behalf of the appointment of Henry B. Hovind of Duluth as a regent of the state university. In addition to the personal qualifications of Hovind, which were fittingly presented, it was shown that the third city of the state, the capital of a large empire, with vast interests, has no representation on the board of regents. Letters have also been received favoring the appointment of John G. Williams as a regent.

NEGRO FIEND BURNS WOMAN

Tied Her in House and Resisted Attempts at Rescue.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 26.—At Soria City, last night, William Smith, colored, of Seranton, Miss., burned to death "Pinky" Tigg, with whom he formerly lived. The woman is said to have come here from Seranton to get rid of Smith, who followed her. Neighbors were excited by piteous cries for help, and rushing to the woman's home they found the building in flames, but were prevented from rescuing her by Smith, who stood guard in the doorway until the wall began to totter. The dead woman is thought to have been tied to a chair, as she continued to scream for help until dead. When the officers arrived Smith said he had been sleeping and awoke to find the house ablaze. Smith was arrested.

Judge Morris Overrules Demurrers in Minneapolis Hearings.

Government Prosecuting Attorneys Win Out on All Points.

All Cases Must Now be Heard on Their Merits.

Overruling the demurrers brought by the attorneys for the railroad and grain interests, Judge Page Morris, in a decision filed today, will force the defendant companies to go to trial on the charge of giving and receiving rebates.

The cases are known as the United States of America, plaintiff, against the Chicago, Saint Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railway company, E. B. Ober, H. M. Pearce, F. C. Gifford, defendants; and the United States of America, plaintiff, against Ames-Brooks company, defendant, and other cases.

They were heard by Judge Morris in Minneapolis last fall. His decision on the demurrers is an important one, and sustains the prosecution on both points, to which the defendant companies demurred.

The body will be taken to Hudson Sunday night and funeral services will be held there Monday.

WATERS ARE FALLING FAST

River at Louisville Recedes Three Feet in Day's Time.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 26.—The river continues to recede, the readings at 8:30 this morning showing 36.2 feet, a fall of three feet in the past twenty-four hours. In spite of the heavy snow fall yesterday and last night, it is expected the river will recede two feet or more today. The cold wave scheduled for today arrived on time, the temperature registered 5 degs. below zero this morning, a drop of 30 degs. since yesterday. The cold weather is causing considerable suffering among the residents of the flooded districts.

GREAT MILL IN FLAMES

Five Story Structure of the Cocheco Company Burns.

The Lives of 500 Employees Placed in Great Danger.

Dover, N. H., Jan. 26.—The lives of from 300 to 500 employees in the large five-story No. 1 mill of the Cocheco Manufacturing company were imperiled by a fire that swept through the structure with great rapidity, shortly after all the hands were at their places, early today. Many were hurt by jumping from the fourth story windows.

One man who, with four others, was carried down an extension ladder from the fifth floor, reported that as he groped his way to the window he stumbled over several prostrate forms. The mill building seemed doomed at 8:30 o'clock, but the firemen were confident of preventing the spread of the flames to adjoining structures.

Two of the men who jumped from the fourth floor were taken to the hospital seriously hurt and a dozen of the others were treated for hurts of a less serious nature. The most badly hurt were:

William Turner, mule spinner, broken hip; James Ashton, mule spinner, both legs broken.

The fire started from a hot box in the spool room, and before the frightened employees could make any effort to extinguish it the flames spread to the spinning room and swept through the big mill. There were no fire escapes in the place, and the panic-stricken employees made a wild rush for the exits. Those on the lower floors generally managed to get out through the doors or the windows, but those on the fourth and fifth floors were not so fortunate.

Employees on the fifth floor rushed to the fourth in large numbers, and finding that smoke and flames cut

ELECTIONS IN GERMANY

Berlin, Jan. 26.—The results of the Reichstag election have been officially decided in 361 districts out of a total of 397. The Socialists lost 17 seats and gained 1. The Center party lost 2 and gained 1. The two Conservative parties lost 8 and gained 4. The Moderate Radicals lost 1 and gained 3. The National Liberals lost 6 and gained 10. The Agrarians lost 4 and gained 3. In the 361 districts only 208 members were elected second ballots being necessary in 152 districts. The Socialists, who had 21 out of the 22 seats in the Reichstag up to now, have only been victorious in seven districts.

HAND OF AN AVENGER SHOOTS DOWN PROMINENT STATEN ISLAND SURGEON

JOHN P. QUIRK, Found Guilty of Manslaughter For the Killing of William A. Dowell at Minneapolis.

Dr. Townsend Aroused From Sleep and Shot Twice.

None of the Valuables in the House Were Disturbed.

Some Mysterious Features Connected With the Case.

New York, Jan. 26.—Dr. Charles W. Townsend, one of the best known physicians and surgeons on Staten Island, was shot and probably mortally wounded while in bed in his home at New Brighton, S. I., early today. The case is surrounded by mystery, but from the meagre details, which have been permitted to leak out by the officials, it is believed that the doctor was the victim of a man who sought vengeance for some real or fancied wrong. That it was not the act of a burglar, as was first believed, appears to be borne out by the fact that not a single article was taken from the house, although hundreds of dollars' worth of jewelry and silverware was within easy reach. This also is believed to be borne out by stories, which have been told the coroner by both Dr. Townsend and his wife. Mrs. Townsend witnessed the shooting. The coroner has declined to make known any of the information obtained from Dr. Townsend and his wife. He declares that to do so would tend to defeat the ends of justice. From this statement, it is inferred that the identity of the assassin is at least suspected and that the officials hope to make an early arrest in connection with the case.

STEAMER LAUNCHED

The Thomas F. Cole Takes the Water at Detroit.

A Number of Duluth People Witness the Event.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 600-foot steamer, Thomas F. Cole, the first of its size to be floated here, was successfully launched at the Ecorse yards of the Great Lakes Engineering works today. It is being built for the Pittsburgh Steamship company. Miss Marion Lucy Wright, daughter of J. N. Wright, a local capitalist, broke the proverbial bottle of wine over the prow of the vessel, which slid into the water with a great splash. Among the outsiders present at the launching were: President H. Coulby of the Pittsburgh fleet; Thomas F. Cole of Duluth, for whom the ship was named; and Mrs. Cole; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Tomlinson of Duluth; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnston of Ishpeming; Capt. D. Sullivan of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Child of New York; and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McLean of Duluth.

AGREES TO STAY AWAY

May McKenzie Will Not Attend Court Any More.

New York, Jan. 26.—Rumors of differences between Mrs. Harry K. Thaw and the countess of Yarmouth, mother and sister of Harry K. Thaw, on the other, continued to be circulated today, despite a denial by Thaw's counsel that any such differences existed. The reported differences are alleged to have arisen over the continued presence in the courtroom of Miss McKenzie, the former chorus girl, who invariably accompanies Mrs. Evelyn Thaw and sits by her during the session of the court.

Miss McKenzie is said to be the younger Mrs. Thaw's constant companion since Harry Thaw shot Stanford White.

It was reported today that Delphin M. Delmas, the San Francisco lawyer who came East to defend Thaw, went to the Hotel Lorraine, where the relatives of Harry Thaw are staying, in the hope of reconciling any differences which might have arisen between the woman. It was said that Evelyn Thaw made the first step to placate her mother-in-law and sister-in-law, and that she had consented to smooth over their misunderstanding on the agreement that Miss McKenzie should discontinue her appearance in court.

One of the reports in circulation today dealing with the Thaw's motive for shooting Stanford White was to the effect that on the night before the shooting Thaw called on White and exacted from him a promise that he would never try to communicate with Evelyn Thaw again. It was also reported that while at dinner in the Cafe Martin, four hours before the tragedy, Thaw intercepted a note from White asking Mrs. Thaw to meet him.

Rooms are reported to have been engaged in this city for eight Pittsburgh witnesses for Thaw to be brought to this city under the care of Roger Omara, the Pittsburgh detective.

VON BUELOW VICTORIOUS

Emperor William gratulates Chanc on the Election

Clerical Center Party Returns to Reichstag "Tamed."

Berlin, Jan. 26.—Emperor William called on Chancellor Von Buelow early today and congratulated him on the soundness of his judgment in dissolving the reichstag and appealing to the country on an important question of national policy. The emperor maintained throughout the electoral campaign a position of excellent reserve. He did not attempt by word or act to influence the result; yet he was intensely interested in the issue, especially regarding the manner in which the country would treat the colonial question and how the socialists would emerge from the conflict.

After his visit to Von Buelow his majesty took his usual morning walk and then returned to the chancellors' place in order to discuss the latest returns. Emperor William will be 48 years old tomorrow and some one remarked that the country had given him a fine birthday present "in checking the growth of red Republican Socialism." Von Buelow's personal position with the emperor and the country is regarded as having been greatly fortified. The chancellor will probably be able to go before parliament with a degree of power which he had not previously possessed. Although the clerical center party has, according to the results so far obtained, gained many seats as it has lost, it will return to the reichstag "tamed" as one of the chancellor's friends said, and willing to cooperate with the government.

FREAR FIGURES DEFICIT.

Secretary of State Warns Wisconsin Solons to Go Slow.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 26.—Secretary of State Frear, surprised the members of the legislature by giving out an estimate tending to show that the state treasury will be bankrupt by Jan. 1 next.

He estimates that after making allowance for the customary appropriations for the maintenance of the administration, educational, judiciary and other departments of state government, there will be a balance of only $119,000 in the treasury at the end of the present year and that this will be more than swallowed up by a deficit of $200,000 in the state university fund.

It has been generally believed that there was so much money in the state treasury that the legislature would have difficulty in finding ways of putting it into circulation. The big balance, however, has been eaten up by large remission of taxes and unexpectedly large expenses in the administration of state affairs.

ORGANIZED LABOR IN DULUTH

Nearly 5,000 Union Men of Various Trades and Crafts.

History of the Two Central Labor Organizations.

Duluth, at the present time, is considered to be one of the best organized and strongest unionized cities in the country, according to the labor leaders.

It has two strong central labor bodies and these are supported by nearly 5,000 sturdy union men of many different trades and crafts. The story of the organization of these two central bodies and the history of their ups and downs, is an interesting one.

The first labor organization in Duluth was formed as far back as 1886, at the time when the so-called Knights of Labor was an institution extending over the whole country. The local organizations were formed under the charter from this national association of the Knights of Labor and flourished for a time. But the Knights of Labor was more of a political organization than one to promote the welfare of labor, and on this account it was dissolved toward the latter part of 1896.

But during that year the trades unions had been organized in Duluth in great numbers and, after the Knights of Labor organization went under, the local unions still progressed independently under the guidance of their own national and international associations. More unions continued to be organized until at the end of the year the majority of all the trades in the city were under the rule of these organizations.

As the strength of the union movement increased the different labor leaders got together and decided that a central labor body, in which all of the local unions should have representation, was needed. The Duluth Trades assembly was the result and practically all of the local trades were represented and contributed to its support. The first president of the trades assembly was Joseph Mannheim, who was afterwards elected an alderman. He died about two years ago.

After the disintegration of the national association of Knights of Labor, the American Federation of Labor was organized and has since been the controlling factor of American labor unions. Trades unions all over the country took membership in the new national organization and the Duluth locals were among them. For about four years the union movement progressed harmoniously and happily in this city. There were few strikes and the different unions continued to grow in strength.

About 1896, a split occurred in the trades assembly and two different factions were formed, each having a disagreement in the building trades assembly, became dissatisfied and finally, after many warring at the assembly meetings, they pulled out and formed a separate body. This new central body was known as the Duluth Building Trades council and was the first of the organizations known as the building structural alliance.

At the time these two central organizations fought each other at every turn and as the different local unions, membership in this central body, took sides against each other, the labor movement in Duluth suffered considerably. This condition of affairs continued for about two years and then the labor leaders got together and declared peace between the trades assembly and the building trades council.

Unions of the building trades which had seceded from the trades assembly decided to come back into the fold, and from that time the union of the central body was known as the Duluth Federated Trades and Labor assembly. This organization was reformed practically intact since that time. Maurice Griffin, member of the Plumbers' union, and formerly a building trades council member, was chosen the first president of the reconstructed trades assembly.

Since then the following members of the different trades have been elected to the president's chair: Gustaf Olson, Stonecutters' union, 1894; Alfred McCallum, cigarmakers, 1895; Charles Thomas, street car conductor, part of 1896; Robert Haire, tinner, part of 1896; W. E. McEwen, plumber, 1897 and 1898; Edward Krize, boiler-maker, 1899; John McMurry, laundryworker, 1900; Arthur Jones, cigarmaker, 1901; George M. Davis, carpenter, 1902; Henry Percall, cigarmaker, 1903-04; Joseph Shattell, cigarmaker, 1905 and 1906; and V. J. Hunt, electrical worker, who holds the position at present.

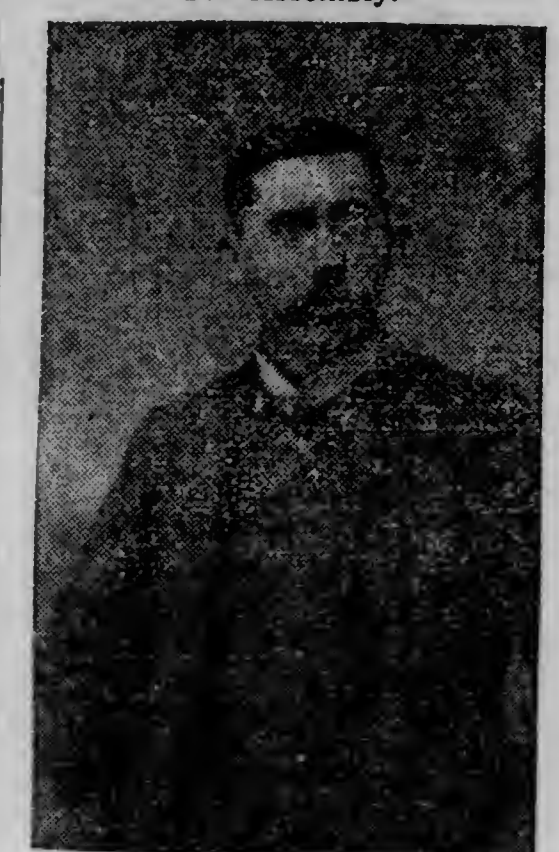

The largest membership at any time in the history of the trades assembly was gained by the organization during the years 1897 and 1898, and the meetings were warm and interesting. Debates on the various subjects concerning the working man in Duluth, and subjects of national interest, were held by the members. Prior to 1894 representatives of the local newspapers were not admitted to the meetings, but in that year it was decided to admit them on condition that they would not color the facts and would give a fair report of the proceedings at the meetings.

It is a notable fact that since the organization of the central labor bodies in Duluth the majority of the strikes in this city have been among the unorganized workmen. The biggest strike in which the union men had any part occurred in 1893, when the street car men fought for their rights. This fight was a bitter one, and there was more or less disorder. The rioters were in nearly all cases sympathizers of the strikers, and not the members of the union. The conflict was won by the street car company, and the organization of street car employees was broken up and has not since been reorganized. Most of the strikes since then have been of a trivial nature and short duration, with only a few men involved.

In 1899 and 1900 the trades assembly was characterized by its extreme radicalism. The two years just previous had been very prosperous ones, and the organization was at its height, having increased in membership from about 1,500 to about 4,000. The unionists felt jubilant and independent, and it was hard to keep them under control. Boycott was the word. Every little grievance which any of the union men in the city had was the cause of a boycott against some firm or company of Duluth. The boycotts finally became so frequent that the radicalism of the trades assembly was a public nuisance. The business men of the city decided to do something to prevent it going any further.

A bill was drawn up and introduced in the state legislature, known as the anti-boycott bill. The measure was framed by the business men here in Duluth, but was introduced by a member of the legislature from the southern part of the state. Although many of the labor leaders in Duluth admitted that the trades assembly had become a nuisance from its radicalism, they considered this bill as unjust and it hit labor alone and paid no attention to the many other business boycotters.

There was a hard fight for the passage of the bill in the senate after it had gone through the house. The labor organizations fought bravely against it and maintained a strong lobby at St. Paul. Finally the Duluth business men sent a delegation of ten men to St. Paul to further the passage of the bill. The information of this was tipped off to W. E. McEwen, and president of the trades assembly sent a like committee of ten men to watch the business men's agents. A series of joint meetings was held at the Merchants hotel and finally the two committees agreed upon a compromise. The labor leaders did not like the bill, but after receiving some inside information that it would never get through the senate they agreed to let it stand. The bill, when it came to a vote, received only about a half a dozen votes. Since then, however, there has been very little boycotting on the part of the trades assembly, as the more conservative element has been at its head.

The Duluth Building Trades council did not recognize after 1892 until 1897 when a strong body by that name was formed with a membership including nearly all of the building trades. Friction with the trades assembly was prevented by the two organizations exchanging fraternal delegates at the time the trades council was recognized as an auxiliary to the trades assembly. It continued as such until 1906, when the building trades structural alliance was formed. The trades alliance is considered by the trades assembly as the executive and little of the proceeding got out to the public.

Both of the central organizations elected new officers about a month ago. The new president of the trades assembly is William J. Hunt, who is also a member of the trades alliance. Edward Lowe presides at the meetings of the trades alliance. Last year was a progressive one for both of the central organizations in Duluth and on account of the peaceful relations existing between them at present the labor leaders are looking for an equally prosperous year during 1907.

LABOR NAMES HIS ASSISTANTS

Standing Committees Are Appointed by Trades Assembly President.

Delegates From Telegraphers' Union Admitted to Membership.

Tonight—Longshoremen at Gilley's hall, West Duluth.

Monday—Retail Clerks at Labor World hall; Teamsters at Labor World hall; Stonemasons at Axa hall; Tug Firemen at Axa hall.

Tuesday—Carpenters at Rowley hall; Painters, Decorators and Paper-hangers at Kalamazoo hall.

Wednesday—Marine Engineers at Lyceum theatre; Electrical Workers at Labor World hall; Iron Moulders at Sloan hall; Bricklayers at Axa hall; Ship Carpenters at Sloan hall.

President W. J. Hunt of the Duluth Trades assembly gave out his appointments to the regular standing committees last evening at the regular meeting held at Labor World hall. Of the committees, the organization committee and the city council committee are the most important.

The organization committee, whose duty it is to keep close watch on all trades in the city and to persuade the unorganized men to persuade them to form a union, is now composed of Delegates Frank Fisher, James Walsh, Martin Olmen, John A. Barron and William Roth. The city council committee, which is to advise the city council on labor organizations at the city council meetings, is made up of Edward Lowe, James Walsh and George Northfield.

The executive board is composed of the following: William Perry, Ernest Peters, George Northfield and W. J. Hunt. The trustees for the coming term are James Walsh, Joseph Miller, George Northfield and W. J. Hunt. The Superior trades assembly was W. J. Hunt and Delegate Hawksworth. The committee on publication and lectures is composed of the following members: J. H. Becker and S. J. Stuart.

One new union made application for membership last evening, it being the Commercial Telegraphers local, No. 100. The new union was admitted to membership in the assembly as representatives of the new union. The following delegates of the Federation of Commercial Telegraphers:

On the Northern Pacific, near Ashland, Wis., is a small station with the burlesque name of Ino. The telephone bell in the local city freight office rang this morning, and Chief Clerk Miller answered it.

"Do you know Ino?" asked a gruff voice.

"I didn't until you told me," said Mr. Miller, who thought he recognized the voice. "I don't know it."

"What are you talking about?" asked the voice.

"I merely wished to ask if you know the freight rates to Ino."

"You know, know. What kind of a shipment is it?"

"The freight rate depends upon the kind of the shipment. If it is a carload it will cost you $2 a dozen; if it is a boxcar it will cost you $3 a dozen; if it is a flat car it will cost you $4 a dozen."

"Thank you. Now I know you know."

Mr. Miller had a strong hunch that the voice belonged to one of the local freight men that he one day had searched for an hour for the rate on a carload of fish scales between Duluth and Minneapolis.

and Mr. Cox hopes to see the Duluth delegates at the next meeting.

The annual installation of officers of the local Butchers' union was held Thursday evening at Rowley hall. The affair was public and there was a large attendance to witness the ceremony. After the business of the meeting and the installation ceremony was completed the company enjoyed social dancing until a late hour.

The semi-annual election of the Superior Trades and Labor assembly was held this week and Andrew Cox was elected to the position of president to succeed John Josephson, the other officers were as follows: Vice president, A. W. Anderson; treasurer, Ole Isachsen; financial secretary, J. J. Mackosky; corresponding secretary, A. J. Nye; recording secretary, Chas. Swanson; sergeant-at-arms, M. McGilvary; delegates to Duluth assembly, Axel Douhan and A. Cox; delegates to Structural Alliance, John Josephson and Axel Douhan; trustees, C. W. Brandt, Wolfe and Martin Olson; assembly statistician, Axel Douhan. The officers were installed following the election.

C. J. McDowell of the Leatherworkers' union and formerly financial secretary to the trades assembly, who has until recently been foreman of the saddlery department of the Marshall-Weils Hardware company, has accepted the position of financial secretary to the city council. This is one of the best known institutions in the Northwest.

RAILROADS CAPT. REED HAS SCHEME

Says That He Will Build Mankato-Duluth Line.

Wisconsin Central Cur-tailing Expenses All Along the Line.

Captain Reed of Glencoe, Minn., formerly president of the "Alphabet" road, which is the name of the Duluth & Southwestern, has a scheme to connect Duluth with Mankato, Minn., still cherishes a hope of building a line between these two points, although his interest in the Alphabet has been purchased by E. L. Faber.

According to a dispatch from Albert Lea, Minn., Capt. Reed has revived and rejuvenated a corporation which long has been lost to the memory of the oldest inhabitants, and which at one time was known as the Duluth & Southwestern. The route of this line closely follows that of the Alphabet between Duluth and Mankato.

It is said to be his intention to father a movement to build the Duluth & Southwestern to beat out the Alphabet in its construction work to Duluth, and that he already is meeting with encouragement and hopes secured to interest necessary capital in the project, so actual work may begin some time during the coming summer.

DO YOU KNOW INO?

Northern Pacific Station in Wisconsin Has a Burlesque Name.

On the Northern Pacific, near Ashland, Wis., is a small station with the burlesque name of Ino. The telephone bell in the local city freight office rang this morning, and Chief Clerk Miller answered it.

"Do you know Ino?" asked a gruff voice.

"I didn't until you told me," said Mr. Miller, who thought he recognized the voice. "I don't know it."

"What are you talking about?" asked the voice.

"I merely wished to ask if you know the freight rates to Ino."

"You know, know. What kind of a shipment is it?"

"The freight rate depends upon the kind of the shipment. If it is a carload it will cost you $2 a dozen; if it is a boxcar it will cost you $3 a dozen; if it is a flat car it will cost you $4 a dozen."

"Thank you. Now I know you know."

Mr. Miller had a strong hunch that the voice belonged to one of the local freight men that he one day had searched for an hour for the rate on a carload of fish scales between Duluth and Minneapolis.

CUTTING EXPENSES.
Wisconsin Central Says it is Paying Too Much Money.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 26.—The Wisconsin central road has abolished the position of assistant superintendent, C. W. Booth, who has held the title for several years, becoming purchasing agent after Feb. 1, succeeding John A. Whaling.

Orders have been issued recently curtailing expenses all along the line. Hereafter there will be no stagecoaches at Stevens Point and Portage, the duties of baggage men being performed by ticket clerks and yardmen.

The company also is making changes in its signal system. Station signals in the future will be shown from poles and towers instead of from the depot, as heretofore.

BEATS NORTHWESTERN.
Burlington Contractors Building Road Through Big Horn Canyon.

Thermopolis, Wyo., Jan. 26.—A party of Burlington railroad contractors and contractors have begun building a line of railroad through the famous Big Horn canyon, in order to forestall the Northern Pacific, which was to be built through the same canyon next spring. For twelve miles there is room for only one road through the canyon and it has been agreed that the Burlington is the right-of-way. The Big Horn canyon is the key to traffic in all Northern and Western Wyoming, and the only route through the Owl creek mountains. The Northwestern was set at its heels by the West far to the south of its planned line.

DECAMPED WITH HER BOY LOVER

Plight of Pretty School Ma'am Astounds Des Moines Friends.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 26.—College society circles in Des Moines are inexpressibly shocked at news which has reached here of the arrest of pretty 15-year-old Wilma Frazier, one of the most popular students at Drake university last year, who is held by the Kansas City police for the alleged abduction of 16-year-old Roy Whitman, one of her pupils at Scribner, Neb.

Miss Frazier began her teaching career last fall, after completing her course at Drake university. She had been rooming at the home of young Whitman. The boy became madly infatuated with her. At Thanksgiving time they disappeared. For weeks, the parents sought to locate them. The police in the large cities were notified and Miss Frazier has just been located at Kansas City.

She denies that she married Whitman. So do her relatives. And the question arises, how could a young woman of medium stature and strength abduct a young man six feet tall and corresponding husky?

The case is one that baffles friends of the young lady here. They are unable to account for the strange course she has taken, but are unanimous in deriding the charge that she could have abducted young Whitman.

for, and if she does not look after it Cottonwood county or Mower county are not going to look after it for her, nor will any other county or any other part of the state.

The danger to the northeastern end of the state is not so much from prejudice and unfairness, because the average legislative body is quick to recognize these qualities, and to discount them.

But the rest of the state and the majority of the legislature, know very little about the iron mines or the iron country, yet many legislators from distant parts of the states have come to St. Paul with full-fledged ideas about what is to be done with them, and the plans proposed, naturally enough, do not have the consideration for the interests of St. Louis county that those proposed by St. Louis county people might naturally have.

What is necessary is that preparations shall be made, and made at once, to supply the information needed to make the legislature see St. Louis county's interests in the light that it ought to see them in. In the light of justice and fairness.

A legislative committee, composed of four senators and five representatives, has been provided for, and will make an investigation of the subject of mining taxation.

It will be largely through that committee that the light must reach the legislature. Its investigations must be given the fullest possible help. Arrangements should be made to have the committee visit the ranges; to see the handsome school houses that have been built there out of mining taxes, and to see the waste that would be created if those taxes were taken away from the local communities and given to the state.

The proposition to tax the mines on a tonnage basis would be ruinous to St. Louis and Itasca counties. The people up there know that.

but the legislature does not. If it can be made to realize it, there is little likelihood that such a rapacious scheme will be proposed.

There is no more reason why real estate in these counties should be taxed specially for the benefit of the state, any more than there is why the same provision should be made with real estate in Hennepin, Ramsey, Lac Qui Parle or any other county.

There are 10,000 people on the iron ranges, in such communities as Hibbing, Virginia, Ely, Soudan, Sparta, Biwabik, Chisholm, Mountain Iron and other places, principally dependent each year upon the taxes paid by the mines for the support of their schools, village and city governments, and for the making of public improvements.

The leases on iron mines require only a small minimum output each year, and as it is not economical or even possible to operate all the mines at once, many of them are closed down for years at a time. When a mine is closed down, under the tonnage tax system the local community would get no benefit.

Even if the tonnage tax were to be apportioned, as some who mean to do it, should be raised to point where they will yield a fair amount, the only effect upon the local communities, in that event, would be to decrease the local tax rates; they would still get the ample revenues that now provide them with the best schools in the state.

If the present assessment is too low, it should be raised to a point where it should be a fair amount. The only effect upon the local communities, in that event, would be to decrease the local tax rates; they would still get the ample revenues that now provide them with the best schools in the state.

St. Louis county is already paying a large revenue to the state. This year the total taxes to be raised from the railroads by the state, under the gross earnings system, will be about $2,500,000. This estimate was made for The Herald yesterday by State Auditor Iverson.

It is the chief source of the state's running expense, will come from St. Louis county.

Do this year the Duluth, Missoula & Northern railroad earned money enough to pay a tax of $400,000 for the state at 4 per cent. The taxes of the Duluth & Iron Range will be $328,070. The taxes of the Great Northern, on its ore carrying business in St. Louis county only, will be $200,000. This makes a total earning of $926,062.

To this must be added the taxes on the smaller railroads of the county, the Duluth & Northeastern, the Duluth & Northern Minnesota, and Duluth & Itasca.

These smaller items will bring the total over $1,000,000, or nearly one-third of the state's revenues from railroads in 1906.

This does not include the direct state tax on the mines, which amounts to $250,000; it does not include the revenues from royalties on state ore; it does not include the revenues from timber and state lands.

Yet the state wants more, and perhaps it should have more; perhaps the iron mines do not pay enough taxes to the state.

But whatever method is adopted of getting a larger revenue, it should not endanger the source of revenue that supplies the local communities with 95 per cent of their taxes.

The assessment of mines is entirely in the hands of the state board of equalization, and if the state wants more money, it should make the assessment higher.

The mines of St. Louis county, assessed at $9,000,000 a few years ago when nobody had any idea of the value of these properties, have jumped to $30,000,000, to $40,000,000, and now to $75,000,000, including those of Itasca county.

The iron interests have never fought any tax that has been proposed, they have never sought to escape just taxation, and they are not likely to seek such escapes now.

But St. Louis county should insist that the local communities shall have their proper share of the tax on the mines, and there is no possible basis on which a tonnage tax could be divided between the communities.

Who shall say, if an attempt is made to apportion the tonnage tax, how much is to go to each local community? If it is apportioned on a basis of output, communities having mines that have been closed down will get nothing.

The only proper or possible basis is to tax all the mines in each vicinity locally, for the benefit of that vicinity, in the way it is now done.

Suppose that the real estate in any city in the state covered by buildings should be assessed for the benefit of the state on income basis; would that be fair to that community?

Is it any more fair to St. Louis and Itasca counties to take the iron mines, the property of principal value in these counties, and tax them for the benefit of the state, than it would be to take out all the buildings in other communities?

It is not, and if these matters can be shown to the legislature, there is not the slightest prospect that it will be done.

The legislature must be told that, for instance, the village of Hibbing has an assessed valuation of $11,936,853, of which $11,218,650 is on iron lands. Hibbing's tax rate is $17.9 mills, raising $2,147,452. The iron mines pay thirteen-fourths of this.

If the mines were placed upon a tonnage basis, the assessed value would jump to the prohibitive and confiscatory rate of 191,544 mills, making the taxes $19.16 on every $100 of valuation.

Virginia has an assessed valuation of $2,108,401, of which $1,514,395 is on iron lands. Taking them out, the tax rate would be raised from 29 mills, raising $51,143.62, to 32.124 mills, which would mean a tax of $3.21 on every $100.

And so it goes through the iron country. If a tonnage tax is imposed, and an attempt is made to apportion it, there is no way of distributing it to the local communities.

If the whole tax went to the local communities, there would be either a feast or a famine, and in many communities the schools would be open one year and closed the next, because the mines would be operating and yielding taxes in one year, and closed and yielding none in the next.

And if an attempt is made to have a tonnage tax for the state purposes, there arises a grave question of the revenues of state and locality until it was settled by the courts.

The house committee on crimes and punishments made short work of the anti-cigarette bill, which was referred to it a couple of days ago. Yesterday afternoon it voted to report the bill out with the recommendation that it pass, and it will, therefore, come up in the house for consideration in committee of the whole very shortly.

Two years ago an anti-cigarette bill came very near going through. It was lost in the senate by only one vote.

The Denegre-O'Brien contest, which was supposed to have been settled in favor of O'Brien by the house committee on elections, has another mix-up. It has been discovered that there is in the ballot box a loose ballot which, it is claimed, should have been thrown out. If it was counted for Denegre, it should have been thrown out, and as the committee found that out of the direct state tax, consists of Representatives Thayer, Rockne, C. B. Miller, Ambrose Tighe, Jefferson, Bicknell, W. A. Nolan and W. J. Nolan.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

Mrs. T. M. Pugh has come to St. Paul to be with Senator Pugh during the session.

The bill introduced by Representative L. C. Spooner of Morris, yesterday, giving the attorney general a contingent fund of $25,000 a year, is designed to make that office more valuable to the state than it has been in the past, when an inadequate force and a lack of funds for procuring evidence has sadly hampered proceedings. With this annual allowance, if the legislature grants it, the attorney general can hire outside talent to assist him in chasing corporations, and he will have a little spending money to use to searching out the evidence needed to win.

The fight with the Great Northern, which looks like a long, hard battle, is the direct occasion of this bill. Its author says that the action of the Great Northern in defying the state is a declaration of war, and that it is necessary to equip the attorney general's office with the sinews of war. Mr. Spooner will move next

ALL DRUGGISTS, 50c. AND $1.00.

Tuesday that the bill pass under suspension of the rules.

Representative Lobeck yesterday offered a bill raising the age of consent from 16 to 18 years.

Representative Bicknell of Morris yesterday offered a new inheritance tax law, making about the fourth that has been introduced at this session. One provision that makes this bill different from others is that 20 per cent of the taxes is to be apportioned to the counties. The object of this is to make county officers more active in enforcing the law. As it is now, the tax all goes to the state, and it is claimed that this makes local officers indifferent.

His bill provides a tax of 1½ per cent on all inheritances under $50,000, 3 per cent on those between $50,000 and $100,000, 5 per cent up to $500,000 and 10 per cent on all over that. This hits large bequests much heavier than any other bill that has been offered.

The new county option bills, those introduced in the senate by Senator Thorpe and in the house by Representative Rachle, include all the counties, and they are the official bills of the Anti-saloon league. The first bill that came in applied only to counties not having cities of more than 10,000 population, but even the large counties, like St. Louis, Ramsey and Hennepin are included in the official bill. The bills provide that on petition of 25 per cent of the voters, the district court shall call a special election in the county from which the petition comes within thirty days. If "no license" carries, all existing licenses expire in thirty days.

But no vote again three years later, but no county option election can be held within thirty days of a regular election.

A sub-committee of the house judiciary committee has approved the Christenson bill, providing that where a jury works six hours without reaching a unanimous verdict, a five sixths verdict may be accepted.

The sub-committee appointed by the chairman of the house tax committee to frame a revenue law that will be a contingent fund of $25,000 a year, is composed of Representatives Thayer, Rockne, C. B. Miller, Ambrose Tighe, Jefferson, Bicknell, W. A. Nolan and W. J. Nolan.

"Attorney General, Washington, D. C."

"Proposed copper mine trust, most harmful to us. Beg you to investigate this in the interests of the middlemen and consumers. Have sent particulars by mail."

"Northwestern Metal Dealers' association."

The letter to Attorney General Bonaparte was not given out, but it was stated that it called attention to the present high price of copper and that it was proposed by the so-called trust to maintain the price or increase it. The letter asserts that a foreign copper combine has entered into an agreement with the metal selling agencies in this country not to compete with the American concerns or the largest of them, and that a division of territory in Europe has been made between them. It is also alleged that this trust has stored a large supply of copper both in this country and in Europe.

James Norton of Massachusetts was elected president and a committee of three was appointed to lay additional facts before the attorney general.

President Norton said that seventy-five members in the association represented buyers of from 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 pounds of copper annually, and that the Western copper buyers were in sympathy with the objects of the association.

President Norton will see the attorney general next week.

OTHER WEAVERS WILL ASK FOR INCREASED PAY.

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—Following the success of the upstate textile union in obtaining an 11 per cent increase in pay, the Cloth and Dress Weavers union has decided to ask for a 15 per cent increase. A committee was appointed to draft a formal demand for the increase and this demand will be sent to the mill owners in a few days. The Cloth and Dress Weavers union numbers about 12,000 men, who are employed in fifty mills. Eight mills have already granted the increase, and the others are expected to follow suit within a week.

The cotton and woolen goods weavers, it is expected, will also make a demand upon the manufacturers for a 15 per cent increase. Other branches of textile trade will also follow the lead of the Upholstery Weavers union.

WORKED TOCAPACITY.

Paper Mill at Grand Rapids Working Night and Day.

Benldi, Minn., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Rase Paper company, which owns a large paper mill at Grand Rapids, is enjoying a large business at the present time, according to A. C. Besard, general manager, who was in Benldi yesterday.

Mr. Besard states that the mill, which has capacity for making out twenty-five tons of paper every day, is being run to the limit twenty-four hours, and that every thing is running smoothly.

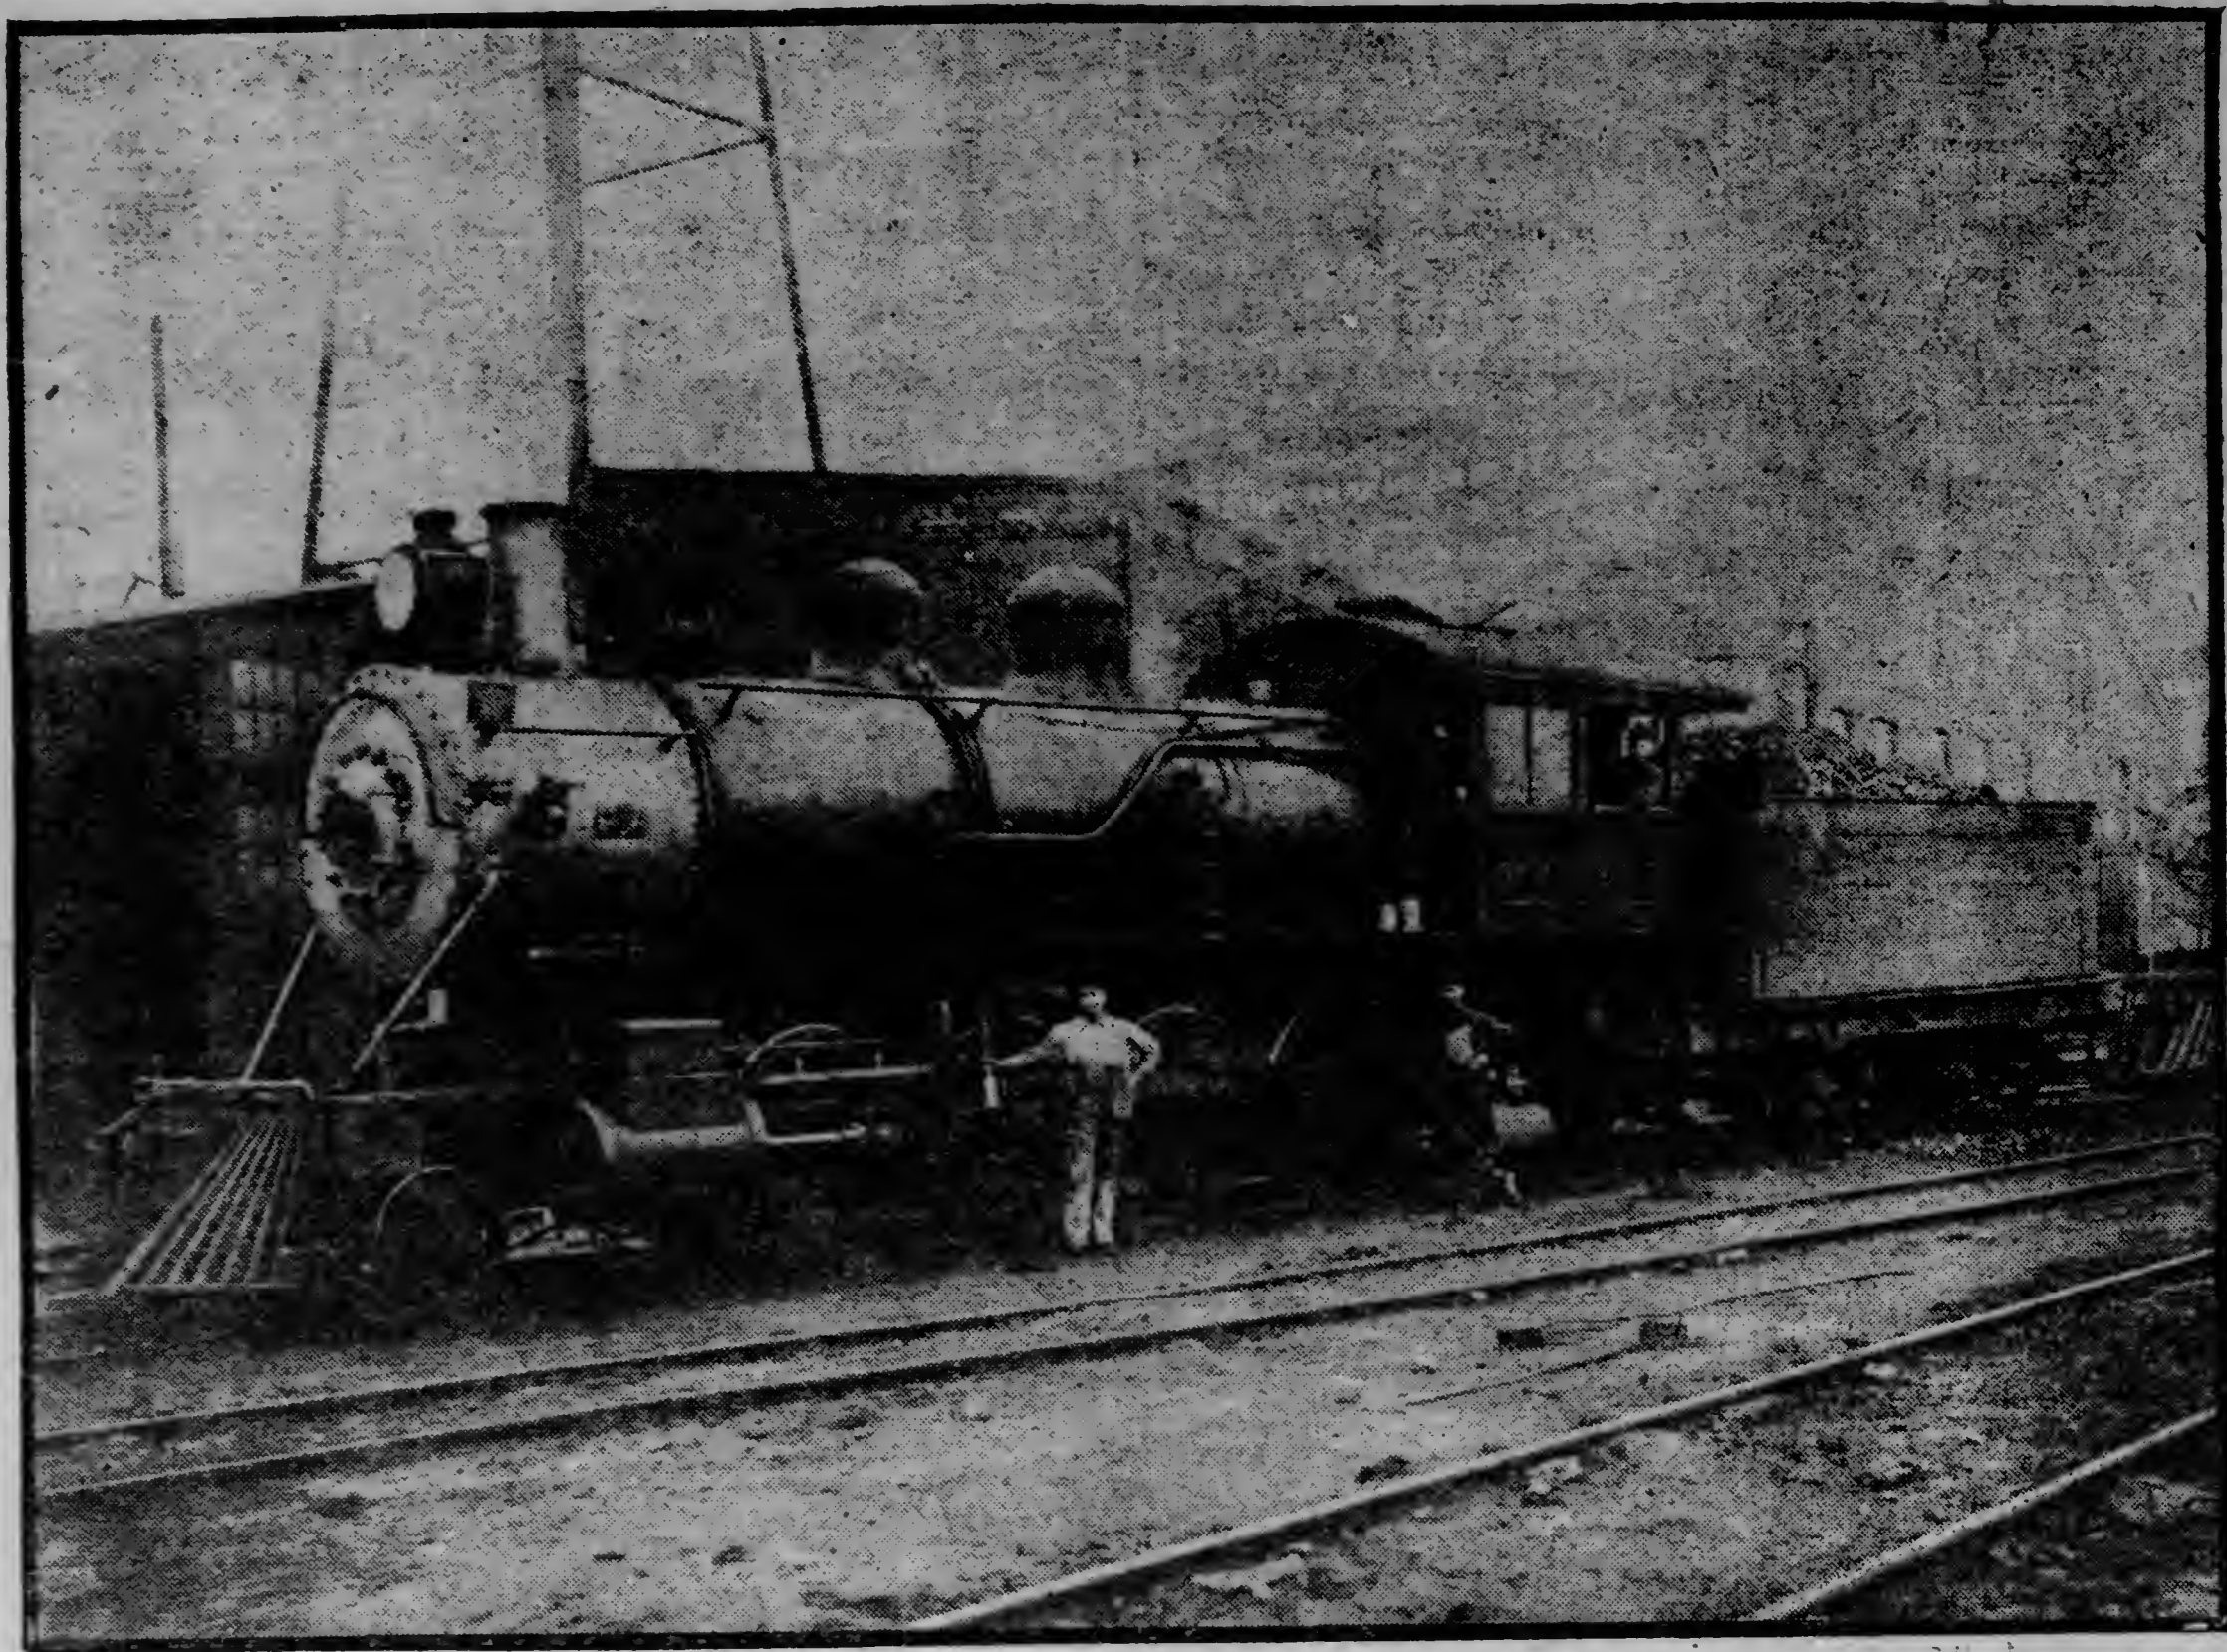

For some time after the mill was established much trouble in operating it was experienced, owing to the low stage of the water in the river, which furnished the power. This was caused by the closing of the gates of the government dam at Foksgum. However, the dams are being operated differently at present, and there is ample flow of water for all purposes.

A MISSABE ROAD ENGINE FOR HAULING HEAVY LOADS

NEW TYPE OF ENGINE BEING USED BY D. M. & N.

While it is numbered among the smallest railroads in the country in point of mileage, the Duluth, Missabe & Northern is one of the best equipped lines in the United States, particularly in regard to its facilities for handling freight.

The locomotive pictured here is one of thirty of its kind received within the last year or two. It was manufactured by the American Locomotive works, and was designed especially for the hauling of heavy loads, thus being well adapted to the ore traffic.

It is not one of the heaviest engines in use on American roads, but it is much above the average in hauling power, and is very powerful.

The Missabe has been talking of getting some electric engines of a much more powerful type for service on the hill above the ore docks, but as yet nothing has come of it.

DULUTH HERALD NEWSBOYS OF THIRTEEN YEARS AGO

GRADUATES OF THE HERALD SCHOOL.

The above picture will prove of unusual interest to scores of people in and about Duluth who are personally acquainted with some of the thirty boys in the group. It was taken in the spring of 1894, in the old Herald building, at 229 West Superior street, and practically every newsboy then selling Herald is included in the group.

The group takes into insignificance in comparison to the howling mob of 600 boys which poured into the Armory last Thanksgiving day for the big dinner, and flooded the docks of the Newsboy, last summer, on the way to the big picnic, but it was fully equal to handling the circulation in those days.

The majority of the boys in the group are still in Duluth, and many of them are prominent in business here, on the range and scattered about the country. Those who knew the boys in those days, or even who are intimately acquainted with them now, will be able to pick out "Sis" Bennett, now a professional ball player and idol of nearly every boy who has peeked through a knot hole in the Athletic park fence to watch a game; George Mossberg, now a prominent Eveleth merchant, and "Sud" Forgy, his eyes hidden behind a gas pipe, who is still in the employ of The Herald.

Abe Flukestein, better known as "Fingers," has developed into a prize glove artist with the passing years, and is quite well known in boxing circles throughout the country. "Mascot," the boy who holds the center of the stage with the mouth organ, and who is known in more dignified terms as William Oreck, is doing vaudeville stunts at present with conspicuous success, while Charles Oreck, also in the group, is now with Dr. Davis of this city.

Ed Hesperin is well known to the majority of Duluthians as the prosperous looking manager of the Scotland Woolen Mills company during its stay here, and he is now located in Minneapolis for the same concern. John Oreck is with Fremuth's, "Abe" Rockland is holding a responsible position with Albenberg's, and Gus Anderson is employed at Shuff's shoe store.

Others of the group who are still in the city are Ben Olson, Will Barrett, Herman Mungerson, Tom Feeks and George Cook, while Bob Dillon, in the foreground, is a telegraph operator in Minneapolis.

Ed Lanigan is also employed in this city, and Henry Holden, in the back row of the group, is now a mining engineer of Bisbee, Ariz.

The whereabouts of Edward Gardner and John Boyd are too much even for the never-fading memory and kindly interest of "Pinkie" Pearson, who has watched the development of his "kids" with the greatest interest, and there are a number of boys in the group whom even he referred to as a last and unfailing resort, could not place.

The picture was discovered quite by chance the other day while going over some old papers in the office.

The boys shown are but a sample of the class who have gone through The Herald school. Most of them have become prosperous and respected business men. A few of them took the downward path, but none of them have ever been heard to express regret for the time they spent as "newsies" or "sarners," on The Herald.

FINANCIAL. FINANCIAL. FINANCIAL.

The banker offers you 3 per cent and sometimes 4 per cent for your savings, and tells you that anything beyond that is hazardous.

But he earns himself on his bank stock all the way from 17 per cent to 42 per cent!

Indeed, one bank—The Chemical National of New York—is said to earn 120 per cent yearly on its immense capitalization!

Senator Clark, the Copper King, who owns the United Verde Copper Mine, says The Chemical National Stock is the only investment he knows of, outside of copper, that earns 120 per cent.

The Pullman Company earns from 30 per cent to 60 per cent. Last year the Great Northern Railroad issued trust certificates for $150,000,000.00, in addition to its annual cash dividends. These trust certificates represented profits from its ore lands, and represented an investment of 100 per cent.

Calumet and Hecla earnings last year would justify the payment of 400 per cent on their entire capital stock.

Goldfield, Tonopah, Bullfrog, Cobalt, Colorado, Alaska, California, Arizona, and Montana gold, copper and silver mines have paid dividends in many cases running into the thousands per cent. Yet you are told to be satisfied with 3 per cent! You will be your own custodian of your savings if you are wise and put them into a good copper stock when it is offered at a low price.

A GOOD COPPER STOCK TO BUY.

We are offering shares of stock in the British American Copper Mines & Smelting Co. at the opening price of 15 cents per share; it advances to 20 cents on Jan. 31st. The allotment is limited, and we are advising investors to make immediate reservations to be sure of buying at any price up to par $1—it should go that or better in a short time.

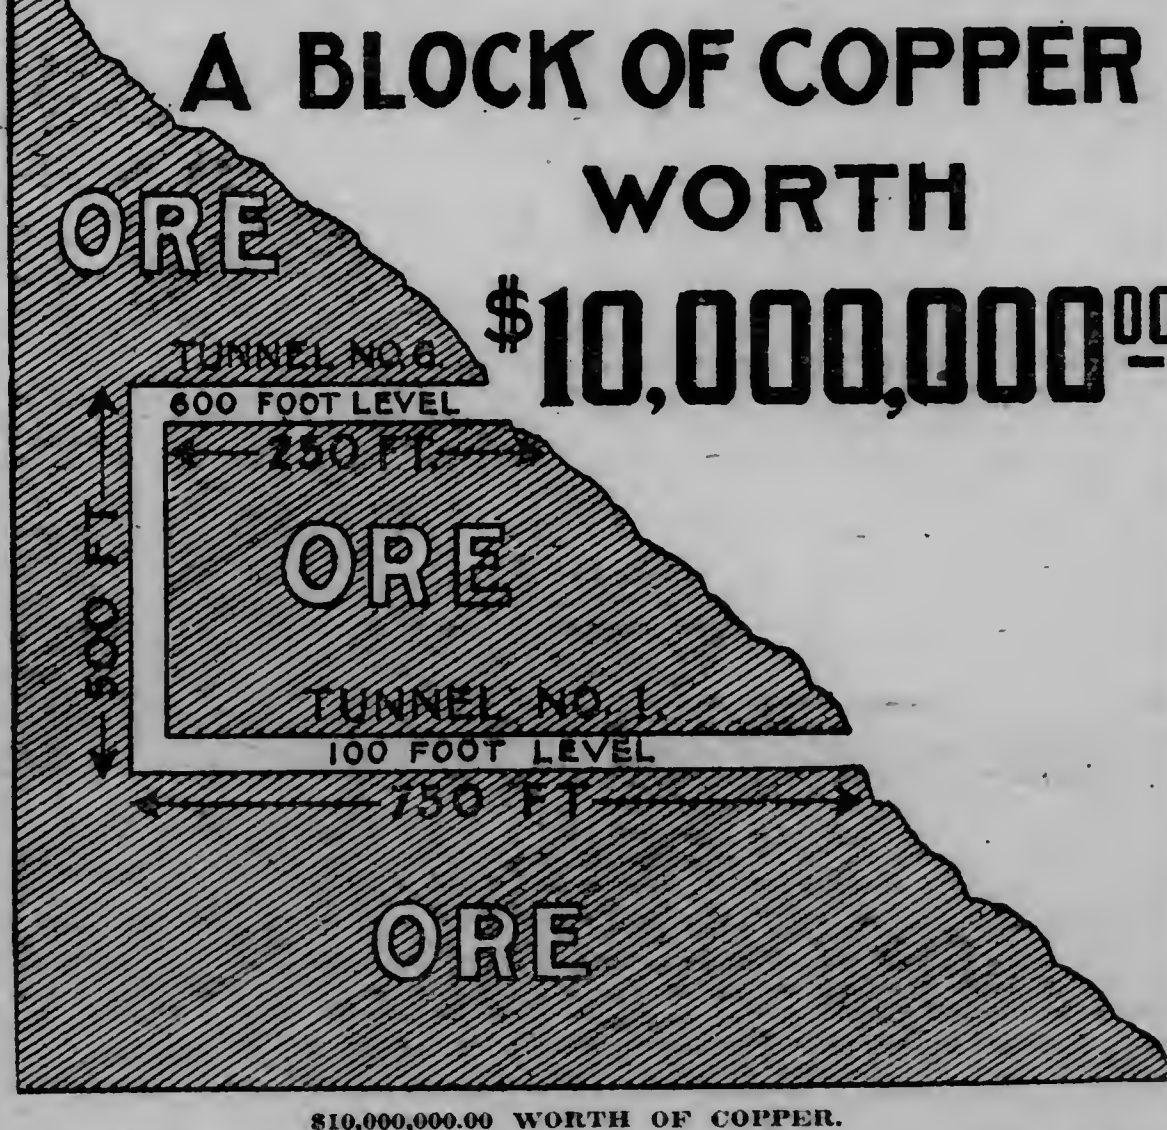

This Copper Mine Will Begin Shipping at Once.

This company controls a magnificent property in the Golden division of East Kootenay Mining District, province of British Columbia. The property consists of 12-lode claims and comprises a tract of 640 acres in all. Owing to the fact that nature in one of her periods of unrest had literally sliced off a part of the out-croppings of some of this ore and thrown it down the mountain side into the creek bottoms, it will be possible for us to begin shipping this ore at once, and there are thousands of tons of it, before any actual mining is begun. The Canadian Government has co-operated with us in building a fine wagon road from our mines to the Kootenay Central Railway, which is the freight transportation branch for the Canadian Pacific.

The illustration will give us some idea of what we propose to do in the way of mining when we begin work.

In the block of ore shown there is upwards of $10,000,000.00 worth of copper ore.

The British American Copper Mines and Smelter Company is capitalized at five million dollars ($5,000,000) divided into five million (5,000,000) shares, of the par value of one dollar ($1.00) each, fully paid, non-forfeitable and non-assessable.

The following are the officers and directors of the company:

President—CHARLES H. TUCKER, Cleveland, Ohio, President Masonic Temple Association, formerly Gen. Asst. Great Northern Steamship Company.
Vice President—J. C. KERNOHAN, Cleveland, Ohio, of J. C. Kernohan Co.
Treasurer—C. H. TAYLOR, Cleveland, Ohio, Attorney at Law, Secretary Gillette Manufacturing Co.
Secretary—THOMAS G. SELLECK, Cleveland, Ohio, Public Accountant.
Managing Director and Engineer in Charge—E. AUGUST HADLEY, E. M., Revelstoke, B. C., Mining Engineer of International Reputation.
Directors—C. H. Lane, William Cowan, Alexander McRen, C. A. Warren, M. M. Cleveland, Thomas G. Selleck, Charles H. Tucker, E. August Bradley, G. H. Taylor, J. C. Kernohan.
Consulting Engineer—FRANCIS J. PECK.

No officer or director but the engineers receive salary. The Imperial Bank of Canada, at Golden, B. C., is the British Columbia depository.

GRAND MILITARY DISPLAY

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald).—Generous response has been made by the military organizations from all parts of the country in regard to the invitations extended by the Jamestown Exposition company to attend and participate in the grand military display, that bids fair to be the largest and most magnificent celebration of its kind that has ever taken place in the world. Not only will the military organizations and government troops of this country participate in the celebration, but regiments from every representative nation of the world will be on the grounds, and the scene of this vast army, encamped in long lines of white tents, stretching as far as the eye can reach, will be an impressive sight.

In answer to President Roosevelt's invitation, fourteen foreign countries have accepted, and officials of the war department are taking steps to arrange for the reception and entertainment of these forces. A military board has been appointed by the secretary of war for the purpose of superintending the laying out of the camp and the allotment of space for the various organizations. Among the most noted of the military companies that will be seen at the Ter-Centennial next year are the companies of Ancient and Honorable Artillery from London and Boston. These companies are the oldest and most honored military organizations of their respective cities, and will be a great addition both in regard to splendor and military prestige to the celebration. Another very interesting and unique organization that is to be encamped at the exposition in 1907 is the regiment of Old Confederate Veterans from Tennessee, who are to come to the Ter-Centennial, and there are a number of boys in the group whom even he referred to as a last and unfailing resort, could not place.

The picture was discovered quite by chance the other day while going over some old papers in the office.

The boys shown are but a sample of the class who have gone through The Herald school. Most of them have become prosperous and respected business men. THE POLITE CEYLONESE.
William Jennings Bryan, describing his world tour in New York, praised the Ceylonese, says the Los Angeles Times.

"The Ceylonese," said Mr. Bryan, "are the politest, the urbanest, the most tactful people you can imagine. They have a proverb that gives some idea of their delicacy. This proverb says: 'It is safer to pull the tail of a tiger than to call a lady's attention to her first gray hair.'"

MAKE SALESMEN

of Your Windows After Dark

A store may shut its doors at sunset, but if its show windows are Electric Lighted and attractively dressed they are doing as effective soliciting for the next day's business as a corps of sales people.

Up-to-date stores nowadays consider window lighting a necessity, whether they remain open after dark or not. Competition forces modern methods. Is your store "SHUT UP" after sunset in the old style or in the new?

There is no known illuminant which will light a shop window as effectively, handsomely and satisfactorily as Electric Light. Fabrics are shown in their true colors and every little detail is brought out in true proportion to its surroundings.

If your window is not Electrically Lighted you are throwing away chances for increasing your business only measured by the number of people that pass your store after dark.

Based on our new scale of Reduced Rates for current on Meter basis, Electric Light is not an expense—it is an ECONOMY.

TELEPHONE LINE BEING EXTENDED

All Over Mesaba Range and New Switchboards Installed.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. E. Lister, range superintendent for the Mesaba Telephone company, was over from Duluth this week and said that the company will move into its new office at Chisholm in two weeks. It is installing a 100-line switchboard of the latest pattern and 1,000 feet of cable, which is being substituted for all open wires. Eight men are now employed in running new lines in Virginia, while a line is also being run to the Weyerhaeuser crossing, on the other side of Mount Iron. The company expects soon to open its central station in Aurora. A room in the bank building has been rented, but delay has been caused by the non-arrival of materials. The new switchboard and poles are on the ground, and as soon as the cable arrives work will be started. Within ten days a new 100-line switchboard will replace the 100-line board at Ely.

The annual election of officers and directors of the First National bank of Virginia was held Wednesday, the 24th inst., when the following officers and directors were elected: E. B. Hawkins, president; S. R. Kirby, vice president; E. F. Britts, cashier; E. Shipley, assistant cashier; E. B. Hawkins, O. D. Kinney, S. R. Kirby, R. H. Bailey, O. H. Griggs and E. F. Britts, directors. The bank has had an exceedingly good year and is in a very prosperous condition.

C. H. Miles of Hibbing has evidently given up the notion of opening a vaudeville theater in Virginia, after he had agreed to rent the Whiting building for that purpose. But another theatrical man, named Clarence Rhoads, has taken a lease of the building, and will put in a moving picture show to begin with. The vaudeville may develop into a vaudeville theater later on.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE

Duluth People Have Good Reason for Complete Reliance.

Do you know how—
To find quick relief from backache;
To correct distressing urinary ills;
To surely cure sick kidneys?
Just one way—your neighbors know—
Have used Doan's Kidney Pills;
Have proved their worth in many tests.
Here's Duluth testimony.
Mrs. C. M. Bradley, dressmaker, of 109 First street east, Duluth, Minn., says: "Since giving a testimonial for publication some six years ago, which has appeared at intervals in our Duluth papers, and in which I told of the gratifying benefit I obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, my faith in this remedy has only increased. Not only myself, but numerous friends have found that Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy that can be relied upon to cure the kidney aching pains in the small of my back so that I couldn't stoop nor rest at night. This trouble is now a thing of the past, and the action of the kidney secretions has also been regulated. I unhesitatingly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity." NEWS OF THE WEEK AT THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL Seniors Will Attempt More Serious Drama in Class Play.

Students Awaiting With Fear and Trembling Results of Exams.

At a short meeting of the senior class held Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Custance explained to the class the arrangements which have been made for the annual senior play.

As usual Prof. Custance will have charge of all the rehearsals and manage the affair.

He said that the play which has been selected this year is different from any which has hitherto been given by any of the graduating classes. It is not a farce, but a comedy drama. There is however plenty of humor in it. "A Russian Honeymoon" is the title of it, and it is written by Mrs. Burton Harrison.

The scene of the play is laid in Russia. A Russian count marries a lady of high family. He desires to find out whether she loves him or his money, and forms a clever plot for this purpose. He leaves for some estate of his, telling his wife to follow. The count in the disguise of a peasant reaches his lands and secures a humble position, saying that he has married a noble lady under false pretenses.

The lady arrives, meets him in his workman's garments and demands an explanation. He confesses his humble position and says that she, having married a serf is a serf also. The lady has a temper. It is necessary that this should be tamed and tamed it is before the end of the play.

The last act is at the castle of the baroness. The count, who has been disguised, carried before the baroness in order that she, the count, may secure a divorce. Incidentally she is seeking the permission of the baroness to have the presumptuous serf hanged.

At the last moment with true feminine inconsistency she falls in love with the man and begs for his life. The request is granted and a happy ending, they live happily ever after.

It will be readily seen that this play offers far more opportunity for the display of dramatic ability than the customary farce. A large number of the class will take part, not only as actors, but as chorus and as a group of peasant songs will be sung, and there will be use for many more as retainers and waiters.

Most of those who take part will be expected to furnish their own costumes. The boys will also provide some sort of smock or peasant's garment, and the girls can easily make their own. It will, of course, be necessary to hire a costume for the count and countess and a few more than an educational institution.

Mr. Smith said that the object of the board is to keep the school work from being neglected, and also to form companionships among them which will be of benefit to them in the future. There are about seven class affairs during the school year of nine months. Mr. Smith said that these together with the outside social affairs, which they get at home, are sufficient amusement for anyone. He said that the charge has been brought against the school that too many dances, parties, and other social affairs are allowed as it is, and that it is necessary to restrict them. Mr. Smith said that he was excited to find that so many interests are being taken in winter sports this year, such as snowshoeing, skiing, and sledding, and that the students who are unacquainted with the delight of these sports to the school as a whole are the most healthful exercises that exist, and offer unlimited opportunities for pleasure.

He warned the students that all social affairs outside of those provided for by the board, such as renting halls for dances, and other parties, are not only a waste of money, but a waste of the school's time, and that they should be restricted.

He expressed his hope that no difficulty would arise over this matter now that the students have made their choice, and that the students who are unacquainted with the delight of these sports to the school as a whole are the most healthful exercises that exist, and offer unlimited opportunities for pleasure.

Another semester has come and gone. Some have had a successful year, and others have not. There is one consolation for the unsuccessful. They have companions in this way. Also there is a chance to make up. That is the best philosophy available just now.

The teachers are even now engaged in marking the test papers. It is a known fact that this is an occupation in which the teachers delight. They know that no matter how bad a pupil thinks he is, he will be perfectly satisfied with his mark, and that many other pleasures connected with the job, known only to the teachers themselves.

Insomnia was prevalent Wednesday and Thursday nights among the high school students. In some cases this gave way to nightmare, which can hardly be considered an improvement. Dreams of Latin, logarithms, and languages pervaded their restless minds. When morning dawned they buckled on their fountain pens and went forth to do or—think.

The semi-annual epidemic of mental indigestion from "cramming" broke out this week, and the students are now recuperating.

Those who are changing to new teachers the second semester are planning to work exceedingly hard for the first month. "Well begun is half done." Bluffing, or standing on ones' "rep" constitutes the other half.

Congratulations or consultations will be in order Monday.

In a warmly contested game the senior basketball team defeated the sophomores of the school by a score of 17 to 15 last Monday.

The meeting of the junior class hardly was held last Wednesday and will probably be held next week. The junior top will be held Friday, Feb. 1.

Prof. Lambert, the new teacher, who is a graduate of the state university and also of the Boston College of Clergy, will take up his duties at the beginning of the second semester. He will teach oral expression and debating. The study will not be extra but will be taken on certain days of the week in place of English.

had an average of more than ninety points and were exempt from their exams. All such pupils were told that, although they were not required to take the examinations, they might do so if they wished to. They were given an opportunity to increase their averages in this way and they were insured against loss. Most of them sidestepped and declined the proposition with thanks. A few of those who delight in the intricacies of mathematics and the languages availed themselves of the offer.

There are many changes in the various classes which take effect at the beginning of the second semester. The seniors, who have been taking advanced algebra during the first semester, will in most cases take trigonometry during the second. Those who are going to colleges where more French is required than is taught here will be allowed to omit trigonometry, and an advanced French class will be formed, provided enough students desire to take it. This is the only regular change in the senior courses. Latin, English, chemistry, United States history, French and German are continued from the first semester. For special reasons other changes are sometimes allowed.

The juniors continue English, physics, Cicero and some other studies. Solid geometry ends with the first semester and solid trigonometry studies may be chosen to take its place. The sophomores continue plain geometry, English, Caesar and several others. Mediacal history gives way to modern and a few other changes occur.

The freshmen continue English, algebra, first year Latin, and most of the others. A few changes will be made. The list is not complete and does not cover all the courses, but gives an idea of the changes which will be made.

In chapel Tuesday morning, Mr. Smith spoke to the students about the social life of the school. He told of the various parties and dances which are given by each class during the school year and said that the board of education has outlined this for the purpose of guiding the students in their social life and to keep them from over-indulgence.

The expense of the educational work of the school, he assured them that both he and the board are in hearty sympathy with the social gatherings which they are indulged in, but that any attempt to evade either the letter or the spirit of these restrictions will be punished by the board by curtailing those social events which they are provided for, and also forbidding such things as class or school publications.

Mr. Smith said that the object of the board is to keep the school work from being neglected, and also to form companionships among them which will be of benefit to them in the future. There are about seven class affairs during the school year of nine months. Mr. Smith said that these together with the outside social affairs, which they get at home, are sufficient amusement for anyone.

Aged Woman Breaks Fast Walking Record

MRS. JANE EDWARDS ROOT.

And the winner, Mrs. Jane Edwards Root, who is 98 years old, whose picture appears in the illustration, won the race by walking 2½ miles in 26 minutes.

This proves what DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY, the great renewer of youth, will do if taken as prescribed.

In an interview, Mrs. Root said:

"I seldom take medicine, but last winter at my home in Cleveland I felt not very strong, so bought one quart bottle of DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY. I was benefited by it. I am 78 years old, and won the championship in the great walking contest for aged people in Cleveland. I came out winner of 28 contestants over 75 years of age (14 women and 14 men). I beat the world's record, and now hold the championship for the United States and Europe. I walked 2½ miles in 26 minutes, and was not at all tired; could have walked it right over again. One paper gave the account as two miles in 26 minutes; all the other papers were right. When I reached the end, not another walker was anywhere near me, and the enthusiasm was great. I have had an immense mail ever since from professors in colleges and prominent men all over, wishing to know how I lived, what my diet was, what caused this wonderful strength and endurance at 78 years of age. I take good care of my health, have camped out every summer for the past 25 years, live well, and use as my only medicine Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey."—MRS. JANE EDWARDS ROOT, 1646 38th St., North East (Old Wason St.), Cleveland, O., December 9, 1906.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

If you wish to keep strong and vigorous and have on your cheeks the glow of perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions, and take no other medicine. It is dangerous to fill your system with drugs, they poison the body and depress the heart, while Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey tones and strengthens the heart action and purifies the system. It is recognized as a medicine everywhere. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has stood severe tests for fifty years and has always been found absolutely pure and to contain great medicinal properties.

CAUTION—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the one absolutely pure medicinal whiskey and is sold only in sealed bottles; never in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price $1.00. Illustrated medical booklet and doctor's advice free. FIRST DEGREE MANSLAUGHTER Verdict Against John P. Quirk for Killing W. A. McDowell.

Minneapolis, Jan. 26.—John P. Quirk will draw a short term for the murder of W. A. McDowell, the newspaper man, on the afternoon of Oct. 7 last, by means of a revolver ball fired through the head at four paces.

The jury, after deliberating upon murder in the first and second degree for fifty-two hours, has decided that Quirk is guilty of manslaughter in the first degree, which carries with it punishment not to exceed twenty years in state's prison.

The jury found in their verdict that Quirk had fired the fatal shot in the heat of passion, with the intent to take human life, and without any excuse or justification.

Mrs. Dr. Corson entertained the Card club this week.

The board has been let for the erection of an addition to the Y. M. C. A. building. It will be 60 by 75 feet on the north side and a new room will be fitted with a first-class and up-to-date "jims."

LARGE TRANSFER

Of Upper Michigan Lands Recorded at Marinette, Wis., Jan. 26.—The largest transfer of Upper Michigan lands ever recorded in this county, was made known yesterday by deeds for 75,000 acres of land, of which 50,000 acres are in Menominee county, from the Spaulding Land company to the Cedar River Land company, which is a branch of the Oliver Mining company. The consideration was $120,000.

The mill spalling has not been operated since the death of Mr. Spaulding, but will be run and will have timber for ten or twelve years.

off their exit down the stairways, many leaped from the windows to the frozen ground. Some of the cooler headed ones remembered there were ropes in the room, placed there for emergency, and attaching these to the window frames, they went to the lower stories, and burning their hands in so doing.

While the firemen were busy in getting their forces into an advantageous position for fighting the flames and helping out the people on the lower stories, four men crouched in an open window on the upper floor, gasping for air for nearly two hours before they were discovered. An extension ladder was raised, but the imprisoned men, nearly unconscious from the smoke, did not dare to venture on it until they were helped by their assistance. James Connors, one of these men, stated that he had stumbled over what he believed to be unconscious persons.

The reports of loss of life had not been verified by the police at 9:30 a. m., but there were rumors that several of the operatives were missing.

The mill is considered one of the best of the extensive plant of the Cocheo Manufacturing company, which has many structures on both sides of the Cocheo river. The No. 1 mill fronts on Washington street, with the river in the rear. A bridge connects it with the print works of the company across the river.

GRAND RECORD OF HARBOR.

Duluth-Superior harbor's commerce of 1906 second only to the port of New York in the New world!

Freight tonnage increase in 1906 over 1905, 28.64 per cent and over 1899, 924 per cent!

Total freight tonnage of Duluth for 1906, 16,518,200 tons and of Superior, 12,653,021 tons!

Total valuation of the freight tonnage of the Duluth-Superior harbor in 1906, $251,899,844—an increase of $55,148,261 over the previous year!

Freight tonnage of either July or October—4,200,000 tons for each—equal to the entire business of 1892!

These facts and figures from the report of Major Graham D. Fitch, United States engineer in charge of the Lake Superior district, showing the breaking of all records for commerce and the wonderful advances of the Duluth-Superior harbor, are respectfully submitted to congress, which has before it a bill in which are included $225,000 for Duluth and $1,697,000 for Superior. Certainly, they should form irrefutable arguments for the most liberal appropriations.

Further, as the tide of commerce seldom turns backward in times of prosperity and the heavy snows this winter assure bounteous crops throughout the Northwest this season, an equal, if not larger, commerce may reasonably be counted on for this year.

The figures compiled by Major Fitch will repay the closest study and should be posted up in conspicuous places in the offices and counting rooms of all Duluth-Superior merchants. They are so good that no apology is necessary for the loss involved in the interstate bridge accident. They are the more remarkable because, unlike the never closed ocean ports, the Duluth-Superior harbor was open to navigation only eight months last year.

The principal figures of increase, which portray Duluth's enormous commerce, were: Wheat and other grains, 23,012,249 bushels, valued at $10,985,718, more than 1905; iron ore, 3,851,061 tons more than 1905; hard and soft coal, 1,716,895 tons. In addition to these, 96,994 passengers were carried—an increase of 15,564 over 1905—and the commerce in general merchandise, copper, logs and lumber, and various other articles aggregated nearly $25,000,000.

The business men of Duluth owe it to themselves and to their city to blazon forth these tremendous facts throughout the length and breadth of this country as well as all over Europe, for they spell marvelous prosperity for the city and show that Duluth's progress is based on the solid rock of commerce.

GOOD ROADS FOR COUNTY.

The arguments presented by President W. E. Calkin, at the annual meeting of the St. Louis County Good Roads association, in favor of the most comprehensive and speediest possible extension of the highway system of the county, are based on the soundest experience of the progressive sections of all parts of the world and should be put into practice as thoroughly as circumstances will permit.

The Herald has long urged the absolute necessity for good means of inter-communication between farm and city as an imperative necessity and as a prime essential to the continued steady growth of each. It has pointed out repeatedly the facts presented by Mr. Calkin. It has shown the mutual interest of both in the movement. It has detailed the experiences of other sections in this line of progress. And it again urges good roads, as possible, as a most important upbuilding of both Duluth and St. It would like to see a network of all kept highways not only throughout the county but covering the entire state, a system of construction has been excellent results in places where it is needed. The federal government has decided to put it into use in building the Panama canal. The contractors must, however, be held to strict account and this is the duty of the county commissioners—a duty that they may be expected to perform faithfully.

Disputes over methods of construction should not, however, be allowed to hamper progress. Let us have good roads in any way possible and we shall see Duluth and St. Louis county advance hand-in-hand by leaps and bounds.

THE CHRONIC NAGGER.

"My husband was always finding fault with me. Nothing ever suited him," was the deeply pathetic, soul-touching excuse given by a Philadelphia wife of only a year and a half for taking the lives of herself and her wee infant.

"My wife kept nagging at me, no matter what I did or tried to do," wrote with equally heart-moving feeling a Chicago husband before he put an end to his domestic misery with a revolver bullet.

These two deplorable instances of nagging, of mean petty fault-finding, found their way into the daily press because both ended in tragedies, the sadder, and all the more inexcusable, because both could have been so easily avoided by just a little guarding of the biting tongue.

And yet there are beyond all doubt thousands of poor wives and pitiable husbands, all over this broad country, where cheer and brightness abound as nowhere else, who are undergoing torments daily because their wretched mates have acquired the nagging habit and have neither the common sense nor common decency to try to cure themselves.

There may be possible excuse for occasional surfulness, for a more or less frequent outbreak of violent temper, or even for some kinds of fault finding or "kicking," but there never is the slightest excuse for nagging—the most contemptible of all habits and yet the most frequently practiced, if all were known.

Beside the chronic nagger, even the most confirmed drunkard, if he has a pleasant nature, is almost an angel of goodness. Of all the vices and evils in the category of wrong-doing, there is not one that holds the same place as nagging. So low-down, so miserably petty, so wretchedly puerile is it that any other vice would be ashamed to be found in its company.

If you find yourself in danger of falling into the nagging habit, for goodness sake, check yourself smartly and sharply. Otherwise, you will make of yourself the most despicable of all characters—the chronic nagger. You may not drive your wife or your husband to suicide, but you will take all of the sunshine out of life and make of this earth the meanest, smallest, narrowest place of torment.

FAVORED NORTHERN MINNESOTA

Throughout the storm and stress of the worst periods of this winter, when there have been constant complaints of suffering and forebodings of disaster in other sections, the good people of Northern Minnesota have pursued the even tenor of their accustomed way without even so much discomfort as inclemencies bring in many of the large cities. And this is true not only of this winter but of many preceding ones.

This has been due to the magnificent forests with which nature has so liberally and generously endowed Northern Minnesota, providing, for the people of towns and farms alike, a sure and inexpensive means of setting at defiance the blasts of winter and rendering unnecessary dependence on supplies of fuel from outside sources.

Just why home-seekers, especially those from various parts of the United States, should pass in thousands almost in sight of the fully as fertile and also magnificently timbered lands of Northern Minnesota and take farms on the bare plains of Manitoba or other sections is hard to understand, unless explanation be found in the fact that the one region has been cunningly advertised whereas the vastly superior advantages of the other have been apparently as cunningly concealed.

It may require more work to prepare timbered lands for harvest, but this was not thought a disadvantage among the early pioneers and the advantages of having a certain and sure supply of fuel at one's very door ought to more than turn the scales in favor of Northern Minnesota against any treeless portion of the entire Northwest.

The Herald believes that, with only moderate efforts, the tide of future immigration can be diverted to richly endowed Northern Minnesota. And not the least argument in favor of this section should be that the forests give home-seekers means, that cost only a little extra labor, of setting the worst attacks of winter at cosy defiance.

"UNCLE SAM'S" STOCK-TAKING.

Having completed the major portion of his annual stock-taking and balanced his books for 1906, Uncle Sam is now engaged in the agreeable process of rubbing his hands together in self-satisfaction and patting himself on the back. His rival merchants, John Bull, Jean Crapaud and Hans Deutsch, are not quite so well satisfied with their own records and are making envious remarks. But what does Uncle Sam care, so long as facts and figures show that he is the prince of all merchants?

And what do these facts and figures, this stock-taking, show? Enough certainly to justify Uncle Sam in puffing out his chest considerably more and his children in rejoicing to a greater or less degree, according to their diverse natures, over what the old man has been doing.

In the first place, Uncle Sam has increased the wages of many of the 5,470,321 people who work in his stores and factories and other industries, from 5 to 15 or even 20 per cent. It is true that these advances have not equalled the marked-up figures on the price-tags of many things in which Uncle Sam deals, but they have gone part way and that is cause for at least moderate satisfaction. Counting up these workers and reckoning back only six years, he finds that his faithful producers have increased 750,025 in that time while the money he paid them last year—$2,611,540,532 in wages—is exactly $50,137,498 larger than in 1900.

Next, Uncle Sam's inventory of his lumber and timber products shows that they were worth somewhere near $700,000,000—a gain of $145,000,000 since 1900, while his sons who are woodmen are figured out as numbering 425,000 whose salaries and wages amount to $100,000,000, or $90,000,000 more than in 1900.

Then Uncle Sam has found that his steel books show $103,000,000 paid for steel rails in 1906 and orders on hand for 3,700,000 tons for this year—pretty good figures when compared with $145,000 ten years ago.

Finally Uncle Sam has figured out that he shipped abroad last year goods of all kinds that brought him in $1,743,000,000. Of these, as a matter of course, wheat and corn and oats and provisions returned the largest amounts of cash, for this mighty New World merchant is by long odds the biggest farmer and stock raiser on earth.

Is it any wonder, therefore, that Uncle Sam is rubbing his hands in glee and his children are feeling well-fed, well-clothed and reasonably contented?

AMERICA'S "BACK NUMBERS."

Americans are in the habit of boasting that they are the most wide awake, progressive and traveled of all peoples, that they have more railroads than any other country and that there are no "slow pokes" nor "back numbers" in their great land. In the vast main, they are right but, every now and then, prying, inquisitive newspaper men find out a few things that knock a corner or two off the edges of self-esteem.

Who, for instance, would ever have believed that an American, born in America and living for eighty years in the nation's capital within plain sight of the grand capitol building, had never been inside that historic structure where, year after year for nearly a century, the country's greatest have been in congress? But he is not unique in Washington, for there are fully 50,000 people there who have never been in the magnificent Congressional library nor have ever visited Mount Vernon—a delightful trip down the Potomac. Indifference explains the lack of interest of all of these.

Of a different kind, but equally as subversive of America's self-pride, is the case recently disclosed by the federal authorities of Mississippi of a dozen or more white men who still believe that they have the right to buy and sell negroes. Fortunately, so far has been developed, these densely ignorant, backwoods Americans are too few to justify any outburst of horror from the descendants of the original Abolitionists.

In Pennsylvania, called the Keystone state for over a century and considered the most progressive of commonwealths, is a county that has no railroad and in which live scores of grown people who have never seen an electric car nor an incandescent light nor used a telephone, while an automobile is an absolutely unknown variety of creature.

In every state of the Union, New York as well as New Mexico, are out-of-the-way places where people are practically as innocent of guile as the Mississippians and as unprogressive as the Pennsylvanians. But, instead of being ashamed or apologetic, we ought to be glad of it, for such places furnish sure retreats for tired hearts when sick of the hypocrisy of a self-conscious, utterly sophisticated world.

GOOD MANNERS NOT DEAD.

With all due deference to the opinion of so versatile and traveled an American as F. Hopkinson Smith, The Herald begs to take direct and most positive issue with him, as to either the decadence or death of good manners and courtesy, so far at least as Duluth and its neighboring towns are concerned.

It may be, as Mr. Smith says, that the men of New York and Chicago "have no time to be polite, just as they have no time for any literature except that suited for a street car or a journey on a railroad." It may also be that similar conditions prevail in others of the large cities of America. But such is assuredly not the fact in regard to the men of the moderate-sized places of the North or the cities of the South.

No one will disagree with Mr. Smith that a student of good American manners should not go to New York or Chicago if he would seek evidences of courtesy. But what man is there in Duluth or any of its neighboring towns who would not step gallantly into snow, knee or even waist deep, so that a girl or woman could have the whole of a narrow path? And what better evidence of true courtesy can one want than that?

The loss of good manners in the rushing, bustling, roaring large cities is unquestionable. The worst feature is that there is no compensation for its absence. The keener edge of a higher civilization is dulled when the rush for material success produces a race of masculine bores. But true courtesy and gentle manners have not departed from the towns of the nation, and never will, so long as their men are of the sturdy American type with a fine vein of chivalry in their natures.

The men of the cities will weary some day of the madly selfish race for riches. Then they will turn to the towns to learn again true courtesy that makes life worth living.

THE PASSING SHOW.

The Jamaica ginger that Governor Sweetenham dealt out certainly was not of the pain-relieving, curative variety.

The law factories all over the country are running full blast now. Who dares predict what the product will be?

The National Retail Grocers' association has honored itself and honored Duluth by electing Simon Clark as vice president.

The wealth of the United States may be growing at the rate of $100,000,000 a day, but precious few of its $3,000,000,000 realize it.

An Indiana girl's smile has won her the first state office for women on record. Another strong argument in favor of the sunny disposition.

The jurors so far selected for the Thaw case are said to be "above the average." Can the same be said of the sensation-seeking crowds that jam the court room?

While the senate was using up time worth several thousand dollars a day on the Brownsville affair, did any one stop to think what may have become of the discharged soldiers?

With freezing weather all over the state and the supplies of both stores and fuel short, California is not boasting quite so much this year of its ideal winter resort attractiveness.

Duluth was second only to New York as a commercial port last year. Surely that is a record for Duluth's wide-awake business men to blazon forth on their letter-heads and envelopes.

An expert seismologist declares that there are no such things as earthquakes. The survivors of San Francisco, Valparaiso and Kingston would like to have a few minutes' talk with him.

The Des Moines Capital and the Denver Post are each engaged in a "booster campaign" for its home city. It will be interesting to find out which has accomplished the better result at the end of the year.

The Windom Reporter and the Le Sueur News head their editorial pages: "For president in 1908—Theodore Roosevelt." Editors Huntington and Grimes evidently do not propose to take "Our Teddy" at his word.

Senator Tillman claimed that he was merely trying his hand at humor when he wrote his recent speech. His brother-senators failed to see the joke of it either way and, like many another would-be wit, he had a close call of it. He would do better hereafter to stick to plain, ordinary vitriolism.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"The coal famine through the North-west was a good thing for the Northern Minnesota wood cutters," said H. I. Perry of Cass Lake, Minn., at the Lenox. "Wood is most easily carried on flat cars, and as flats aren't carried much in winter except for hauling timber products, there was no shortage of them, as was the case with the regular freight cars and gondolas. While the coal docks were crying for something on wheels that would hold coal, the settlers through Northern Minnesota, who were engaged in cutting wood, and the small camps in the same business, were able to get all the flat cars they needed."

The news of the coal shortage soon reached these men, and they began to load flats with stove wood for the Duluth docks. The congestion of business made the moving of the cars slower than usual, but at the worst, they got there far ahead of the coal shipments, and in several towns there was plenty of wood in sight when there was no coal to be had. This, of course, meant good prices, and nice profits for dealers and cutters alike. The dealers were in such need of the fuel that they were willing to take the flats at a low price, and the settlers managed to make pretty good money out of the situation. These flats were used to get a good price for stove wood, or he refuses to take them. It is a pity that they do during the winter and earn good money that he will not undertake to do. The profits are in sight. The logging camps and pulpwood dealers are in a similar position. They are handling at big wages. This is one reason why ordinary kinds of wood are so scarce in the winter. TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1887.

Governor Fitz-Hugh Lee and a distinguished party from Virginia and Maryland arrived this morning by special car attached to the St. Paul & Duluth train, under the escort of M. B. Harrison of this city. After breakfast they made the acquaintance of many prominent citizens, among whom were President Owen Ferguson of the board of trade, Collector H. B. Moore, Postmaster John Flynn, President Benetone of the produce exchange, Hon. George C. Stone and G. G. Hartley. At M. Ferguson's invitation the party visited the board of trade, where Governor Lee delivered a speech in which he complimented Duluth. In the governor's party were ex-Governor Marye of Virginia, father of Engineer Marye of this city; J. B. Branch, a prominent banker of Richmond, Va.; T. M. Page, the well known Virginia litterateur; J. T. Gray and P. H. Mayo, two leading tobacco dealers of Richmond; T. A. Pemberton, a Richmond capitalist; M. M. Gilliam, R. B. Atkinson and John A. Cobe, prominent lawyers of Richmond; Maj. R. M. Venables, professor of law, Baltimore; E. M. Noon and C. Watkins, two large Virginia tobacco dealers; Dr. George Ross of Richmond, and B. Magoffin, J. R. McMurran and E. G. Handy of St. Paul, former Virginia residents, driving from one end of the city to the other, they returned to St. Paul.

Vagabond Thoughts.
Even love must have a hard time finding a way through those North Dakota drifts.

It is mighty hard to swear off smoking when a pretty girl presides at the clear counter.

All the bosses are not in politics; some are janitors.

Sometimes even a large bank account doesn't prevent the skeleton from escaping from the closet.

Money may not be everything in this life but it helps some.

You can drive a man to water but it is mighty hard to make him drink it exclusively.

Some men discover after marriage that the peach they picked in the orchard of love is a lemon.

If all the world's a stage, a whole lot of us are merely "supers."

Dramatic Note.

Teacher.
Poets of wit and first loves they've had, In the years that have gone somewhere, Of the little girl who was my first dress And of aprons she used to wear.

Of the walks they have had and the talks they have had, In the days gone by but I'll swear, That not one of them loved as deeply as I, In the days that have gone somewhere.

No "pigtails" graced her shapely back, And she wore no gingham dress, But from the number of apples she got, She was as popular as any I guess; And I know she used to like me, too.

TALESMEN HALF GONE
Seven Jurors Secured in Thaw Case From 101 Men.

New York, Jan. 26.—Fifty-one talesmen were examined yesterday in the effort to complete the jury which is to try Harry K. Thaw for the killing of Stanford White, and at the end of the day's session, two names had been added to the jury roll, making seven in all.

One of the men who were willing to serve was evidenced by the fact that he was a juror in the trial three jurors were sworn from among nineteen talesmen, one of them being excused subsequently by the court.

One of the new jurors is Harold R. Fair, a printer and publisher, who is the only unmarried man thus far selected.

The second new juror is Malcolm S. Fraser, a dealer in underwear. He is 40 years of age and is married.

There will be no session today, the court adjourning until Monday morning. The seven jurors will remain in the custody of bailiffs.

ALGER'S BODY TO LIE IN STATE
Will Rest in City Hall at Detroit Over Sunday.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Newberry, who is arranging the details of the funeral of the late Senator Alger, so far as they can be done from Washington, has announced that at the close of the funeral services to be held here at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the body will be removed to the Pennsylvania railroad station and put on the 4 o'clock Western train, due to arrive in Detroit at 10:45 a. m. Sunday.

After consultation with Mrs. Alger, and telegraphic communications with Col. Frank Hecker, who is in charge of the funeral arrangements at Detroit, it was decided that when the body of the late senator arrives in that city, it will be removed to the city hall, and lie in state during Sunday.

Monday morning, the coffin will be taken to the Alger home, where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock.

The army will be represented by an escort of four companies of infantry now stationed at Fort Wayne, and by a firing squad to give a military character to the services at the grave.

Col. Hecker has also been authorized to provide for a participation in the funeral procession of the Michigan national guard and of the Detroit Irish Legion. He will also select pall bearers.

OLSON IMPROVING.
Former Postmaster of Northome Recovering From Typhoid Fever.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 26.—(Special to The Herald).—A letter from Grand Rapids states that O. M. Olson, the ex-postmaster at Northome and deputy sheriff of Itasca county, who has been in the hospital there for two months past, is slowly recovering from the serious attack of typhoid fever with which he has been afflicted, and that there is every reason to believe that his condition now is not dangerous.

PLAN WILL NOT WORK

Reservoir Cannot Supply Proctor With 1,000,000 Gallons Daily.

Water Department May Decide on Auxiliary Pumping Plant.

The municipal water plant, with its present equipment and facilities for handling the celebrated Lake Superior beverage, cannot supply the maximum of 1,000,000 gallons per day desired by the Proctor water & light company for the system that it is now planning to establish at Proctor.

Some time ago prominent Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway officials, who are back of the Proctor water and light company, negotiated with the Duluth water and light department with a view to securing its water supply from the new reservoir at West Duluth, and the new reservoir at West Duluth, and by means of a pumping station near the reservoir and a pipe line over the hill to Proctor to convey the water to the system to be established this coming year in that railroad town back of the hill.

The department was willing enough to secure a customer that promised so substantial a water rental every year, but the question arose as to whether the present system in Duluth was ample to permit the withdrawal of 1,000,000 gallons daily from the West Duluth reservoir, in addition to the water that is withdrawn daily for consumption in the western end of the city.

A few days ago the water and light board submitted the proposition to George N. Benzenberg of Milwaukee, Wis., a hydraulic engineer of considerable experience and who has a national reputation. The board asked him whether the local system could supply 1,000,000 gallons per day at the railroad crossing south of the West Duluth reservoir.

The board gave the engineer all the details necessary about the local plant, the conditions, pipe lines, pressure at different points of the system.

In a letter just received by the department from Mr. Benzenberg, he states his opinion that the city plant will not be able to furnish the maximum supply wanted by the Proctor company.

The pipe line system in Duluth, as reference to the maps and records in the water department will show, is made up of a 36-inch main from the reservoir to Fifteenth avenue east; a 24-inch main from Fifteenth avenue east to Twenty-fourth avenue west; a 16-inch main from Twenty-fourth avenue west to Forty-sixth avenue west and a 12-inch main from Forty-sixth avenue west to West Duluth.

The water board has directed the manager to submit another proposition to the hydraulic engineer for his report in the near future. The proposition is as follows:

"If a small pumping plant be established at the west end of the 16-inch main, at Forty-sixth avenue west, and used to pump water to the reservoir at West Duluth, uninterrupted, could the required quantity of water be furnished the Proctor system?"

The city's reservoirs are some distance apart and that is said to be the principal reason that the present local system is inadequate to furnish another 1,000,000 gallons daily to the quantity already furnished for local consumption in the western end of the city.

Should the hydraulic engineer report favorably on the auxiliary system as being ample to supply the water demand, it is probable that the water department will ask the council for authority to build the auxiliary pumping plant and to have the contract entered into with the Proctor company.

The water board has awarded the contract for printing its annual report to Merritt & Hector of this city, its bid of $113.25 being the lowest of three submitted to the board.

The report will probably be submitted to the city council in the near future. It will probably be of much interest generally to citizens for the reason that the department, it is said, has made splendid showing during the past year.

Guaranteed Liquor Cure
No Detention From Work or Loss of Time—Desire For Drink Destroyed by Orrine.

When one of our most reliable druggists makes a positive statement that he will guarantee to cure the liquor habit if Orrine is used in accordance with directions or refund the money it shows his great faith in the treatment. It is in this way that Orrine is sold by the leading druggists in nearly every city and town. In every box is a registered guarantee which entitles you to a refund of your money if Orrine fails to effect a cure.

No other cure for the liquor habit has been sold in this way and the remarkable guarantee shows how far superior Orrine is to the ordinary sanatorium or hospital treatment. There is no detention from work or loss of time when Orrine is used. It destroys the desire for liquor, so that the drink is not missed, also cures the deranged stomach, weakened nerves and other ill effects of excessive drinking restoring the patient to perfect health.

Orrine is prepared in two forms, No. 1, the secret remedy which can be used in food or drink without the knowledge of the patient; No. 2 for those who take the remedy of their own free will. Both forms are guaranteed. A registered guarantee in every box.

Treatise on how to cure drunkenness free on request. Orrine Co., Washington, D. C. The price of either form is $1 a box making the cost of the complete cure less than one-tenth what it is usually charged at sanatoriums, with a guarantee that the expense will be nothing unless a cure is gained. CONGRESS MAY MEET IN JUNE Believed That Powers Will Assemble at The Hague Then.

Washington, Jan. 26.—It is understood that while Prof. Martens in the course of his talk Thursday with Ambassador Tower, in Berlin, regarding the reassembling of The Hague congress, did not in behalf of the Russian government, name any special date for the meeting, it did develop, as a result of the conversation, that the month of June would be probably agreeable to most of the powers that expect to participate in the congress. Seasonably, this is believed to be the best possible month and while Prof. Martens will continue to sound other European powers to learn if they have any distinct preferences, it is expected that the decision of the exact date will really be left to the government of the Netherlands, which must entertain the delegates and that this government will approve the selection of June or perhaps July as the month for meeting.

It is stated that so far as the program is concerned, negotiations which have been in progress for the past six months or more have made it clear that it is fruitless to expect any universal agreement upon the conclusion of other subjects than those mentioned in the original Russian note of 1906, containing the proposal for the second congress. Also, it is stated, that if the program is to be enlarged at all so as to include such subjects as international disarmament or restriction of armament and the consideration of the Drago doctrine, this can only be accomplished by recommendations made by the delegates to their respective governments, probably after the congress has already begun consideration of the original program.

SPORTS OF THE WEEK

FOUR TEAMS IN TOURNEY

Hockey Sevens Will Compete for a Handsome Trophy.

Will Demonstrate Need for Hockey Rink in Duluth.

A hockey tournament with the four teams at the head of the Lakes, and possibly a couple of others from the range and Northern Michigan towns as contestants, is the next thing on the hockey program, after the match scheduled between the Northerns and the Victorias this evening.

The Columbia Clothing company has agreed to donate a handsome cup for the competition, and the Northern Hardware, Columbia, Two Harbors and Duluth high school hockey teams are planning to get into the running for the trophy. The first rounds will be played off in the near future and the finals are to be held on Washington's birthday, if possible. There will be some sort of a second prize provided for the runners up.

The teams are going into the game to demonstrate, if possible, that a hockey rink at the head of the Lakes would be a paying proposition and from the interest which is being taken in the sport by Duluth and Superior people it rather looks as if they were going to succeed.

The Northern Hardware boys report a most flattering sale of tickets for the game with the Victorias tonight at the curling rink, and expect to make up the $125, which will be necessary for them to clear up the expenses of the trip to St. Paul, and that of the St. Paul team here. Should the locals win tonight, it is probable that the Vics will remain over for the decisive contest Monday, as they have a game scheduled with the Superior Columbus Sunday at Superior and it would only mean a delay of one day. The winners of the series will be entitled to the Dumbur cup, with which goes the semi-championship of the Northwest.

DEMETRAL IS EASY FOR BEELL

Wisconsin Boy Toys With the Greek at Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Fred Beell of Wisconsin easily defeated William Demetral, Chicago's aspirant for the heavyweight championship, at catch-as-catch-can style wrestling, when they met here last night. Demetral had twenty-five pounds the best of it in weight. Despite this advantage, Beell stayed with Demetral and had him on the defensive throughout the entire match. Beell won the first fall with a headlock and leg hold in 25 minutes and 26 seconds. During this period Demetral was on the defensive the entire time, and it seemed as if Beell could have pinned his opponents shoulders to the floor on several occasions, but the 3,000 people present were enjoying his clever work and he evidently wished to give them the worth of their money by prolonging the bout. The referee gave the next fall to Demetral, declaring that he had won it with a half Nelson and grape vine in 2 minutes and 25 seconds. The referee was hooted and hissed for fully ten minutes, after making the decision. Beell protested, but his objection was unheeded. Beell put the Greek on his back in 55 seconds with a double toe hold for the third and deciding fall.

The Farmer Downs English Champion at Birmingham, Ala.

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 26.—Farmer Burns defeated James Parr, the English champion here last night, in one of the fastest wrestling matches ever seen in this city. A challenge to the winner was made by Frank Gotch, the American champion, and Burns announced that he had accepted, the match to be held in Birmingham.

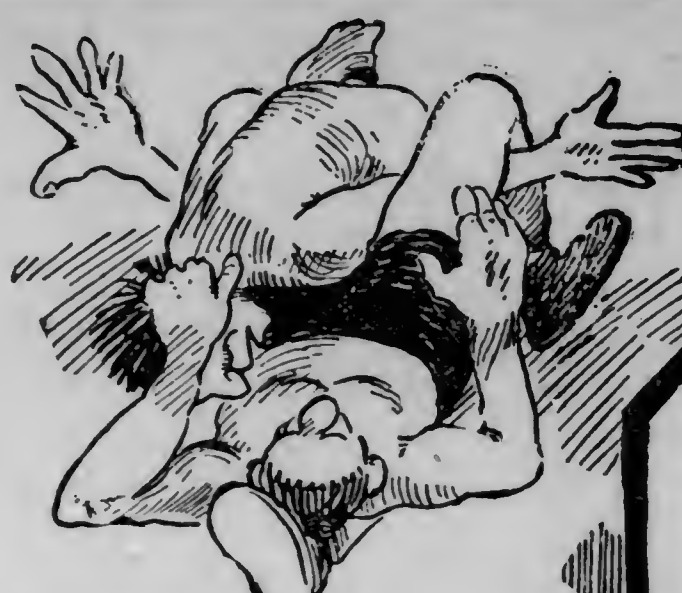

IS GIRLS' BOXING CHAMPION

A Three-Round "Go" at the University of Chicago.

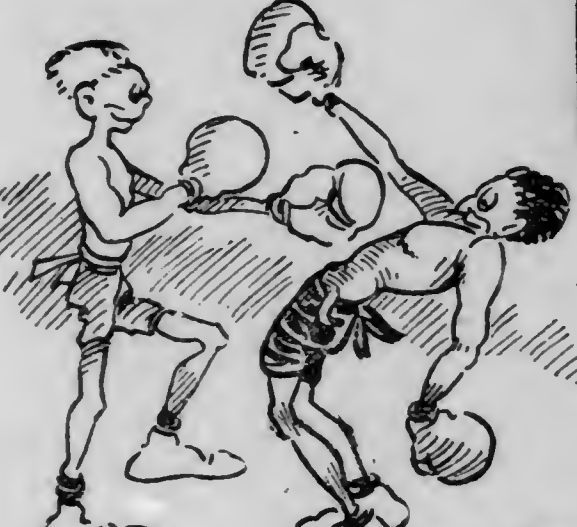

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Miss Marion Talbot, dean of women and head of the department of household administration at the University of Chicago, has received the title of "Little Mike, champion midway pugilist," from the university coeds because of the success she won at a "circuit" at Green hall last Saturday night, when she defeated Miss Vesta Jameson, alias "Big Pat" in a three round "go."

Large green posters advertising the mill and other "stunts" escaped from Green hall, Miss Talbot's ring appearance was advertised as "Little Mike and Big Pat in three rounds, as presented the champion heads of Europe, Asia and Africa."

The dean was given the decision in the third round, and could have gone another round easily, as she was not groggy, according to the witnesses. The police did not interfere. The mill was not a part of the instruction in household administration. According to the report of the "circuit" printed in

TOURNAMENT AT ROLLER RINK

Minneapolis Skater Will Introduce Ricochet to Duluthians.

Joseph Munch, champion roller skater of the Northwest, will be in Duluth all next week to attend the big tournament which will be held at the Temple Roller rink, Second avenue east and Superior street. He will probably race a number of the local skaters who are considered pretty fast. Among these will be Wiggins, the champion of the city.

Munch has just returned from a trip to Cincinnati, where he won, third place in the tournament in which the fastest skaters in the country participated.

During the tournament there will be relay races and Munch will be well ing to give the majority of the local skaters a generous lead. Some time during the week Munch will also introduce for the first time in the city, the game of ricochet, which is very popular in other cities. The date for this exhibition will be decided upon later, after the arrival of the champion.

Ricochet has gained great popularity among roller skaters of other cities and it will probably take well with Duluth people who follow the roller skating sport. Munch will pick two teams after his arrival and will give them a few drills before the date is set for the first game between them.

It is expected that Munch will arrive in Duluth Sunday and will confer with the management of the rink regarding the tournament. The dates for the different events of the week will then be arranged.

A new floor surface, which has just been patented by Mr. Anderson of the Casino rink of Minneapolis will be used to put the local floor in the best of condition for the big tournament next week. Anderson will come up from Minneapolis himself to see that the work is well done.

CONFESSION OF GAMBLER

Writes an Interesting Exposure of Marked Card Systems.

Tells How the Sharps Fleece the Novices at Poker.

This expose of "readers" was written for the San Francisco Chronicle by a reformed gambler, who was at one time one of the most expert "work players" on the Pacific coast.

It has been recognized for some time that in a game of poker a tyro pitted against an adept has about as much chance as a clam in a Coney Island chowder, but the opponent of a man who plays with readers might better save his time and make a gift of his money, for he never wins a bet.

In the parlance of the gambler, playing with readers is known as "playing work," rather a paradoxical expression, but very apt, for it is play to the adept and work to the novice. "Work" is divided into several classes, the names conforming to the character of the marks. "Shade work," "stamp work," "block-out work," "stamp work" and "sort work." Each one of these has numerous variations, and is only limited by the ingenuity of the player in conceiving them. A few of the more common ones will be explained here in the hope that an occasional lamb will be saved from the sheering.

A few words, in the first place, as to the prevalence of the practice. There are several firms in the United States that are constantly engaged in the manufacture of readers. These do an enormous business, but they do not supply the consumer directly, their output being sold to middlemen, who furnish the goods to saloons, gambling houses and gamblers themselves. There is one firm in business in this city at the present time which acts as a distributor of readers, and is well known to gamblers throughout the Pacific Coast states.

Reach All Games.

Readers were to be found only in low class dives it would be a very simple matter to avoid work players, but as a matter of fact one goes up against them the hardest in a gentleman's game. Club stewards, boat stewards and others whose duty it is to supply the cards with which the games are played, are not always incorruptible, and for a percentage of the winnings will frequently switch the decks, and the one that is brought to the table is frequently not the one that was purchased for the use of the house.

In addition to the decks that are manufactured, there are thousands of decks turned out by gamblers themselves. These are made of stamps and sorts. Stamps are made from a set of dies, in which the die for each denomination has some slight difference, invisible to the ordinary eye, and the system of which could not be figured out without a key. There are just as many different systems of stamps as there are kinds of card backs, but they don't make much difference in the game. In the first place, anyone can buy them, and the gambler never knows when he will fall in a game with some one who knows the system and will play it back at him.

In addition to the stamp work is coarse as it is made for many different eyes, and the expert prefers to mark a deck suited to the peculiarities of his own eye. Sorts differ from stamps in that the former are printed from identical dies, but in the case of each denomination the die is placed differently on the card back. The commonest kind of sorts is made of star backs. This is a small, conventional figure—in fact sorts cannot be made from a large figure that are cut by the edge of the card.

Have No Border.

Sorts have a white border surrounding the figure, as is the case in bicycle cards. The following will illustrate: In an ace, the last star in the upper left hand corner comes just to the edge of the card, and, correspondingly, in the lower right hand corner. In the case of a king the last star in the upper left hand corner would be at the edge of the card, while the star in the lower right hand corner would be a trifle clipped from it by the edge of the card. The seven resembling the ace, in that the star comes to the edge of the card, the seven resembling the king and so on. All star backs have this same variation, except that the honest cards are not sorted, and therefore, the point where any particular star is clipped by the edge of the card has no significance.

Shade Work.

Shade work and block-out work are all placed by individual gamblers, and each one places the work to meet the requirements of his own eye. Some of the shade work is positively artistic, and absolutely defies detection. Even when pointed out to the ordinary eye, it would remain invisible. Work players must have good eyes for color to start with; they must also have years of practice, and most of them turn their eyes at an early stage by the concentration that they give the work. An expert work player will detect the cards from the backs as fast as they can be dealt from the deck, whereas his opponent could not detect the marks if they were pointed out to him.

Block-out work is placed upon the backs of cards that have large ornamental figures, while shade work is better adapted to backs that have a small conventional figure, and best work with a dye in solution of alcohol and ether. Something of the delicacy of shade work can be gleaned from the fact that one grain of dye is sufficient to mark twelve decks of cards, and some of the lines go the whole length of the card.

Block-out work simply consists in blocking out or outlining different figures on the different denominations. The ink is made from India ink in solution with alcohol and ether. Three drops of ink is sufficient to mark a dozen decks, and is placed in solution with an ounce of alcohol and one dram of ether. The alcohol keeps the ink from spreading and blotting, while the ether "sets" it into the card. It is placed with a very fine-pointed pen.

The player selects any system that his ingenuity can devise, but the card of each denomination has a different figure blocked out. The figure usually has a red, blue or white center, with a black border. It may be a small bird, or a flower, or the wheel of a bicycle. Whatever it is, the border is traced with the block-out ink, until it becomes slightly heavier than in the original print. The chief objection to block-out work is that the player must frequently see the whole back of the card in order to catch the particular figure that is blocked out upon it.

Has Command of Game.

This is not true of shade work, as the line is carried across the entire back, and a player can catch it by seeing a sixteenth of an inch of the edge of the card. This enables him to play stud poker or hokey-poker, not only to know what his opponents have in the hole, but he can also tell what is coming to each.

By drawing the top card or cards slightly back, and also what is coming to himself. If he happens to be a good second dealer, in connection with being a work player, he has entire command of the game, and it requires an unusual arrangement of the cards for another player to win a hand.

The solution for placing shade work is one grain of aniline dye to one ounce of alcohol. On highly glazed backs, a dram of ether is used to set the dye. Crimson dye is used on red backs and royal blue on blue backs. The commonest system, and the one easiest to play, is the one here illustrated, but the system is frequently altered to suit the individual player. The system itself amounts to nothing, as long as it is intelligible to the player.

Let no one imagine that the foregoing explanations are intended as instructions, for the novice who attempted to follow them would undoubtedly come to grief. The dexterity required to place the work, the remarkable eyesight required to play

RULED OFF TURF.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—Jockey Kent and Trainer Morton, connected with the stable of Joe Cooper at Ascot Park, have been ruled off the turf for fraud in connection with the running of the horse Round Dance, in a race on Jan. 8. From all accounts the evidence shows that Kent was the real owner of Round Dance, which won at a long price, while Kent rode the favorite, Susanah, which finished third. Kent denies that he owned Round Dance.

CAPTAIN GEORGE COOK RE-ELECTED

GEORGE COOK.

New York, Jan. 26.—Cornell has bestowed the rare compliment on George Cook, last year's captain of the football eleven, of a re-election for 1907. Not very often do college teams agree to this. There are so many men who are entitled to be honored that doubly to bestow honors on a single individual is a fine way of attesting the esteem of the men in his class and on his team.

Cook was not one of the strongest forwards of last year—he plays a tackle position—but he was a devoted, sincere and conscientious student, who worked faithfully for the "Big Red" team from the first day that coaching began until the season was finished.

He handled his players with rare judgment, and up to the limit of his physical ability never spared himself in a single contest in which Cornell engaged.

Since the football season of 1906 has been completed Cook's betrothal has been announced, but his college life at Ithaca has still another year to run, and next fall will find him in charge of the football players, but without the services of Glenn Warner as head coach.

The experience of the last season should prove of most valuable assistance to Cook during the season of 1907, owing to the fact that the game was broken by Y. M. C. A. men last evening.

RELATIONS BROKEN OFF

Agreement Between Harvard and Yale No Longer Exists.

Two Colleges May Discontinue Their Annual Football Game.

Harvard this week has announced to the sporting and collegiate world that her relations with Yale have been severed. This is a move which, while it does not come unheralded, is nevertheless something of a surprise to the followers of college sports, football especially, who have been slow to believe that either of the schools would make the first move in severing their mutual athletic relations.

The announcement does not, however, mean that there will be no more contests between the Blue and the Crimson, as it relates only to the agreement which has been in force between the Sons of Eli and the rab-rab boys from the Cambridge institution, which called for one game in each of the four major sports, football, rowing, baseball and track work, between the two colleges.

This agreement went into force a number of years ago, to last for two years, or longer, provided neither party gave the other six months notice of the severance of the relations. Until this year no hint of any break has been made.

While not absolutely eradicating any possibility of a Harvard-Yale football game next fall, the breaking of this agreement indicates that the game will not be played. Harvard's ostensible reason for the break was that her athletic committee had been forbidden to make arrangements for contests after Nov. 1, 1906, and crews, baseball and track teams will meet this spring as usual under the old agreement.

The two schools were almost at sword's points last fall at the occasion of the big game, it will be remembered, over a dispute as to the officials, and Yale, which has been ruled off the turf for fraud in connection with the running of the horse Round Dance, in a race on Jan. 8. From all accounts the evidence shows that Kent was the real owner of Round Dance, which won at a long price, while Kent rode the favorite, Susanah, which finished third. Kent denies that he owned Round Dance.

From that time on threats of a break have been heard, and the breaking of the agreement probably means no game next fall. The big contest will be sorely missed throughout the country, as to every follower of football there are associations which hover about the Yale-Harvard contest which make it an object of more universal interest throughout the country than any other game of the season, no matter how badly the running for the championship of the big schools are.

Harvard and Yale commenced their football relations in 1876, and since that time the schools have met every fall with five exceptions, in a struggle which has been watched with the greatest eagerness all over the country. In 1877, 1885, 1888 and 1896 there were no games between the big schools, leaving a total of twenty-six contests.

The claim of the Ishaming riders that Duluth riders were not properly treated by the Duluth club in the tournament here last Sunday, is also sustained, and the only explanation that can be given is that the story was for the purpose of injuring Duluth's chances for landing the national meet.

Even to the spectators it was plainly evident that the Duluth riders outclassed the visitors. When Feiring and Bye made their long jumps a shout went up even before the distance was announced. It was so plainly evident that the riders had jumped many feet beyond the competitors, that the crowds did not wait for the result to be announced through the megaphone.

The chair used was measured by some of the riders after the tournament and found to be correct.

The story shows poor sportsmanship on the part of the Ishaming riders, and it is to be hoped that they will accept the challenge of the Duluth club, and be shown up in their true light.

The Duluth club backed down to St. Paul on the professional proposition, mainly because the St. Paul club's support was noted in landing the national. There are a lot of things which might be said in favor of professional jumping, but the St. Paul club is the only one taking this stand, and you can't argue with a man you want a favor from.

It is to be hoped that the crowd at the curling rink this evening to witness the hockey match between the Duluth team and the Victorias of St. Paul will prove too great to be handled. Duluth needs a hockey rink, and the sooner this fact is plainly demonstrated the better. If the crowd tonight takes the capacity of the curling rink, it may help the Duluth men with money to see light, and put up a hockey rink before next winter.

Before another winter comes around it is hoped that the Y. M. C. A. will be occupying its new quarters. The present gymnasium is altogether inadequate, and it is the place for basketball or for an indoor field meet such as was held last evening. In spite of this, however, two world's records were broken by Y. M. C. A. men last evening.

NEWS FROM THE NORMAL

Seniors Will Give Class Play During Commencement Week.

Monday, Miss Taylor, president of the senior class, called a meeting of the seniors. The members decided to entertain the juniors at a sleighride to the Lakewood pumping station. Committees were appointed and final arrangements were made for the entertainment.

There was more discussion on the subject of a class play. It was decided to give one class play, and to have it during commencement week. Committees were appointed to look up plays, and the class adjourned to meet again next Monday.

The members of the History and Philosophy of Education class, studying with Dr. Kiline, head of the model department, have been working out an experiment begun before Christmas. The class met with Dr. Kiline at his home, this afternoon, to hear the results of the experiments.

The seniors, who are taking special work in geography with Miss Horne of the model department, began Wednesday with their first lesson, reviewing the continents, taking up North America first. The class decided to meet every Wednesday for a short lesson.

BIG MEN HELPED BY THEIR BETTER HALVES

The Noteworthy Case of Mrs. John A. Logan, Who Aided Her Husband, General Logan, All Through His Picturesque Career and is Now Living in Washington, Bereaved Alike of Husband and Son—Typically American History of the Logans—Many Presidents' Wives Have Been of Great Help to Them.

By DEXTER MARSHALL.

(Copyright, 1907, by Dexter Marshall.)

The records of many great men's lives in every age and every land are filled with stories of the help given to them by their better halves.

Washington owed much to his wife, "Dolly" Madison was one of the most popular American women who ever lived. Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. Hayes were strong figures at the capital while their husbands were in the White House. Mrs. Cleveland's influence during her husband's incumbency of the presidency is well remembered. Mrs. Roosevelt is a power in Washington now.

Mrs. Bryan worked as hard all through her husband's two campaigns as her husband did, traveling thousands of miles with him, revising many of his speeches, and often receiving the reporters. Mrs. Blaine had the entire confidence of her husband, though he relied more on the judgment of his intellectual cousin, "Gail Hamilton," than upon his wife's. The first Mrs. William slonate devotion; the marchioness of Salisbury, dowdy and with some comical mannerisms, was yet a commanding influence in her husband's politics because of her knowledge of politics and her tact. Mrs. Gladstone, artless in manner, was a tower of strength for the Grand Old Man. Lady Roseberry (who was a Rothschild) like Lady Beaconsfield, brought to her husband the wealth he needed in carrying out his career.

Some, but not all, the American brides of titled Europeans have been equally helpful to their husbands. Lady Randolph Churchill was one of the helpful ones. Lady Curzon, nee Leiter, was even more helpful to the viceroy of India than Jennie Jerome was to Lord Randolph, and it is probable that had her tactful advice been accepted the rupture with Lord Kitchener, which would up Lord Curzon's career, need never have occurred.

Mrs. Logan's Remarkable Career. There dwells in Washington, D. C., in a spacious, square, old fashioned house known as Calumet Place, a distinguished looking woman with snow-white hair, now lacking only a year or so of the Biblical three score and ten;

The latter was never shown more conspicuously than in the fall of 1884, at Chelmsford, when the Blaine campaign was on. Not everybody, even those on the inside, knew it, but Blaine was not fond of Logan. When the two men visited the Ohio river city in search of votes Blaine arrived in the morning and received an enthusiastic welcome. There were parades, band playing, crowds, addresses and decorations. Logan reached town in the afternoon and no one turned out to meet him. This was generally supposed to be an oversight, but not by Gen. Logan. He believed that Blaine was at the bottom of it.

This view was shared by the editor of one of the local papers, who sent a reporter to interview the late soldier candidate. Logan welcomed the newspaper man, and to the latter's amazement expressed himself freely in the vitriolic English which he sometimes used. He said things about Blaine the publication of which would have made a scandal big enough, perhaps, to split the Republican party at that most critical time.

Mrs. Logan was present and heard it all. She didn't approve, of course. She knew how futile even her objections would be with her husband, wrought up to the highest pitch of excitement, but she found a way to prevent the printing of the story. She managed to slip out of the room ahead of the reporter, whom she intercepted before he left the hotel, and upon whom she exercised all the persuasive art of which she was so famous a mistress. It was not easy to get his promise to suppress so extraordinary a news story as this interview with the general would have been, but the promise was ultimately given, and kept, too, which was more to the purpose.

Mrs. Logan is the daughter of a soldier, she married a soldier, and her only son was a soldier. No woman in American history has been more closely connected with its military side than she. Her father, Capt. John M. Cunningham, fought in the Mexican war, and his father in the Revolution. Capt. John M. and his regiment, the First Illinois, marched all the way from Alton, Ill., to Santa Fe, N. M., at the outbreak of the Mexican trouble.

She was born at Petersburg, Mo., in 1838, when that thriving village was on the frontier. Long years ago it disappeared completely from the map. It was during the Mexican war that Cunningham met young Logan, also a volunteer captain in the American army. The older captain was always telling the younger one about his pretty little daughter, Mary, and what a help he was sure she was proving to her mother during ing the fathers' absence at the front. The girl was an even greater help to her mother after the close of the war, for in 1849 Capt. Cunningham, like John M. Pettus and thousands of other ambitious men, betook himself to the land of newly discovered gold, leaving his family meanwhile to make the best of the situation. He was gone four years, during which he managed to earn his own living, though little besides. These four years brought out all that was strong in Mary Cunningham. She was man and maid in turn. She weeded vegetables and hoed potatoes; she scrubbed and baked, she did whatever was necessary to help her mother support the family of six children, and Mary's planning was as important as her work.

"Black Jack" Logan's Rapid Courtship. Her father returned when she was 14, removed his family to Shawneetown, Ill., where he had been appointed land office register, and sent his daughter to a convent school in Kentucky. She was a comely, buxom girl, developed beyond her years, and she made rapid progress. When she was 16 she became her father's office assistant, where, for the first time, she met "Black Jack" Logan, who had an eye for the Mary of whom he had heard so much, and they fell in love, although he was years her senior. In 1855, before she was quite 17, they were married.

The young husband began to climb immediately. Within a year after marriage he was elected to the state legislature, and, in 1859, a year before the election of Lincoln, which precipitated the Civil war, to the lower house of congress. It is not true, as Logan's detractors used to say, that he owed all his political success to his wife, for he had got fairly started on the upward ladder before their marriage, but, young as she was, she was undoubtedly of much help to him in his first two political campaigns.

Logan enlisted in the Northern army with the breaking out of the war, fought bravely and was desperately wounded, but survived, rose to be major general, and as soon as the fighting was over, reentered congress.

Mrs. Logan had played her part of a soldier's wife well all through the war; she now began to do her share again in politics. With her own hands she made out hundreds of back pay and pension claims for her husband's constituents, often got the evidence required for them and did everything needful, all without a penny of expense to the applicants. At the same time she lived the society life of the capital as it then existed, was her own housekeeper, and not infrequently working at the dead of night, helped her husband get together the data for his addresses both in and out of congress. No doubt she helped him write many and she criticized every one of them. She helped him get into the senate; she helped him in his struggle for the vice presidential nomination, though she thought it should have been the presidential, and she was happy in his prominence. Then came his death, which at first seemed to ruin all her ambitions.

It was not long, however, before she was working as hard for the advancement of her son, John A. Logan, Jr., as she had for his father's. After two years at West Point he had dropped out, but when the Spanish war came on he enlisted, was given the rank of captain in Cuba. Later she helped him get an appointment as an officer of the line and he went to the Philippines, where he was killed in 1899. This second bereavement was almost a harder blow than the first, but she is unusually active for a woman of her years today.

Although Mrs. Logan's activities before her first bereavement were all in behalf of her husband, they were not all centered on her son in the years immediately following. She became editor of a monthly periodical, which, by reason of her great popularity with the Grand Army, reached a circulation of nearly half a million, each issue containing an installment of her reminiscences and a current letter on Washington events.

In 1899, she paid a long visit to Europe, where, through American diplomatic representatives, she met Victoria, Bismarck, Gladstone and the shah of Persia, who was visiting England. Her comments upon this Oriental potentate were naive and refreshing; indeed, her comments generally were highly original and decidedly entertaining. In 1903 she made another extended foreign stay. In 1904, when Clara Barton gave up the American leadership of the Red Cross, Mrs. Logan took the place for the time being.

Calumet Place, where Mrs. Logan lives, with her daughter-in-law, young "Jack" Logan's widow, is practically a museum filled with mementos of Gen. Logan, his military and political campaigns and his friends.

Mrs. Logan has rarely worn anything but black since her husband's death, and she always wears an open-faced locket or brooch, displaying the general's portrait, at her throat.

Mme. Waddington Famous at Courts. Mme. Mary King Waddington, now a resident of New York, a part of the time, is undoubtedly the best known in high places in foreign lands of all living American women who have been exceptionally helpful to their husbands. Mme. King was an American girl when she met and was wooed by M. Waddington, and she was much more fortunate than some American brides, for the twenty years' married life of the Waddingtons was a most ideal.

Mme. Waddington belongs to an illustrious American family. Rufus King, who was minister to England from 1784 to 1803, and again in 1825-26, was an ancestor. The second Gen. Rufus King, a writer as well as a soldier, was her father. Writing runs in her family. The first Rufus King helped Alexander Hamilton write the famous "Camillus letters," and Gen. Charles King, brother of Mme. Waddington, is one of the famous novelists of today.

Mme. Waddington's own book, "Letters of a Diplomat's Wife," published two or three years ago by the Scribners, is the product of a skilled pen and the result of keen, but not unkindly observation.

Miss Mary King went to England soon after the close of the Civil war. She met M. Waddington in England, and they were married in 1874. He died in 1894, after a remarkable pub-man who established himself in France as a cotton manufacturer more than a hundred years ago.

His wife was English and his son, father of William Henry, married an English woman named Pendrell, perhaps a descendant of the Pendrell who gave shelter to Charles the 'Second. William Henry was educated at the great English public school at Rugby and at Cambridge university, where he was a famous athlete, as well as a student of distinction. Thus both by blood and education he was English. He spoke the language like an Englishman, and it was as much used at his home in France as the French—perhaps more.

But in spite of all this, the Waddingtons were thoroughly French in sentiment and this made him an unusually valuable representative at the British court, for he was naturally perfectly familiar with the English point of view. The French understood this, and notwithstanding the whispered reason given for his final retirement he was retained in the post for ten years, an unusually long time for a French ambassador to remain at any one post.

Although M. Waddington had been, lic career, during ten years of which he held the high place of French ambassador to Great Britain. He was relieved of that post some months before his death, notwithstanding his undoubted great services to the French republic, "because he was so English."

There was more truth than fancy in that. Waddington was intensely loyal to his own country but he was of English blood on both sides and his Christian names—William Henry—as well as his family name, were English. His grandfather was a Nottinghamshire married before he took his American wife it was after his union with her that he entered upon his conspicuous public career. Before accepting his ambassadorial post he served in the national legislature, both as deputy and senator, and had twice been minister of education, foreign minister, plenipotentiary of France at the Berlin congress and prime minister. He was also France's representative at the coronation of Czar Alexander III in 1881.

He was a much greater figure as ambassador than he had been as premier,

MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN.

C. Whitney, who was Miss Payne of Cleveland, helped her husband immensely while he was a cabinet minister. Once when an awkward dinner guest, invited for political reasons, smashed one of his choicest wine glasses, she smashed another, to put him at ease, declaring that such fragile things were an unmitigated nuisance.

England's prime ministers have been peculiarly fortunate in their wives. Lady Palmerston was her husband's private secretary. Lady Beaconsfield, homely, unclever and eccentric, brought her husband great fortune and pas-

For a quarter of a century or more he was a national figure of magnitude, and beyond a doubt, he owed part of his prominence to his wife's untiring efforts for his political advancement, her intimate knowledge of politics and public life and her never-

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Dakota Calumet Copper Property About to Start Eight-Hour System—The Gold West to Operate on Large Scale.

Mill City, S. D., Jan. 26.—The Dakota Calumet copper property is about to inaugurate the eight-hour system and will put three shifts of men at work in a few weeks. For the present the work will be confined to sinking a shaft, now 285 feet deep, to a further depth. In the last 250 feet an oxidized vein material, considered very promising, was encountered, and indications are that with further depth a permanent body of ore will be opened up. Surface outcroppings carry copper values from 5 to 45 per cent. At the present depth the shaft is in the iron sulphide heavily coated with copper carbonate, the whole matter being about 2 feet thick. Preparations have been made to pump water from the shaft, and the last few months to pump as much as 300 gallons of water a minute. Extra heavy timbers were also necessary for the shaft, and the last forty feet has passed through some very short material. The shaft is in buildings destroyed by fire a year ago, a new boarding house, bunk house and barn have all been built. The hole has been enlarged and three eight-horse power rollers have been added to the forty-horse power. The company also has a 100 ton smelter, which has, however, never been operated, but which will begin work as soon as the permanent ore body has been opened. With the exception of a little limestone, all the fluxing material is found on the ground. The force of men will be increased to about forty-five or fifty, and this will be further enlarged when spring comes and the outside work commenced. Prospects are for an unusually prosperous year at this property. Stock is largely owned by Lima, Ohio, people and the company is well financed.

Rochford, S. D., Jan. 26.—The Golden West is putting on a number of miners preparatory to operating the property on a large scale. The intention of the company is to operate the plant hereafter throughout the entire year. The shaft is now 150 feet deep, and the mill being enlarged from 50 to 150 tons. The ten stamp mill is being moved to another claim so that it will be more accessible to the ore bodies to be treated. The work will require about a month more for completion, and during this time a force of men will be kept busy opening up the ore bodies so that there will be sufficient ore to supply the mill. President Curtis of the company is expected to arrive in a few days. Work will be in charge of C. P. Ames, superintendent.

Lead, S. D., Jan. 26.—The work of installing the machinery at the Globe copper mill is now in progress, and is under the supervision of Dr. Ogden. The process will be employed. The crushers have arrived and conveyors and other machinery is being arranged for the mill, which will be completed within a few weeks. The plant, however, was destroyed by fire in March and further tests of the process have, therefore, been delayed.

Hill City, S. D., Jan. 26.—A new find has just been made on the old St. Elmo property, which will result in the reopening and working of this once valuable ground. Adolph Ruechel, while doing assessment work, discovered some good looking quartz on the surface and following the stringer under the old west dump soon uncovered a five foot ledge of quartz, which continues well from wall to wall. The ledge has been stripped for 100 feet on the surface and seems to be continuous. Otto Grantz, chief owner, has been notified. He will put a force of men at work at once to sink upon the vein and decide upon further developments.

Galena, S. D., Jan. 26.—R. N. Ogden of McLaughlin & Ogden, new owners of the property, secretary and general manager of the Gilt Edge Mined company to succeed John D. Hagan, who has been in charge within the last few months to pump as much as 300 gallons of water a minute. Extra heavy timbers were also necessary for the shaft, and the last forty feet has passed through some very short material. The shaft is in buildings destroyed by fire a year ago, a new boarding house, bunk house and barn have all been built. The hole has been enlarged and three eight-horse power rollers have been added to the forty-horse power. The company also has a 100 ton smelter, which has, however, never been operated, but which will begin work as soon as the permanent ore body has been opened. With the exception of a little limestone, all the fluxing material is found on the ground. The force of men will be increased to about forty-five or fifty, and this will be further enlarged when spring comes and the outside work commenced. Prospects are for an unusually prosperous year at this property. Stock is largely owned by Lima, Ohio, people and the company is well financed.

Deadwood, S. D., Jan. 26.—Work on the Victoria Extension ground is being pushed with a view to opening up the property so that the mill can be run again in the spring. The ore shoot discovered in the second contact is proving as satisfactory as was expected. The ledge well defined and gaining in width. A good force of men is at work, on the eight-hour system, and conditions are favorable. Nearby on the Cleopatra ground work is being done in an old tunnel, which has already been driven 1,200 feet, and the hill has followed the ledge for a distance of fifty feet. R. B. Hughes, superintendent, is in charge of the work. The ore from development, he is hunting for the valuable ore body which was lost just before the closing of the mill three years ago.

Excitement has been prevalent in Lead, on account of the discovery of rich cobalt ore on Bald Mountain. The vein was found on the Bald Mountain, one mile east of Portland. A sample taken by John Barry of Central City from the dump support, and the ore is of lead ore. The sample was analyzed at the Homestake office in Lead, and showed excellent values in cobalt. Requests were made at the office for larger samples, and it is believed that in addition to the cobalt the ore carries a large percentage of nickel. At the present price of cobalt, 65 cents a pound, the property should be very valuable. There is only one great mine of lead in the district, and the ore is of the highest quality. The mine is being worked by the Bald Mountain property, and the success of this labor change will be known when the first cleanup is made. Demands have also been made upon the Mattland and Summit companies at Mattland, but no decision has been arrived at.

Four of the Bald Mountain property are now operating on the eight-hour basis. The Reliance, the Homestake, the Victoria Extension, the Golden Placer and the Victoria Extension. The Reliance has its mill operating, and the success of this labor change will be known when the first cleanup is made. Demands have also been made upon the Mattland and Summit companies at Mattland, but no decision has been arrived at.

Great interest taken in mineral deposits of Northern Ontario. The Canadian American says: "As an evidence of the great interest which is now being taken in London, England, in the wonderful mineral deposits of Northern Ontario, we are informed that Mr. Standley, the president of the Cobalt Forting mine, who has made such a sensational strike of wonderful native silver on his No. 1 vein, some of the richest ever found, is now being exhibited in C. D. Peacock's window, corner State and Adams street, Chicago, has been requested to go to London, England, to confer with a syndicate of English capitalists on the question of investing in the neighborhood of Cobalt, Ontario, who is well known here and in Canada, and numbers among his relatives and connections in England such men as Viscount Lord Dillon-Lee of England, Sir Richard Power, knight of the British empire, who is expected to leave for England on a tour of business and pleasure combined, early in the spring. It is rumored that the duke of Athol, who is an interesting himself in Cobalt. This rumor may or may not be accounted for by the fact that his son, the marquis of Tullibardine, who was colonel of the Scottish Horse during the South African campaign, and served with him in the same regiment, was one of Mr. Standley's most intimate associates while he was serving as an officer in the British army. Mr. Standley, who has just returned from Cobalt, having spent in the neighborhood of a month there in visiting the great shipping properties and looking after the development work in his own mine, was in the unbroken territory, seventy miles north of there, near Larder lake, and says that the district is a mass of mineral wealth and that its extent is not really known as yet, but he is satisfied that there will be many more tremendous fortunes made there in the future than have ever been made out of any mining camp which has ever been discovered in the world. Particulars regarding the Cobalt region, and especially as to the mine recently discovered above, can be obtained by writing to Messrs. Cone Bros., specialists in Cobalt stocks, First National Bank building, Chicago, Ill.

Goldfield, Nev., Jan. 26.—The first annual meeting of the stockholders of the L. M. Sullivan Trust company, which was organized to develop the property, was held at the hotel here. The company was organized to develop the property, which is one of the new ones in the Globe district.

Work on the Bobtail mine near Kelvins was resumed a few weeks since. The mine has been unwatered and the workings are being cleaned out and the property is being prepared for the shipment of ore from the property to the Old Dominion smelter at Goldfield. The mine already contains some 2,500 tons. The property is owned by the Arizona Copper Smelting company, which is composed of California, Boston and New York people. The company also has other holdings in the Kelvins district.

Queen mine at Superior, under bond and New Haven, a carload of copper glance (chalcocite) from the old 300 foot level, that is phenomenally rich in silver as well as copper. It is stated that this carload of ore will yield $50,000, and that the mine contains, besides a large amount of ore of this character, a large body of very high grade carbonate of copper, much of which will run over 35 per cent in red metal.

The copper butte company has about five carloads of ore delivered at the river, but cannot get across to the mine. The high water recedes in the meantime they will continue hauling ore down to the river. We learn from the mine that the ore they are hauling down from the mine will average about 9 per cent. The superintendent is having the richest ore sacked at the mine and will ship it separately. The mine looks better than it did on the surface, and is meeting the expectation of the owners fully.

VAST MINING DEAL IN UTAH

At the Shattuck-Arizona mine 350 men are as busy as bees night and day delving for copper. It is a busy place and a full-fledged mine in every sense of the word. When the main shaft is sunk about 900 feet the management will stop there and begin drifting for ore. Mining is now being done on the eighth level, and there is a network of tunnels and drifts on these levels. The 900-foot level will be opened up in the near future and the prospect for big strikes there is excellent.

A Silver City, Nev., dispatch says: Several big deals have been consummated, and there are numerous others now under consideration. The Tyrone Development company, in which Col. Greene and Mr. Cole are largely interested, has purchased a group of ten claims about the north of the Hobson group, and adjoining the Top mine, for $250,000 cash.

The Robinson mine is a big property owned by Judge W. C. Porterfield, representative of New Mexico and its big expositions, and his associates, and some big strikes of high grade copper ore have lately been made in the works. Samples assayed have returned 35 per cent in red metal. The mine is also under Judge Porterfield's control.

This property has an excellent showing, and bids fair to become one of the principal mines of the camp.

Little Flossie's Birthday Party

By Maud Walker.

It was Flossie's birthday and she was full of excitement. Mamma was preparing things for a great party which would be given at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. About 20 little guests were invited to attend, and all would be sure to be there on time, for Flossie's mamma knew that a party at her house meant more than the usual good cheer enjoyed at the regular birthday party.

While mamma was busy decorating the parlors and dining-room Flossie decided to make her own little room more attractive by adding some odd bits of furniture and bric-a-brac from the store-room in the attic. She did not say a word to her mamma about it, but decided to surprise her when the little guests should be taken into her room to lay off their hats, hoods and wraps. The room was already pretty enough to suit the taste of any little miss, for it was all in blue, white and gold, with the daintiest of curtains and the softest of rugs. But on a special occasion like one's birthday Flossie felt that some extra touches were needed here and there. She had seen in the store-room a great gray fur rug which mamma had said was "shedding" and unfit to longer hold its place in front of the library grate. It could not do any harm for one afternoon lying on the floor of her room, just in front of the little white iron bed on which her small guests would put their wraps. Then there were a pair of huge old candlesticks which her papa had picked up at a curio shop, but which her mamma always laughed at and had relegated to the attic as unsightly things. But to Flossie they were "perfectly elegant" with their gilt bands and gay red flowers twining up their narrow stems. On her white mantelpiece they would look most artistic, so thought the little Flossie.

After running up some errands for her mamma, Flossie slipped from the dining-room, where mamma was still busy with the table, and went up to the attic store-room. It was cold and dusty and dark, for seldom did anyone save the servants go up there. Old carpets, broken pieces of furniture, battered boxes and trunks and cast-off picture frames and bric-a-brac littered the place.

Flossie began to search about for the desired candlesticks which she remembered having seen on top of a packing box, but nowhere were they to be found now. The fur rug was there, but more than anything else Flossie wanted the candlesticks. After searching in every box and trunk and turning up things in general in her hunt for them, Flossie remembered that there were many things packed in a great closet which was built in the dark ends of the store-room and which she had never opened before. A heavy door shut the contents from sight, but Flossie lifted the rusty hook which secured it from the outside and pulled it open.

Ah! There on a high shelf stood the longed-for and much-admired candlesticks, a goodly covering of dust hiding their gilt bands and red flowers. But There, with tears streaming down her face, stood little Flossie.

The soldiers in pursuit do cry, "The enemy has fled!" But o'er the path they follow The enemy has led.

Then into treacherous ambush: There fell their life-blood down; Quite near you'll find the leader Of that day's victorious foe.

some soap and water would make them as beautiful as new again. Flossie climbed on a box to reach her prizes, when the heavy door swung shut with a bang. Flossie was in total darkness, and was obliged to get down from the box carefully lest she step into a basket of old-time glassware. When she reached the door she pushed against it in vain. The rusty hook which she had lifted—and which she had left in a raised position, it being too stiff with rust to be dropped backward—had fallen into the iron staple which now held it secure.

Flossie vainly threw the weight of her little body against the door, it did not shake it in the least. Then she began to call out as loudly as she could, but her weak and frightened voice died away faintly inside the great, thick-walled closet that was most terrifying in its darkness. Oh, what should she do? Away up there in the attic, where she had locked in the close, dark, cold closet whose thick door and walls would not allow her feeble voice to reach those on the first floor. She knew her mother would call her, and receiving no response would go to her room to look for her. Not finding her little daughter the poor woman would become uneasy and search the other living-rooms for the missing Flossie. Then, in distress, her mamma would telephone for her papa to come home, telling him that their little girl was missing from the house.

Flossie sat on the box and wept, wept from fear and anxiety over her terrible predicament. Would she ever—ever get out? Would the waiting guests arrive for the party and no Flossie to meet them? Would her tenth birthday pass in this terrible dark place without food or water, when downstairs were all sorts of goodies awaiting the hour of the banquet?

"Oh, oh!" wailed the little one. "Oh, oh!" Then came an idea. She must make some dreadful, unusual noise to attract attention since her voice failed of its purpose. She would remove a shoe and with the heel beat as hard as she could on the door, crying out all the while, "Help, help, help!"

Meanwhile in the dining-room Flossie's mamma was so busy with the banquet table that she did not miss the presence of her little daughter in the living-rooms. After a while, when all was in readiness for the spread, she went to the library to call Flossie. She wanted her to see how daintily the table looked. Not finding Flossie there she supposed she had gone to her own room to dress, for she had not half an hour before the guests would begin to arrive. Knowing that she had not a minute to lose the good mother hastened to her room to make her toilet, feeling sure that if Flossie wanted her assistance in dressing she would come to her.

She had just begun to comb her hair when a queer noise told upon her ears. It was faint—a human voice mingled with a strange pounding noise coming from some remote corner of the house. Flossie's name, put down comb and brush and went into the hall to listen. The sounds certainly issued from the upper floor, possibly from the attic. But what could it mean? No one was there—Bridget, the cook, was in the kitchen and Flossie in her own room dressing. And she was the only other person in the house.

While the good mother listened, trying to locate the source of the noises, they became more confused and distinct. The cry "Help, help, help!" came plainly from above. Wondering at so strange a happening, Flossie's mamma hurried to the attic store-room. Once inside she recognized her own little girl's pleading voice, which rose above the din of pounding on the great door.

Over the boxes, trunks and piles of debris she hurriedly clambered and reached the closet, which she opened. There, with tears streaming down her face, a shoe in one hand, stood little Flossie, a most pitiable looking object.

"Oh, mamma, mamma!" she cried, springing into her mother's open arms. "I was afraid I'd never make you hear me. And I thought maybe I'd never get out—oh—le-e-e!"

"My sweet child," soothed mamma tenderly. "How came you in there? Locked up, too," she asked.

Queens of England.

By Mary Graham.

Marguerite of France, second queen-consort of Edward I. of England, was early orphaned by the death of her royal father, Philip le Hardi, King of France.

She was a sweet-tempered, high-minded damsel, and retained these fine traits of character throughout her life. She was a thoroughly educated young princess, being as virtuous as she was refined and cultured.

While Marguerite was still very young her elder sister, Princess Blanche, became the reigning beauty and favorite of Europe. Edward I. of England, having heard her praises sung from afar, sought her hand in marriage. At this time he was a grief-stricken widower, still mourning the loss of his beloved Queen Eleanor. But he hoped to banish his heavy sorrow in the smiles of a second beautiful queen.

Thus negotiations for the hand of the beautiful Blanche were begun by the King of England and the blighted of those times declare that the Princess Marguerite was substituted in the marriage treaty in the place of her more favored sister Blanche. By a diplomatic maneuver prearranged for craft since the days of Leah and Rachel.

However this may be, the name of Marguerite appears in the marriage treaty where that of Blanche was supposed to be.

At the time of her betrothal to Edward the Princess Marguerite was just entering her twelfth year, but the final arrangement by which she became Edward's consort was not consummated till many years later, as both Edward and his brother, the Duke of Lancaster, bitterly resented the substitution of the plain child, Marguerite, for her glorious and beautiful sister, Blanche, who was in the full bloom of her young womanhood. This piece of "diplomacy" was the work of Philip le Bel, brother to Marguerite and Blanche and King of France, who had other and higher plans for the disposal of his sister Blanche.

The misunderstanding between the two kings seems to have been righted, for on the 8th of September, 1290, Marguerite of France was married to Edward I. of England.

To quote from a record of that time: "On Tuesday, the day of Our Lady's nativity, in the twenty-seventh year of the king, arrived duchess Marguerite, daughter of King Philip, at Dover, and proceeded the following day to Canterbury, and the present Thursday after came Edward, King of England, into the church of the Trinity at Canterbury, and espoused the aforesaid Marguerite, Queen of England, of the age xx years."

It is a fact worth mentioning that Marguerite of France is the first queen since the Conquest not to enjoy the honor of a coronation; but the royal exchequer was in such distress from continuous warfare that the cost of such a ceremony was not to be indulged in, however much Edward might have wished it. To quote:

"Marguerite, queen-consort of Edward I. of England, is the first queen since the Conquest who was not solemnly crowned and anointed."

IRISH WIT.

Pat O'Tooligan gave a dinner to some of his friends. His wife had prepared one chicken which Pat proceeded to carve to serve his guests. Turning to the lady seated nearest him he asked very politely:

"What part will yez hev, Misses Murphy?"

"O'ril take the leg, if yez please, soiz," she said.

Pat next turned to a little Murphy.

"And what part iv the bird will yez hev, young un?"

"O'ril take a leg, if it please ye, soiz," replied the little Murphy.

Then Pat addressed Mr. Murphy.

"What's yer choice iv the bird? Will ye have the white meat?"

"O'ril take another leg, soiz, an much obliged for the question," said Mr. Murphy, who always followed his wife's example.

"Begorra," exclaimed Pat, "phwat do yez think I'm carvin—a spider?"

Then, with her shoe unbuttoned on her foot, Flossie went down to her own room to dress for the party, explaining to her mamma as they descended the stairs how she happened to be locked in the closet of the store-room. "But," she added, with a happy little laugh, "my room is pretty enough as it is, and never do I want to see those old candlesticks again. They got me into prison, so they did—and on my birthday, too."

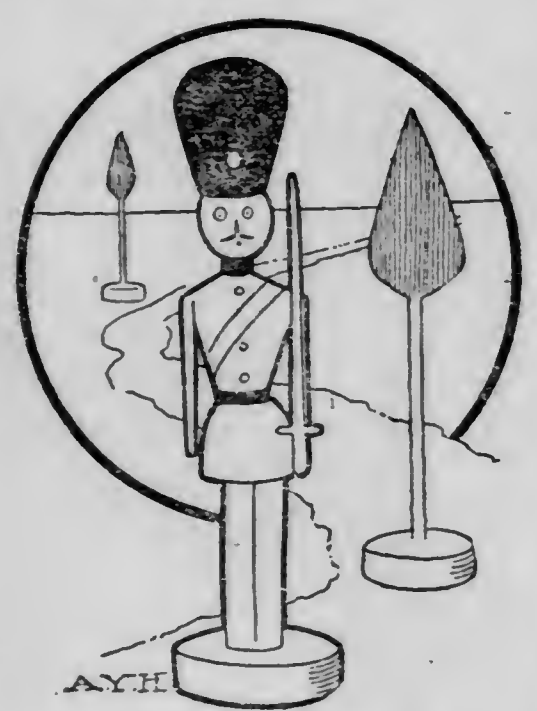

But half an hour later, when all the happy little guests were assembled, Flossie took great pleasure in telling of her late imprisonment, even going into details about her weeping and wailing and pounding with her shoe on the door. "But it's an experience I do not want to repeat—unless I am quite sure mamma is within sound of my voice," she added, laughingly.

And all the little friends laughed also, thinking, however, that Flossie had suffered a terrible ordeal—and on her birthday, too, which made it much worse, of course.

The Soldier Bold

Oh, he is very, very bold:
A soldier most brave to behold.
He wears a sword sheathed at his side;
But th' blade of steel hath ne'er been tried.

Of the enemy he feels no fear:
To him the battle's roar is dear.

He loves the din, the drum's beat, beat,
And tramp, tramp, tramp of comrades' feet.

'Tis safe for us to think and say
Of him, our soldier brave and gay,
That he will yet a general be,
And lead his men to victory.

Bricktop and the Twins Teach "Mean Hank" a Lesson. By Helena Davis.

Bricktop and the Twins were on their way to school one morning when they saw a sight that incensed them greatly. A great, overgrown fellow, commonly known as "Mean Hank," was snowballing an old "seemingly" man, who, with his pack of clothing on his back, was powerless to retaliate in the way of self-protection. The poor old man was trying to get away from his tormentor, who pursued him relentlessly, hitting him about the face and shoulders with snowballs as hard as flint, and disarranging the pack which bore his carrier under its awful weight.

"Just look at that," cried Lettie, pointing toward the old-clothes man and his pursuer. "Now, isn't that Mean Hank snowballing that old man?"

"Sure," exclaimed Bricktop, a frown of anger coming on his face as he looked in the direction pointed to by Lettie.

a few snowballs that will take his attention from the old man."

"You kiddies look my books and I'll do what I can alone," said Bricktop. "If I get done up it will be in a good cause, and you girls mustn't laugh at me."

"Laugh! The very idea," were the Twins' ejaculations to this. "Why, brother, dear, don't we ever get done up? But see there. The old man's pack has fallen and that Mean Hank is pulling it apart," cried Bricktop, excitedly.

Bricktop, waited for nothing more. Handing his books to Lettie, he said hastily: "Don't try to take a hand in this affair. I couldn't think of allowing you to do such a thing. Stay engaged the latter, then he was off down the street like a flash. Running up to Mean Hank, he said in a firm voice:

for his victim an old man that is helpless or a boy much his inferior in size and strength."

As the old-clothes man hurried away as fast as his burden would allow, Mean Hank turned on Bricktop with oaths and abuse. "I'll fix you with one twist of the wrist," he threatened, like the bully that he was.

"Say, I want no fuss with you," said Bricktop, standing up proudly in front of the bully. "I don't approve of quarrelling and fighting—except on my own terms. But I'll do both when necessary in the defense of an old person or one who is weaker than myself. Only a coward would act as you do. You are most contemptible."

"So?" sneered "Mean Hank." Then he made a lunge for Bricktop with his tightly clenched fist. But Bricktop was too quick for him. He dodged and threw himself aside, thus missing the blow, which must otherwise have laid him full length in the snow.

But Bricktop had not attended the gymnastics two years for nothing. He was as active a young athlete as you would find among a hundred sturdy and flexible boys of his own age. The moment that he dodged "Mean Hank's" fist he threw up his own right arm vigorously, catching his assailant right under the chin and throwing him to the ground.

Before "Mean Hank" could rise from the deep snow, into which he had fallen, Bricktop was upon him, pinning him down. He could not resist the temptation to slap the contemptible fellow's face, it looked so hideously wicked and ugly beneath his gaze.

Then, so suddenly that Bricktop was quite astonished, the Twins were beside him and his fallen foe throwing handfuls of snow into the latter's face, exclaiming as they did so: "Now, you mean fellow, take some of the medicine you were giving so freely to that poor old man. Take that, and that, and that!" And with every word they crushed a handful of the white, cold substance down the young ruffian's neck and into his face.

Half-smothered with the snow and quite vanquished, "Mean Hank" begged for mercy. "Oh, I'm freezing," he wailed, showing the cowardly side of his nature. "Let me up."

"Go away, kiddies," commanded Bricktop. "This is no place for you."

"Oh, you may need us," wailed Bricktop, "so we'll stay near, if that fellow could he'd half kill you."

Bricktop turned his attention to his now pleading antagonist, saying: "Promise me you'll never torment or plague an old person again and never bully boys your unequal in size and strength before I let you up."

"I'll promise to never tackle you," agreed "Mean Hank," wriggling beneath Bricktop's weight. "I'll let you go and alone—honest injun."

"Promise what I asked you to or I may be tempted to give your face another reminder of the strength of my palm, and my sisters are longing to get at your neck with more snow. So you'd better not keep us waiting for the promise, as we don't like being late at school," said Bricktop, holding the bully firm down with all his strength.

"Mean Hank" doubtless saw that he was unequal in size and strength before I let you up."

As the great, overgrown figure made tracks down the side street in the suburbs of town, Bricktop and Lettie let fly at him two pretty hard snowballs, both hitting him square in the back. "Mean Hank" looked round, but made no sign of fighting. He evidently did not want to incur any more of Bricktop's disfavor.

"What did you kiddies do that for?" asked Bricktop, unable to hide a smile. "Never hit an enemy in the back."

"We couldn't help it," declared Lettie. "He wouldn't give us a chance to strike him in the face—he ran so fast, so the only way we could give him a parting stroke was from the rear. Wasn't it

AUTHORITY OF SOLDIER TO KILL A MAN OUTSIDE ARSENAL TO BE SETTLED

Private and Lieutenant Placed on Trial for Murder.

Soldier Shot a Man by Order of the Lieutenant.

Alleged to Have Been Stealing Inside Government Grounds.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 28.—A murder trial, the outcome of which will establish an important precedent in legal and military circles began here today in the criminal court. Lieut. Ralph W. Drury and Private John Dowd, of the Ninth United States Infantry, were placed on trial, charged with the murder of William Crowley, 18 year old, who on Sept. 10, 1903, was killed near the United States arsenal by Private Dowd, acting under instructions from Lieut. Drury.

Crowley, and a number of other boys are said to have been caught stealing inside the arsenal grounds, and were pursued by soldiers and Crowley was shot after he had gotten a considerable distance outside the arsenal limits. The question at issue is: Has a United States soldier the authority to kill a man outside of government property who is suspected of crime within government property?

Ever since the killing of Crowley, the case has been discussed by legal and military experts all over the country. Many maintain that as the alleged crime of Crowley's was committed on government property, the case should be tried in a military court. (Continued on page 5, sixth column.)

Beaumont, Minn., Jan. 28.—While sawing wood with a cross cut saw at N. C. Johnson's place, E. Butolph and Sam Salverson narrowly escaped being burned to death.

Salverson was pouring gasoline into the tank from a five-gallon can, which was nearly full. A large amount of gas was generated, and this suddenly took fire. Butolph's clothing was soaked by the gasoline from the can and he once caught fire.

Two men who were passing went to his rescue and buried him in a snowdrift until the flames were extinguished. Butolph's clothing was soaked by the gasoline from the can and he once caught fire. Both men were severely burned but their injuries are not believed to be dangerous.

FIREMEN MISSING

Three Men Believed to Have Perished Under Falling Walls.

Eight Story Building in Buffalo Destroyed by Fire.

Buffalo, Jan. 28.—The Columbia building, an eight-story structure at Seneca and Wells streets, was burned this morning, involving a financial loss of $500,000. Three firemen are missing, having been caught with twelve more firemen in the collapse of a wall.

The firemen, who were working on the roof of an adjoining building, saw the walls tottering, and started to run down the stairs, but were caught by the falling debris, which crashed through the roof. The names of the missing men are Elliott, Norton and Hinkey. The building was known as the Columbia hotel during the Pan-American exposition.

Fire Marshal Potter said at noon that three men were still in the ruins—Elliott, Norton and Hinkey. The first two named, he believed, would be rescued alive. Hinkey, he believed, was dead.

Fireman Elliott was badly hurt, not very badly injured. Three men are now missing, Hinkey, Norton and Megan, and it is feared they are dead.

BLIZZARD IS RAGING

Severe Gale Again Drifting Snow in North Dakota.

Great Rotary Snow Plows
Almost Powerless Against Drifts.

St. Paul, Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports received at Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroad headquarters here today tell of another blizzard raging in North Dakota, along the lines of those roads.

The Great Northern reports are to the effect that a severe gale is again drifting the snow onto its main line which had been gotten clear Saturday night, and that another blockade was in prospect. The temperature is said to average about 30 deg. below zero.

The snow is dry and great drifts are so rapidly formed that the big engines pushing the rotary snow plows are almost powerless. Trains on both lines are late.

St. Paul, Jan. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—While the weather bureau record of the temperature today was 14 below zero, the street thermometers ranged from 7 to 20 deg. below. The below zero weather seems to be general in this section. Devils Lake, 28, reported 20 deg. below today and Moorhead, Minn., 28 deg. below. The wind is from the northwest and a much colder temperature is looked for here tomorrow.

STRONG PLEA FOR CANTEEN

Dr. Anita McGee Urges Its Restoration to the Army.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The necessity for the restoration of the canteen in the American army is strongly set forth in a letter from Dr. Anita McGee McGee to Capt. J. Walter Mitchell, of the Spanish-American War Veterans' association. Dr. McGee, who was formerly an assistant surgeon in the army and later organized a corps of nurses under the auspices of the Red Cross society for work among the Japanese soldiers in the Russo-Japanese war, gives her observations on the canteen and the results following the abolishment of the canteen in the United States army. Dr. McGee says: "Like every one who knows something of the subject, I am heartily in favor of giving our American soldiers their club (called canteen) where they may enjoy themselves harmlessly. As a woman and as a physician, I deplore the horrible results of making a man seek his amusements where he is liable to fall a prey to the worst temptations, and so I wish you speedy success in re-establishing the canteen in the American army."

Instead of our liquor, wines, etc., the Japanese use a beverage they prepare themselves, called sake, tasting like sherry, served hot, but in character like the light wines or beer formerly supplied in our army canteen. I saw this sake in Manchuria, where it was furnished as a part of the ration, when it was feasible to provide it, though the quantity was exceedingly small so that the effect was stimulating, not intoxicating. I have heard that some times when the weather was bitterly cold, the daily sake had to be dispensed in the form of a frozen lump, which was big as a man's thumb. In Hiroshima I met a number of time court officials who were on their way from Tokyo to the front with a quantity of sake which the emperor was giving as a gift to the troops in celebration of some victory. This drink was also for the troops. This drink was also for the troops. This drink was also for the troops.

BLACKMAIL THE MOTIVE

Which Led to Killing of Whiteley, Opinion of Police.

Coroner's Jury Brings in Verdict of "Willful Murder."

London, Jan. 28.—A verdict of "willful murder" was rendered by a coroner's jury this morning against Horace George Rayner, the man who shot and killed William Whiteley, the Westbourne Grove merchant, Jan. 24. But few additional facts developed at the inquest and the motive of the crime remains a mystery, unless, as the police claim, it was a failure of attempt to blackmail the merchant. The sons and the old employees of the murdered man testified that they had never seen or heard of Rayner before the day of the tragedy. A witness testifying to the events immediately after the shooting, said he heard Rayner say to Mr. Whiteley:

"Are you going to give way?" Mr. Whiteley replied: "No."

Rayner then said: "You are a dead man, Mr. Whiteley," and drawing a revolver from his pocket, he fired and the merchant fell dead without uttering a sound. The detective-inspector in charge of the case declared that all the evidence pointed to blackmail. He added that he had searched Mr. Whiteley's papers but had discovered no trace of anything relating to Rayner, but among the prisoners' papers were found documents showing that he was wanted by the police.

THE FUNERAL OF SENATOR ALGER

Occurs at His Detroit
Home With a Large Attendance.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 28.—The funeral of Senator Alger took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from his home on Fort street, west. The service was brief and as simple as possible, by request of the family. Rev. E. H. Pence, pastor of the Fort Street Presbyterian church, which the senator attended, conducted the service. There was an impressive military escort in addition to committee from the United States senate and the house of representatives, the First Michigan regiment, the Michigan National Guard, and the Michigan National Guard. The procession was under the command of Col. German of the Seventh United States Infantry from Fort Wayne, and the military escort comprised the Seventh regiment, the Michigan National Guard, and the Michigan National Guard.

Mine.

Accident Occurs in Reden
Shaft at Saarbruck, Prussia.

Saarbruck, Rhenish Prussia, Jan. 28.—Two hundred and fifty coal miners were entombed early this morning at the Reden shaft by an explosion of fire damp. Many corpses and injured miners have been taken out.

As this dispatch is filed 125 bodies have been recovered from the mine and 300 miners are missing, showing that there were more in the mine at the time of the explosion than at first reported.

1:30 p. m.—One hundred and sixty-four bodies and seventeen dangerously injured miners have now been taken from the Reden mine.

4 p. m.—An outbreak of fire in the Reden mine has driven out the rescuers. It is considered probable that thirty to forty men are still in the pit. The number of dead is now estimated at 260.

AN ICE BRIDGE OVER HUDSON

Widest Part of the River
Has Seven Inch Ice.

Nyack, N. Y., Jan. 28.—For the first time in a three years a complete ice bridge has formed across the Hudson river at its widest point. Today the three and a half miles of water separating Nyack and Poughkeepsie is covered with a 7-inch coating and, with the freezing weather which prevails, it is constantly growing thicker. Many persons walked across the river at that point today.

But One Juror Selected
During the Morning Session.

The Court Adjourns Early

May McKenzie Again Appears in Court With Mrs. Thaw.

New York, Jan. 28.—One more juror was added this morning to the panel which is to try Harry K. Thaw for the killing of Stanford White, making eight in all thus far selected. Seventeen talesmen were disposed of before a satisfactory juror was secured. The rapid manner in which the talesmen, one after another, offered valid excuses to the court or declared that their opinions in the case were so firmly fixed as not to permit of a change, caused District Attorney Jerome to fear an exhaustion of the special panel before the jury was completed and orders were sent from the courtroom summoning an additional panel of 100 talesmen who will report in court tomorrow.

The new Thaw juror is Charles D. Newton, a retired business man about 65 years of age. Mr. Newton is married and has a family. He declared he had no prejudice against any particular line of defense.

The morning session of the court was brought to an abrupt conclusion shortly after 12 o'clock. There had been a break in the heating apparatus.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Believed to Know Something About Murder of Dr. Townsend.

Had No Friendship for Doctor, But Denies Any Guilt.

New York, Jan. 28.—Suspected of knowing something about the death of Dr. Charles W. Townsend of Staten Island, who was mysteriously murdered in his home Friday night, the police arrested John Bell, a former street car conductor, at his home in Brooklyn. The suspicions of the police were directed toward Bell by the discovery that his wife died about a year ago, after an operation attended by child birth. Dr. Townsend was attending the woman, and had charge of the operation, being assisted by other doctors. Bell is reported to have blamed Dr. Townsend for his wife's death.

Bell was formerly employed as a conductor of a trolley line, running to Flushing, L. I., and is said to have eloped with a young woman who was a member of a family socially prominent in that place. Her parents objected to her marriage, and Bell and his young wife removed to Staten Island, where he found employment as a street car conductor.

After his wife's death, Bell traveled about the country, and at the time of the earthquake was employed in "San Francisco. Recently he returned to the home of his parents in Brooklyn, where he was staying when arrested last night.

He declared that Dr. Townsend was a friend of his, but that he had nothing whatever to do with the murder of the doctor.

The police, in the meantime, began an investigation of Bell's actions on the night of the shooting.

TWO ASPHYXIATED.

Jacob Weil and His Wife Are Found Dead in Brooklyn.

New York, Jan. 28.—The lifeless bodies of Jacob Weil, the proprietor of a Brooklyn restaurant, and of his wife, Rosa Weil, were found in their apartments today. Both had been asphyxiated by gas, the rubber tubing connecting the gas stove with a gas fixture having been removed, whether by accident or intentionally is unknown. Mr. and Mrs. Weil had a daughter, Mrs. Jennie Petchart of Chicago.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 28.—John C. Rafsdahl, a young man from Solway, who insists that he is destined to marry Esther Cleveland, the daughter of the former president, and who recently has been arrested at Fargo and Grand Forks, has been committed to the Pergus Falls insane hospital. He insisted up to the last moment that some day he would marry Miss Cleveland.

GESTURE COSTS A HAND

Peculiar Accident to a Saw Rig Worker at Little Falls.

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 28.—Simon Pussey, employed at the St. Gabriel's hospital, lost his hand in a peculiar manner. He was sawing wood with a saw rig and stopped work for a moment to talk with a friend, leaving the saw still in motion. He drew animatedly in his conversation, and in gesticulating, threw his hand against the bars of the saw, which cut it off almost instantly.

MANY LIVES LOST IN MINE

Terrific Explosion Occurs in French Coal Mine at Lievin.

Lens, France, Jan. 28.—A terrible disaster, involving the loss of many lives, has occurred in a coal mine at Lievin, in the Courrières district. The catastrophe was due to an explosion of fire damp in one of the pits.

A panic followed the explosion, and the greater part of the population of the town rushed to the mouths of the pit, preventing the work of rescue, until gendarmes restored a semblance of order.

DIPLOMATIC BILL

Carrying $3,085,478 Is Reported to the Senate by Hale.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was reported to the senate today by Senator Hale, who gave notice that tomorrow he should call the measure up for consideration. Mr. Hale remarked, incidentally, that the senate was considerably behind in the consideration of appropriation bills.

The bill carries $3,085,478, the same amount as was carried by the bill which passed the house. The senate committee adopted a provision repealing the act providing for raising the rank of foreign government representatives.

OVER FIFTY CRAFT SUNK

By Terrific Squall Which Swept the Harbor of Hongkong.

Hundred Natives Drowned
But No White Persons Hurt.

Hongkong, Jan. 28.—A terrific rain squall broke over Hongkong this morning and in the space of ten minutes sank over fifty Chinese craft in the harbor, more than a hundred natives being drowned. There were no casualties among the white population. Launches from the shore rescued many occupants of the swamped boats.

The harbor was littered with the wreckage from the sunken junka. During the squall the river steamer Paul Ben broke apart, but was brought to an anchor without sustaining any damage.

GIRL MYSTERY GROWS DEEPER

Little Learned in Solving Disappearance of Bemidji Girl.

Minneapolis, Jan. 28.—Little headway has been made in solving the mysterious disappearance of Miss C. Stewart of Bemidji, who, on her way to visit her sister at Decorah, Iowa, stopped in Minneapolis and then vanished. Detectives have learned just enough to complicate the matter and to convince them that she did not leave the city on the day she arrived here. When Miss Stewart arrived she talked with the matron at the union passenger station, and a messenger boy was summoned to act as her guide. Two days later she returned to the city, but she did not come to the station, but to a hotel. She was found by a detective on the morning of the disappearance. The story of the girl's disappearance must have reached her through the papers, the police say, and if she is alive and well she would have been taken. A boy was found who is said to have resembled the messenger station, but he denied that he was the right person, saying that he does not remember acting as a guide for anyone. The police will not drop the case until it is solved and more detectives may be detailed on the work.

A GREATER INTEREST

Candidates Get Their Supporters Out to Register Freely.

Seventh Ward Leads the City in This Respect.

The aspirants for aldermanic honors in wards where contests for the coming election are close, did some strikingly effective work in getting their friends out to register Saturday, and in spite of the somewhat scanty showing of the first two days, Saturday's registration brought up to quite a respectable amount in the total up to quite a respectable amount in the wards.

The First and Eighth wards are of course not to be counted as there is no contest in either section, though the sharp scrap in the First at the primaries brought out a fair registration there, which still stands.

The Seventh, with a total of 1,771 is the prize ward of the city so far as in the election goes, this number being almost as large as would be signed on a mayoralty year and only about 10 short of last fall's gubernatorial registration. The Seventh, Second and Fifth are usually the city's biggest wards on election day, and they usually respond with about the same number of voters, but the Seventh is far ahead of the other two for next Tuesday's election, the Second only claiming 824 registered citizens and the Fifth 528.

The heavy registration in the Seventh rather a boost for Angus Macaulay, as it is an indication that his eleventh hour campaign is getting in some telling work. The Sixth and Fourth wards where Hoar and Kennedy and Lyle and Sharrell are getting in some effective campaigning, also showed up to good advantage, registering almost as many voters as is usual on a mayoralty election.

In the Second, the registration is unexpectedly light as it was thought that the Mueller-Hunt fight would arouse a more general interest, and the Third, with Tiesman and Waugh as the rival candidates, also showed a rather surprising apathy.

In the Fifth, the light registration rather indicates that Ringgold's supporters have not succeeded in marshaling a very large number of their followers into line, and things look rather bad for Alderman Ringgold's opponent.

The registration by precincts Saturday, and the total registration for the precincts and wards is as follows:

Precinct—	Third Ward	Total
First	100	100
Second	100	100

SENSATIONAL RUNAWAY

Frightened Team Runs Twenty-Three Blocks Before Being Stopped.

A sensational runaway occurred this morning on Superior street, a team belonging to the Zenith Telephone company becoming frightened at about 11:30 a. m. and racing wildly down Superior street until stopped at Fourth avenue west.

At Fourth avenue, however, a team of the electric company, saw the team and jumping into the wagon and crawling on the horses, succeeded in reaching the fallen reins and bringing the team to a standstill.

Four of the company's men in the rig at the time the horses started, but at Tenth avenue a rein broke and the team again swerved pitched the party into the road, fortunately throwing them into a soft snow bank.

MORE CASES DISMISSED

Settlements Are Effected and Trials Will Not Occur.

Three more settlements and dismissals of damage actions, based on compromises made with the claimants, were made in the district court this morning. The case of W. G. Bonham, administrator, against the River Lumber company, was settled for $300; that of Gustav Robertson, administrator, against the Robert-Kingsdon Contracting company, was settled for $1,000; and that of Peter Nelson, administrator, against the company, was settled for $1,000. The claimants in each case were represented by J. H. Heino and Theodore Hollister. A stipulation for the settlement and dismissal of the case of Peter Nelson, administrator of the estate of John Kinskinen, deceased, against the Consumers Ore company, was filed in the district court today. The settlement was made on the merits, without costs. The claimant is represented by John M. Martin and Alexander Marshall.

Attorney for Alleged Bigamist Busy in Minneapolis Court.

The trial of the state against James C. Doyle, indicted for bigamy, did not begin, as scheduled, this morning. When the case was called Doyle was present with an attorney. County Attorney John Norton said he had received a request from Robert Odell, a Minneapolis man who is to represent Doyle, stating that he was unable to be present in Duluth today and asking for a continuance. The request was accompanied with an affidavit from Odell. Mr. Norton explained to the court that he knew nothing of the conditions attached by Doyle's attorney until last Saturday evening when the first telegram was received from Odell. He said that no one has come to the courthouse ready to go on with the trial, as several witnesses had been summoned from a distance and have already arrived in Duluth, the state being put to considerable expense by reason of any delay at this time.

Judge Dibel granted a continuance of the case until Monday morning after making some rather pointed remarks concerning the course that seems to have been taken by Doyle's attorney in the matter. While it was entirely proper to consult with the court whether he should order the trial to go on or grant a continuance, Judge Dibel remarked that if Mr. Odell evidently took it for granted that if he did not show up in the district court here today, the court would continue the case anyway rather than force Doyle to a trial without any legal representative to defend him.

According to Odell's affidavit he was prevented from coming to Duluth this morning on account of being engaged in the trial of a case in one of the Minneapolis courts.

THE POPE MAY CHANGE POSITION

Towards Separation of Church and State in France.

Paris, Jan. 28.—It is learned from a reliable source that as a result of the advice tendered to the pope at Rome, Jan. 25 by five French prelates, including Bishops Touchet and Dodelet, the pontiff has changed his position towards the church and state separation question in France, and will issue new instructions under which it is believed it would be possible to organize public worship under the supplementary church and state separation law introduced by Minister of Education Briand.

Cardinal Richelieu, archbishop of Paris, has sent telegrams to the members of the French episcopate, requesting them to attend another meeting here. A preliminary assembly of bishops, at which thirty were present, took place this afternoon at the residence of M. Dony-Cochin, where the cardinal has made his headquarters since he was compelled to leave the episcopal palace.

LOSE ON WEATHER

Chicago Men Who Bet Against Zero Temperature Lose $100,000.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—A fortune of over $100,000 was lost to bettors Saturday when the mercury in the thermometer dropped to midnight hundreds who had wagered various sums that the temperature would remain below the zero mark, and their money disappearing as the mercury continued to drop in the tube.

"Jim" O'Leary, gambler king of Chicago, is the principal loser. His loss is estimated at from $40,000 to $60,000. Many big brokers and operators on the board of trade lost large sums. The largest bet recorded was for $100,000.

WEST DULUTH

SICK AND STARVING

Mrs. Hart and Family Found in Desperate Condition.

County Poor Department and Neighbors Come to Rescue.

The continued cold weather has brought hardship and great suffering to one family in West Duluth and A. P. Cook, county superintendent of poor, has been compelled to aid them and furnish the necessary fuel and food. Mrs. Hart, who has been living with her family of six children in two scantily furnished rooms over the vacant store room at 318 Grand avenue, is so ill with asthma that she is unable to earn money for the necessities of life.

Mrs. Hart has been compelled to support the family for several years by taking in washing. During the warm season she is able to earn enough money for food and clothing but as soon as cold weather comes, it is almost impossible for her to work as she suffers so from her affliction. Her oldest girl, Anna, who is 12 years of age, was also sick yesterday.

There is little furniture in the rooms and the building is an old one and full of places through which the wind can come. Mrs. Hart has been advised by friends to ask aid from the county but she feared she would be separated from her children. There is no definite clue as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Hart's husband, although she thinks that he is in Grand Rapids.

Superintendent A. P. Cook called on the family Saturday and supplied food and clothing and fuel and will also see that there is no lack of necessities hereafter. Both Mrs. Hart and her oldest child were both still ill today. Friends and neighbors have assisted them a great deal and yesterday two men called and each left a sum of money.

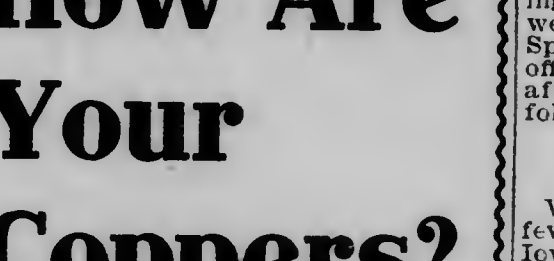

REPRESENT WEST DULUTH.

Several Citizens Will Attend Annual Good Roads Meeting.

West Duluth will be represented by several of its prominent citizens who are interested in the good roads movement, at the annual meeting of the Carlton County Good Roads association at Carlton tomorrow. H. R. Patterson and L. A. Barnes have signified their intention of being present, and it is expected that still more will attend.

An interesting program for the meeting has been prepared, and several questions of vital importance, including the "door" road from Wrenshall, Superior, Duluth and West Duluth, will come up for consideration. West Duluth people have

NEW SEWER SYSTEM.

West Duluth Will Fare Well in Street Improvements.

According to Thomas F. McGilvray, city engineer, West Duluth will fare very well in sewer and street improvements this year. The new sewer system has been planned and a crew is now at work making the preparations for the beginning of work in the spring. The limits of the new system will be the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, seventy-first avenue west, and the bay front from seventy-first to Fifth avenues.

The bay front at Forty-ninth avenue west is considered by the surveyors as the best place for an outlet for the new sewer. The trunk sewer will run from the outlet up Forty-ninth avenue west as far as Grand avenue, where branches will be sent to all parts of West Duluth as fast as petitions are made for them to the city council.

Mr. McGilvray stated that the plan for extending Michigan street to the junction of the new sewer was a good one. There would be a grade of about 5 per cent at this point, and the route will be the straightest in the city of any yet proposed. The engineer stated that Oneida and Ramsey streets would also be improved this year.

SKIERS HAVE FINE HILL.

Meeting Will be Held and Ski Club Organized.

West Duluth ski riders discovered a fine hill for ski jumping yesterday and there was a good crowd out to enjoy the sport. During the afternoon it was proposed to organize a club and a meeting will be held tomorrow night to complete the formation. Peter Lund, J. O. Johnson, Albert Hansen and L. A. Barnes are prominent in the movement for the organization of the club.

Some good work was done yesterday afternoon at the hill and one of the best jumps was made by Hans Lunning and is between Fifty-ninth and Sixty-sixth avenues and it is said to be a fine one. After the organization is perfected at the meeting tomorrow night preparations will be made for a tournament to be held at the hill next Sunday afternoon. The promoters of the club will arrange for prizes and some good riders will be invited to participate.

ANNUAL INSTALLATION.

The annual installation of officers of West Duluth tent, No. 2, K. O. T. M., Eastern hall. The lodge has been making preparations for the affair several weeks, and a good program will be given. Speeches will be delivered by the new officers and those who are retiring, and afterwards refreshments will be served, followed by dancing.

DISCOVERY OF OIL.
In Mantoulin Island and One Hundred Wells Sunk.
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 28.—Further facts have been received dealing with the discovery of oil in Mantoulin island. It is now known that 100 wells have been struck at a cost of about $300 each, and as a result, the discoverers believe that they have an even greater oil-bearing area than Pennsylvania in its greatest days. In addition to this, St. Joseph's island, which possesses the same geological formation, is known to have the same qualities. In Pennsylvania it used to cost $1000 to sink a well as against $500 in Canada today.

LATE DOINGS IN UPPER MICHIGAN

Crystal Falls—As a result of what first appeared to be a trivial injury

Joseph Ranger, a woodsman employed in one of the Escanaba Woodware company's camps near Watersmeet, has joined the ranks of the vast majority. He was engaged in skidding timber, and was thrown heavily across a log which he was rolling. He felt that he had been bruised, but he paid no particular attention to the occurrence and worked without complaining throughout the remainder of the day. That night his condition became serious and he was taken by train to the Delta county hospital. When an examination was made by the attending physician it was found that the patient was suffering from serious internal injuries and nothing could be done to save his life. Ranger was about 37 years of age. Oscar Greston of Crystal Falls, a brakeman on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, came as near death as was possible when the car on which he was riding left the rails while being shunted onto the Kimball logging spur. Greston jumped off into the snow to escape, but unfortunately jumped directly into the way of the car, which tipped over and plunked along so close to him that it cut his suspender straps.

Ironwood—The Ashland Iron & Steel company, in which the Berry interests of Detroit are the leading spirits, and which is engaged in the manufacture of charcoal pig iron at Ashland, has added extensively to its holdings of hardwood timber lands by the purchase of 5000 acres from the Foster-Lattimer Lumber company of Milton, Wis. The consideration was about $60,000.

Hesmer—At the special election to vote on the $5,000 issue of bonds for the erection of a new high school, only about one-third of the taxpayers went to the polls. The bond issue carried by 119 for to 43 against. The new school is to be built just north of the court house.

Marquette—News has been received here that the legislature has passed the bill urged by Marquette commercial fishermen, amending the fish laws so as to permit the taking of herring in Keweenaw bay after Nov. 1 of each year. It is entirely likely that the governor will sign the measure and the Marquette and other Upper Michigan fishermen will thus be relieved of a burden which they have borne for years. Under the provisions of the law as it is at present, it is unlawful to take herring from Michigan waters during the "closed" season, or when it is illegal to take trout or whitefish. There is an inexhaustible stock of herring in Lake Superior. It has been contended by Marquette fishermen, and they could not see wherein the protection to the fish availed anything, as it is not likely that the supply will be exhausted for many years to come, if it ever is.

FUR COVERED FISH

Indians Puzzled Over Capture of a Fur-Covered Greyling.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 28.—The following has been received by mail from Dawson City, under date of Dec. 28: "Scientists will be puzzled when they hear of the recent discovery made at Moosehide. They will be coming up here over the ice in hordes, for so strange a demonstration of the freaks of nature has never before been published. It was Indian Tom of Moosehide, who brought in the news yesterday, and he was quite excited in the telling of it. In fact he says the whole tribe is worn out with speculation as to what the strange happenings portends for the future of the Indian race. It was just after Christmas—just after the annual pot-latch, in fact. Some of the most industrious Indians thought it would be a wise move to catch some fresh greyling for the Dawson market, so a hole was made in the ice some twenty yards from the verge of King Isaac's domain and was carefully baited. The first fish hooked was a greyling ten inches long. But it had fur all over it, and never did an Indian before see any edible fish wearing a fur overcoat. The head of the strange fish, says Indian Tom, is just like that of an ordinary greyling, and the shape is the same. But from the back of the gills down to the end of the tail the fish is covered with a soft fur. The color of the fur is a dark brown, exactly the achromatic tone and color of the taste of the morning after a whole night of jack pots. No wonder the Moosehide Indians all decided to swear off with the New Year."

ST. LOUIS COUNTY'S DANGER.

The appeal made in Saturday's edition by The Herald's legislative correspondent to back up the St. Louis county delegation in its effort to prevent radical and unjust legislation affecting the taxation of the iron lands in this county should not go unheeded. The people of Duluth and of the rest of St. Louis county should awaken to the fact that there is grave danger of the mining taxes being taken away from the local communities and given to the state. The injustice of such action is apparent to every resident of this county, as well as Lake and Itasca counties, which also contain iron lands that contribute largely to the local taxes and thus reduce the burden that would otherwise be placed upon other property. If the state should take all the mining taxes, or even a larger proportion than now goes into the state treasury, the effect would be disastrous to Duluth and all the range towns.

It is evident that the proposition to tax the mines upon a tonnage basis, which would mean that the tax would go into the state treasury, and the local communities on the ranges be deprived of what now constitutes 95 per cent of their revenue, is based upon ignorance of the situation. The legislators from other sections of the state—at least, a large majority of them—do not know much about the iron mines and the iron country, and it is this lack of knowledge which results in the proposals to change the existing system of taxation and deprive the local communities of the revenue which is essential to their existence.

Steps must be taken to enlighten the legislators on this subject. The members from this section of the state cannot do it unaided. They must have the help of the business men of Duluth and of the towns and villages on the iron ranges, and that help must be forthcoming without delay. A joint committee of the house and senate has been appointed to investigate the subject of mining taxation, and this committee must be shown the facts. The first step to be taken is to have this committee visit Duluth and the iron ranges and see for themselves what would be the effect of taking away the iron mining taxes from the local communities. This ocular demonstration would do more than anything to remove the false ideas that now prevail in the legislature on the subject. When the members of the committee are in St. Louis county they can be supplied with all the necessary information to prove the injustice and ruin that would be caused by depriving the villages and towns of the revenue that goes to the support of the schools and the local governments. It can be demonstrated to them that the only proper method is, as is now done, to tax all the mines in each locality at a fair and full value each year for the benefit of that locality, and that it would be gross injustice to these localities to appropriate these taxes to the state treasury and leave the other property to bear the burden of supporting the schools and local governments.

No time should be lost in taking action along this line, and The Herald would suggest that the Commercial club, in conjunction with the local authorities of the range towns, make arrangements to bring the legislative committee and send delegations to St. Paul when the hearings are given by the committee in order to enlighten the legislators as to the facts and thus prevent the perpetration of a great wrong. St. Louis county must become alive to the danger that threatens her interests.

"PEOPLEIZING" TRUSTS.

The perfected plan of United States Judge Grosscup of Chicago of popularizing the trusts and other great corporations by "peopleizing" them—a plan on which he has been working and speaking for about two years—has the merit of being based on clear constructive, and not destructive, principles. And as the judge is an economist of deep thought and great breadth, his plan is entitled to at least respectful consideration.

The judge would make the trusts and corporations the great field for popular investment of money that now goes into savings banks at a low rate of interest and is then loaned, at a higher rate of interest, to the corporations themselves. Individual ownership of or interest in property and the acquisition of a competence for old age are the instinctive ambitions of all good Americans, and the judge believes that his scheme will insure both.

Before the marvelous changes brought about by the massing of great aggregations of capital in practically every conceivable line of business, ninety-nine per cent of all Americans aspired to own a shop or a farm of some kind. Since the growth of colossal corporations that have displaced small enterprises, except perhaps in agriculture, the average American has had to work on a salary and trust to savings banks to provide for his age with no hope of having his own shop.

This change, Judge Grosscup holds, has reduced immensely the number of people personally interested in the maintenance of private property as an institution and has brought about widespread hostility to all trusts and corporations. To check this and to make these new institutions popular, he would have them place their stock within the reach of the citizen of small means and seek to secure investments by as many as possible.

Of course, the first and prime essential must be that the small investor shall be assured absolute safety from any "squeezing out" process. This, the judge believes, can be done by conducting the corporations just as savings banks and fiduciary institutions are conducted, by putting stringent legal bans on stock watering, by forbidding speculation in the stocks on individual account and by requiring full and free publicity in every regard.

The judge quotes the success in Germany of a system exactly like that which he advocates for America and declares that German corporations have been so safeguarded by law that they have become a favorite form of popular investment while their stockholders' meetings approach the democracy of American town meetings. The German corporations are, in consequence, regarded as the friends of the people, not their plunderers. Of course, to win such confidence in America, the corporations would have to mend their feverish, speculative ways. It is clear enough that, with the constantly growing hostility of Americans to great corporations, something must and will be done beyond criminal prosecutions and legal moves to break them up. The judge's idea certainly deserves careful consideration of all men—capitalists and "captains of industry" above all others.

JUDGE MORRIS' REBATE RULING.

The decision of United States Judge Page Morris in the rebate cases against various Minnesota railroads and grain shipping interests, is especially noteworthy because, like a parallel decision by Judge K. M. Landis in Chicago in the Standard Oil rebate cases, it marks the determination of the federal judiciary to sweep away all ancient cobwebs of the law, throw down all technical defenses and force the trial of vital issues strictly on their merits.

In the past history of efforts of the general government to bring great corporations to justice, the shrewd lawyers they have employed have succeeded so often in so obfuscating the real issues and erecting such barricades of legal subterfuges as to render well nigh nugatory the work of the federal authorities. The last notable instance of this kind was the Chicago beef case decision that provoked President Roosevelt to an extraordinary animadversion against Judge Humphreys of Illinois.

Since the Humphreys' decision, however, the New York Central railroad and the sugar trust have been brought to the bar of justice and have been severely punished with heavy fines. Moreover, the confidence of the public as to the effectiveness of any federal attempts to curb the corporations, which has been at the lowest ebb, has been restored and the people have rejoiced in the realization that they had a government and a judiciary that could and would hold the corporations to strict account.

Judge Morris' decision, however, must not be construed as being even virtual conviction of the Minnesota railroads and Duluth and Minneapolis grain interests. Its sole and only effect is to clear the way for the trials of the cases strictly on their merits. The decision, nevertheless, is such a long step in advance of the old system of permitting technicalities to prevail and is so far in the direction ardently desired by the people that it is certain to meet with commendation all over the country.

HEROES OF EVERYDAY LIFE.

By no means all of the real, true heroes of the world are those found in battle rolls or in the midst of disasters or even in the Carnegie medal list. In common, every day life, all about us, are heroes. Even we ourselves may, though we do not recognize it, be entitled to a place in that category—and not the lowest, last-page place either.

The man or woman, who performs the hard task with cheerfulness, who bears his or her burden with undaunted spirit, has the true metal of heroism in his or her soul. It may be passive heroism, but it is heroism just the same. And such an one often merits a medal of pure gold, studded with diamonds.

Especially heroic stuff is to be found in the man who goes cheerfully, with a smile or whistle on his lips, to a work that is uncongenial or overburdensome. The father, who moves daily to a grind that does not fit his taste because thereby he is enabled to provide necessities, or even comforts, for his loved ones, is a genuine hero—commonplace, unrecognized perhaps, but nonetheless built in the right mold.

Of the same high type, is the mother, often delicate or refined, who takes up the drudgery of the household because she finds joy in the daily sacrifices of her self and her inclinations for her loved ones.

Notably heroic is the man or woman who, sick and often suffering severely, sets teeth firmly together and carries out day after day, labors that add to the suffering but, at the same time, bring beneficent returns for others.

Humanity has always applauded the brave man who fights on to death, the courageous man who risks his life for others, the champion who battles for the right in the face of overwhelming odds. If it does not give equal acclaim to the lowly heroes all about it and in its very midst, it is only because its eyes are not opened to these everyday acts of heroism. But who can doubt that the man or woman who smiles over heart-breaking personal trials is really of just as heroic mold as the greatest on the annals of fame?

THE PASSING SHOW.

People are reported to be freezing to death in France and Germany. Wonder if they are blaming the railroads and car shortages over there.

There is one thing to be said in favor of airship transportation—the airships are not likely to be so big that a collision will cause the loss of scores of lives.

Was the Arkansas state senator recently expelled, put out because he accepted a favor from a lobbyist or because he was clumsy enough to let himself be found out?

Senator Tillman is fast verging into the class of "pestiferous nuisances." But at the same time people do find a peculiar kind of pleasure in reading his fiery talks.

The car shortage is still being discussed in some sections of the country and is still being "cussed" in others. And still the magnates go on in their usual Wall street way.

The music hall artists of London have struck. The wonder is that the public that endured some of their stunts, did not strike long ago—not against but at some of these "artists."

Pittsburg papers report it so dark there two days last week that people became lost in the gloomy depths between the skyscrapers. Pittsburg must be using a mighty poor quality of coal once more.

Two hundred thousand people from all parts of America are said to visit New York every day now. Yet New York takes their money and never recognizes that there is any part of America beyond its suburbs.

The New York senate has undertaken to muzzle the press. After the editors "unleash their dogs of war" and set them to going full bay, the senators will wish they had the czar's steel room in which to hide.

A Georgia judge has ordered his grand jury to indict all players of society card games for money or prizes, for gambling. The last judge who tried to "butt in" in this way was from Missouri and he was quickly "shown."

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"Alaska is one of the richest copper mining regions of the world, and the smelting plant, composed of the Guggenheim brothers, one of whom has just been elected United States senator, is already making its presence felt there," said F. K. Lyons of Seattle, Wash., at the St. Louis. "It is said the largest smelter on the continent will be built there within the next year or two, as soon as the necessary railroads are constructed."

"The area which the trust is after is the Copper river valley, running 300 miles north and south, and 200 miles east and west. They also want what is known as the Callina copper belt, which stretches fifty miles from east to west, with a breadth of ten to twenty miles, and the Callina coal fields, twenty miles square. There is also a petroleum belt which the Guggenheims are interested in. There is plenty of good anthracite and bituminous coal in the area. That is needed is railroads to get it to the mines and smelters and wherever else it may be needed. The trust is at many of the mines is now ready, by way of the Callina, to be located in the immediate vicinity of the fields."

"The attention of the Guggenheims was first attracted to the region by a geological survey made by the United States geological survey as to the extent and richness of the copper ore. They then went on to look into matters that give promise of a level of land, and the extension of its vast operations, sent its own experts to the scene and their reports have been so glowing that they are inclined to believe that the directors of the combination are inclined to give it their attention."

"Other experts, men in whom the fullest confidence is placed by the states, and they not only have been to the mines, but have examined the reports of the previous investigators, but even went further, and were more emphatic in their declarations. They are now working to gain control of vast holdings in Alaska, and are succeeding remarkably well. They are buying up land right and left, for the most part at prices far below the real value."

"I made a trip to the towns along the Minnesota & International road recently, and for the first time in my life was at a level of land, and the extension of its vast operations, sent its own experts to the scene and their reports have been so glowing that they are inclined to believe that the directors of the combination are inclined to give it their attention."

THE WEATHER.

The cold snap that began eight days ago and has kept its grip firmly fastened on Duluth and the Northwest, except for about one day, seems to have taken a fresh hold that is more biting than ever. This morning, all who were out early were sure that the record for last Monday—24 degrees below zero—had been passed and they were not far off either. The official thermometer touched 24 degrees about 7 o'clock. Cold as it has been in this section for the last eight days, it has not been a "marker" to what New England has been experiencing with temperatures ranging from 25 to 30 degrees below zero. Fortunately for Duluth also the days have been sunny and there has been little wind. Yesterday was nippy but not enough so to keep the churchgoers at home. Last night's lowest temperature was 24 degrees below zero and yesterday's highest was 4 degrees on the plus side. The weather man promises from 10 to 20 below zero today, but the lowest thinks it may be a little warmer tomorrow.

The sun set at 5:56 o'clock this afternoon and will rise at 7:22 o'clock tomorrow morning. Today has six minutes more of sunlight than last Saturday. A year ago today, the weather was decidedly springlike with the maximum 24 degrees above zero and the snow melted in a warm sun.

The present condition of conditions: "Severe cold weather and high barometric pressures continue the rule. The lowest temperatures reported this morning in the North and Northwest were in Northern North Dakota, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Freezing temperatures were reported in the northern portions of Gulf states. A heavy snow storm is developing over Oregon. It has caused heavy temperatures and rain or snow in the Pacific coast and Pacific states. Light snow also fell over South Dakota, Nebraska, Michigan and Wisconsin. Slight rising temperature may be expected in this locality tonight and Tuesday, probably going to slightly above zero during Tuesday."

Following were last night's lowest temperatures, as recorded by the weather bureau:

BLACKSMITH HAS INVENTION Local Man Perfects a New Steel Tempering Process.

After nearly half a century of study, A. Swanstrom, a local blacksmith, has perfected a new process of tempering a solid piece of steel in a liquid medium. The process is simple and easy to operate, and the results are of great value in working iron and steel. Some demonstrations have been made by the inventor with flat sharp hammers and other tools made of solid steel and he has shown that this steel when given a uniform temper, will never wear or blunt at the ends. The new process of tempering will wear in a manner to allow the center to project as a sharp point while the outside wears away. Mr. Swanstrom claims that the steel tempered by his new process keeps sharper longer and never wears dull. The expense of the new process is said to be even less than the old plan. It is not yet known what Mr. Swanstrom's plans are in regard to the new invention, but it is understood that he is protecting himself with several patents. It has been rumored that a company will be formed to handle Mr. Swanstrom's invention and that this company will make an attempt to buy back the patent rights in the West end. This institution is now doing business at Little Falls, Minn. If this factory is secured it will be run in connection with the business brought to the company by Mr. Swanstrom's invention.

WALKER ON THE STOCKS

Boston Writer Says Shares Will Have Their Innings.

Declares Bankers Are Looking More Favorably on Copper Stocks.

Speaking of the copper share market, George L. Walker of Boston says in his latest letter:

"Weak accounts were pretty generally eliminated by the decline in prices which terminated at the end of last week. The present rally in the market will be patronized by a more careful and conservative public. There will be an increasing disposition, at least, to favor the substantial, demonstrated stocks in preference to the mere prospects of the Arcadian-Rhode Island-Kyle class. There are a number of coppers which have good things in the perspective, and these are entitled to speculative and investment preference. Some of them are about to increase their production and earnings, some will pay larger dividends soon, and others, having developed large deposits of valuable ore and partially completed the erection of reduction plants, will begin production on an extensive scale. Under one or more of the foregoing headings can be placed Amalgamated, Anaconda, Boston Consolidated, Copper Range, Grand, Greene, Mohawk, North Butte, Quincy, Utah Consolidated, Nevada Consolidated, Utah Copper and Balmat. I believe that all of these stocks are worth more than their present prices, and also that they will be selling higher three or four years hence, even should the price of copper be down to 15 cents per pound. "There is reason to believe that brokers will experience less difficulty in financing their copper share accounts in the future than they have in the past. It is known that one of the largest local banking institutions, which in the past has discriminated against copper share collateral, has recently seen a great light. Its management has come to a realization of the fact that the best of the copper shares compare very favorably with the best of the industrial, and also that the business offered by the copper share trading in Boston is a banking opportunity which it cannot afford to ignore. Many traders believed the directors on coppers, and in so doing, it was a laudable example to other local financial institutions. "Amalgamated's decline of nearly 9 points resulted from an attempt to liquidate large speculative holdings of the stock held in margin accounts. Many traders believed the directors would increase the dividend to a 9 per cent basis about the time the regular dividend was declared. A report was circulated that Amalgamated would issue $100,000 of new stock to take over either North Butte and Butte Coalitions, or a large block of Butte Coalitions stock at $5 per share, the flotation of which would mean a 10 per cent increase in the price of the stock. Amalgamated, therefore, apparently is in a position to increase its dividend to 9 per cent, and thereby secure an investment which will give a return of 25 per cent and 30 per cent on the price paid. I think all will agree that this is a better use for the company's surplus than could be made of it by the individual stockholders if it were paid to them in extra dividends. "It was popular belief a few years ago that Amalgamated would have to pay out $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 to settle and terminate the litigation with P. A. Heintz. Now the legal contest has been withdrawn from the courts, the properties are owned by friendly parties, and the litigation has been dissolved and a largely increased production is in prospect, and it is learned also, directly to the credit of the company's management, that the Amalgamated stockholders are a very large and powerful body. "Within a few years Butte Coalitions will probably raise its production to 75,000,000 pounds of copper annually. If it can maintain such an output at this price, it will be worth $90 per share, and the $40,000,000 which Amalgamated is understood to be in a position to buy for Butte will be worth $3,600,000, or four times the purchase price. "I understand that Amalgamated's production for 1906 shows an increase of 25 per cent over the preceding year. Its earnings, however, were much larger. Assuming that its output was $20,000,000, the price of copper, produced at a cost of 14 cents, its net earnings must have aggregated $1,000,000, or a little more than $200,000 in excess of 8 per cent dividends on its stock. "At present Amalgamated is selling its copper for 25 cents per pound, and its earnings for 1907 should approximate $30 per share, or $3,000,000 to $3,500,000—provided the price of copper is maintained. "This year, Amalgamated's production should show an increase of 15 per cent; next year it should exceed 250,000,000 pounds, and within three years it should rise above 300,000,000. This means a valuation between $150 and $200 for Amalgamated stock, and I feel quite certain that the management will not spoil such a possibility by any unwise or ill-considered issue of new stock."

COLDEST OF THE SEASON

Mercury Takes a Dip Into Bottom of the Tube.

No Immediate Relief From Cold Wave is in Sight.

Government thermometers in the weather stations throughout the Northwest registered the lowest temperatures of the winter this morning.

In Duluth the temperature went as low as 27½ degs, at 8 o'clock, and in Western Minnesota the official thermometers showed temperatures of 30 to 35 degs. below zero.

The cold weather area today includes all of Minnesota, Iowa, the Dakotas, Upper Lakes Superior and Michigan, Montana and Western Canada. Over this area the average temperature is anywhere from zero to 30 degs. below.

The Red River valley and the Dakotas are getting the worst of the cold, with temperatures anywhere from 30 to 35 degs. below.

In Duluth, at 7 o'clock this morning, the official thermometer at the hilltop station registered an even 28 degs. below, but at that time the mercury was not yet at its lowest.

At 9 o'clock the mercury had dropped another degree and a half. During the morning, although the general run of people were unable to distinguish any favorable change until noon.

At 9 o'clock it was 23 degs. below zero, at 10 the thermometer said 18, and at noon it was still 12 below; it commenced to warm up a little faster this afternoon, as the sun's rays became more direct, and at 1 o'clock the temperature was 8 below; at the reading of the thermometer at 2 this afternoon the officials found that it was only 5 below the zero point.

Yesterday was a cold Sunday in Duluth, and the rest of the Northwest.

SENTIMENT AGAINST IT

Legislators Afraid Re-count Might Defeat the Tax Amendment.

Committee on Legislation Will Have a Hearing Wednesday.

Next Wednesday the legislative committee on elections will grant a hearing to all persons interested in the proposed bill providing for an inspection and recount of the ballots cast at the last general election for the tax amendment to the state constitution.

News of the hearing was conveyed to H. H. Phelps of this city, in a letter just received from Walter L. Case of Carlton, member of legislature from Carlton county, who has introduced the bill in the legislature.

Mr. Case urges that a strong representation be present before the committee on elections for the reason that there seems to be a strong sentiment in the legislature against the bill and solely for the reason that a recount may mean the defeat of the tax amendment. With some of the legislators it is said to be a matter, not of righting an injustice, if one has been done, but of preventing any measure that may show the tax amendment was not adopted by a vote of the people of Minnesota.

It is believed that some hard work will be necessary on the part of the people interested in the bill, to get it reported on favorably by the committee on elections and passed by the legislature.

Judge Dibel this morning signed an order appointing the three referees agreed upon to examine and recount the ballots cast for the tax amendment in the present appeal case of Samuel McGaughey and P. A. Watkins, from the decision of the state canvassing board in declaring the amendment to have been adopted.

The referees are George H. Claypool of Duluth, Charles A. Somerby of Minneapolis, and Lyndon A. Smith of Montevideo, Minn. Mr. Claypool is a well known real estate man who has already served on several commissions; Mr. Somerby was formerly an assistant to the attorney general of Minnesota, and Mr. Smith is an ex-lieutenant governor of the state. He held office during the Van Sant administration.

Under the court's order the referees will begin their duties tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, and will continue with all possible speed until they shall have completed the recount, until the further order of the court. All clerks and custodians of the ballots cast for the tax amendment are directed to deliver them to the referees for their inspection and recount.

The referees will begin to recount the tax amendment ballots in this county first. It is understood that on the results of the recount here may depend the examination and recount of the ballots in the other counties of the state. It is hoped that sufficient mistakes and miscounts of the votes on the tax amendment may be discovered to be strong argument for a recount all over the state.

Unless legislative action is had providing for the recount over the state, it is likely to fall by reason of the magnitude of the work and the large expense that would be entailed.

There are over 10,000 voting precincts in the state, some of which are situated in the woods, from twenty to thirty miles from the nearest railroad. In such cases, while the work of recounting the ballots would be little, it might take the referees two or three days to get in to the precinct and back to the railroad again. It is estimated that the recount would consume an entire year, and that the expense would be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

It's healthful, wholesome. It's good for one as the other. The more you take the better you sleep and eat. Makes people happy. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea does. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. Ask your druggist.

COMPLAINTS OF TOLL TO BE INVESTIGATED.

San Francisco, Jan. 28.—Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane today began an investigation of the complaints of jobbers and manufacturers that the Southern Pacific is collecting a toll of 5 cents a ton on all freight received here, whether it comes over the wharves of the state or not.

Commissioner Lane also will continue the inquiry into the facts connected with the so-called Harriman merger. Among those who arrived to attend the hearing are J. C. Stubbs, vice president of the Harriman lines and traffic director of the Southern Pacific and other companies; Attorney C. A. Severance, St. Paul, and R. S. Lovett, one of the Southern Pacific's legal advisers in New York.

No shop-made food will ever equal the delicious cake and biscuit you can make at home, using Hunt's Perfect Baking Powder.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Duluth club women will be interested in the following account of the mid-winter luncheon of the Minnesota State Federation of Women's clubs which was held Saturday at the Dayton tea rooms at Minneapolis. The Journal's account of the annual affair is as follows:

In the absence of Mrs. J. L. Washburn, who is in Texas, Mrs. G. C. Welch of Fergus Falls, state vice president-at-large, presided at the council meeting. The chairman of the different committees reported what was being done and asked for advice and suggestions. Mrs. Martha C. Wells of the art committee asked for greater interest in the state art commission; Miss Helen Trask, musical supervisor of Minneapolis, for the music committee wants the study of music put on a proper basis in the high schools at all in Massachusetts; Mrs. W. M. Passmore of the state library wants an increased appropriation for the library, so that the commission will not have to do a $1.50 business on a $500 basis.

After the council meeting the delegates and club presidents were joined by the clubwomen in an informal reception. Mrs. Welch with the state officers and the ex-state presidents, greeted the guests in one group and Mrs. W. M. Hopkins, vice president of the district, with her executive board, formed a second group. Mrs. C. Buchanan introduced the guests to the state group and Mrs. C. S. Wallace to the district hostesses. Miss Hope's ladies' orchestra from St. Paul played a program of pleasing selections during the social hour and the card art galleries proved a most delightful place for such a gathering.

The luncheon was served in Dayton's tea rooms. Mrs. Welch, the state officers and speakers were seated at one table, which had a centerpiece of white tulips rising from a triangle of ferns and red tulips. Each of the other tables

MISS MARGARET J. EVANS, Toastmistress at the Luncheon.

1,000 acres near Ely, donated by Mr. Pillsbury, and on which the state forestry board has started a nursery of 500,000 seedlings, and then gave a list of the necessities.

Mrs. Bramhall suggested that the club women can help by confiding in their local legislators, telling of their ambitions for their state, asking the newspapers for up-to-date information in regard to achievements in practical forestry and interesting husbands and brothers.

"It is woman's excess to the idealizing instinct, her feverish desire to surpass perfection in all minute details of living that has dragged our race out of the treetops and caves, the tepees and ice huts into better, bigger and cleaner homes," declared Miss Alice J. Mott of Northfield, vice president of the third district, in her response to "Tiffin."

She announced that the real grumbler of food service is the man who grumbles not because food is ill cooked, but because it is cooked, and quoted Shakespeare's Petruchio to prove her point.

Mrs. A. H. Snow of Winona, the new custodian, had "Education" as her subject, but she followed the humorous trend of the program and found much that was amusing in the ingenuity of club women's excuses and reminded her hearers that a bright rejoinder, a brilliant retort, will travel down the white aisle saying "lies buried by the wayside."

Mrs. Dorr had the pleasures in connection with the new training school agitation assigned to her, and those confessed the pleasures were mixed with pain and the humor rather grim, she would count up her "marbles" and laugh at the hurts.

She quoted Prof. Cooper of Hamline, who said to her: "You women should not plead for the votes and share of the state, but demand them and expect them." Legislators scarcely think of us yet as constituents to be represented," she deplored.

Mr. C. H. Higbee of St. Paul, whose name is also identified with the cause of the state, spoke of the humors of the committee work and related a number of incidents that added their share to the plan of the program committee to make this day of laughter.

The Duluth women in attendance were Mrs. H. S. Ely, Mrs. Fred White, Mrs. George Richards, Mrs. W. H. Hoyt and Miss Bessie Mars.

ALL DAY MEETING
Tomorrow of Women's Societies of Baptist Association.

The semi-annual meeting of the women's societies of the Lake Superior Baptist associations will be held tomorrow at the Central Baptist church at Twentieth avenue west and First street. The meeting will have two sessions, morning and afternoon, and a basket luncheon will be served at noon. The program is as follows:

10:30 a. m.—Devotional exercises; leader, Mrs. J. O. Milne. Reports from churches:

"Who?" First Baptist church, Duluth.
"What?" Central Baptist church, Duluth.
"How?" Superior Baptist church.
"Why?" West Duluth church.

Letter from missionary in China. Basket luncheon.
1:30 a. m.—Devotional exercises, Mrs. Mitchell.
Paper, "Voices From Within," Mrs. A. E. Peterson, Superior.

Meditations of the treasurer, Mrs. Chandler.
Address by Miss Sodeberg, Finnish city missionary.
Address, Miss Mattson of Superior.

Club Notes.
Prof. James A. Merrill will be the speaker, this evening, the lecture at the club room of the library, which is one in a series planned for the evening department of the Twentieth Century club. His subject will be "Japan—The Key to the Heart of Asia," and is one of timely interest.

Any one interested is invited to attend the lecture, which will be given promptly at 8 o'clock.

The Travel class of the Twentieth Century club will meet tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, at the club room of the library. The class will continue its interesting "Cruise of the Orient," and the scenes in and about Naples and the interesting events of the city will be studied.

Tomorrow evening the members of the Bishop's club will entertain at a reception in honor of Bishop McGolrick. The members of the women's club of the city have been invited to meet the bishop.

The regular meeting of the Matinee Musical was held this afternoon at Steinway hall.

Twainley Helm.

The following item from the Omaha Bee of Friday, will be of interest here:

A small but beautiful home wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening, when Miss Fay Alice Twainley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fayette Twainley and Mr. Raymond Clark Helm of Duluth were united in marriage. Rev. Mackay officiated. The ceremony being performed in the bay window of the living room. Here a large canopy was formed of greens from which was suspended a white bell of roses. The dining room was also attractively decorated in the same color combinations. A low mound of white roses combined with green and white satin ribbons adorned the table. The bride's only attendant was Miss Cora Belle Helm, a sister of the groom, who acted as maid of honor and was becomingly gowned in pale green tulle and carried a bouquet of roses. The bride wore an exquisite gown of white messaline, inset with duchesse lace and made princess. She carried a shawl bouquet of lilies of the valley and her long tulle veil was caught with a wreath of the same flowers. A reception followed the ceremony, about fifty guests being present. Mr. and Mrs. Helm left Wednesday evening for a Southern trip. They will be at home to friends in Duluth after March 1.

Visit Twin Cities.

Mrs. J. A. Watterworth and Mrs. Wesley Peetaham returned Saturday from a short visit at the Twin Cities, where they visited a number of the public buildings with a view to ideas for the new building of the Young Women's Christian association. Mrs. Watterworth is chairman of the building committee, and special attention was paid to dining rooms, and kitchens and cafeteria arrangement, for it is greatly desired that the new building be thoroughly equipped in this regard, that the luncheons may be served quickly, while they are still hot and with the greatest saving of labor. Mrs. Watterworth and Mrs. Peetaham visited the rooms of the Commercial club of Minneapolis, the Y. W. C. A. rooms, the new woman's building on the campus of the university and the various well conducted lunch rooms of the city.

Sleigh Ride.

A delightful sleighride was enjoyed Saturday evening by a number of West end young people. After the drive supper was served at the home of Miss Ella Jason of 2824 West Helm street. Those present were:

Misses: Ella Jason, Nellie Flynn, Maud Vanden, Lizzie Erickson, Messrs: Carl Olson, Melvin Olson, W. M. Armstrong, Joseph McLinden, Anna Krause, Ada H. Hensley, Elma Hedberg, Hannah Gillen, Walter Ryan, Albert Fortier, Fred Fortier, Frank Flynn.

Card Party.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dransfield entertained at cards Saturday evening at their home on Park Point, the affair being in honor of Mrs. Dransfield's birth anniversary. Progressive Pedro was played and the favors were won by Mrs. Gieserich and Miss Harriet Cayo and the men's prizes went to

H. Lockhart and W. E. McGurrin. Those present were:

E. Cayo, H. Gieserich, H. Lockhart, B. Wagner, Misses: Edna Cayo, Harriet Cayo, Messrs: John T. Connor, W. E. McGurrin, Solon Springs.

Personal Mention.

Miss Bessie Martindale, who was the guest of friends in the city, returned last evening to her home at Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Munson of Lester Park will leave this week to make their home at Little Falls, Minn. They have resided in Duluth for many years.

What Retail Markets Offer

Perfectly fresh eggs, 33 cents a dozen.

Radishes, 10 cents a bunch.

Macaroni, 10 and 15 cents a package.

Cheese, 18 and 23 cents a lb.

Soup bones.

"What are they?" chattered the market at a frostily early hour this morning.

"St-str-aw-b-berries," shivered the clerk.

"Ho-onest?"

"Yup," while he blew on his fingers.

"W-what do people do with them?" Inquired the person whose duty it is to be inquisitive.

"Most of them just ask how much they are. Mightily few of them carry the money by saying, 'Send up a box,'" said the market man, looking tired.

Beside strawberries, there are soup bones in the market. There is also macaroni and cheese, and in spite of this winter weather there are eggs at only 33 cents a dozen.

Eggs scrambled to a creamy consistency, served at luncheon with a little border of deliciously browned bacon, would be a pleasant surprise to many people. Try it, if you have rather an assured income.

But the sudden death of a relative had called the Pettifer home before the winning post was even in sight, and by a singular coincidence—as Clarriketson put it in his letter—ten days afterward his doctor ordered him to take a sea voyage and over he came in their wake.

As Miss Pettifer's season abroad had not been what might be called a howling success and the bidders for her long purse and short upper lip were neither so many nor so eager as she could have wished, Clarriketson was disappointed.

But in an hour Master Tommy, planning to return some of the favors shown him abroad as well as to exhibit his own qualifications as a sportsman, had suggested a visit to the newly-erected Hippodrome.

Now the whole race of Clarriketson had been nearly worshipped of the first and most reckless order.

The Street Suits for Spring Are Models of Delight

Will appeal alike to the woman who is planning to leave in a week or two for the Southern resorts and to those who remain at home.

Stripe effects are more charming than you can imagine, and in these elegant models one would think that the last word had been said as far as smart tailoring goes. Such plaits, such style and such manner have these suits that the English, which has been employed all other seasons, seems totally inadequate to fitly describe the fashions of 1907.

One of the beautiful street suits which we received is of an imported worsted in soft tones of gray. The skirt is a tailor's miracle of plaits that looks as though it grew. It positively seems impertinent to enquire into the method. The jacket to the waist line, at the sides and back, slants gracefully toward the front. The smart wasp effect is achieved with broad, very flatly pressed, tuck from the waist to a broader shoulder effect and a touch of willow green velvet and a sparkle of tiny gold buttons adds tone.

CONSPICUOUSLY SMART is the little Suit of English check worsted made with semi-fitting coat and cluster plaited skirt. An inner vest of plain gray boasts three large gold buttons, with which it is fastened and the whole is toned into character by a black satin roll collar and cuffs. You must see it!

RELATIONS RESUMED

Big Western Colleges Will Get Together on Gridiron.

Peace Contract Signed by the Four Big Universities.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Complications which have surrounded football among the colleges forming the "Big Nine" which were brought about by the efforts to "reform" the game were swept aside Saturday by the announcement of a "peace" contract signed by the official representatives of the universities of Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Chicago. By terms of this contract, which was made public by the University of Chicago senate, all the quarrels between these four institutions have been buried and football relations have been re-established.

With the announcement of the new treaty, also came announcement of football games among the four schools for the next four years. Michigan and Wisconsin are to renew their old time rivalry with Chicago and Michigan and Minnesota are to renew theirs. The new state of affairs is the outgrowth of a conference held on Jan. 2 by Prof. A. A. Stange, Fred Albin W. Small, Chicago; Judge E. H. Vane and Kevin Fitzpatrick, Michigan; Judge Page of Minnesota, and Dr. C. P. Hutchinson of Wisconsin. After the "Big Nine" conference, these officials got together and formulated rules under which football regulations might be resumed. While Wisconsin as yet has not sent the Chicago senate a statement of her views, it is stated that Dr. Hutchinson, who was a party to the agreement, was fully authorized by the Wisconsin authorities.

By the terms of the contract the home university shall manage the game and render a complete statement to the visiting university and the financial statement shall be made on the same basis as other secret means of securing information regarding the play of the team to be matched later is discontinued. As a part of the program contemplated by this new arrangement, the visiting team shall give a dinner to the visiting team on the evening preceding each game. The football schedule for the season which the treaty provides for are: 1907—Chicago and Michigan; Chicago and Minnesota; Minnesota and Wisconsin. 1908—Chicago and Michigan; Chicago and Wisconsin; Michigan and Minnesota. 1909—Chicago and Michigan; Chicago and Minnesota; Michigan and Wisconsin. 1910—Michigan and Wisconsin; Wisconsin and Minnesota; Minnesota and Chicago, and Michigan and Chicago.

DULUTH'S CHANCES LOOK VERY GOOD

Secretary Holter of Ashland Booms Duluth for National.

Axel F. Holter, secretary of the National Association of Ski Riders, was in Duluth Saturday on his way to St. Paul to attend the St. Paul tournament there yesterday. Mr. Holter is from Ashland, and while the Ashland club has taken no decisive action along this line as yet, he intimated that the Zenith City would get the Wisconsin club's support in their campaign for the national next year. Maudsluge, he said, was already in the field with an imposing array of invitations, badges, etc., and he advised Duluth to get busy if they wanted to accomplish anything.

On a whole, according to Mr. Holter, Duluth's chances for the affair look good as those of any city in the association. If the Wisconsin club is set in motion in time.

The Ishpeming ski riders protest as to some of the decisions of the judges is described as "most unfortunate" by Mr. Holter, and he expressed his sincere regret that President Tolson of Ishpeming, president of the National association, could not have been on hand, as this would have rendered a kick impossible. He did not think it would have any effect on Duluth's campaign for the national, as a committee of judges known to all the contestants could be elected at that time, and a square deal made a certainty.

SKI RUNNER LOSES.

Man on Foot is Winner in Nine Mile Race.

For the sake of setting a wager of $10, Master Hurdner and Edward Bana, two Finns, raced to Smithville yesterday. Hurdner won on foot and Bana on skis.

Hurdner reached Smithville about five minutes in advance of his opponent, much to the disappointment of many of those who had placed their money on the ski runner.

Harry Hill, a grocer who lives on St. Croix avenue, acted as judge and followed the contestants in a cutter.

The supporters of the ski runner have written Asbury Aalto, the champion ski runner of the world, now living in Italy, asking him to race Hurdner when he comes to Duluth for the tournament on Feb. 22.

BEAUTIFUL EXHIBITION

Duluth Hockey Players Win Pretty Game From St. Paul.

Crowd of Spectators Taxes Capacity of Curling Rink.

Playing a hard, aggressive, individual game, the Northern Hardware hockey team won from the St. Paul Victorias at the curling rink Saturday evening, before a crowd which taxed the capacity of the building. The final score was 5 to 4 in favor of the Duluth team.

If there is any fault to be found with the local team it is in lack of team play. In their anxiety to keep on top of the puck all of the time, the forwards frequently neglected team play entirely. Had it not been for this they would have swept everything before them. Individually they were faster and better skid handlers than the Victorias, and man for man there is no comparison between the two teams. The St. Paul team, however, showed, if anything better team work and their good showing was due to this almost entirely.

A trip to the Copper country, which the local players are planning will prove a revelation to them, and will give them some pointers on team work which should double their effectiveness. The game was a pretty contest and almost entirely free from rough play, slashing, and cross-checking, which so frequently mar the great sport. Even man was up on his toes all of the time but was after the puck and not after revenge on some other player. The result was as good an exhibition of the sport as Duluthians ever witnessed, and it did not fail to appreciate it.

The match was a set-saw affair, first one team being in the lead then the other. It kept both players and spectators at the top of pitch excitement.

The St. Paul men went into it hammer and tongs from the first blast of the whistle and after four minutes of wild scurrying up and down the ice, Fred Cook popped the first one on.

Duluth's first goal was a fluke. Mortimer Cummings in front of goal, sent the puck with his skate. It caromed off and rolled through the St. Paul goal. The puck was in the net.

The visitors were not disheartened, however, and during the next ten minutes they were very busy working, which proved too much for the Duluth defense. Cook got two more past Fenton on passes from the Armstrongs.

The Duluth forwards then took a brace, and were very much on the aggressive during the remainder of the half. Cummings and Cargill, the wings kept feeding the puck into Deetz and Winters in front of goal, and each of the center men called once before the end of the half.

The half ended with the score 3 to 2, and it was apparently anybody's game when the referee's whistle blew.

Earl Cummings drew first blood in the second half, and sent a mixup in front of the St. Paul goal, after about six minutes of play. Cummings followed with a second goal a minute later, leaving the score 5 to 3.

Then began the most desperate battle of the evening, with the St. Paul men fighting hard for the one goal needed to tie the score. The Duluth forwards did not back down, but kept up their efforts to land another goal, and clinch the game. The play grew faster and faster, and kept the spectators on their feet with the excitement.

On the Duluth boys held their advantage, and the game ended with the score 5 to 4.

It was the first taste of real hockey Duluth people have had, and they seemed to fully appreciate it. A third and deciding game will probably be played in Duluth in February. Each team has now won a game and the deciding match would be a most interesting affair.

ATE BIG FAT TOM CATS.

Harry Sleuter Had Last Laugh in a Double Joke.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 28.—Big, fat tom cats, served as hassenpfeffer, constituted the unusual dish served up by Harry Sleuter of Otaville as sweet revenge on a bunch of practical jokers. The night before Christmas, Sleuter purchased three fine rabbits and hung them in his barn. Some practical jokers stole the rabbits, made them into hassenpfeffer and invited Sleuter to partake of the midnight feast. Sleuter did so, and after the feast he was informed what he had eaten. He went without Christmas dinner but laid plans for revenge. The practical jokers were invited to a feast by Sleuter, who said he was simply making good the joke played upon him. After his fourteen guests had stowed away the last vestige of the feast, Sleuter walked to the door of the saloon and told the guests that he had eaten three nice tom cats whose tails had been shaven down as a fat hare.

It has got to come before next winter. The prospects look very good for the hockey enthusiasts after Saturday night's game, and they are already seeing visions of the long desired rink.

The spectators had just a taste of what first class hockey is, and they very evidently wanted more. Had the game been played on a large, well lighted rink, with proper side cushions, and comfortable seats for the spectators, it would have been 100 per cent faster and more interesting.

But the hockey microbe took it will strike him. Some of the good, substantial business men with bank rolls to back their opinions, saw the game, and got the hockey fever. It is worse than baseball when it gets to a man, and they will be on deck when the time comes to subscribe to the capital stock of such an enterprise. In fact they were heard to express themselves in that way Saturday evening.

The time to get such an enterprise started is now. It is far easier to get a man interested in a skating and hockey rink in February, than it is in July. The only thing necessary is to get the proper kind of a promoter for the project. It needs a man of the right standing financially, and not some speculator who is not able to put anything into the project himself, but who is in it on a pure gamble. The rink should cost from $40,000 to $50,000 and it must come before next winter.

The showing made by the Duluth skiers at St. Paul enables the Duluth men to sit back and give their jealous brothers in Ishpeming the loud, equine laugh. If the Duluth judges were unfair, the St. Paul men must also be a set of crooks, for the Duluth riders made fully as good a showing in the St. Paul tournament as they did in Duluth, and they will bring home the trophies which were hung up for prizes instead of the usual cash. But the Duluth men won't suffer, as their expenses were paid by local enthusiasts, and one man offered a prize of $25 for the rider taking first place, if he were a Duluth jumper.

After such a showing, following close upon the records made in Duluth, there can be no further question of the supremacy of the Duluth team. Incidentally it proves that Duluth has one of the fastest hills in the country. Everything favors this city for the national meet, and all that is needed to land it, is a strong and united effort.

A TIE GAME AT CALUMET

Pittsburg and Copper Country Seven Play Fast Game.

Calumet, Jan. 28.—Saturday night's hockey game between Calumet and Pittsburg here resulted in a tie 2 to 2, and though an exciting ten minutes was tacked on to the last half to give the players an opportunity to break the deadlock, neither side scoring in the added time.

Penalties were numerous for outside play, but though the game was fast from start to finish, little rough work was done, and the game was one of the cleanest in this respect seen here this season. Sheldon and Decker did the scoring for Calumet and Gaul and Hogan for Pittsburg.

COLUMBIAS SWAMPED

Superior Team No Match for St. Paul Hockey Players.

The Columbias of Superior proved to be no match for the St. Paul Victorias, and the visitors romped away with the game yesterday afternoon by the score of 15 to 0.

The St. Paul men skated all around the home team, and scored almost at will. The score at half time was 10 to 0, but the St. Paul boys kept up their pace, and the puck through the goal and let the second half, scoring only five goals.

DUFF WORKING HARD

Bridge Builder Will Try to Land Milton Friday Night.

Jack Duff is certainly after blood when he goes after George Milton at the Met next Friday evening. Duff is trying out daily with Moody Longuey, and is rapidly working down his weight to the 125 pounds at which he is scheduled to go on against Milton. Duff says that the bridge builder looks good to him and will give Milton about as hard a run as anything he has gone up against.

Milton and Watson are eager to go on again to decide the draw which they pulled off Friday night, each contestant getting one fall, and tying on the third, and Milton's manager, Gilman, has posted a $100 side bet in his protégé's favor.

CARRY OFF THE PRIZES

Duluth Riders Make Clean Sweep in St. Paul Tournament.

Mangseth, Feiring, Everson and Bye in First Four Places.

St. Paul, Jan. 28.—The Duluth ski runners made a clean sweep of the prizes at the local tournament here yesterday.

John Mangseth captured first prize with 175 points; Ole Feiring took second with 174 points; John Everson took third with 173, and Gustave Bye fourth with 172. Duluth runners captured, in all, six of the fourteen prizes. Mangseth getting two for first place and Everson getting the prize for the longest standing jump in addition to his prize for third place.

The longest standing jump was only 74 feet, the hill not being very long or steep. Four thousand people attended the tournament.

It was unfortunate that a world's record, or at least a 100-foot jump could not have been made on the hill before such a large crowd. The best runners in America were there to do it, and all jumped in magnificent form, but they were up against natural disadvantages which could not be overcome. The local club had a handicap on top of the hill, which served to make the jumps longer, but the runners could not get the long start that could be had at Red Wing, Duluth and other places.

While the distance jumped was not as great as that made in many tournaments, it was perhaps just as spectacular and as satisfying from the spectators' point of view as though the distance cleared had been much greater. Several of the Duluth runners stated that while they did not jump as far as in the Zenith City, they were in the air longer, and actually covered as much distance in the air as they did in Duluth. This was due to the slope of the hill. It did not allow the runners to jump so far, but they went higher into the air, and consequently it was more difficult to land.

Each runner was allowed a trial run, for the purpose of testing the hill, and two regular runs that counted in the final score. The score was given by the judges for every foot jumped by the runner, and he was also given from 2 to 5 points for "character," or the form he showed in his jump. Thus, while John Mangseth, who took first prize, did not jump quite as far as John Everson, he was more graceful in his execution and kept his feet better, which enabled him to land by 1 point.

There were very few "spills" made during the jump. Most of the runners succeeded in landing safely each time. In almost every instance each runner succeeded in making a better jump on the last trial than on the first.

After an exhibition, the Holland brothers of Cameron, Wis., made tandem jumps, going over the bump hand in hand, and not losing their balance at the bottom of the hill. Others went down the hill three at a time.

Mangseth of Duluth, winner of the first prize, made jumps of 71 and 73 feet, always jumping in perfect form. Ole Feiring of Duluth, who took second prize, made a record, also made 73 feet, and it was almost a toss up between him and Mangseth for the prize of $100.

Wine who is the present holder of the American championship, with a jump of 114 feet at Red Wing, did not get a prize.

Carl Jacobson, the local runner, took fifth prize with 170 points, and also took the prize awarded to the best runner of the St. Paul club.

E. Diesen of Duluth won the ladies' cup, offered for the most graceful runner.

The runners were so evenly matched and the jumps were so uniformly the same that the municipality prevented the difficulty in making the awards, but their decisions met with general approval.

The Aurora club of Red Wing was the most numerous represented, having eighteen runners entered. Duluth had five runners, St. Paul nine, Minneapolis eleven, and there were also competitors from Ashland, Muncie, Cameron, Covey, Hibbing, Stillwater, Eau Claire and Hudson.

In the evening the visiting runners were the guests of the St. Paul club at an elaborate banquet held at the Merchants' hotel. President B. Lohrbauer of the local club awarded the prizes to the winners and, with others, made a short address.

BROTHERS DIE SAME HOUR.

One Succumbs in the Antipodes and Another in America.

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 28.—Through a letter received by Mrs. J. E. Hannigan of this city, from Patrick O'Leary, an official of a hospital in Eastwood, Adelaide, South Australia, under date of Dec. 1, the death of Cornelius Hurley of Worcester, on Nov. 25, is announced.

Mr. Hurley was a brother of Patrick H. Hurley, a famous aquatic sportsman, who brought out, among others, Edward Hanlon, Ton Eyck, another champion swimmer of the world. Patrick Hurley died in St. Vincent's hospital on Nov. 24. Although the cause of death was not the deaths of the two brothers occurred within an hour of each other.

Hurley notified his Worcester relatives of his whereabouts from Los Angeles, Cal., about eight years ago. He had been confined in a sanitarium in Adelaide for the last four years.

ICE BOATS ON THE LAKE

Owners of Craft Enjoy First Sport of the Season.

Prospect That Series of Races May be Pulled Off.

The first iceboating of the season was enjoyed yesterday on the lake, by two or three of the more enthusiastic followers of the sport.

Up to the present time iceboating has been out of the question. The heavy snows covered the ice in the harbor so completely that it could make no headway on it, and the lake has not been free for any distance from the shore.

Yesterday, however, there was a good stretch of ice, and two or three boats were sent skating over the surface. If the ice pack holds and shows signs of remaining for any length of time, the boaters will be numerous. Several of the craft are owned in Lakeside, and many of the yacht club members have boats, which will be brought out during the week, if the conditions remain favorable.

There are enough ice boats in Duluth to make an interesting series of races, if their owners get together, and some such program may be planned.

MANGSETH NOT THE CHAMPION

Feiring Will Hold Title Until National Tournament at Least.

The dispatch received from St. Paul concerning the tournament held there yesterday, contained one statement which has since been corrected by a number of members of the ski club here.

It stated that Ole Mangseth of Red Wing was the holder of the American championship. Local men take exception to this, as they say that the championship can only be won at the national meet when all the riders present have an equal chance on the same hill. Had Feiring been at Red Wing at the time that Mangseth made the 114-foot jump he might have beaten it, as there is no telling how much the hill may have helped to raise the mark.

From St. Paul all the riders in the Duluth aggregation went to Cannonville, where a big tournament with prizes was held.

On taking the train for St. Paul Saturday the Duluth delegation was given a surprise by the announcement that G. G. Hartley of this city had put up the best jumps at St. Paul.

TWO DOGS DRIVE OFF SHERIFF

Went to Serve Writ on Mrs. A. G. Vanderbilt's Mother.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 28.—It has been learned that two big mastiffs scared off Sheriff Frank P. King from the villa of Mrs. F. O. French, mother of Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, when he went to the house to serve the society woman with a writ of attachment.

Hilda Oberg, formerly a servant in the family, is now Mrs. French's maid, alleging that last December the two mastiffs attacked her and rendered her a physical and nervous wound.

Sheriff King, one of the best shots in the state, made an attempt to take the two big dogs. Evidently servants saw him about for which he returned like an animated arsenal ready to blow the dogs to the hazy hunting grounds, the animals were tied up and the writ was served.

Mrs. French has figured in print many times. In April, 1901, she caused a petition signed by local authorities, demanding that the municipality prevent the street cleaning and repair departments from using the dogs in the thoroughfares. The rubbish was blown across her grounds when a high wind blew. A matter of clothes next occupied her attention. Boys who scorned bathing suits went in swimming in front of her house. Mrs. French caused a tumult by her protests, and the nuisance was abated.

THREE MAY GO FROM DULUTH

Local Curlers Will Send Rinks to Winnipeg Bonspiel.

Harry Hurdner and Ron MacLeod are as yet the only skips who have arranged to attend the Winnipeg bonspiel from the local club, but A. H. Smith may skip a team, but he is to be sent from here to the big 'spiel.

If all the men who have stated their intention of attending the 'spiel were to go, the selection of two more skips would be a simple matter. It is thought probable that at least three will be all that Mr. Hurdner will be able to bring.

Fairbairn of Virginia, will skip the only team which the range will contribute, and Mr. Hurdner will represent the Wisconsin team.

Play in the H. Smith trophy contest is well under way, the majority of the players being already in the finals in the Duluth club, while the Western, Superior and Virginia rinks have played off several rounds. It is hoped that the finals may be played by Washington's birthday.

CLOSE HAS HIS INNING

Municipal Court Order in the Assault Case is Reversed.

The Duluth Court Has No Jurisdiction in Range Cases.

By a decision that reverses the ruling of the municipal court of the city of Duluth, the district court has settled a question of jurisdiction.

The decision has been filed with the clerk of the district court in the case of the State against W. G. Close of Hibbing. The question involved was as follows: Has the municipal court of the city of Duluth any jurisdiction to try cases arising and triable with the village of Hibbing, which were decided before a justice of peace prior to the organization of the municipal court of the village of Hibbing, under chapter 251 of the general laws of 1907?

The district court judges hold that the local municipal court has no jurisdiction in the instance mentioned. The decision is of more than passing interest, for the reason that it affects the question raised in the case of the State against W. G. Close, a prominent merchant of Hibbing, who was arrested on a warrant issued by Clarence E. Nixon, a traveling salesman of this city, charging assault. Mr. Close was brought from Hibbing to Duluth for trial in the local municipal court. His attorney, Mr. Dancer of Baldwin, Baldwin & Dancer, contended that Mr. Close came from a village having a regularly organized court, under the laws of Minnesota, and that the Duluth court had no jurisdiction in the assault case. He contended that the trial should properly have come before the Hibbing municipal court.

Judge Whidom of the local municipal court denied the motion of Mr. Close to dismiss on the ground of no jurisdiction, and the matter appealed to the district court, the lower court being reversed.

The decision carries with it a direction for the municipal court to grant the motion to dismiss the assault case.

The Nixon-Close incident has occasioned much interest and comment on account of the prominence of the parties and the issues involved. Mr. Nixon claimed that while he was visiting Mr. Close's store, at Hibbing, he was assaulted and gave him a severe beating.

Pending the ruling of the district court on the order of the municipal court, Mr. Nixon brought a civil action for damages against Mr. Close.

There is at least one public official in Minnesota who has declined to accept an annual pass over a railroad, and has accompanied his refusal with a statement of reasons why he will not accept a pass while acting as a public servant. Here is a copy of the letter he sent to the railroad company, the names of the company and the writer being omitted:

VICTORS IN

COCK FIGHT

Duluth Birds Win Five

Out of Nine

Events.

Large Crowd Witnesses

Annual Main in Superior Pit.

The heart of old Pa. Jacklins, who conducted cock fights all the way through the pages of one of Opie Read's most interesting books, would have jumped with delight had he been present Saturday night, at a series of matches pulled off between Duluth and Superior birds in the city across the bay.

Duluth birds won five out of the nine fights.

The battles were of the real, old-fashioned Southern variety, with no quarter asked or given, and the birds were fought to the death. The victors were three birds of a reluctant farewells to the music of triumphant drums of the victors. Other more fortunate victims became tired to stand up and take punishment before the fight was over.
